DEDICATION

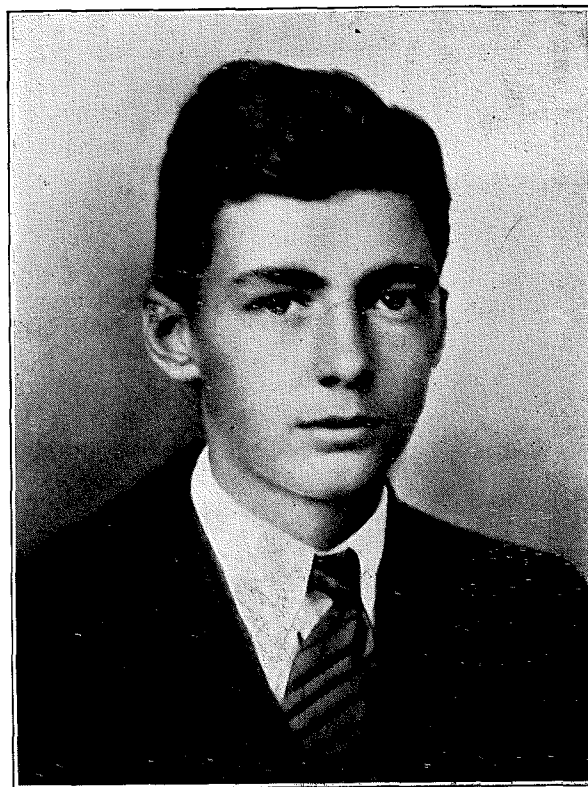

BYRON SHARPE HOLLINSHEAD

Recognized today as one of the foremost leaders in the Junior College movement in the East, President Hollinshead assumed his duties at Keystone two years ago, when the school was in its difficult transitory stage from Academy to Junior College . . . a critical stage when the leadership of a less capable man would have proved unfortunate for the welfare of the institution.

Undismayed by the enormous task which confronted him, President Hollinshead commenced complete reorganization of the school. Step by step this revision has advanced, until today Keystone ranks among the leading co-educational junior colleges in the East.

This achievement gives only an indication of the worth of President Hollinshead as an educational leader, for his task has only begun. A complete summary of his accomplishments must remain for a later writer, in another and larger Nokomian.

In the dedication of this book, the Charter Class is expressing its most sincere praise, gratitude, and encouragement to Byron Sharpe Hollinshead.

IN MEMORIAM

PHILIP V. MATTES, JR.

May 19, 1917—December 19, 1935

Phil was to us a splendid embodiment of the traits we should wish all Keystonians to possess. His happy disposition, thoughtfulness of others, and enthusiastic participation in our activities added greatly to our school life. Phil was a sought-after companion—never priggish, always a gentleman. The class of '36 here records its deep sorrow at Phil's passing; and the bright memories we shall always retain of his association with us.

FOREWORD

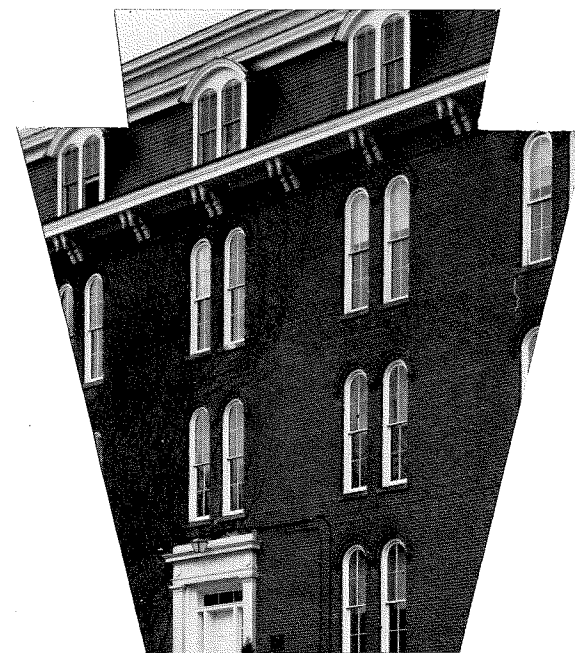

Two years ago, the trustees of Keystone Academy, conscious of the needs of the community for additional work in higher education, determined to expand the facilities of the institution, re-incorporate it as Keystone Junior College, offer junior college work at a low cost to Scranton-area students, and provide a community collegiate center which would meet the needs of student and adult groups.

This project of expansion from academy to junior college was received with joy by all people in this locality, but in particular, by a large group of high school graduates whose hopes of being able to go away to college in the fall were growing exceedingly dim. Keystone offered a solution to this problem; a solution which was wholeheartedly adopted by all those who found it possible to do so.

So we, the Charter Class of Keystone, began—eager, courageous, and anxious to begin to build the foundation upon which success in later life would depend. The very fact that we were the Charter Class lent to us an aura of pioneer glory in which we reveled. We were proud to be the first class—and were inspired and upheld by the responsibility which was ours. We organized sororities, fraternities, and many other organizations. We waited, awesomely, for the appearance of the first Keystonian, and were thrilled to see that it had no virgin spaces; we shrieked ourselves hoarse, and were quite overcome with emotion at the first appearance of our football team. Each successive event which we experienced tied us more firmly to Keystone, and made us feel that she was ours.

We feel that we have, in a modest way, left our imprint on Keystone; and we know that she has made her mark on us.

DEAN OF THE COLLEGE

Wilbur L. Williams was once a newspaperman; and, like the proverbial news-hound, is always around when something of importance occurs. He was visibly and audibly present at the birth of the Junior College . . . the details of which so interested him that he has remained at Keystone ever since, in the capacity of Dean of the College.

