RETIRING PRINCIPAL HONORED BY PUPILS

Pupils and Patrons of Spring Mill School Gave a Farewell Reception to E. J. Bonter

GIVES SKETCH OF WORK

All of Spring Mill joined in giving a fine farewell tribute to E. Johnson Bonter, retiring principal of the Spring Mill school, in the school building, last evening, when the pupils of the school, their parents and many taxpayers of the district gave a farewell reception in his honor.

The reception was held in the large assembly room which was tastefully decorated for the occasion. The students gave a literary program and they also presented Mr. Bonter with a handsome Masonic ring. He was also the recipient of many beautiful floral tributes. After the entertainment, Mr. Bonter was felicitated by his many friends and he was called upon for a speech. He responded by giving a sketch of his work at the school and an expression of his thanks for the confidence and loyalty of the school children and the tax payers.

It will be remembered that last year when the School Board failed to reelect Mr. Bonter, the people of Spring Mill held a mass meeting and demanded his election with an increase in salary. This year, he was not an applicant for election as he had accepted an offer to teach in the Norriton township schools.

Mr. Bonter left this afternoon for Atlantic City where he will be engaged for the balance of the summer as assistant manager of the Jacob Reed Sons store on the Garden pier.

Mr. Bonter's speech: Parents, Patrons, Tax Payers, Boys and Girls, Faculty:

"I assure you it is with a feeling of deep regret that I am about to sever my associations with you. Permit me to briefly review our work together.

A Retrospective View from 1906 to 1918.

Place, Time, Change, A Glance Backward.

"Still sits the school house by the road,

A ragged beggar sunning Around it still the sumac grows, And blackberry vines are running"—

These beautiful lines, just quoted, given to us by John Greenleaf Whittier presents a picture of my school house, near Willow Grove, in Sept. 1905.

Time, Feb. 1906, James Russell Lowell says:

"The snow had begun in the gloaming, And busily all the night, Had been heaping field and highway With a silence deep and white"—

Such was the condition of the weather, when on Feb. 2nd, 1906, at 8 P. M. I was informed by a phone message that I was to assume the Principalship of your school.

From Mr. Lockwood and Mr. Ely I accepted the charge of the school, and to them I owe much of the success. I was deeply sensitive of the responsibilities I assumed, and at the same time, grateful for the kind estimate put upon my abilities as principal.

I have built for you a ladder, containing 63 rounds. Last year when I reached the 59th round, I almost had a tumble, but thanks to everybody who held the ladder steady, so that this year I am able to stay, 63 graduates, and not a single failure.

Through your co-operation and assistance, our school has taken 24 honors out of 33.

I have done very little for you. I have made mistakes, but who has not? Perfection is not found on earth. We have had one perfect teacher, and that was He, who taught by the side of Galilee.

Girls and Boys; So far as I can recall, my pupils have had intelligence and easily impressed with honorable feelings. We have had storm and sunshine, but I think you will agree with me that it does well sometimes to clear the atmosphere.

gaining knowledge. Do not give up your school work. Education will be a valuable asset in a few years. It is a better safe guard of liberty than a standing army.

The Literary Society which has been a valuable adjunct to our school deserves the greatest praise. The society has always been my pet.

BOY HAS LEG BROKEN IN PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Ice Cream Tub Fell From Truck and Struck boy—Driver Did not Know of Accident

John Gulski, aged 7 years, who resides with foster parents at 12 Maple street, had his left leg broken near the hip in a peculiar accident at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Luther T. Murphy, a driver for the Harvey Ice Cream Company, stopped at the store of Tony Rich, First avenue and Maple street, with a motor truck load of cracked ice. On the truck were also several empty ice cream tubs. Murphy had finished filling up the ice cream cabinet in the store and placed an empty tub on the tail board of the truck. Several boys had been playing near the machine, Gulski among them. As the truck started, the boys, according to a report made to the police, grabbed hold of the tail board for a ride. Gulski was with them. As the truck pulled from the gutter, one of the tubs fell off and rolled into the street and struck Gulski knocking him down. Witnesses to the accident went to the boy's assistance. He could not rise and a physician was summoned who found the boy's leg was broken. The boy was taken to Bryn Mawr hospital.

