VEREND PRESIDENT WELCOMES STUDENTS

Prizes For Scholastic Excellence Presented by Very Rev. Father William T. Tallon, S.J., Who Urges Newcomers to Participate in Activities

O'NEILL NAMED HONOR MAN

The Very Rev. William T. Tallon, S.J., president of St. Joseph's College, presided over the first general assembly of the Fall semester last Friday in College Hall when prizes for the past year were awarded to members of the three upper classes. Following the distribution of medals and premiums for the various sections, Father Tallon delivered a brief address to the students.

Welcoming the incoming Freshman class to St. Joseph's, the president exhorted them to make the most of their careers, whether long or short, at College. He traced for their benefit the many activities which are open to them and advised them to enter into the spirit of St. Joseph's by applying for admittance to the various organizations.

"But, young gentlemen," continued Father Tallon, "while we honor our athletes for their performances on the gridiron and on the track; while we honor our debaters for their triumphs in forensic competition; while we honor our dramatists for their performances on the stage; these are not the components of the main function of a College."

"You are here for a serious purpose: for the successful termination of your College education. To attain that goal, study is necessary and College study done properly requires serious effort. Therefore, I exhort you newcomers to fall in line with College activities, but I remind you not to make the fatal error of making extra-curricular activities your goal."

Following Father Tallon's address, prizes were presented to the students who excelled in different fields of scholarship and service to the College.

The list of prize winners follows:

The Gold Medals, donated by the College, for Logic and Metaphysics in the Junior Year, were awarded to Allen L. Seltzer and Martin Mulligan. The Premiums were awarded to Alphonse E. Janiszewski and Joseph T. Dineen.

The Sacred Heart Gold Medal, founded by a friend, for Evidences of Religion in the Junior Year, was awarded to Allen L. Seltzer while Philip J. Deegan was awarded the Premium.

The Premium for Political Economy was awarded to John J. Martin.

The Premium for Business Administration in the Junior Year was awarded to Raymond J. Osborn.

The Premium for Education in the Junior Year was awarded to Philip J. Deegan.

The Gold Medal for Classics and English in the Sophomore Year was awarded to Charles P. Connolly.

The special Premium for Latin and English (without Greek) in the Sophomore Year was awarded to Joseph A. Halbeisen.

The Premium for General Chemistry in the Sophomore Year was awarded to Allen T. Quindlen.

NO CHANGE IN CUT SYSTEM

Emphatic denial that there would be any change made in the cut system was made by Father John Klocke, S.J., Dean of Discipline, when questioned concerning rumors prevalent among the students since the reopening of school.

Father Klocke stated that the cut system as outlined in the Students' Handbook will be strictly adhered to during the scholastic year.

FRESHMEN WELCOMED BY SOPHOMORE HOSTS

FATHER OATES SPEAKS

On Friday night, September 25th, the College Auditorium was the scene of the annual Freshman Reception sponsored by the Class of '34. Coattless, tieless and with rather worried faces the Frosh entered the darkened hall to the tender strains of Chopin's Funeral March.

Joseph P. Madden, vice-president of the Sophomore Class, was an entertaining host and welcomed the Frosh most cordially. He intimated, however, that tacit peacefulness on their part was a prime requisite of the evening.

The chairman then introduced the Rev. A. B. Oates, S.J., student counselor, who in the name of the faculty greeted the Class of '35 and expressed the wish that they would at all times be loyal to their new Alma Mater. Following Father Oates, the various class presidents spoke a few words of encouragement and advice to the "honored guests". They tendered them a hearty welcome on behalf of the upperclassmen and made them feel the best for the occasion.

The last speaker of the evening was Mr. Edwin Stanley. His humorous dissertation on the values of a college education and college life in general concluded an evening of enjoyment.

The entertainment was versatile and diverting. Ed Malloy obliged with a few songs in his inimitable manner and several Freshmen "magnanimously consented" to sing and dance for the enjoyment of the assemblage. Jim Scanlan "stole the show" with his wistful rendering of the "Kiss Waltz" a la Vallee.