In the two short years which have elapsed since he arrived, Dean Williams has been prominent among those who have done most for the advancement and development of Keystone. Notwithstanding his executive duties, Mr. Williams serves as technical adviser to the Keystonian—and as friendly adviser to countless students.

DEAN OF WOMEN

Here only one short year, Miss Vivian L. Watkins has been so active that she seems to be an integral part of Keystone. Besides teaching History and Economics, Dean Watkins finds time to assist in the development of extra-curricular activities. Prominent among campus groups sponsored by Miss Watkins are the Women's Organization, founded for the purpose of bringing all Keystone Women into close contact with each other; and the Glee Club which, before Miss Watkins seized upon it with a firm hand, threatened to fade away into obscurity.

Her tact, sympathy and interest in the students have indeed endeared her to them.

CLASS OF 1936

In the autumn of 1935, the freshman class timorously began its existence at Keystone Junior College. After successfully weathering the storm of registration, the students were brought into close contact with each other by pep meetings, convocations, and social functions. Shortly after classes had begun, elections were held. Kenneth Seamans was elected to guide the destinies of the class, with Betty Danvers as vice-president; Helen Brown, secretary; and Bert Decker, treasurer.

Since the college was in its infancy, there were no organizations on the campus—no fraternities, sororities, teams or clubs. This vacancy in college life was quickly filled, for societies and clubs seemed to spring up over night. In a comparatively short time, one heard talk about the play being produced by the dramatic club, the weight of the football team, the fraternity and sorority dances, the competition of the chess club, the form of the tennis team, the amazing activity of the Varsity Club, and the news in the Keystonian.

Unlike many organizations hastily brought into being, these societies have not withered and died, but have gained in strength and popularity.

Innumerable dances, teas, and parties were sponsored by the sororities and fraternities and clubs, making the social life of the college an established thing. The freshman year, which will ever be associated with strenuous activity and effort, ended on a happy note with the June prom.

The fall of '35 brought many of the class into prominence. With Richard Young as president; Magdalyn Jones, vice-president; Helen Brown, secretary; and William Strauch as treasurer, the class organized and began its dominance over the newcomers. The sophs had a watchful eye for the brilliant ties and blue lids of the yearlings and made sure they were present when they were supposed to be; the Tribunal was active in disciplinary matters, and sent the mournful frosh forth in placards, clothes peculiar to the opposite sex, and many other startling adornments.

Football and basketball teams were comprised mainly of sophomores who were grim in their determination to do their best in their last year at Keystone. Tennis, cross-country, boxing and wrestling were also popular with the sophs, who boasted many stars among their number.

Dances were held almost every weekend after football games, and later in the year with surprising regularity. The annual football banquet, at which letters and awards were presented to members of the various teams, was held in Moore Hall in March.

Commencement Day, always long-anticipated, will be greeted with joy by a few, and with sadness by many. The Charter Class, associated with the beginning of so many Keystone activities, feels particularly close to its Alma Mater.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

JAMES SHEARER

In September, 1935, the second freshman class enrolled at Keystone and entered into the life of the college. One of the first experiences that the members of the class passed through was the college Freshman Week, which was in its first year of existence. The success of the period was so marked that it will be retained as a permanent part of the curriculum. Credit reflects on the class of 1937 that they were instrumental in establishing Freshman Week as a tradition.

The class proceeded to organize for the year, a task simplified greatly by the fact that many of them, having attended the same high schools, were known to each other. It so happened that three of the officers prepared for college at Scranton Central High School. James Shearer was elected president, Gertrude Cavanaugh, vice-president, Kit Sims, secretary, and Joseph Dobbs, treasurer. These officers have performed their tasks efficiently, and have most ably piloted the class through its Freshman year.

The athletic squads of the frosh were exceptionally good—almost too good from a sophomore point of view, for in the football contest between freshmen and sophomores, the frosh triumphantly emerged with the victory! In a similar basketball contest between the classes, the yearling girl's team defeated the sophs, who retaliated in a victory in the boy's encounter,

The class of 1937 has been conspicuous for its activities in various fields of endeavor—and we predict a great future for it in the campus activities of next year, and in after-life.

FOOTBALL

Two weeks before the opening of school in September, twenty-five football candidates reported for training at Camp Tamarac. Although many members of the team of the previous year reported to Coaches Lee and Azar, many new candidates from the incoming freshman class were among the squad. Practices were held twice daily, and after two weeks of hard drilling the team began to take shape. Before the first game, the men had rounded into such form and were working with such clock-like precision, that a successful season was freely predicted.

The opening game of the season was played September 28 with Cook Academy, in a driving rain; and numerous fumbles resulted. Late in the second quarter the Keystone line broke through and smothered a Cook kick, and converted a fumble into a safety. Again late in the last period Bill Seamans, Keystone fullback, carried the ball across the goal line after a fifteen yard run. The final score was 8-0 in favor of the Little Giants. The game was played minus the service of John J. "Sparky" Owens, captain and center, who was injured in training camp.

Some apprehension was felt concerning the Wyoming Seminary game, which was scheduled for October 5, owing to the fact that a Keystone team hadn't defeated a Sem team in twenty years. These fears had good grounds, as the Sem team handed the Little Giants a 20-0 lacing. The Keystone team was outweighed by over fifteen pounds to a man.

Syracuse Freshmen were engaged October 12. The team played good ball throughout the game, but the invaders carried too many guns. The final score was 12-0 in favor of the visiting Freshmen. The entire team deserves praise for its showing in this game.

The club took its third straight beating at the hands of the Penn State Freshmen, October 19, the final score showing 12-0. Keystone outplayed the Frosh in the second half, but was unable to score.

