ARROW 1990

Moving in - the start of it all.

Top: What a way to start off the first day! Abote: RA's Cherll Fisher, Pat Bloss and Marian Boden are ready and waiting to welcome students as they arrive on campus.

Left: College Place is lined with cars as students arrise to begin the new year.

Moving in day. A day full of excitement. For freshmen - a new beginning. For returning students - a day to get together with old friends and to talk about the summer, stand in long lines to pay bills and receive room keys, and haul loads of personal belongings up unending flights of stairs.

Anxious seniors were ready to get their final year underway. It was their last time as students to say goodbye to parents. For freshmen, with their "Eye on the Nineties" - it was a time full of many different emotions. They said their first goodbyes to parents and started to meet new people, make new friends, and adjust to a different atmosphere. Moving in day was a busy day for all.

Abose: Erik Berthold, Colleen Kramer, and Cara Boyanowski are eager to more in.
Lefı: Jennifer Klein makes one of many trips carrying things to her new room.

The beginning of the year provided many activities at Lycoming College. From the day of moving in, students looked to the future. After waiting on the never ending line in Long Hall for registration and paying bills students moved into their new homes.
Many built bunk beds or lofts to make room for sofas and tables. Some spent weeks on settling in while others spent only hours.

One of the first events was the annual Campus Carnival Numerous organizations worked the various games and amusements.

Other activities enjoyed were concerts such as . 38 Special and Richard Marx sponsored by the Campus Activities Board.

Every fall hundreds of nervous freshmen load their belongings into their first home at Lycoming Asbury or Skeath Hall. These dormitories give these young men and women their first glimpse of college life. After the initial shock of group showers, freshmen can opt for other residence halls later in their Lycoming careers. No two dorms are alike. Each has its own separate personality which hopefully fits with an individual's style of life.

For their remaining years at Lycoming there are many different choices for students to call home. After joining a fraternity or sorority one usually ends up in East or Wesley Hall. Many women choose to live in Rich Hall, the all women's dorm. Then there are the people who fall in between and live in Crever or Williams in suites. For those who enjoy the privacy of a single room, Forrest Hall does the job

"Putting the write foot forward!"

Queen.

The English Department honored those alumni who were "Putting the Write Foot Forward" and had proven themselves by having their articles or books published. The 1989 Homecoming weekend, October 7-8, also honored the Class of 1939 during their 50 year reunion with a reception held in Pennington Lounge.

Heidi Mcakin was chosen as 1989's Homecoming Qucen by the student body. All candidates, seven seniors and one representative from the underclassmen, paraded around the field in the traditional classic cars. 1988's Queen Deborah Burkland, returned to crown this year's queen during cercmonics at midfield.

Once again. alumni and students filled the stands to cheer the Warriors on to another victory. The defeat of Widener, 21-0, was just one of the Homecoming sporting events. Alumni participated in the annual soccer match with the varsity and in an alumni swim meet.

The cross country and field hockey teams were also in action and eight new honorees were inducted into the Lycoming Sports Hall of Fame. As usual, Theta Chi's annual Ox Roast was another successful sell-out.

The 1989 Homecoming festivities will long be remembered by those alumni and students who participated in the events.

Vision in candlelight

On December 3, 1989 , students, faculty, and members of the community gathered in Clarke Chapel to celebrate the 14 th Annual Christmas candlelighting service. For the occasion the chapel was decorated with Christmas trees illuminated with white lights

The concert band entertained the crowd with festive melodies and Christmas carols. Clarke Chapel was filled with the voices of the choir and the worshippers singing traditional Christmas carols

Besides the music, Father Jack Lambert and Reverend Marco Hunsberger both delivered messages. The presidents of each class joined in the service by reading Bible verses.

At the conclusion of the service individual candles were lit and the entire chapel glowed with the spirit of Christmas.

College, reads the ninth lesson, John 1.

The 1989-90 school year offered many activities for all to enjoy. Comedians. movies, musicians, and other fun shows were brought to Lycoming.

The Campus Activities Board, along with the Office of Student Activities, tricd and succeeded in bringing fun and laughter to the campus.

In addition to two major concert attractions. 38 Special and Richard Marx. CAB presented the talents of many other entertainers. Comedians Wayne Federman and John Ridley and musician Randy Mauger were just a couple of these talented young performers.

Students also gathered in Wertz Student Center with the hopes of becoming $$ 500$ richer in the all new "Blizzard of Bucks."

The 1989-90 school year was a very big year for students to be entertained by a varicty of talents.

Visions of victory!

Intramural sports involved most of the student body of Lycoming. The program allowed those interested to develop not only their minds, but their bodies, too. It was a great way for those who did not have the time to participate in an intercollegiate sport to still enjoy the thrill of victory or the agony of defeat.

Intramurals offered the opportunity for competition among Greek organizations as well as teams of independents.

he time has arrived. Four years have gone by and now it's time for the event that everyone has been waiting for - graduation. But it was not always an easy journey. There were many rough and bumpy roads that had to be tackled and overcome. The four years were also a time of fun and laughter. With graduation past, the 90 's await. It is now time to embark on the next stage of life.

New tradion starts Geo's.
with senior Party at

The 1990 Scnior Class decided to do something different from every other year. Geo's, a bar on Market Sircet, sponsored a party for all of the seniors on Thursday. February 8th. A great time was had by all who allended.

The senior video was there and everyone got to "ham it up" with the hopes that they would appear in the final production. Christine Pasquarella, the class secretary, worked very hard to make this celebration a time to remember. Class president Lonna Zook helped with the organization.