Distribution of the regalia was the final note of the evening. The outfits consisted of becoming red artist ties, green caps with yellow tops, and large chain store tags. After refreshments were served, the Freshmen followed the example of Samuel Pepys "and so to bed" . . . if they were athletically inclined and could run faster than the Sophomores.

JOSEPH WALKER

FATHER SLATTERY NAMED AS NEW DEAN

Succeeds Rev. Robert A. Parsons, Who is Transferred To St. Peter's College

HOLDS CAMBRIDGE DEGREE

By announcement of the Very Rev. Edward I. Phillips, S.J., Provincial of the Maryland-New York Province, Rev. Joseph A. Slattery, S.J., succeeds Rev. Robert A. Parsons, S.J., as Dean of Studies at the College.

Father Parsons was transferred to St. Peter's College, Jersey City, where he will teach Rhetoric Year. The former St. Joseph's Dean in his new position will be able to devote more time to his intense interest in Catholic literature in America.

The new Dean was recently stationed at St. Andrew's-on-the-Hudson, the Jesuit House of Classical Studies at Poughkeepsie, N. Y. For the past two years Father Slattery has held the office of Dean of Studies at the Seminary and was also professor of Rhetoric.

Before his appointment to St. Andrew's, Father Slattery spent three years at Cambridge University, England, where he took a post-graduate course in Classics and English, and received his degree as Doctor of Philosophy.

Father Slattery entered the Society of Jesus from Canisius High School, Buffalo, on August 14th, 1910. The four years of his Noviceship and Juniorate were spent at St. Andrew's, Poughkeepsie.

In the Fall of 1914 he was transferred to the College of the Sacred Heart, Woodstock, Md., where he commenced his philosophical studies. After three years at Woodstock he was sent to Boston College High School for his four years of regency.

In 1921 he began his final term of preparation for the priesthood, returning to Woodstock for theology. He was ordained at Georgetown University, June, 1924.

After the termination of his fourth year of theology at Woodstock, Father Slattery made his tertianship at St. Andrew's, Poughkeepsie. From tertianship he was sent to Cambridge University to take a post-graduate course in Classics and English.

HAWK TEAM SET FOR F. & M. OPENER

"TUBBY" WALKER ACTING CAPTAIN

Ole Man Football is in the air! Talons sharpened to the quick after three weeks of strenuous practice, the Hawks await their first prey of the young season tomorrow. Lean days have been too plentiful in the past, but the strongest team ever to represent St. Joseph's looms powerful against the gridders of Franklin and Marshall College when the squads answer the call of the opening whistle tomorrow afternoon at Lancaster.

Coach Emid Thomas, head mentor of the Varsity team, has formulated a new system of attack which will encounter its first real test tomorrow. According to form displayed in practice sessions, an aerial game will form the major portion of the Crimson offensive against the Lancaster foes. But "Tommie" is wily and a sound prediction of the starting array and the modus operandi of the afternoon would be foolhardy.

Football conditions this season are directly opposed to those under which the 1930 campaign was inaugurated. With a squad of 40 men, "Tommie" has an opportunity to really test the mettle of each player. Injuries, especially early season ones, have always been the bane of the coaching staff's existence. Thus far, however, beyond a few minor shoulder injuries nothing untoward has been happening.

The hardest schedule ever arranged for the Hawks faces the team. Franklin and Marshall, University of Delaware, Muhlenberg, Albright, Lebanon Valley, Drexel, Washington and Pennsylvania Military College comprise a list of foes comparable with the slate of any college where conditions are similar to those at St. Joseph's.

Despite this array of opponents "Tommie" is optimistic. He does not predict an undefeated year for his charges, but his words hold a world of hidden meaning.

a distinct departure from last year system. Team morale especially impressed "Tommie" when he told us that the present squad possessed a spirit which would surely carry them over the tough spots in the schedule.

The starting lineup as tentatively released shows eight veterans and three newcomers wearing the Crimson and Gray at the opening kickoff. Four Seniors, two Juniors, three Sophomores and two yearlings form the team.