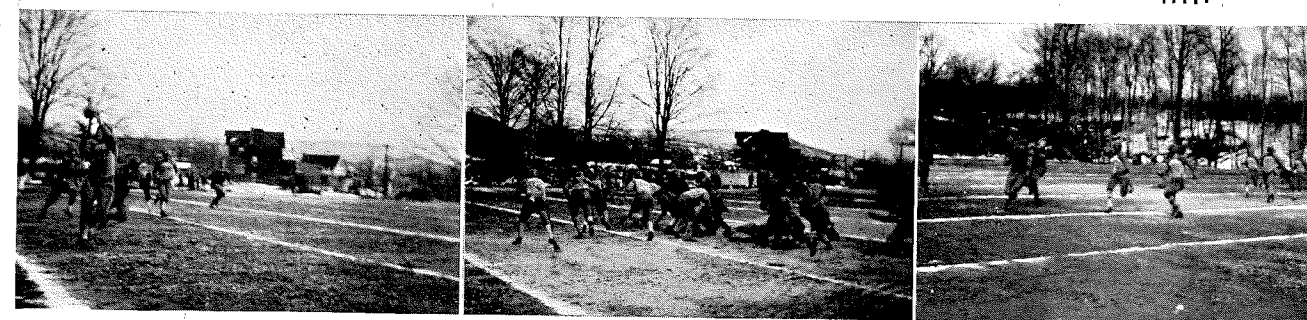

The Little Giants met their traditional rivals, St. Thomas Freshmen, on Saturday, November 2. The game was a hard fought battle which ended with St. Thomas on the long end of a 14-0 score. The only bright spot of the afternoon, from a Keystone point of view, was the playing of Captain Owens, at center, and Roger White, at end.

The best brand of football played by the home team was played November 9, at Keystone, when the Little Giants defeated East Stroudsburg Teachers' College Frosh 61-6. The game was a "walk-away" for the Keystoneans, and the team scored nearly at will throughout the contest. It was a field day for the Little Giants, and Bill Seamans, Keystone fullback, was the scorer with three counters. Paul Swarts, Keystone halfback, repeated his scoring play of the previous year, when he intercepted a Stroudsburg forward pass, in the second period, and ran forty yards to a touchdown. Late in the final quarter, with the Keystone reserves in action, Luce, a Stroudsburg end, took a pass from a team mate and raced sixty yards to a score. The entire Keystone squad saw action and to no one man can be given credit for the victory.

One week after the Stroudsburg victory the Blue and Orange met the formidable bunch of football artists representing the Bucknell Freshmen. The teams seemed evenly matched throughout the first half, but in the second half Bucknell's extra reserve strength took its toll on the Keystone team. The Bucknell team scored the first two touchdowns, but the Keystone team did not give up and came back to tie the count at twelve all as the half ended. Bill Seamans scored the first Keystone touchdown, and Bert Decker scored the other on a pass from Jimmy Young. In the second half, however, the game was all Bucknell, and the Little Bisons scored three times to make the final score 32-12 in their favor. Julius Banionis and Fred Zangardi were the outstanding players for Keystone.

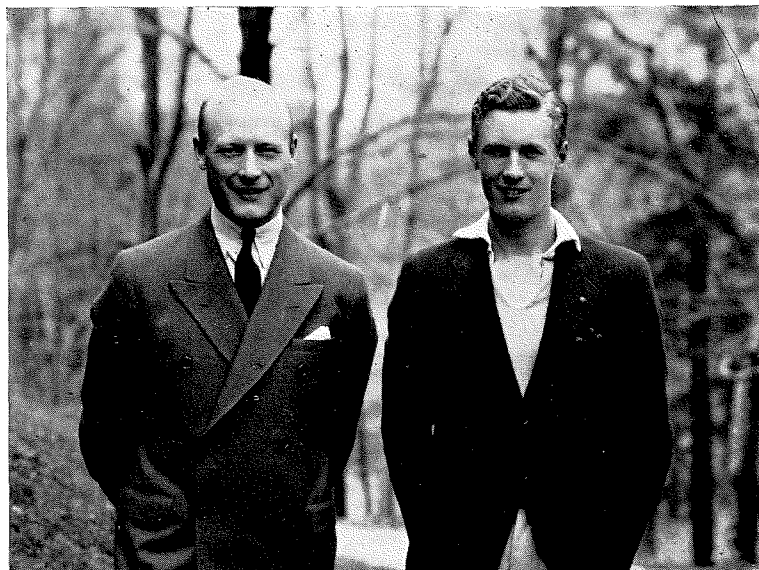

The final game of the season was played with Williamsport-Dickinson Junior College at Clarks Summit, November 23. The teams seemed evenly matched, and neither were able to score until the closing minutes of the game, when they both scored. The Dickinson team drew first blood, when with but five minutes left to play in the final period, they blocked a Keystone punt in the end zone. Pfeifer, the Dickinson center, fell on the ball for a touchdown. The Little Giants retaliated, however, with a march the length of the field for a touchdown. The game ended with the ball in mid-field. The final score: Keystone 6; Dickinson 6. This encounter marked the final game for twelve Keystone men.

From the point of view of games won and lost, the season was not a success. However, the men did gain valuable experience which will aid them next season. Captain John Owens worked hard to make the team a success for Keystone, and he is to be congratulated for his untiring efforts. To Captain-elect Paul Swarts, we wish all the success in the world, and hope that Keystone's football team under "Caker" has a banner year.

Not unnoticed either, were the loyalty to the team, and the untiring efforts in its behalf, of Reed Miller, manager, and Robert Williams and Samuel Wells, assistant managers.