Murphy, the truck driver, had gone to his next stop in the street in ignorance of the accident. Officer Spurlento told him a boy had been injured and asked him to come to the borough hall and make a statement. It was stated the tub fell from the machine by reason of the boys pulling on the tail board.

Gulski's mother was killed on the railroad about 2 years ago. His father resides here but takes no interest in the boy. The Gulski family, whose name has been given to the boy, took them in their home at the death of their mother and are raising him.

JUDGE MILLER WILL SPEAK

The town will celebrate the Fourth of July in a spirit in keeping with the seriousness of the times. There will be no parade nor any expensive display of fireworks. The program for the day will be a flag raising a patriotic meeting and band concerts. However, the celebration will not lack enthusiasm and every one in town should attend the patriotic meeting to show that their thoughts are with the boys in the service as on the Fourth their thoughts will be of home and what the "old" town is doing.

Mr. W. C. Baillie, who has been the principal, resigned, and was elected treasurer. Mr. H. Oscar Young was re-elected secretary. Robert T. Potts, the vice president, presided over the meeting, and will act as president until December, when the board will be reorganized.

8-CENT FARE AUGUST 1 FOR TROLLEY LINES

Takes in Roxborough, Wissahickon and Manayunk, Eight-cent fares for the connecting trolley lines of the Roxborough, Wissahickon, Manayunk, Conshohocken and Norristown districts are to go into effect August 1, according to the new schedule of rates filed with the Public Service Commission at Harrisburg by the Reading Transit & Light Company, which operates lines here as part of its Norristown district. The eight-cent fare is to be an advance from six cents, which went into effect last January.

The advanced rate applies to the entire Norristown division, including the city lines, and to the suburban lines running out of Reading and Lebanon. The fares in the two latter cities will remain at six-cent rate.

Several increases in wages granted to motormen and conductors over the system since the beginning of the year which have swelled the operating costs by about $160,000 a year, and the high prices of materials and increased expenses generally are given as the reasons for the advance.

Resides Roxborough, Wissahickon and Manayunk, the Norristown division serves Pottstown, Collegeville, Limerick, Chestnut Hill, Conshohocken, Swedeland and other points in that locality.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED BY SCHOOL BOARD

Local Board Organized Last Night—New Teachers Were Elected—Other Business

TUITION COSTS INCREASED

The local School Board organized last evening by reelecting Ralph N. Campbell secretary and James M. Morrison treasurer. Both were elected without opposition. Both have served several terms and have given efficient service.

Before the organization, a regular meeting of the Board was held and the business for the month transacted as the regular meeting night is tomorrow and the Board did not desire to hold two meetings.

The vacancies in the teaching force were filled upon the recommendations of the teachers' and text books committee. Miss Evelyn M. Newhall who had been elected to teach English and French in the high school next term, resigned as she has accepted a position nearer her home. The resignation was accepted and Miss Mabel E. Slagen, of Lancaster was elected in her place at a salary of $90 per month. Miss Slagen is a graduate of the Lancaster girls' high school and of Hood College. She has been teaching for two years.

Miss Katharine Hawthorne was promoted from the third grade to be a departmental teacher at a salary of $75 per month.

Miss Martha Buckwalter was elected to teach the third grade. Miss Buckwalter is a resident of Royersford and a graduate of the high school of that place and of Irvin College. She has been teaching in Cambria county, Pa. Miss Buckwalter's salary will be $70 per month.

Miss Elizabeth Plummer, of Lower Merion was elected to teach the fifth grade at a salary of $70 per month. She is a graduate of the local high school and of West Chester State Normal school. She has been teaching at Phoenixville and was reelected for next term.

Director to Quit, Secretary Campbell read a letter from Director Joseph Cavanaugh in which he stated: "As my business keeps me away from Conshohocken the greater part of the time, I ask that the Board elect a member in my place."

Mr. Cavanaugh is employed at Glen Olden and has little time to attend to the business of the local schools. The matter was laid on the table as the Board did not consider the letter a resignation and the secretary will confer with Mr. Cavanaugh.

Auditor's Report, The report of the auditors was submitted to the Board. The report for the year's business showed the total receipts as $44,165.14 and the expenditures $43,354.10 leaving a balance of $811.04. The assets are: buildings $108,500.00; contents of buildings, $15,400.00; the other assets amount to $29,703.42. These include sinking fund, uncollected taxes, unpaid tuition, continuation school refund and $10,000 in Liberty bonds. The liabilities amount to $86,300.00 of which $68,800.00 are bonded indebtedness and $17,500.00 in floating indebtedness. Resources over liabilities amounts to $58,303.42.