Acting Captain "Tubby" Walker will start at his customary fullback post. Walker has been exhibiting his powers well in the preliminary scrimmages and much is expected of him tomorrow.

Joe Doherty, El Boger, and "Buck" Linaugh are the other three Senior members of the starting group. Doherty is stationed at a halfback position with Boger at right end and Linaugh flashing him at tackle.

Steve Fuller, Gene Dowd, Tony Altomare, and Charley Morris return to the fold again this year while Lyons, McNichol, and Rees are the only members of the cast receiving their baptism of footballs.

Much could be written about the members of the team, but we shall let them write the rest tomorrow afternoon against the Red Roses.

FATHER OF DEAN DIES

The recent death of Mr. Joseph Slattery, father of the Rev. Joseph Slattery, S.J., newly appointed dean of the College, causes a note of sympathy to mingle with the welcome of the student-body toward the latter. Mr. Slattery died suddenly at his home in Buffalo, New York, on September 23, the day following the return of the Senior Class to St. Joseph's.

Immediately on receipt of a telegram advising him of his father's death, Father Slattery left Philadelphia for Buffalo, where he celebrated the Solemn High Requiem Mass for his beloved parent.

Mr. Slattery was buried from St. Margaret's Church, Buffalo, on last Monday morning. In addition to Father Slattery, Mr. Slattery is survived by his wife, Alice O'Connor Slattery, and his children, Agnes, Ida, Mac, Arthur, Kevin, Paul and Eugene Slattery, Mrs. Edward Lockwood, Mrs. Fred Conlin, and Mrs. Carl Kam.

1931 REGISTRATION SETS RECORD MARK

Many New Courses Aid In Growth of College

ENROLLMENT NOW 395

Enrollment at St. Joseph's has been greater this year than in the past. Including last Wednesday's registration there were 395 students enrolled in the various courses, an increase of 18 over last season, which then showed the number of students to be 377.

Although the enrollment in the Freshman courses has been no heavier than in previous years, the constancy of the men in the upper classes has helped keep up the enrollment. This has been due mainly to the various new courses which have been offered to upperclassmen this year for the first time.

Because a man is the possessor of an editorial pen, greater knowledge than his fellow is not implied. Nor with the assumption of the office does he become a paragon of perfection capable of advising the world at large or the members of the Class of '35 in particular.

However, a few words expressed in sentiments of welcome and comradery might be set down.

To the members of the Freshmen Class, THE HAWK welcomes you to St. Joseph's. That you have chosen her as your Alma Mater implies one thing: comparison with other institutions and a choice.

That choice needs no further expression. Your presence in these halls is sufficient. St. Joseph's appealed to you for some reason and that reason swayed you to join our number. The spirit of St. Joseph's impelled you to seek our companionship.

So, our words of advice are few. Further that spirit; try to become imbued with it; and your companionship will be welcomed by the upperclassmen who have learned to love St. Joseph's.

To those who do not have the honor of knowing the Rev. William J. O'Gorman or of his services to St. Joseph's College, his retirement from the faculty means simply the erasure of another name from the school catalogue. One name is stricken out and another put in its place.

But to those who do know Father O'Gorman, his withdrawal signifies a great deal more than this. It means the culmination of twenty years of faithful service as Professor of Philosophy at St. Joseph's; twenty years of unselfish labor that the benefits of his knowledge and counsel might be bestowed upon those in need of it.

Father O'Gorman's loss will be felt keenly by those with whom he has been associated at St. Joseph's. He always seemed so much a part of the College that we find it hard to reconcile ourselves to his departure.

Twenty classes have been graduated since Father O'Gorman first came to us in 1910. Alumni in all walks of life have found his teachings of great value in their respective fields. They join with the faculty and with the student-body in felicitating this gracious gentleman and devout Churchman, patient instructor and wise counsellor, on the consummation of a career so useful to all with whom he came into contact.