This party offered a chance for seniors to get together three months before graduation and party with just their classmates. The Class of 1990 hopes that this event will become a tradition for future senior classes at l-ycoming.

Diplomas are given 10 each student who successfully completes the requirements of their degrec. Many smiles and tears are shared by parents. families, leachers, friends and graduates. It is the last time for some to see friends before entering the challenges of the real world.

But before all of this many of us ask, "Where did all the time go?" Four years have quickly come and gone at Lycoming giving us many exciting and fond memories. Memories of new found knowledge, friendships and loves will be cherished forever. Now that it is time to move on and put our experiences to use, it is the end of a new beginning for all.

Pr  as

The inauguration of James Douthat as President of Lycoming Coltege gave the senior class a chance to attend the "Presidential Ball" held at the Annunciation Parish Hall on West Fourth Street.

Joanne Marchesano, the SAIC President. conceived of the idea and brought the ball to life, organizing the gala event. Seniors got the chance to dress up in formal attire, to dance and mingle with friends, and eat hors docuvres all evening long. In the elegantly decorated Parish Hall attendees were captured for posterity by the everpresent photographer for the senior video.

This event, along with the Geo's Party, were two new concepts developed by the Class of 1990. They hope future classes will continue the new traditions inaugurated at the beginning of the decade.

Study, study, and more studying. That was not all there was to life at Lycoming. After the books were closed and the pens put away, the students at "Camp Lyco" came out to play.

There were many opportunities to get involved - from academic clubs to Greek organizations. Extracurricular activities provided much fun for the students and also gave them the chance to meet people and make a difference.

No matter what an individual's tastes were, there was always something for everyone.

Alpha Rho Omega

AIpha Rho Omega was who love to help our conmmunifounded April 1. 1981 with the purpose of creating a sisterhood dedicated to loyalty. individuality and unity

Alpha Rho is very proud of its tradition and continues to grow. We have had two wonderful pledge classes this year who we hope will keep us going strong. Change is inevitable but our ideals are firmly set and we are persistent

After a great deal of hard work. Alpha Rho successfully maintained its high grade point average and still mounted a moderate social calendar consisting of the infamous "Bizarre Party" and the Spring Formal.

We are very outgoing women
1y. We volunteered with Daffodi] Days, Leader North and Leader South nursing homes, as well as participated in other service activities.

Having initiated some great athletes. Alpha R ho was very active in intramurals and Greek Week where we came in number one.

Basically, Alpha R ho Omega is the place for us! We may be small, but our size keeps us unified. strong and together making us a true sisterhood.

Alpha Sigma Phi

The Gamma Rho chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi is proud to a nnounce that the 1989-90 school term was one of tremendous success and accomplishment.

As a fraternity we maintained fine relations with the community of Williamsport by participating in several service projects. We contributed several boxes of clothing to the local Goodwill Chapter and we had two members participate in the trip to North Carolina to aid Hurricane Hugo victims. Also, one Saturday afternoon we had several members attend and run a bingo game for the "old folks" at a local hospital. These service projects are a vital element in preserving the interaction among the fraternity, as representatives of the school, and the general community of Williamsport.

Our participation in the In-ter-Fraternity Council is still holding strong with two of the five executive offices, vicepresident and secretary, held by Alpha Sigma Phi brothers. Academically we are within the all-fraternity average.

One of our brothers organized the appearance of "George Wesley and the Irietations," a live reggae band. Another arranged a presentation on jobs by Dave Argall and Bob Allen, state representatives and Alpha Sigma Phi alumni from Lycoming. Socially, we had our traditional Pirate Party and the Black and White Formal.

Gamma Delta Sigma

Gamma Delta Sigma, founded on November 7. 1977, is still a strong and growing organization. Homecoming provided for much excitement as Gamma Delta Sigma took great pride in having three of its members in the Homecoming Court.

Some of the service projects for the semester included parking cars at the WilliamsportLycoming County air show, distributing candy for Halloween, Christmas caroling at the Rose View Manor nursing home, and writing letters to U.S. Marines stationed in the Mediterranean.

The annual Founders' Formal was held at the Hillside Restaurant on November 11 th and was enjoyed by all. Gamma Delta Sigma also co-sponsored a "DJPJ" party with the Campus Activities Board.

During the spring semester the organiztion continued its campus and community involvement with a clothing drive benefitting Wise Options for Women and the sponsorship of the Freshman Formal. Also, the Gamma Delta Sigma intramural basketball team won the championship.

Sigma Pi

Sigma Pi, founded nationally at Vincennes University in 1897, was established at Lycoming in 1953. They are the Beta Lambda Chapter.
Sigma Pi had a very successful Homecoming Weekend. With the return of 70 alumni, the highlight of the weekend was Lycoming's defeat of Widener by 21-0.

The Sigma Pi baskeıball team which participated in the IfC division is proud of its undefeated record. The fraternilys greatest pride is in the Lycoming Warrior football team. Many team members are brothers of Sigma Pi, six of whom received all-MAC recognition for their efforts on the football field. The brothers so honored were Rick Bealer, Vince Butaitis, Dave Ciculya. Troy Erdman, Joe Gillespic and Vic Olear. Rick Bealer was also a first-team AP all-American.
Other activities for Sigma Pi were the Big Brother/Little Brother program including a hayride and football game for the litules.

the highest GPA for all TKE chapters in Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Academic achievement is one of our top priorities at TKE.

Tau Kappa Epsilon was founded in 1899 and in less than 100 years became the largest international fraternity. The Mu-Theta chapter here at Lycoming was founded in 1969, making us the youngest fraternity on campus. Recently we inducted our 400th member!
In terms of sports. TKE has been taking tremendous strides in working up to the top of IFC sports. We have become a potent force in volleyball and basketball and aim to be taken seriously in all sports in the future.