Other Business, The assessors of the various wards were instructed to make the annual enumeration of children of school age and to have their reports returned to the superintendent by August 15.

The buildings and grounds committee reported that the schools would be allotted 150 tons of coal of which 100 tons have been delivered. This amount is not sufficient for the entire season and it may be that low grade coal or substitutes such as brickettes will have to be used to make up for the shortage of coal.

Dr. D. R. Beaver presented a bill for $75 being for one-half the annual salary for making the medical examination. The Board refused payment on the ground that the Doctor was to make two complete examinations during the year and had only made one and the Board paid him one half the salary.

The finance committee were instructed to collect tuition due and unpaid from individuals with instructions to place all bills unpaid on a certain date in the hands of the collector for collection. The tuition due amounts to $716.92 of which $552.67 is owed by Whitemarsh district and $88.24 by Lower Merion district, the balance being owed by individuals. The tuition fees collected from individuals amounted to $276.65.

The superintendent submitted costs for tuition for the coming term fixing the high school cost per pupil per month is $6.13 and for the grades $2.50. The high school cost per pupil is 4 cents lower than last year while the cost for the grades advanced 40 cents per pupils or from $2.10 to $2.50.

The report of the treasurer showed a balance in the general account of $812.60 and $4,026.99 in the sinking fund.

The tax collector reported the collection of $1400 leaving $3428.84 to be collected on the 1917 duplicate. The amount due is $2000 less than at the same time last year and the Board is urging a quick settlement of the duplicate.

Bills, salaries and sinking fund charges were paid in the amount of $1053.42.

WATER RATES ARE FIXED

The Public Service Commission has issued an order formally approving the revised rates of the Springfield Consolidated Water Company. The order says the commission approves "only the portions thereof dealing in these proceedings and does not at this time pass upon the reasonableness of the remaining rules and regulations."

The reductions in rates for the small houses is $6 per year, the rate now being $12 and the rates according to the order, are effective as of April 1, 1918. The new rate fixing the rate for public service, fire hydrants, is approved which means the borough will pay an increase from $975 to about $3000, and the rate being fixed at the rate of $550 per mile supplying fire hydrants.

In fixing the rate for the public service, it was the consensus of opinion of the engineers that public service rates were entirely too low for the equipment necessary for the service to be rendered. The public service rate was attained by fixing the rate of about 25 per cent of the plant valuation and the subscribers rate fixed at about 75 per cent. The new rates are a great benefit to the small consumer and makes the large consumer bear his just proportion of costs.

POLICE HAD A BUSY DAY

The police had the busiest Saturday they have had in months last Saturday. Five arrests were made. The arrests began in the late afternoon when the police were summoned to Ninth avenue and Wells street.

Officers Heald and Ruth responded and found Joseph Griffith, bound with ropes, lying in the yard of his home and loudly proclaiming his protests. Griffith returned home on Saturday with a fighting jag and proceeded to break things in his home. After he had broken the front window, a chandelier and other articles neighbors stepped in and when they got Griffith into his back yard and securing a clothes line, bound him and laid him on the grass helpless.

The police brought him to the station house and when he appeared before the Burgess, he was very penitent and the Burgess discharged him.

Later in the evening, Officers Heald and Campbell were notified that two men under the influence of liquor had entered a home in East Hector street from which the family were absent. The officers found Charles Phipps and John Crawford the men were found asleep in the house lying on the floor. They were arrested and given a hearing before Magistrate Light and discharged upon payment of a fine and their promise to leave town. The men knew the occupant of the house and went there to sleep off their drunk.

Walter Phipps, of West Eighth avenue, was arrested Saturday evening by Officer Ruth and charged with malicious mischief and assault and battery. Phipps while walking in front of the store of paperhanger Cion, Phipps jumped on the cart and broke it. While he and Cion were discussing the damage done, Officer Ruth appeared and as the officer was about to estimate the damage done, Phipps hit Cion. Phipps was then arrested. He was given a hearing before Magistrate Light and was discharged upon payment of the costs of the case and for the damage done to the cart.