Autumn is here; Freshmen are too; and closely following each phenomenon comes the publication of the Sophomore encyclical, the "Freshman Rules." Of the legal aspects of this code only one statement is necessary: the rules remain the same as ever, plagiarized in language and content from some wise man of years gone by. The purpose of this editorial is to pass a few pungent remarks in the direction of the regalia. Surely, here is something for which no one but the present class is responsible. Let them be prepared to accept the palm—or the cactus—as the case may be.

It causes THE HAWK no end of concern to be forced to cast a few disparaging phrases at the utter lack of taste exhibited by the Sophomores in selecting this regalia. In their attempt at embarrassing the Freshman they have created a paradoxical situation: they have embarrassed the upper-classmen as well. Red is a beautiful color: it is the color of the sunset, of the rose, even of the martyr. So, too, has green its own peculiar attractiveness: it is the predominant color of vegetative nature. But red and green together form an unspeakable, an unbearable, an obnoxious combination. They mutually repel each other. They are simply unbecoming companions. Why, then, were the Sophomores so wanting in taste as to choose as the proper adornment for the Freshman a green hat and a red, artist tie? (We must come to either of the following conclusions: their choice was wilful or their choice came from simply not knowing better. But their choice wasn't wilful. Haven't we the words of their president so vigorously and so eloquently iterated on Freshman Night that the only motive of him and his classmates was the welfare and happiness of the Class of '35? We must then, come to the lamentable conclusion that their choice was due to a lack of discernment. Their finer sensibilities are stunted. Esthetically their only rival is the Esquimaux. May the years remove this torpor.)

Meanwhile we predict that within two weeks they themselves will become the victims of their choice. They will begin to see everything as either red or green. Then chaos will rule; dissension and turmoil and topsy-turvydom will be the awful realities. But here the Hawk comes to the rescue: it proposes that everyone save himself this dismal prospect by wearing rose-tinted glasses.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS BEAUTIFY CAMPUS

Weather-Vane, Stone Walks,
Feature Innovations

NEW GOLF COURSE

Greater Saint Joseph's has been improved to a large extent. Most of the additions were confined to the external surroundings and the effect is commendable.

There is a new flagged walk leading from 54th Street to the College buildings. These smooth stones supplant the cinder and dirt path of last year. Sods have been planted beside the walk.

The parking place has been completely re-surfaced with gravel. The removal of soft spots has added greatly to parking conveniences. A flight of flagged steps facilitates the ascent of the hill to the campus proper.

The College has been thoroughly repainted and its interior beauty maintained.

A modernistic weather-vane surmounts the north tower overlooking the quadrangle. The care of this has been entrusted to Father Moore and his assistant, Mr. Joseph Dineen.

There are a number of athletic improvements, foremost of which are the newly-constructed handball courts, located at the west end of the football stadium.

There are four courts, concrete, with a stout wooden backboard. The courts are some distance above the track and are reached by two flights of steps, advantageously situated. Handball has always been popular at the College and the new facilities should succeed in making it even more so.

Many of the bare spots on the football field have been covered up, and the gridiron is looking better than ever. Here, too, new steps have been constructed.

Another innovation is the new seven-hole golf course which is being laid out on the field lying south of the College buildings. The greens have already been constructed and seeded. They should be in fine condition by early Spring. This will give the golf team, started last year, plenty of opportunity for practice.

MR. DENECKE NAMED VILLIGER MODERATOR

Successor To Mr. Shea, S.J.,
Will Assume Duties Soon

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Mr. Charles Denecke, S.J., in the capacity of moderator of the Villiger Debating Society, succeeds Mr. John L. Shea, S.J., who was recalled to Woodstock to pursue his theological studies. The Society will soon begin its season, and prospects for a successful year are bright.

Villiger is preparing to meet many outstanding Colleges during the coming year. Among the prominent universities that the College will encounter are Washington and Jefferson and Syracuse, who are met on foreign grounds. Included in the host of eminent colleges that Villiger opposes at 54th and City Line are Catholic University, Gettysburg, and Penn State.

No definite schedule has as yet been announced by the moderator, but it is certain that the College will participate in at least a dozen debates.