So the brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon are busy with a heavy schedule of activities, school and parties. TKE's tradition on excellence carries on!

Theta Chi

The Brothers of Theta Chi have once again had another productive and successful year. Although we lost a number of good brothers through graduation in 1989. we are maintaining a strong unity. At the start of the 1990 year we had 33 brothers. Our last two pledge classes werc small, but of great quality.

We built on our services to the college as well. We sponsored a Freshman Valentine's Dance with Gamma Delta Sigma, helped clean desks in the Academic Center, and helped with College Night for high school students along with other scrvice projects. We also sent three brothers, David Barber, Joc Hales, and Jack Stermel down to South Carolina to help clean up after the Hurricane Hugo disaster.

We are continuing our academic standing by maintaining belter than the all-men's average GPA. Once again we captured the IFC football and softball championship titles and had a very successful sports year in all.
In remembrance of our close friend and brother, Richard W. Gieniec, who died on December 19. 1988. we installed a plaque in the house so that he may always have a place in our memory and Fraternity. The plaque is in honor of his true love and dedication for life, others, and the brotherhood.

Greek Week

Below: A large crowd gathers to watch the ever-popular Keg Toss.

Greek Week '90 offered a stiff competition as well as lots of fun moments for all to share. The unquestioned winners were Alpha Rho Omega and Kappa Delta Rho. But the winners were just a brief reflection of the true spirit of the games and how they brought the campus together for awhile.
From rousing voices raised in song during the Greek Sing to the test of strength Tug of War, Lycoming's Greeks showed their spirit and pride not only for their respective organizations, but for the pride of being Greek.

It was nice to see the togetherness and campus spirit at Lycoming from the Greeks. Lycoming should be proud of its Greek organizations for their hard work and dedication and ability to work together and play together - all to make Lycoming better in the long run. Because "No matter the letter, we're all Greek together" is very true at Lycoming, especially during Greek Week.

Arrow

Looking back through the files one can see the many changes which occurred at I.ycoming College. One thing that has changed considerably is the yearbook itself.

In the early $1900^{\circ}$ s the yearbooks were only 70-80 pages with paper covers held together by cord. It was more like a literary magazine, with lots of copy and very few pictures. Feature artieles included "The Pessimist." "The Optimist." "Advice to Underclassmen." "Class History." and "Important Local Events." There was even a class poem and a section of jokes. According to the yearbook. a popular menu was: fruit compote, veal croquettes, olives, peas, radishes, chicken salad, Parker House rolls, saltines. ice cream, assorted cakes and coffec.

In 1923 the yearbook was called The Dart. A larger book with hard paper covers, it was a class publication. The Dart had the same sections as before but with pages for autographs and class wills. In 1930 the hard cover was introduced.

In 1949 the Dickinson Junior College became Lycoming College and The Dari became The Arrow: Feature articles included coverage of dances. bands. float contests, parents weekends, and fraternity houses.

Catholic Council provides for spiritual and social well-being for Roman Catholics at Lycoming, but a student of any denomination is welcome.

Annually, this group takes orders for birthday cakes and for fruit baskets at finals. The group sponsored the dunking booth at the annual carnival and the Parents Weckend Dance. Members helped with the Advent prayer services, the Passover Seder and colored Easter eggs for St. Anthony"s Center.

A very active group. members of Catholic Council participated in activitics outside the college community, too. For instance, some were among the students who traveled to South Carolina during Spring Break to work with victims of Hurricanc Hugo.

Circle $K$ is an international service organization affiliated with Kiwanis and Key Club. This year the chapter at Lycoming College raised money for the Special Olympics and worked with HOPE Enterprises helping mentally handicapped adults.
Circle K not only helped with activities at the school but also assisted Campus Ministries with the Hunger Clean-up. The group gave a dinner to the needy in Williamsport for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The largest project of Circle $K$ was its sponsorship of the American Red Cross Bloodmobiles each semester.

Criminal Justice Society

Row 1: Advisor Larry Strauser, Dan Borowick, Elissa Foner, Lisa Hughes, Gina Lauruk. Row 2: Brad Vanderbeek, Rick Mallack, Jim Dorman, Ken Bohn, Russell Dore, Frank Lee, Allen Mills.

The Criminal Justice Society was founded in order to supplement the activities of the students in the criminal justice major.

They organized events and sponsored guest speakers to better inform their members about the legal system. Through these programs members are given the chance to meet and talk with people in their field of interest, giving them more information for making a specific career choice.

The society's biggest accomplishment this year was the establishment of a Criminal Justice Award, given to an outstanding senior in the major to honor his or her achievements as a student at Lycoming.

Choir

The Lycoming Choir performs annually at major campus events such as the Freshman Convocation. Christmas Candlelighı Service and Graduation Weekend.

The choir has about sixty students participating in the on campus programs. The smaller tour choir is comprised of forty students chosen through auditions. The 1990 tour is to Eastern Europe. From mid-May until early June the tour choir will perform in Berlin. Germany. Poland and Czechoslovakia.

This trip could prove to be more than just a sightseeing experience for the choir. With Communist Europe opening its doors, the people are ready to see the culture of the West.

Education Club

The Lycoming College Student Education Association had a successful school year. The fall semester began with the annual fundraiser, selling student directories on campus. In October, a Halloween party was held for children of faculty and staff. A fun evening of stories, crafts, games and refreshments was had by all.

December brought a representative from the Pennsylvania State Education Association to discuss our reinstatement as a student chapter. In January the new student PSEA chapter at Lycoming began.