Special officer O'Donnell, of the Reading Railway, found John Rinehart, of West Conshohocken, lying back of the Reading station, Saturday night, suffering from a bad cut in his head. The man was intoxicated and it is not known whether he had been sitting on the wall, in the rear of the station, and fell or whether he had been assaulted. Rinehart was brought to the police station and his injuries were dressed by a physician. He was given a hearing before Burgess Ray and discharged upon payment of the usual fine.

NEWSPAPER EDITOR ENDS LIFE BY BULLET

Wm. L. Clayton, Publisher of Jenkintown Times-Chronicle, Shot Himself

IN ILL-HEALTH FOR A YEAR

William L. Clayton, owner and publisher of the Jenkintown Times-Chronicle, shot and killed himself, yesterday afternoon at his home, Summit avenue, Jenkintown.

Mr. Clayton left his office and drove to his home arriving there at 4.40 o'clock. He immediately went to his bed room and a few seconds later the servants, who were the only other persons in the house, heard a revolver shot. They were afraid to go upstairs and investigate, and notified Dr. Harrison a neighbor. The doctor went to the bed room and found Mr. Clayton lying on the floor with a bullet wound near the right temple. Mr. Clayton was still living, but was unconscious and died within a few minutes.

Mr. Clayton had been in ill health for a year. Last fall he took treatment at a Western sanitarium but was not much benefited. His illness so preyed upon his mind that he became despondent. Last Saturday, he attended a meeting of newspaper men and his friends remarked his improvement in health. He said he was feeling much better and had strong hopes for his complete recovery.

Mr. Clayton had resided in the Old York road borough for many years. He acquired the Jenkintown Times and Jenkintown Chronicle, two weekly newspapers, combined them under the title of Times-Chronicle, and became well-to-do. He figured actively in politics and served as the chief press agent of Jenkintown, preceding the present incumbent, Andrew Graham. He was the county committeeman, Republican, for the Third Ward of Jenkintown, and was the secretary of the Lower End Republican Club of Montgomery county.

Coroner Neville investigated the death and found that the act was committed while Mr. Clayton was temporarily deranged.

CURB MARKETS DREW LARGE PATRONAGE

The opening of the town's first curb market was a greater success than the organizers anticipated. A number of truckers came to Second avenue with fresh vegetables picked but a few hours before from their gardens and were met by many housewives anxious to purchase. The scene in and about the market was a lively one and all Saturday morning women were seen carrying market baskets well filled with fresh vegetables. This morning more truckers came to the market and Saturday's scene was repeated.

The organizers of the market have word from the farmers that they will attend the market within a couple of weeks or when their produce is ready. They will not only bring in fruits and vegetables but poultry and dairy products.

The market has had a good start and it is believed that it will grow larger and of more convenience, to the public.

Registering the Soldiers and Sailors

The police have begun the work of taking a census of all the residents of this borough who have entered the military service. This week, each policeman is making a canvas of his beat and leaving cards at the homes of the boys, to be filled out by their parents or nearest relatives. It is urged that persons promptly fill out the cards and return them to the police and should any one be overlooked, they are asked to notify the police and secure a card. A permanent record will be kept by the borough of all the local residents who have enlisted or been drafted into the military service.

GULPH MILLS GOLF CLUB'S INNOVATIONS

New Course Formally Opened with No Green or House Committees

Without any fuss or frills the Gulph Mills Golf Club was opened to the members and their friends on Saturday. The club is the latest, and although quite a lot of work remains to be done on it, there is no doubt but that in time it will be the equal, with the possible exception of Pine Valley which stands in a class by itself, of any course in the district. Gulph Mills was laid out by Donald Ross, and the work has been carried out entirely by Western J. Hibbs. Mr. Hibbs looked around for nearly two years before he discovered a location that suited him. The location once found, Donald Ross was called in, the course laid out and work under the watchful eye of Mr. Hibbs has been proceeding ever since. Those who have never visited Gulph Mills may think that the course is out of the beaten track, but as a matter of fact it is far more accessible than a great many courses around Philadelphia, situated as it is on the Norristown branch of the Philadelphia and Western Railway. It takes only twenty minutes to reach Gulph Mills Station from the Sixty-ninth Street Terminal and another five minutes to reach the course by bus. The course may also be reached from the Radnor Station on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