Mr. Denecke has not definitely outlined his policy for the coming year, but it is supposed that there will be the usual parish debates between non-varsity members of the Society. Then, too, there will be the regular weekly meetings every Monday night at 17th and Stiles Streets. Debates are held at each meeting.

Villiger will be obliged to find some new men for intercollegiate competition. Messrs. Lalley, McDonnell, and Cooke, of last year's varsity debating team were all graduated last June. The undergraduate body boasts several men of excellent calibre, and it is not feared that the College will suffer from lack of good material.

Famous Sons

The election of Joseph C. Cox, '06, as president of the Alumni Association of St. Joseph's College, one of the high points of the banquet and re-union last June, proved a popular choice alike with the faculty, alumni and student-body.

For four years the ranking senior vice-president, Mr. Cox brings a distinct fitness and wide experience to his new position. One of the small band of workers who revived the alumni organization after the World War had disrupted such groups in all American colleges, the new president from the first had been a progressive.

Objectives that claimed the immediate attention of the group which rebuilt the alumni organization included the uniting of two distinct bodies—the old Alumni Association and the "Old Students' Association," the obviously necessary drafting of a code of eligibility at once fair to all sides and the compilation of a new alumni directory.

Encouraging progress has been made in all these fields. The publication more than a year ago of the first modern alumni directory to which the Alumni Association is particularly indebted to the Very Rev. William T. Tallon, S.J., president, and Mr. John J. Killeen, S.J., then a professor at St. Joseph's, was the climax of a long and arduous effort to organize efficiently.

Among the new objectives for the 1931-32 Alumni Association administration, on all of which suggestions will be welcomed and general alumni support and co-operation is requested are:

1.—The compilation of a new alumni directory, more complete in many details than the last—to include both home and business addresses, occupation, etc.

2.—The development of a fund from which alumni scholastic scholarships may be presented to the College and from which student loan and aid departments may later grow.

3.—The formation of a new organization of class secretaries through whom immediate contact may be had and by which men now unfortunately unidentified with alumni action may be interested anew in their Alma Mater.

4.—The formation of a committee not yet officially titled whose province will be the collection for the College library of all books written by alumni and the presentation of acceptable books to the library proper. (This committee, particularly, should recommend itself to the alumni as it will not be limited to a definite membership and is open to alumni holding no office in the Association.)

Now, as ever, men able and willing to devote an evening or two a month to alumni action are needed. It is hoped that men interested will not hold back and expect a formal invitation to join this movement.

Recommended to the alumni as a monthly event of genuine interest and wide popularity among those who attend is the Greeting Club—an organization within the alumni which meets informally. Edward J. O'Reilly, '18, is again chairman of this group.

This Club, as the name indicates, is dedicated to the memory of the Rev. Joseph Greeting, S.J., pioneer priest in Philadelphia, who after establishing the first parish in this city and directing in 1733 the erection of the first Church—now "Old St. Joseph's" in Willing's Alley—had hoped to found what is now our Alma Mater.

Although the College did not actually come into being until more than a century later, founders of the Greeting Club felt that in a figurative sense at least Father Greeting was the fore-runner of the movement which led to the establishment of the College.

The sudden cancellation of the scheduled opening game with Swarthmore last Saturday detracted somewhat from the anticipated thrill of a prospective Crimson victory, but makes the game with Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster tomorrow all the more important. The greatest show on earth will officially throw open its doors tomorrow afternoon in the Red Rose City . . . at least as far as Saint Joseph's is concerned.

Conditions have changed since last year. There is no use trying to disguise what the record books show plainly. 1930 was a lean year for the Crimson and the Gray. Make no mistake about that. Seven defeats and a tie contest with the weakest team on the schedule comprised the record.

But as our "Tommie" stated most emphatically at the football banquet last December, "It is easy enough to pad our schedule with weaker opponents, but what benefit is derived." Undoubtedly that was not the policy of the Athletic Director for the 1931 schedule has not a "set-up" on it.

Football squads here for past years have been inclined to let down before a contest with a bigger college. It wasn't cowardness, but the odds were enormous . . . and always counterclockwise.