The chapter sponsored Mary and Vic Bontempo speaking on special education in March.

Founded in 1989. the Great Stream Review is a national literary magazine dedicated to the publication of high quality poetry, fiction, and essays that demonstrate "a sense of possibility, a positive energy. an optimism in the worth of human values." The work that appears in the magazine is solicited, selected, edited and compiled by the students who serve on the editorial staff. Students on the business staff handle marketing and financial affairs.

The Tributary, a branch of Great Stream, is also produced by students. Its purpose is to promote a sense of community among our local writers and to provide a forum for works written by students. faculty, and staff of Lycoming College.

The Inter-Fraternity Council served to bring all the fraternities on the campus together. They worked on Greek relations and dealt with the rules and regulations imposed on Greeks by the College.

IFC developed rules for its intramural program and regulations for rush and pledging.

The cooperation among the organizations culminated in the annual Greek Week competition late in the Spring semester. Events included the Greek sing, synchronized swimming, keg toss and many other events on the Quad. Kappa Delta Rho was the overall winner this year.

Karate Club

Karate is a scientific and philosophical martial art used as self-defense, a form of physical exercise, or a sport. Training enhances strength, endurance, flexibility, coordination, balance, and agility as well as aids in the development of mental and physical control and alertness.

The objective of the club is to "guide individuals in the principles of character formation, etiquette and mental improvement" using this type of martial art.

Lycourier

The Lycourier, the student paper of Lycoming College, completed its first academic year in publication with some success.

The Licourier was honored for second place in a Columbia Scholastic Review newspaper critique. The student newspaper also won third place in spot photography for work by senior David Barber and in sport reporting for work by senior Mike Juran, both from the Society of Professional Journalists.

The Licourier started publication in October 1989 with a circulation of 2,000 copies cv ery other week. Second semester its circulation was 1.500 and it was published weekly.

Michacl Smith, the adviser for The Lycourier. said he is pleased with the progress of the newspaper. "The Lycourier's mission is to inform, to persuade. to criticize, and to delight," said Smith. "The newspaper has its problems and its critics but it fulfilled its mission by providing news and information on a timely basis."

The Licourier is prepared by students majoring in Mass Communications and others who contributed articles for the weekly publication. Students spent many hours editing and laying out articles, ofien working late in the evening to early in the morning.

Some of the storics that were featured in the newspaper in the 1989-90 academic year were the closing of a dormitory floor of Sigma Pi fraternity, the formation of a new fraternity, the loss of a master set of keys, the success of the football team, and a mock traffic accident. Three of its news stories were reprinted in The Sunday Grit.

Not all of the stories met the approval of the faculty and administration. The newspaper was criticized for running a controversial letter to the editor about an administrator. Despite this controversy; students were recognized for a special fourcolor inauguration cdition released in April.

The Pan-Hellenic Council serves to bring all sororities on campus together to work on Greek relations and to deal with the rules and regulations imposed on Greeks by the College.

During the past years PanHel has worked on formal rush rules and regulations. Good results were seen from this formal rush program.

The cooperation between the sororities culminated in Greek Week during the spring semester. Events included the egg toss, toga run, dizzy bat and many other races and events on the Quad. The 1990 Greek Week champions were Alpha Rho Omega.

The Political Science Club reactivated itself this year with some energetic new officers - Anthony Merrill, Kris Ely, and Allen Mills.

Members participated in a trip to the state capital, Harrisburg, to observe live legislative committees, talk with local representatives, and observe the legislature in session.

On April 10, 1990, the Political Science Club sponsored the appearance of State Representative David Argall '80 to speak on jobs in relation to college majors. The event included a dinner catered by the food service.

S.A.L.C.

The Student Association of Lycoming College (S.A.L.C.) represents the voice of the student body. They also serve to represent the students to the administration of the college.
S.A.L.C. attempted to improve life on the campus and identified areas for work through campus surveys. Some changes accomplished this year were the new furniture in Pennington Lounge. phones in Greek lounges, and student participation in planning for the Jack's Corner renovations.

The Lycoming chapter of the Student Nursing Association of Pa. exists to provide service to the college and the surrounding community, to promote leadership and professionalism among nursing students, to aid in the academic development of individuals and to create unity in the nursing community.

This year the society sponsored a health screening at the Lycoming Mall, and volunteered for the American Cancer Society and the American Heart Association. Members attended the Pennsylvania Nurses Association meeting in Reading. The society provided an ideal support group for nursing students.

Student Judiciary

The Student Judiciary is a group of Lycoming students who act as a court to decide on charges brought against a student. The Security Department writes up the incident report and the Office of Student Services charges the student with violations of the Rules of Student Conduct. The Student Court then hears the case as presented by both the college and the student. After this, the Student Court decides whether or not the student is guilty or innocent of the charges.

WRLC, 91.7 FM

WRLC, 91.7 FM. started off the new year with a bang two new CD players. This gave the station the ability to take advantage of the newest. cleanest sound around.

With a staff of 58 students. WRLC was the largest student organization on campus. besides the Greek organizations. Freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors all worked on the station. The executive staff had a mix of both old and new staff members. The executive staff was comprised of the following people and positions: Station Manager - Kurt Weirich: Program Director - Steve Sant: Music Director - Joe Wynne: Public Service Directors John Oleniacz and Kelli Lewis: Technical Director - Larry Kipp; Secretary Brenda Vroom: Sports Director - Jay Tannenbaum; Librarian - Mark Klein.