In Sam Lee and "Turk" Azar, Keystone, last fall, had two able grid-iron coaches. These men not only knew the science of football but are able to impart this knowledge to the men under them. Given players of average ability, Lee and Azar will soon discover their merits and will develop them to the fullest capacity. Fortunate may Keystone count herself in having secured these football generals to guide the Little Giant's football destinies next year.

COACH "MAC" DARLINGTON

CAPTAIN DICK YOUNG

B A S K E T B A L L

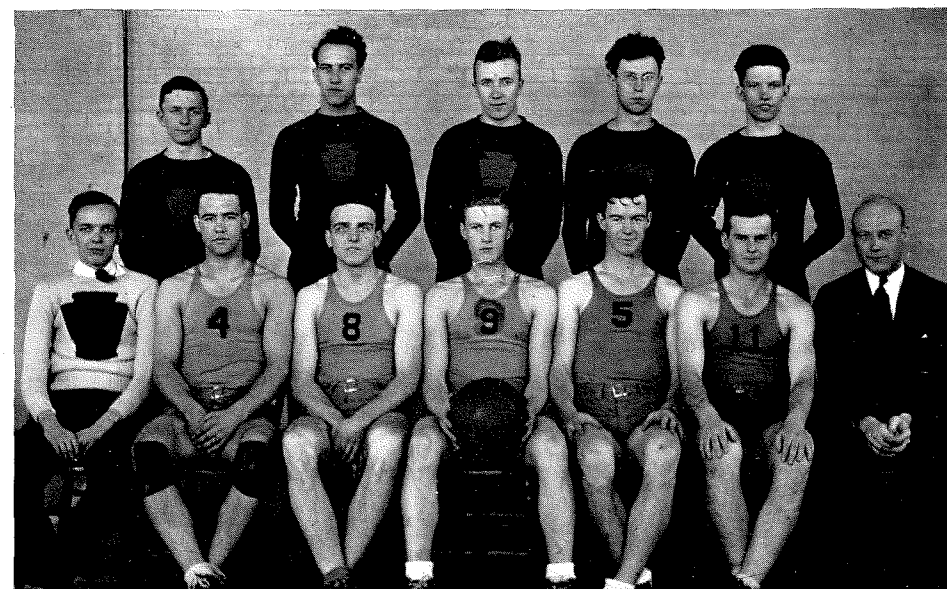

The beginning of the past basketball team brought evidence of a good season. The team had lost only Yatkones and Decker, who had failed to return to school. A new coach, James "Mac" Darlington, had been appointed and a few new promising freshmen had turned out for the team, which by the date of the first game, seemed to be a well balanced organization.

The season opened with a game on December 20 with Montrose High School at Montrose. The playing was slow and unexciting, and the game was one sided from the opening on. The team came with a 31-11 victory for their first triumph. The entire squad saw action in the fray.

After a three week lay-off, the team journeyed to Scranton and took the measure of Scranton-Lackawanna Business College, 42-18. The struggle, as the score indicates, was one sided, and at no time during the encounter was the outcome in doubt.

The season was officially opened at home on January 17, with Penn State Extension School furnishing the opposition. The game ended with the Little Giants on the long end of a 37-14 score. The victory was the third straight for the team, and it looked as if Coach Darlington had molded a winning combination, with the addition of Jimmy Young, a newcomer.

The first defeat of the season was met at home, when the team played St. Thomas Freshmen on January 26. The first half was all St. Thomas but in the second half Keystone sprinted to bring the score to within one point of the visitors. The final score was 32-31. The game was a hard fought battle which kept the spectators on their feet throughout the entire contest. The following week, however, the team broke into the winning column with another win over the Scranton-Lackawanna Business College. The game was played at home, and the final count was 54-26.

The next two games held on foreign courts. The first was played on February 5 when the team met Venard College on the latter's court. The game was a bitterly contested encounter, but the Little Giants finally emerged with a slim 32-31 victory. The other game was played February 7 at Wilkes Barre when the squad played Bucknell Junior College. The contest was closer than the score indicated, but the visitors returned with a 52-44 victory.

The most exciting game of the season was played in the Keystone gym on February 14. The opposition was Keystone's old rival, Wyoming Seminary. The fray was rough and hard fought, and the outcome was in doubt until the last whistle. The final score showed that Keystone had won, 39-38.

On February 18 the team journeyed to Scranton to play the St. Thomas Freshmen in a return game at the Colonel Watres Armory. The encounter was a repetition of the first, as St. Thomas again won. This time, however, the score was 36-33. With this the Tommies Yearlings had the distinction of being the only team to defeat the Little Giants throughout the past season.

The team ended the season with a three game home stand, which ended with three victories for the Little Giants. On February 21 the team took the measure of the Penn State Extension School, 48-32. The second team played the entire game. Bucknell Junior College came to Keystone, February 29, and were turned back with a 42-36 defeat. The final contest of the season was played March 4, with Venard College furnishing the opposition. The final score was 45-27 in favor of the Keystone team.

We feel that the season has been successful in point of showing made against other teams. Part of this is due to the ability of the men, such as Captain Dick Young, Jimmy Young, Roger White, Bill Seamans and Bill Phillips, but a great deal of the credit is due to Coach "Mac" Darlington. Again, as in football, Miller was the loyal and ever-active manager.

G I R L S ' B A S K E T B A L L

The girls' basketball team for 1936 had a fairly successful season. A large number of girls reported to try-out for positions, including many who were on last year's team. Mary Northup was elected captain, and the season got under way.

The team was coached by Mrs. Charles T. Oswald who, after a few practices, rounded the girls into shape and assigned the positions. Ruth Jones was assigned to the position of manager and performed her duties faithfully throughout the season.