In many respects the club is quite unique, for there is no green committee and no house committee. The affairs of the club have been placed entirely in the hands of Mr. Hibbs, and a wiser move could not possibly have been made, and a look around the course is sufficient to convince one of this fact. Another proof of the wisdom of giving one man carte blanche lies in the fact that under this system Gulph Mills has cost less than the average course to construct. So far, the members have only temporary quarters, for it was deemed inadvisable to build the clubhouse until after the war. However, the temporary quarters for both men and women are quite comfortable, and arrangements have been made whereby members may obtain meals at a villa adjoining the course. Very excellent meals they will obtain, too, if those enjoyed by the members Saturday are a sample. The course comprises 157 acres, and from the back tees it is 6673 yards long, and from the front tees, 6418. Par for the long course is 74, and for the short 70. The first tee and the eighteenth green will be quite close to the clubhouse, and it is remarkable that it will be possible to see nearly every hole from the clubhouse porch. There is not a blind hole on the course and nearly all the tees are elevated.

The course has its own watering system, and it is so complete in every particular that it takes twenty minutes to water each green. An old quarry, which is over sixty feet in height, has been converted into a swimming pool for the use of the members, and later bath houses will be built for their use. Skating should be quite popular in the winter as a large pond is situated near the fifth green more than big enough to accommodate all the members. The membership will be limited to 150, and at the present time that total has by no means been reached. Included among the members are Mr. and Mrs. J. Hampton Barnes, Harry A. Berwind, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac H. Clothier, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Cassatt, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Clark, 3d, Mrs. John W. Converse, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Darlington, H. Yale Dolan, Clarence W. Dolan, W. D. Fittler, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley G. Flagg, 3d Mr. and Mrs. Weston J. Hibbs, Alva B. Johnson, C. Barton Keen, George W. Kendrick, 3d, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Maxwell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Munn, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kearsley Mitchell, George McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. J. Franklin McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Drexel Paul, Mr. and Mrs. P. Williamson Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Strawbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Vaux, Mr. and Mrs. F. King Wainwright, Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Widener.

BASE BALL Bill Lawler's Holly Hocks defeated King Kelly's Irishtowners Sunday in a very exciting game, at the Plymouth Fire Company's grounds. The fans presented Kelly with a new "Home Run" bat at the starting of the game. Kelly lost his own game in the seventh by miffing a fly on first base, leaving three runs score; also in the ninth with three on base. King Kelly, of Home Run fame, fanned the winc three times. It was the deciding game of the series, and Kelly team fought hard. The features of the game were the great fielding of Chris Farrell, and the pitching of "Sweets Kelly" for Holly Hock and the pitching of Darby for Irishtown. Final Score 11-10.

GARRICK THEATRE

Of the large list of cinematic successes achieved by Billie Burke through the sheer force of her art, magnetism and charm, there is none which will appeal to a wider following motion picture theatre-goers than "Let's Get a Divorce," the newest photo comedy starring this delightful film actress which will be the main feature of the bill at the Garrick during the first half of the week of July 1.

The picture is based upon Sardou's "Dorvrons," a celebrated stage success which was adapted for the screen by John Emerson and Anita Loos.

In this photoplay, Miss Burke will be seen as an impressionable convent girl of a "gauntle turn of mind who relieves the monotony of her existence inside the convent walls with harmless flirtations. As Cyrienne, the convent girl, Billie Burke has an unusually captivating role. She meets and loves a young writer, who begs the Mother Superior for her hand, but Cyrienne consents to become his bride only after an elopement which is carried on with the connivance of the Mother Superior in a highly artistic manner.

There are numerous interesting scenes in which this regeneration is accomplished and she and her husband finally reconciled.

There will also be another interesting news feature film and a funny Keystone comedy.

When the Austrians last October routed the Italian Army by trickery and drove before them half a million refugees, the part which the American Red Cross played in this stupendous tragedy will go down in the history of Italy and the world as one of the most magnificent dashes of relief work that has ever come to light.

Listen to what the Italian Premier said of this work in his address at the opening of Parliament early last December: "Our soul is stirred again with ap-

RETIRING PRINCIPAL HONORED BY PUPILS

(Continued From First Page) and pupils from an educational value. Your homes tonight contain the same subjects. These pictures have proven an inspiration to all. In room No. 3 is a picture frame made by a union soldier, while confined in Libby Prison during the Civil War. This frame was given to the school by Mr. Ely, who requested me to select a suitable picture for it. You will find it contains the noble countenance of our Martyred President, Wm. McKinley.