WRLC was on the air 12 hours a day, 7 days a week. Programming was on a "Freeform" format whereby the individual DJs selected their own music in addition to the station's playlist. WRLC was the first station in the area to start a children's show on Sundays from 12-1 p.m. Other special shows included: Alternative Tuesdays, Heavy Metal, TV Dinner, Oldies, New Age, Classical, Jazz. and Lost in Space.

In addition to broadcasting Warrior football and basketball. WRLC's sports department added Lady Warrior softball to the broadcast schedule.
The station is scheduled to move into new quarters in the Mass Communication building during the summer and will return to the air in September 1990 from an exciting new location.

The 1989 edition of the Lycoming Warrior football team accomplished what no previous team ever did - they made it to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Division III national tournament. Coached by Frank Girardi in his eighteenth season, the young Warrior team earned a 10-2 record on the year and won their fifth Middle Atlantic Conference championship.

The team was led by AllMAC first team selections Rick Bealer, Vic Olear, Troy Erdman, Don Kinney and Steve Lenz. In addition, Bealer was named to the first team AP Small College and Kodak Division III All-American teams.

and the offense hit their strides and blanked the Mountaineers 27-0. The second week brought a 16-0 shutout of non-conference foe, Kean College.

After a week's layoff the Warriors faced a tough battle at Delaware Valley but came out on top 14-10. Lycoming moved to a $4-0$ record with a convincing victory over Lebanon Valley before returning home to defeat Widener 21-0 for the Homecoming Weekend crowd.

Back on the road again, quarterback Ed Dougherty fired five first-half touchdown passes to lead a 46-0 rout of Juniata. October 21 st saw a see-saw battle in which the Warriors came from behind to defeat the Moravian Greyhounds in Bethlehem. In a record-setting day Lycoming's Troy Erdman broke the school's single-season rushing mark and Bealer set a record for career interceptions as the Warriors defeated Albright $22-8$ at College Field.

The trip to Susquehanna was an unhappy one as the Crusaders handed Lycoming its first loss of the season. Seven turnovers and 11 penalties spelled trouble for the Warriors in windy and very cold conditions. Lycoming bounced back to defeat Wilkes 45-3 in the regular season finale and kept their national playoff hopes alive.

A bid to the NCAA Division Ill national tournament came the Warriors' way and sent them to battle the Dickinson Red Devils in Carlisle. Lycoming got on the board late in the first half with Erdman's 52 yard touchdown run and put the game out of reach with two additional touchdowns in the third quarter.
This victory enabled Lycoming to host the quarterfinal round contest against Ferrum College. The home field advantage wasn't enough as the Warriors fell 49-24 to a stronger. faster Panther team and were climinated from the tournament.

Junior running back Troy Erdman rewrote the record books by rushing for 1,003 yards in the ten regular season games, the first to break the 1,000 yard mark, and gained 1,215 total yards on the season. Defensive back Rick Bealer set records for career pass interceptions, single season punt returns, single season punt return yards and single game pass interceptions.

The Lycoming soccer team, extremely young, found it tough going in the rugged Middle Atlantic Conference in 1989. The team posted its fourth consecutive losing season with a 4-10 overall record.

Despite the team's record, some very positive aspects emerged from the season. The team finished third in the MAC Northern Division-West league. The Warriors gained wins over Juniata, Kings, Albright and Shepherd while losing five games by only one goal and four others by only two. One of the one-goal losses was to Messiah who was ranked #1 in the nation at the time.

and Gary Malaby who led the young team both on and off the field. They helped teach the younger players the ways of the game and instilled in them the skills needed to win.

Leading the way for the Warriors' offensive attack was freshman Kenneth "Clete" O'Connor who scored 6 goals earning him an honorable mention on the MAC Northern Di-vision-West All-Star team. Other players who contributed to the offensive attack were Malaby, Hales, Wayne Fisch. Tom O'Keeffe, Steve Gay, Kevin Kreamer, Greg Duke, Drew Strohmeyer, Mike Reteneller and Todd Rapel.

The 1990 Warrior soccer team will have only one returning senior, Sonny Kirkpatrick, but has high hopes of turning those losses into wins.

Making history seemed to be the theme of the 1989 Lady Warrior volleyball team. In their first official intercollegiate varsity season, the Lady Warriors posted an $8-8$ overall record. A two game set win over Kings in the Scranton Tournament, where the Lady Warriors placed fourth in round robin competition, constituted the first intercollegiate $u$ in for the program. On October 19. the Lady Spikers made another mark in the Lycoming history books by defeating Wilkes, the first varsity home court win.

The team, coached by twoyear mentor Cheryl Dempsey and assisted by Alice Brown.
was piloted by senior co-captains Cheryl Good and Aimee McNelis. Good led the team in kills, digs, and service percentage, while McNelis led in setting percentage and solo blocks. Other letter winners included juniors Maria Pizzella and Karen Leibman, sophomore Shannon Mudrick, and freshman Heather Shedlock.

MAC Northwest title fulfills "Soaring to New Heights" dream.

Their posters read "Soaring to New Heights" and with that goal in mind, the 1989-90 edition of the Lady Warriors basketball team headed up and away en route to a feat never before accomplished in Lycoming's history.
Piloted by senior point guard Kim Wood, the Lady Warriors won five of their first seven games. Costly injuries, however, began to have an impact on the women's starting lincup. Into the seventh game, sophomore Annette Bicber was the MAC's leading rebounder. During the contest she sustained a knee injury that kept her sidelined for the remainder of the scason. In addition, Lonna Zook, senior starter, was out of commission for a portion of the season with a fractured foot. The Ladies were already without the services of junior stand-out Adrienne Aiken, who holds Lycoming's single scason scoring record of 428 points, as she recovered from back surgery

Almost without missing a beat, the remaining players met the challenge placed before them and did their part in pursuing a MAC championship.