After a few practices as a regular team, the girls seemed to pick up speed, and although their first game ended in defeat, they did not lose their pep and enthusiasm, and emerged at the end of the season with scores that showed that although they had not been entirely victorious, they had made a good showing.

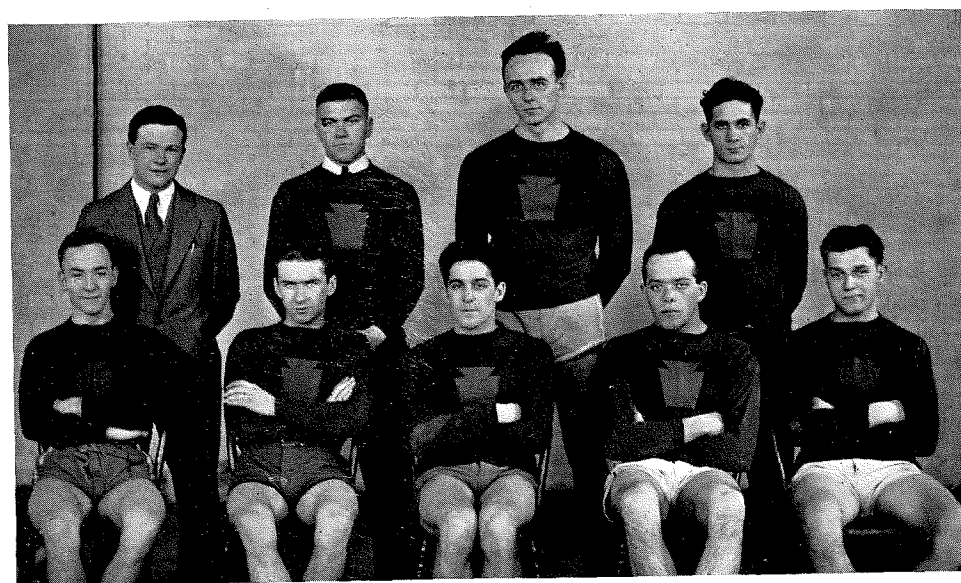

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Junior Varsity basketball team kept pace with the Varsity cage squad, during the past season by winning nine out of thirteen contests. The squad was coached by the Varsity mentor, "Mac" Darlington.

The teams played nearly all the neighboring high schools. They defeated Fleetville, Montrose, Nicholson, Tunkhannock, Mill City, Factoryville and Waverly. The four defeats came at the hands of Venard Jayvees, Montrose, Factoryville, and Moscow.

Captain Julius Banionis, Chester Myrick, Murray Davis, Albert Roraugh, Bill Leath, Jimmy Tresslar, and Anthony Cavezza should be commended for their fine work on the Junior Varsity squad.

Contrary to the popular tradition that all Jayvee games should be sparsely attended, Keystoneians turned out in force to cheer the Junior Varsity on to victory.

A new sport was inaugurated into Keystone's athletic life this year with the addition of boxing as a minor sport. Coach "Mickey" Boerner did remarkably well with the team, considering it was first year for boxing on the campus. The season cannot be called a success, but it can be said that the men on the team gained valuable experience for the coming year. Boxing can also boast the largest student following of any minor sport.

The team's first fight was at Lewisburg, February 14th, where it engaged the Bucknell University Freshmen. The members of the team gave creditable account of themselves, and the final count was a tie, 3½-3½.

In a return match on March 14, at Scranton, the team was not as fortunate as it was in its previous meeting. The Bucknell Freshmen copped this meeting by a score of 5-2. The feature of the evening was an exhibition between "Mickey" Boerner, the Keystone coach, and Joe Reno, the Bucknell coach.

On March 25 the team fought its final bout with the Scranton Y. M. H. A. The Keystoneans, minus the services of Fred Zangardi, Bill Boerner, and Noah Jones, lost by a score of 4-1.

W R E S T L I N G

Last year wrestling was inaugurated into Keystone athletics as a minor sport. The team was under the direction of Coach George Azar and was composed of the following members: Captain John Montgomery, James Corkwell, Bernard Savage, Burt Bryant, Tiffany Jones, Raymond Stephens, William Fordham, and Maurice Longo.

The team lost its match with Kingston High School, the State champions. Captain Montgomery was the only man to win. The team was also entered in the Northeastern Pennsylvania Championship Tournament. Captain Montgomery was again the only one on the team to win his bout, but he was eliminated in the semi-finals.

Credit must be given to Coach Azar for his fine work with the team. Captain Montgomery also did a fine job of making the team a success.

Wrestling is a growing sport and the team is looking forward to a better season next year, because it will lose only one of its members, Bernard Savage.

Next year the team expects to have a schedule with other college teams.