"Tommie's" men this year have displayed determination. Practice has been a grim reality. The absence of doggedness in preparing plans for the year in football has meant one thing . . . banishment from the squad. And none have been ordered to turn in their suits . . . for that reason.

For the coming campaign, The Hawks look good. The largest squad in the history of football reported for the early practice. At present, after "cuts", the varsity team numbers 37 men. Which isn't bad for a college which enrolls 395 on the official tabulations!

The Crimson line averages close to 200 pounds from wing to wing. The backfield while not weighty is sturdy. Substitutes for every post, with one possible exception at center, are plentiful.

It isn't a question of quantity alone, for the proverbial saying, "There's quality in them thar quantity," applies equally well here. May the results of the season justify that statement!

Graduation played a slight part in the personnel of the team. True, we lost Tony Cinkutis, 1930 leader, and All-State tackle (which is something considering the teams in Pennsylvania), Frank Hartigan from the backfield, and "Senator" Glowacz and Chick Gannon from the forward wall.

The coaching staff has been increased this fall. Backfield Coach Ken Smith has resumed his duties, but a new line coach has been added to the list of tutors.

Bill Morris, Georgetown University leader of last year, who received All-American mention during his three playing years of intercollegiate football, and former St. Joseph's Prep. ace, is instructing the line in the intricacies of proper blocking and charging. The success of his system is apparent even in practice games. Tackling, which in 1930 was a baneful thing to watch, has improved with the general calibre of the line play of the forwards.

This column just wishes to recall last year's battle with Franklin and Marshall. Those fortunate enough to have witnessed the clash between The Hawks and the Red Roses will never forget it. Despite the loss Coach Thomas' players gave their best display of football in that fray.

Trailing at half-time, 14-0, the Crimson men came on the field for the final quarters with determination flashing in their eyes. Their aerial game in that never-to-be-forgotten second half turned what appeared as an F. and M. rout into one of the most exciting games ever witnessed in Lancaster. (You needn't take our word for that . . . witness the crowd of locals who turn out there for the contest tomorrow.)

Two touchdowns and an extra point were tallied by the high flying Hawks in the third quarter (remember Charlie Morris' great run?) and the scoreboard boy chalked up 14-13 in the third alley. Quite a different story! However, the fourth quarter was not long under way when F. and M. tallied their third and last touchdown.

But five minutes later The Hawks came back again! The tried kick for the extra point was blocked and Father Time put up his hand like a traffic policeman and the greatest game of the year was over.

We are not mentioning the names of any players in this column as individuals with two exceptions. The first recalled the game most vividly to us and the second . . .

Well, Acting Captain Walker, make your men give us lots to write of next time . . . Good luck, Hawks! Go get 'em!

YOUNG BESTS KANE IN TENNIS SURPRISE

Newcomer Downs Varsity Ace
In Three Sets, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3

QUINN ADVANCES

One sensational upset featured play in the semifinal round of the fourth annual Fall Tennis Tournament on the College courts last Tuesday. Joe Young, Freshman newcomer, downed Bill Kane, first seeded varsity man, after a strenuous three set match, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Kane who was defeated but once in intercollegiate competition last year was a top-heavy favorite to win the honors in the tourney. Young, however, proved to possess too much stamina for the varsity veteran.

Both men played beautiful tennis throughout the match which was replete with thrills. Young continued his steady baseline driving even after Kane had broken through his service in the second set and eventually captured the final set on his own service.

Young has now defeated two varsity men in his path to the finals, having downed Bill Crocker earlier in the play, 6-2, 6-4.

Hughie Quinn, captain of the St. Joseph varsity netmen, entered the semifinal bracket in the upper half defeating Joe Cornely, 6-1, 6-4. He will meet the winner of the match between Jim Ridgway and Al Botto for the right to oppose Young in the last round.

The finals of the tournament will be staged Monday afternoon weather permitting.

HAND BALL MATCHES WILL BEGIN MONDAY

Ed Sunkes Will Regulate Tourney
Sponsored By Hawks

LARGE ENTRY EXPECTED

A handball tournament under the auspices of THE HAWK will be held on the new school courts, starting Monday, October 5. As a handsome trophy and suitable prizes are to be the lot of the ultimate winners, the competition is expected to awaken a great deal of interest.

