

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Shortstop Tinker of the Cubs Is Peeved.

Joe Tinker, shortstop of the Chicago Cubs, Thespian in the winter season and until recently a prospective manager of the Cincinnati club, blames Charles Murphy, president of the Cubs, for his failure to land the job as leader of the Reds.

"Early in the season," says Tinker, "a number of the stockholders of the Cincinnati club approached me and asked if I would consider taking the management of the team."

"I took the matter up with Frank Chance, and we both went to see Murphy later. Both at that time seemed willing to let me go, Murphy saying that he realized that I had given ten of the best years of my life to his club and that he would not let anything stand in my way."

"Soon after this I received another letter from Herrmann, in which he stated that I had better get busy on the proposition right away, but every time I approached Murphy about the matter he stalled and said he would see what could be done. Later his tune changed, and he remarked that it would be best to wait until the end of the season; then he would talk it over with Garry."

"Now Herrmann has selected Hank O'Day, and I have lost a chance to make more money."

What's to Become of Stovall?

What is to become of George Stovall? Near the close of last season he was hailed as one of the "winning managers" in the American league. He pulled the Cleveland Naps from sixth place to third in his two months as manager. Now he is being overlooked as managerial timber. All the American league clubs have secured managers for 1912. There are several clubs besides the White Sox that would refuse to waive Stovall out of the American league. With Larry Lajoie shining as a first sacker and Harry Davis managing. Stovall isn't needed at Cleveland. President Somers can't shift his former manager to Toledo without securing waivers, and no National league club could get him for a similar reason.

Halpin to Head Olympic Team.

The American Olympic committee could hardly have made a better choice for manager of the 1912 Olympic team which will represent the United States in the world's championships at Stockholm, Sweden, next spring than Matthew P. Halpin, the New York Athletic club track captain.

Halpin's experience as a two time manager of former Olympic teams, both of which came out successful, is recommendation enough to qualify him as the man to fill the bill. Athletes are not easy persons to handle. Especially true is this when there is a crowd of them. They need discipline at times. Halpin has the practical ability to handle such affairs.

May Lengthen List of Olympic Games.

Boxing and wrestling will be added to the curriculum of the Olympic games next summer if Everett C. Brown, former president of the National Amateur Athletic union and member of the committee in charge of the international carnival at Stockholm, has his way.

Brown says that every branch of sport known to the amateur field, save boxing and wrestling, has been listed for trials in the Olympic contests, and he hopes that a special series of bouts may be arranged.

England May Challenge Again.

There has been talk of a challenge coming again for another series of races for the British international trophy for motorboats, and, while nothing definite is known of the program of the Britishers, it is certain that Noel Robbins is doing all he can to induce the Duke of Westminster to make another effort to capture the cup.

Sprinter Cartmell Back Again.

Nathan J. Cartmell, the former champion sprinter of the University of Pennsylvania, who has been running abroad since June, recently returned to Philadelphia. Shortly after the new year he will again take charge of the track squad at the University of North Carolina.

Arrested at Palmyra

German Tramp Must Answer Charge of Stealing Turkey

GERMAN tramp by the name of Windlebleck, who has been making his headquarters in the neighborhood of Palmyra for some time past, is now a prisoner at the Lebanon county jail on a charge of stealing a turkey from P. K. Shiffler, a Londonderry township farmer. A hearing will be had before Squire Hugendubler, and it is then expected that evidence will be brought out showing Windlebleck's connection with the series of thefts which have occurred of late in Londonderry township, in all of which the farmers were sufferers.