T E N N I S

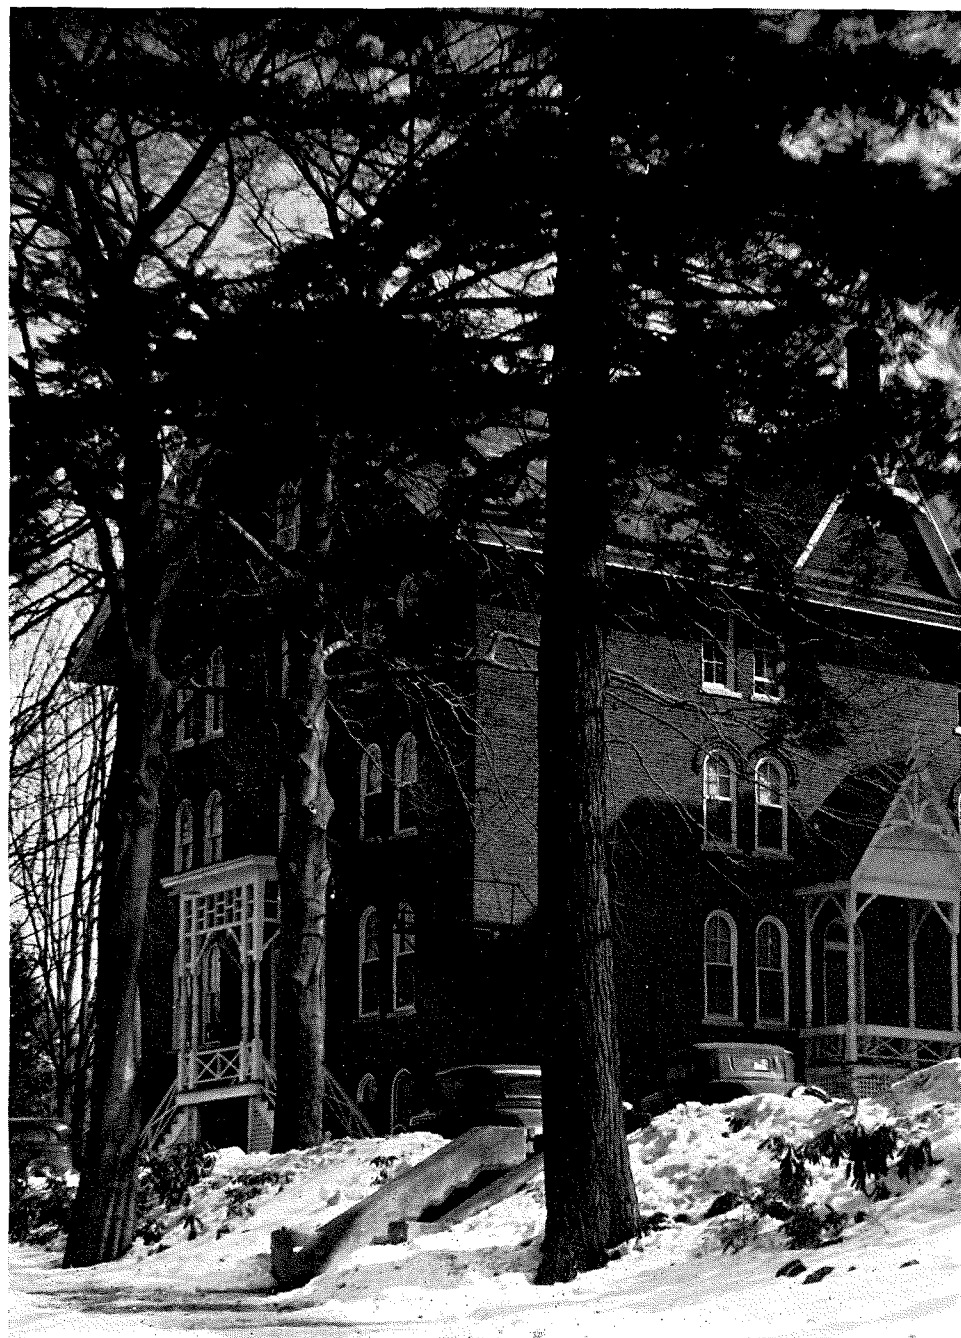

Last year tennis was made a minor sport on Keystone's athletic calendar. Since that time it has been gradually gaining in popularity, until now it is one of the most popular sports on the campus. The students have given it good support, and if the coming season is as successful as the past has been, we may expect another series of victories.