Record 15-8

To make up for lost rebounds, workhorses Kristin Friel and Liz Evans pulled down the majority of the boards. The bulk of the scoring and leadership responsibility lay on the shoulders of Kim Wood, who led the team in scoring, with 17.5 points per game, assists and steals. In fact, she was in the nation's top fil. teen in assists and scoring for Division 111 schools. Wood's brilliant play later earned her MAC-North player of the Year and Kodak All-Region honors.

In his second year as head coach. James Orr boasted a remarkable 31-15 record. Orr emphasized what a pleasure it was working with a group as talented as these women were. and he would sorely miss the play of seniors Kim Wood, Lonna Zook, Jill Rice, and Kristin Fricl.

More downs than ups result in 2-25 record.

In a season with more downs than ups, the 1989-90 men's basketball team suffered through a dismal 25 games with only two victories. On what could have been Lycoming's youngest team, junior Phil Labas and sophomores Craig Bieber and Larry Stauffer had to take leadership responsibilities as they were the only three returning varsity players from last year's squad. Coach "Dutch" Burch, in his 28th year as head coach, had to rely on a host of returning soph omores and two transfer students to fill the rest of the varsity uniforms.

The Warriors' youth and inexperience played a large role in why it took them eight games before finally garnering their first win 77-60 against Beaver College.

Going into the second half of the season, the young team seemed to be gelling together; and then the unheard of happened. Eight varsity members left the team. Coach Burch elected to bring up talented freshman Tim Marose to the varsity ranks. As starting point guard Jay Sechler recollects, "We all knew we were better than our record indicated, and a big win was right around the corner.'
The "big win" came with only four games left in the season. On February 7th, Lycoming traveled to Albright and came home with a thrilling 6765 over-time victory.

Swimmers stronger and bigger than last year.

The Lycoming College swim leam splashed into their 1989-90 season stronger and bigger than last year. Both the mon's and women's teams had returning scasoned swimmers as well as a number of promising freshmen.

The key swimmer for the 3-8 women was senior captain Amy Cunniffe. Named co-winner of the Mort Rauff Award for the second ycar, Cunniffe finished her Lycoming carcer with 71 firsts, 36 seconds, 7 thirds. 2 fourth place finishes and qualified for the MAC Championship meet.

Ied the men's team in a losing 0 8 season. Also a second-year corecipient of the Mort Rauff Award, Harvey finished the season with a career record of 29 first place finishes. 12 seconds and one third and fourth. Harvey, Mike Barr, Mike Estey, and Mark Poe all qualified for the MAC Championships.

Junior Mike Macchione and sophomores Amy Atkinson and Susan Vilcllo were named to the MAC Academic Honor Roll. This honor requires a minimum 3.4 grade average in the academic major and significant contributions to the sport(s) played.

The spring of 1990 marked the beginning of a new tradition in athletics for Lycoming College. Softball joined the list of intercollegiate teams at the college.

Coached by Curtis Johnson, the Lady Warriors were scheduled for a 22 game campaign in their initial season, including 5 opponents from the very tough MAC Northwest Division. Captains were Deb Reed, Jill Rice, and Cheryl Good.

The season opened in fine fashion with a double-header win over Marywood followed by a split with Mansfield. There was a seven game dry spell until the Lady Warriors managed to slip by Kings in the first game of a double-header and then destroyed Susquehanna in their next outing. A late season slump ended on a positive note as the Ladies outscored Allentown College $16-0$ in the final game of their first intercollegiate campaign.

Junior Carol Fenix was named to the Northern Division All-MAC first team for her play at third base. Deb Reed was the leading pitcher with an earned run average of 4.09 over 77 innings pitched. Jen Krpata finished the season with an impressive .419 batting average while Cheryl Good topped the list with 24 hits. Other Lady Warriors whose batting averages topped . 300 included Fenix, Good, Leslie Spangler, Yvonne Neece, Stephanie Welshans and Pat Long.

Young men's team gains experience.

The Lycoming College men's tennis squad, under the direction of eighth year head coach Joe Mark, compiled a 3-6 overall record.

In a rebuilding year, the season opened with a $6-3$ victory over Wilkes. Unfortunately the team suffered five straight losses before Bill Nichols. Scott Patterson, Ron Mendler, Steve Austin. and the doubles team of Patterson/Mendler combined to win individual matches and defeat Juniata 5-4. The season ended on a positive note with a $6-3$ vietory over Mansfield.

Senior Paul Fochtman (2-7) and Nichols (4-5) were the number one and two singles players for the Warriors. The duo combined for a doubles record of 3-5.

Tie-breaks are the key to Lady Warriors' season.

young Lady Warrior tennis team posted a 35 record for the 1990 campaign. Deborah Holmes, in her fourteenth year, guided a team composed of just one senior, captain Kay Ashman, two juniors and four sophomores.

Ashman and junior Cathy Ermer each compiled 4-4 individual match records, followed closely by Briana Kwasnik at 43. Tie breakers played a big role in the singles competition for the Lady Warriors. In singles competition Lycoming faced twelve tie-break situations and emerged the winner seven times. Overall, the women won $42 \%$ of their individual matches.

Other harriers who consistently placed for the Warriors were Dave Harvey, Ken Shipe, and Ken Sobiech.
The Lady Warriors opened their season with a full team but quickly dropped down to three runners, Eileen Gallagher, Lisa Rotunda, and Denise Ahern. Then it was two - Gallagher and Rotunda - for the rest of the season. Determination paid off as Gallagher represented Lycoming at the NCAA Mid. East Regional.