We own a wardrobe worth at least $20. These gowns and costumes are used in concert work. Our tree ornaments are worth $15.

It is useless for me to recall how the piano, victrola, records etc. were purchased. Two words will tell us, 1 Harmony, 2 Co-operation.

Let us expel from our minds the robberies. This year we purchased our Service Flag, flags, lamps, music, etc., to the amount of $30. During the 3rd Liberty Loan we sold $3200 worth of Bonds. Our Junior Red Cross raised $96. Have we not done our bit?

Alumni Association, You have distinguished yourselves after leaving your Alma Mater, as well as winning distinction under authority. You have had the right start in life, having shown your sense of discipline, order, and system which is needed for success in life. I am well satisfied that you will always be a credit to the school.

To the younger members: In after days when you have grown up, and become useful members of this association, think now and then, tenderly and kindly of me, who strove to put you on the road to success, and to train you in the manners that make you a welcome to others and maintain self-respect. "Build these more stately mansions of my Soul."

Tax Payers: I have always depended very much on the aid and cooperation of the tax payers. I want to congratulate you on the manner in which you filled your patriotic duty toward me. I want to express my appreciation and hearty thanks to every tax payer of the district, especially the citizens committee.

Conclusion: As I am a teacher, and not an orator, you will allow me to stop, with renewed thanks, for your personal confidence. I shall not say "Farewell," because "Friends Never Part." The future will take care of itself.

I close with the words of our immortal Lincoln, "With malice towards none, With Charity for all."

EXCITING SWIMMING RACES

Pogue and Titus Win Philadelphia Club Events

Pogue proved cleverest in the 50 yard breast stroke swimming race, and Titus won by a few inches in the 900 yards handicap event which made up the program of aquatic events at the weekly races of the Philadelphia Swimming Club at Lafayette, on the Schuylkill River, on Saturday.

Pogue beat out Schief in the half-century race, covering the distance in 45 seconds.

Six started in the 900 yards handicap and the scratch men conceded the limit handicap contestants 3 minutes and 50 seconds. By a clever exhibition of skilled swimming, Titus gradually caught up with his opponents, overtaking Rosborough in the last 50 yards and they battled stroke and stroke to the finish, which Titus reached a fraction of a second ahead of his rival in 17.31 actual time.

50-yard race, breast stroke—Won by Pogue; second, Schief; third, Rosborough; fourth, Levand. Time 45 seconds.

900-yard race—Won by Titus (scratch), actual time, 17.31; second, Rosborough (10 seconds); third, B. Levand (scratch); fourth, Schief (20 seconds).

Captain Doris announced that there are no events scheduled for Independence Day but on next Saturday the 100 and 200-yard handicaps will be decided. Races on Saturday, July 13, will be important, as the 440 yards race for the Asher Cup, open to Middle Atlantic District swimmers, will be decided. Other features of the day's program will be the 100 yards novice swim, 100 yards handicap for girls and the 220 yards handicap for men in the Government's service.

Baldness Conquered

RECIPE MAILED FREE

A veteran business man, who was almost completely bald and had tried numerous tonics, lotions, shampoo, etc., without benefit, came across, while on a journey, an "Indian's" recipe by which he grew a complete crop of healthy, luxuriant hair that he now possesses. Others—men and women—have reported remarkable hair growth by the same method. Whoever wishes the recipe may obtain it free by writing to John Hart Brittain, BA-22, Station F, New York, N. Y. Or obtain a box of the ointment, Kotanko, made according to the perfected recipe, at the drug store, ready for use.

Indians' Secret of Hair Growth

In a vast number of cases, when hair falls out, the roots are not dead, but remain embedded in the scalp, alive, like seeds or bulbs, needing only fertility. The usual alkaline shampoos, alcoholized hair tonics, etc., are of no avail in such cases. The "Indians' ointment nourishes the hair and stimulates the growth. Kotanko fertilizes the scalp and induces hair growth in every case possible; wonderful results reported. For men's, women's and children's hair. If you are bald, or losing hair, or have dandruff, you should try Kotanko. It is a pleasure to observe the starting of new hair and its steady increase until a prolific growth and improvement in baldness. Cut out this notice; show to others who want beautiful hair. The recipe is free. This is genuine.