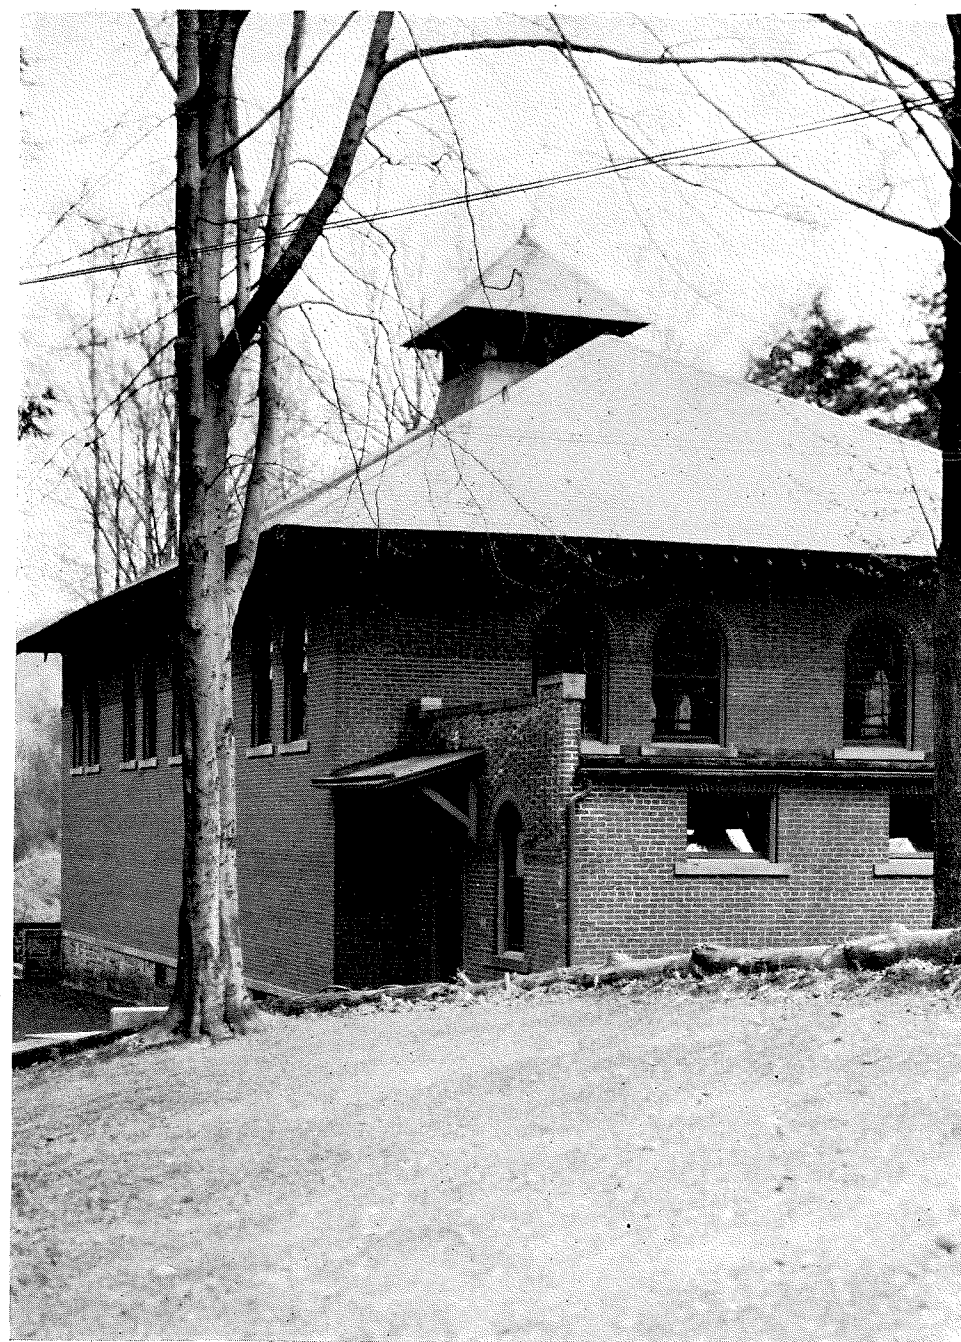

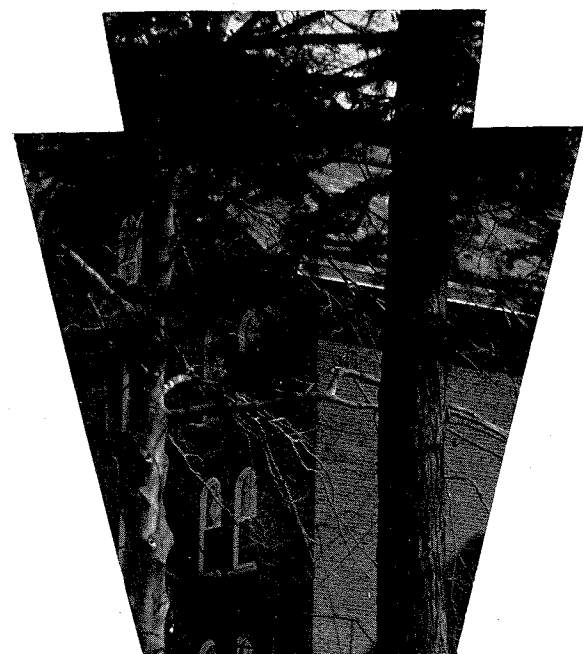

The coming season should be a successful one as only Charles Brown, Number 4 man on last year's squad, is missing from this year's squad. Besides Phil Wroe, Bill Phillips, Bill Walter and other last-year men, a number of new stars have been added. Ned Wroe and Albert Rorapaugh, both of Clarks Summit, are two of the new men who seem sure of gaining positions on the squad.

Last year the team was defeated by Wyoming Seminary twice. The first time the score was 6-1, and the second time was 5-2. On May 15th, Keystone lost to Bucknell Junior College, at Wilkes-Barre, 7-0. However, in a return match, at Keystone, on May 18th, the Keystone team avenged the previous defeat by sending their Junior College rivals home with a 4-2 setback. The season final came May 1st, when the team defeated Clarks Summit High School, 7-0.

N O K O M I A N S T A F F

We are calling this, our first year book, Nokomian, in honor of the winding creek which beautifies the valley in which the back campus of Keystone is situated.

Many difficulties have faced us in putting out the book. Having had no predecessors, and no book to work with as an example, we have been to rely entirely on our own initiative and wisdom.

We have made countless mistakes, and as the Nokomian goes to press, it is the futile wish of every member of the staff that "we had it to do over again." We know that our raw inexperience is obvious on every page of the book, yet we have done our best.

We have been told that all great things begin modestly, and so we are somewhat consoled for not being able to beautify the book with art work, and have contented ourselves with using the keystone as our only theme. We selected campus views taken in both winter and summer, to afford a contrast. Various other things we have done—for better or worse, only the reader can judge.

The Keystoneian is the bi-weekly newspaper published by the students of Keystone Junior College. It was discovered in the fall of '34 in the archives of the Academy, and was brought to life under the supervision of Dean Williams. In two short years it has become a flourishing college paper, capable of competing with the best Junior College publications in the country.

The Keystoneian supplies the faculty, student body, and Alumni with news which would otherwise be unobtainable. In addition, it keeps and publishes a complete record of varsity and intra-mural sports, and many different feature articles.

The Student Council, which is elected each year by the members of the Freshmen and Sophomore classes, is an organization for the purpose of directing student activities, maintaining good order, encouraging self control, courtesy, responsibility and obedience to lawful authority.