Avery short season of only three meets didn't allow the Lycoming track and field team to hit its stride. In their first meet, both the men's and women's squads were able to score enough points to defeat St. Francis, however no points were scored at the Susquehanna lnvitational meet which included thirteen other colleges and universities.

Senior Pat Bloss was named to the MAC Academic Honor Roll for her accomplishments in the classroom and for her participation in the field events of javelin, discus, and shotput.

Improvement was the key for the 1990 Lycoming golf team. The linkers upped their dual match record to 3-7, from 1-7 last year.

Head coach Gene Hendersched's team finished tenth out of ten squads at the Susquehanna Invitational to open the season. They split a triangular match, finishing ahead of Ursinus, and lost another triangular match before defeating Messiah.

Sophomore Bill Beck and junior Chris Landmesser lead the team with 87 stroke averages. followed closely by Curtis Keiser who averaged 88 .

More than 115 delegates representing colleges and universities across the United States and Canada participated in the inauguration ceremonies for Lycoming's fourteenth President, James Evans Douthat.

The inauguration took place on Friday, April 6th, at 1:30 p.m. The colorful academic procession featured the various colors of the institutions represented and the academic degrees of the participating delegates.

Dr. Douthat was invested as President by Robert L. Shangraw, chairman of the Board of Trustees and was presented with the Medallion of Office.

Immediately following the formal investiture participants adjourned to an elegant reception in Pennington Lounge catered by Seiler's. Tables of hors d"oeuvres were adorned with fresh flowers and ice sculptures. Afternoon classes were suspended in honor of the occasion.

Held in conjunction with the inaugural activities was the second annual celebration of the arts. The Senior Art Exhibition opened in the College Art Gallery. Original poetry and prose works were read by student au thors and musical selection were offered by various chora and instrumental groups. Th celebration of the arts conclud ed with a performance of Arm and the Man in the Arena The atre.

The day's festivities culmi nated in a banquet for visitor invited guests held in a trans formed gymnasium. Many stl dents donned black pants, whit shirts, and red ties to serve a waiters and waitresses for th banquet.

Right: The diplomas are stacked up, ready to he anarded.

Apart of the graduation ceremonies, Class President Lonna K. Zook joined College President James E. Douthat in "The Presidents" Moment" and addressed her classmates, their families and friends, and the Lycoming community. The Arrow staff thanks Lonna for allowing us to include her remarks throughout the graduation weekend pages.

Four years ago we entered Lycoming.
Some with hope, and some with dread Marveling at our new environment. Yet skeptical of what lay ahead.

We came from different paths of life,
From states spread far and wide.
And yet we came together.
To take our four-year ride.
Our futures we had in common.
Yet we did not know what was in store
We only knew we had arrived.
To learn and grown some more.

Each one of us left friends behind, We left families and high school ways. Yet we accepted the opportunity to look ahead, With hopes for our college days.

We met new friends and went to class,
We even studied our books,
And just as freshmen always do,
We caught upperclassmen's dirty looks.

With some perseverance,
And work ethics that were determined to last,
We made it through our freshman year,
And became the sophomore class.

As sophomores, our challenge continued,
To study and make it through.
With new-found confidence and knowledge,
We accomplished what we had to do.

We spent time in the library and in the labs, And in the classrooms we worked for grades. But we also took time to enjoy the moments, with the friends that we had made.

Once again, two semesters passed quickly, And the end of year number two was near. We said good bye, and left for the summer. And returned for our junior year.

When we arrived as juniors, And our third year was underway, We were assured in knowing our plans were right. At Lycoming we would stay.

We struggled along through many days, In an attempt to reach our goals. Hard work, determination, and dedication, Were all necessary tools.

By the time we finished our junior year, Much hard work had already been done. Yet somehow we managed our hours. And found time for friends and fun.

Once again, it came time to leave for the summer And good byes brought smiles and tears. But knowing we would be back for our senior year Alleviated many fears.

Leff: Dr. James E. Douthal delivers his first Commencement speech as President to the Class of 1990.

We came on campus as senior students.
We had waited for so long -
To be the big shots, to rule the nest At the top where we belonged.

With classes to take and grades to make, And resumes to distribute,
We wondered what else was left to do, How else would we contribute?

Well, here we are. We have made it through,
We have reached our goal today.
We are the graduating class of 1990 ,
And deserve it in every way.
We sacrificed, and set aside,
ln order to achieve.
We persevered and accepted the challenge,
When it might have been easier to leave.
We receive our diploma to signify the hard work we have done.
And the knowledge we have collected.
It represents an accomplishment of learning, That by others is greatly respected.

Abote: Craig Keiser towers above his classmates as they proceed to the Quad.
thove right: The Class of 1990 proceeds through the gates to be welcomed by faculty, family, and friends. Right: Troy Gardner, Allen Crowell and Jody Bitner smile as they wail for their names to be called.

Keep in mind that college gave learning,
But college also gave life
To friendships that have grown through time and tears,
And have survived through good times and strife.
Just as we came from different paths.
As freshmen of our class.
We leave to journey down roads of life,
That may never again once pass.
We can reflect on how hard we worked to get here,
We can say that for the future we have doubts where we will be.
But we will always have the pride of knowing. Each of us makes the Class of Ninety.

It is true . . . each of us is a part of the Class of 1990. For four years each of us has studied, learned and accomplished, and we receive our diplomas today as recognition of that.

Four years ago, as high school graduates, we anticipated the challenge of going to college and furthering our education. Now, four years later, we are being recognized for our abilities to successfully accept this challenge during our journey through Lycoming College.