There will be contests in singles and doubles and all students are eligible to compete. Candidates should register their intention of entering with Ed Sunkes, '32, who is to conduct the contests.

Since the heroic new handball courts were thrown open to the student-body in the first week of school, considerable enthusiasm for this form of recreation has been manifested. Devotees of the sport have been out in force and the courts are crowded to capacity every day. Others are expected to swell the ranks to provide exercise for themselves and entertainment for all.

There are only a few days to practice. Hand in your entries NOW to Ed Sunkes or call at the HAWK office.

Possibility that St. Joseph's would meet Muhlenberg in a night football game at Allentown was admitted by Coach Thomas, when questioned concerning a rumor making the rounds of the campus.

"Muhlenberg has asked us to play at night, although our contract calls for an afternoon game," Thomas said.

"If we can secure a practice field for night workouts, there is a strong possibility that the arrangements desired by Muhlenberg will go through," he further stated. "The entire plan is dependent on the securing of a field, and everything as yet is tentative."

O'NEILL ACCLAIMED SENIOR PRESIDENT

Student Leader Named Without Formality of Ballot

OTHER CLASSES ELECT

James F. O'Neill, of Glenside, Pennsylvania, was renamed as president of the Senior Class last week when the results of the annual elections were released by the office. O'Neill, who shares with Frank Morrissey, '30, the distinction of being the only man ever to lead his class through four years at St. Joseph's, was acclaimed by popular vote as the president of the Class of 1932.

No other candidate was in the field for the office of class president and Joseph Walker, '32, proposed that the nomination and election be made by popular acclaim.

O'Neill, completing his studies for a Bachelor of Science degree, is a member of the Cap and Bells Club, a varsity debater for the Villiger Debating Society, one of the three members of the Academy in College at the present time, and last year was a member of the Crimson and Gray staff.

Other Senior Officers elected were: Peter J. Sculley, vice-president; Joseph V. Hunt, secretary, and Peter J. Cattaneo, treasurer.

The Junior Class lists as its new executive officers: Edmond J. Molloy as president; James McCann, vice-president; John Clark, secretary, and Mark Bauer, treasurer.

Joseph P. Devine leads the Sophomore Class with Joseph P. Madden as vice-president. Jeremiah J. Collins is secretary and John J. Kane is treasurer.

John J. Durkin is the only freshman officer as yet. He was elected temporary president prior to Freshman Night and will remain tentative head of the 1935 men until definite officers are named.

"Action" To Be Presented October 15th In Old College Hall

ANNUAL PLAY SELECTED

Election of officers will feature the first Fall meeting of the Cap and Bells Club, intercollegiate dramatic society at St. Joseph's, to be held in Old College Hall on October 15th. The meeting will be called at 8.30 P. M.

Since the position of the various officers is determined by class ranking, an entire new executive body will be elected. Only members of the three upper classes are eligible to vote.

"Action", a burlesque melodrama, will be presented at the first meeting. A cast for the performance will be selected Sunday afternoon when tryouts will be held in College Hall. This production will be the first in the most ambitious schedule ever compiled for the College thespians.

Father Timothy J. Coughlin, S.J., who again holds the position of Faculty Moderator of the Cap and Bells Club, hopes to have three one-act plays in rehearsal by the end of October. These are to be presented at various locales through the Philadelphia district while the scheduled visits to Mount Saint Joseph College and Immaculata College are being arranged for the early Fall.

Tryouts for new members of the Cap and Bells Club will be held in the College Auditorium some time before the first business meeting. Those selected will attend the meeting, but will not be permitted the right of a ballot.

Mr. Edwin Stanley, the dramatic coach, has made several recent visits to New York to complete arrangements for the annual play presented in February at the Penn Athletic Club Ballroom, Philadelphia.

The play selected this year is "Journey's End" by Robert C. Sheriff. This presentation will be the first amateur production of the famous war drama in this city.