Members of the Council include four men and two women from the Sophomore class, three men and one woman from the Freshman class, and one man from the preparatory department.

During the year the Council sponsors many social functions, the most popular of which is the annual Poverty Social and Dance which takes place in May.

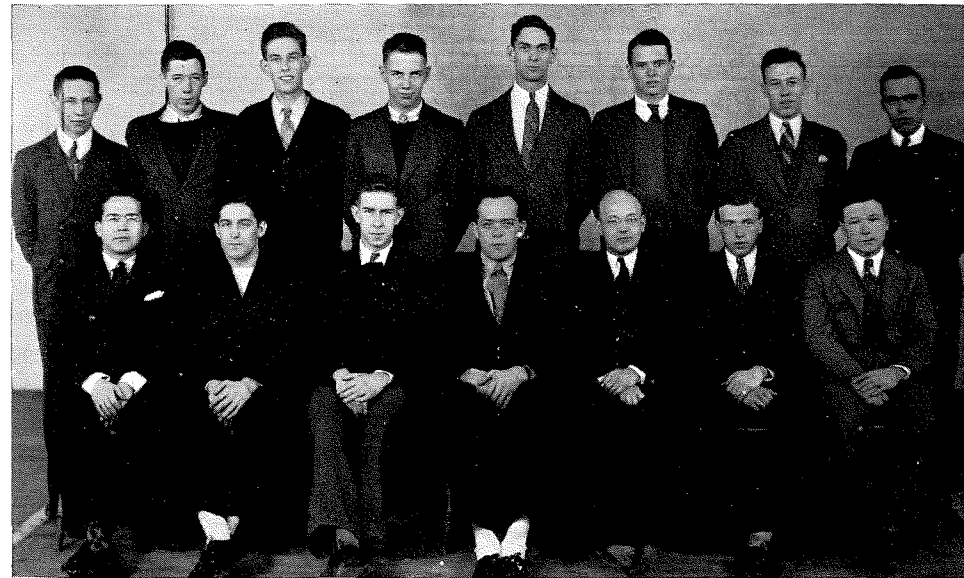

V A R S I T Y C L U B

The Varsity Club was founded by a group of football letter men at the end of last year's football season. Later it was voted to open membership to those who win letters in other sports.

The club ran several social events throughout the year, among which were a football dance, a cabaret dance, a card party and a play, thereby managing to earn enough money to buy a sweater for every member.

Both this year and last, John J. "Sparky" Owens was elected president by the unanimous vote of the club members.

INTER-FRATERNITY SORORITY COUNCIL

The Inter-Fraternity-Sorority Council was organized for the maintenance of sorority and fraternity life in harmony with the best interests of the students, and has for its purpose the promotion and improvement of fraternity and sorority relations, scholastic and social standards. It is a forum for discussion of all questions of interest to the fraternity and sorority world.

This organization is made up of two representatives from each fraternity and sorority in the school. It sponsors dances and social events throughout the school year, and does a great deal for the promotion of a friendly attitude among rival sorority and fraternity members.

The various dances which it runs throughout the year, in particular, the Commencement Prom, are looked forward to with pleasant anticipation by the entire student body.

WOMEN'S ORGANIZATION

The Women's Organization was started this year for the promotion of interest and fellowship among the women on the campus. It was the hope that an organization of this type would do away with all distinction between Freshmen and Sophomore women and sorority and non-sorority members, and would foster a common feeling of loyalty to the college.

The first meeting was held in October, at which time the organization was completed and the following officers were elected: President, Mary Elizabeth Danvers; Vice-president, Gertrude Cavanaugh; Secretary, Helen D. Davies, and Treasurer, Helen Griffiths. These officers formed the executive committee, which has acted as a steering committee for the year. Plans were made to have at least one "get-together" a month during the school year.

The first social event of the year was a supper party, which was held on November 12, before which the girls had been hostesses to their parents and friends at Open House. On December 13, a reading and a tea were given. The party was held in the common lounge, which was attractively decorated with Christmas greens and tapers. The out-door carnival and weiner roast on January 17 was a great success, with sleigh riding and skiing filling the major part of the afternoon. On Valentine's Day the girls met after classes in the lounge and played bridge, after which they enjoyed a covered dish supper. On March 15, the organization had supper together and played games afterward. During April the girls conducted a dance in the college gymnasium, which proved to be one of the most delightful held during the school year. A tea for high school seniors was given in May, at which time the visiting girls were conducted through the college buildings. A swimming party and picnic completed the events for the year.

Much credit is due to Dean Watkins, who originated the organization and aided the executive committee in planning the affairs during the year.

The Tribunal of Keystone Junior College was organized in the spring of 35 in preparation for the entrance of the Freshman Class in the fall. It is composed of the members of the present Student Council, one member from each fraternity and sorority, one from the Varsity K Club, and one from the non-fraternity students.

The function of the organization is primarily a disciplinary one, although it also makes and revises freshman rules. The further purpose of the Tribunal is to promote scholastic achievement, friendship, and social contacts.

Don't Play "Santa Claus" to the Sneak Thief:

Furs and jewelry are nice gifts to receive and to have . . . BUT don't forget the sneak thief feels the same way about them, too.

His reasons, however, are different.

HE likes furs and jewelry because they are easy to conceal and easy to turn into cash.

Such valuable possessions demand constant vigilance . . . and worry . . . which often takes the pleasure from having and wearing them.

Fur Coats and fur-trimmed garments can be insured, under an annual policy, for as little as $5.00. Policies cover "all risks," which means loss from any cause other than moth damage and wear and tear.

Allowance is also made for Summer storage.

You'll also be surprised at the moderate cost of jewelry insurance.