The challenge we face on this graduation day is much different from the one we faced four years ago. As high school seniors we were challenged to work hard for four years and to be successful students at college. Our challenge today is not just for four years, but for the rest of our lives. We are challenged to take our hard work determination, perseverance, and dedication into the world we are about to face . . . the "real world."

Below: Slacy Rhoades hopes it doesn't begin to

We are now being offered the opportunity to be everything that we have the abilities, talents, and desires to be. We each possess the abilities to fulfill all of our dreams, because the power to succeed comes from within. Successful people are simply ordinary people making extra-ordinary efforts.

Years down the road when we are still making and fulfilling our dreams, I hope each of us will be able to reflect on all that has helped us get to where we are today. Most importantly, our parents. Their loving support has fostered our desire to succeed through sixteen years of education. Also. the Lycoming College administration, faculty, and staff, who were willing to help when our road to success wasn't always clear. And finally, the education, the friendships, and the strong work ethics which we have acquired as the Lycoming College Class of 1990.
My desire is that each of us will be able to find success in all that we aim to do. And while we are aiming to find success. my hope is that our four-year endeavor at Lycoming College will never be forgotten.

Graduation sparks the memories of the past. Some happy. some sad. The senior has battled the storms of higher education and has sailed the open seas of experience. He has developed in ways he never thought possible. He now sets his course to distant, uncharted regions but he takes a last glance at the love and happiness of his college years, offering a silent good bye.

The end of the year is a bittersweet time because it requires every member of the Ly coming community to leave behind a part of the life that he has grown accustomed to in order to undertake new experiences. Underclassmen must leave the security of this year"s familiar schedule to expand their academic and social horizons, while professors and administrators lose both the inquisitive and challenging students to anticipate new faces.

This bittersweet experience, is most vividly revealed through the seniors of the Class of 1990. Their graduation which removes them from a community which sheltered and nurtured them through four years evokes contrasting emotions. The jubilation of realizing that the trying days of exams and papers have ended is countered by the sadness felt at the loss of close knit friendship and support.

Lycoming College, for its seniors, has become a comforting territory. Having had various opportunities to develop themselves mentally, physically, and spiritually, Lycoming's graduates leave familiar surroundings, eagerly seeking the challenges and rewards that the world offers.

The Arrow has covered the final year of the Class of $1990^{\circ}$ s development and the closing of this edition signals an end to life in this familiar, friendly territory. It's now up to each person to record his own history as he lifts off to explore the uncharted paths of his future.

Brandy K. Sudol, 1969 to 1990, shared with her fellow classmates the hopes and frustrations of college life. As a mursing student. Brandy took an active part on the campus, but dedicated most of her time to her major.

For those who knew her, the memory of a fine young woman remains. Never forget her words, "Cope with life's realities. Don't fight life's events and make life miserable. Take care of your body - don't abuse if. Most importanlly. don't waste time. Enjoy life's every momem.'

We, the 1990 Arrow staff, pause to remember a good friend and classmate.

The theme "Eyeing the 90's" was chosen by the 1990 Arrow staff in the all semester of 1989. Our deciion was the result of the openng of the new decade. We beieved this was a time to look thead to the future in the 90 s . For this new decade will bring is all time to reflect upon our past and set goals for the future.

A considerable amount of efort, dedication, and time went nto this yearbook. Our cover vas designed by Beth Shoenaker. Jeff Swope, Douglas fartzel, LeeAnn Eicholtz, and Indrea Pickles worked long lours on the Senior and Staff ections. Kurt Weirich is much appreciated for his hard work and dedication to providing the trrow with most of its pictures. In the financial side, Debbie -linton managed the money vhile Rob Maietta, Kristin łooker, and Cassie Hoyt were ur primary ad salesmen.

A special thanks goes out to ou Palazzo, our Herff Jones epresentative, who always was here when things got a little hakey near deadline dates. The primary copy writers for this yearbook were Andrea Pickles, Sue Rubart, Matt Frey, and Felisha Elmore. The staff would also like to thank all the individual organizations which submitted copy describing their activities.

The editor would like to thank everyone who participated as staff members. This book would not exist without them. A special recognition is given to the Arrow advisor, Sue Beidler. Her sound advice, patience, hard work, support, and dedication made this book a reality and for this I am deeply grateful.

I would like to thank my friends, family, and staff for their support and encouragement.

This book was done for you. Please enjoy it and be proud of it. Show it with pride for it represents your memories of your alma mater. The Arrow staff presents to you our best efforts. May you not judge too harshly or criticize too severely.

An Open Letter To The Class of 1990:
Congratulations upon your accomplishments - you are now the proud possessors of a Liberal Arts and Sciences Education.

It is important to note that the services of Lycoming College do not end after you have been graduated. Alumni are welcome to make use of programs offered by the Career Development Center and the Alumni Office.

The Career Development Center will continue to make available to you information on job opportunities over the summer and through The Lycourier during the school terms. We do ask that you notify the Carcer Development Center after you have obtained a position so that we may direct our effort towards those who are still job hunting.

Just as we hope to keep you informed of new developments on campus through Alumni Office and Career Development Center mailings, we hope that you will do the same for us. It is imperative that we have a current mailing address in our files! If you change your residence, place of employment, or complete additional schooling, we would appreciate knowing about your future accomplishments.

In addition, we ask that you help your alma mater by informing us of any job openings in your place of employment so that we might assist future graduates in their job hunt. Please notify us also about internship and summer employment opportunities. Lycoming alumni support the college in a varicty of ways. We look forward to working with you in the future.