TUESDAY JULY 2, 1918.

Invest in war savings stamps that money you usually blow in celebrating the Fourth.

A line of bread wagons might easily open the way for the Italian and allied armies to enter Austria.

The American troops are already planning for a great international celebration of the Fourth of July for next year in Berlin.

War Chest payments are due. Do not tie a string to your gift by making a collector call at your home.

The shipbuilders of the United States will have the finest celebration of the Fourth in launching 93 new ships every one of which will soon be in service against the Hun.

The Curb Market.

The curb market had a successful beginning. While it is between seasons for the farmers, gardeners brought in quantities of fresh vegetables and made ready sales.

A little later in the season when the farmers can attend the market, they will bring the staple farm and dairy products and poultry into market.

There is a thought that the curb market will take business from the local stores. Unboubtedly there will be some snift in trade.

The curb market has had a fair start and it will grow and become a greater convenience to the people if it is well patronized.

112 Years of Freedom.

Next Thursday, the people of the United States will celebrate the 142nd anniversary of their independence. July 4, 1776 the 56 representatives of the United States of America, in general Congress assembled, gave to the world the Declaration of Independence.

The Declaration of Independence was the greatest and most far reaching document ever given by man to man.

In 142 years an isolated nation of thirteen States on the Atlantic seaboard has grown to forty-eight States, many of which alone have the wealth and strength of an empire.

Today another Declaration has been made by the United States. Through President Wilson the American people have proclaimed the Declaration of Independence for the World.

The new American Declaration recites grievances more abominable than did that of 1776, and the new Declaration is supported with the force and power of the entire nation.

POLITICS ADJOURNED.

From Lansdale Reporter: Although the country is too deeply absorbed in war matters to pay much attention to a Presidential campaign...

It is conceivable that the former Progressives may insist on the nomination of General Wood. Then if the split became bitter, compromise candidate would probably be named.

As no United States Senator has ever been elected President, the Republicans might be timorous about nominating Hiram Johnson.

With conservation and efficiency well to the front, it is gratifying to note the improvements, both actual and planned, in the matter of coal production.

PRODUCTION OF COAL.

From Coal Trade Journal: The Home Service Section of a big Red Cross chapter was in session. As Smith and I arrived they were discussing the problem of a soldier's wife and six children found living in two tenement rooms in a building that had been condemned because of a leaky roof...

In Smith's next case the Home Service Section and the tuberculosis society had arranged hospital care for a man discharged because of tuberculosis contracted "in the line of duty."

The congregation of the Lutheran Church at Whitmarsh, of which Rev. Mr. Smith is pastor, is this year celebrating their 100th anniversary and part of the program will be the annual meeting and summer outing of the Wissabickon Valley Brotherhood, which will be held at the church and on the surrounding grounds on the afternoon of Saturday July 6th.

Men's organizations from eight churches are included in the Wissabickon Valley Brotherhood—Whitmarsh, Ambler, North Wales, Barron Hill, Fort Washington, Oreland, Center Square, and Upper Dublin.

The church is located on the Chestnut Hill trolley line and in easy access to those who will use the trolleys to attend the outing, while ample parking space will be provided for automobiles.

The Boys Band from the Orphan's Home at Loysville, Perry County, consisting of 28 pieces, has been secured to furnish a concert and also music for the singing by a large mixed choir.

Rev. Dr. Augustus Pohlman and Mrs. Pohlman, of Philadelphia, and Rev. Dr. J. H. Waidelich of Sellers-meeting.

Mr. J. H. Waidelich of Sellers-meeting, Pa. will be the speakers at the

And You are only asked to save and not waste food

By T. J. EDMONDS, Director of Civilian Relief of the Potomac Division.

"Well," said Smith as he walked into my office, "I've wound up all my business interests."

"What for?" I said as I rose to greet the man I had known in my home city years before.

"To I could offer myself if I'm worth having. I've got to get into the game. Anything useful and human. I'm ready for marching orders."

The Home Service Section of a big Red Cross chapter was in session. As Smith and I arrived they were discussing the problem of a soldier's wife and six children found living in two tenement rooms in a building that had been condemned because of a leaky roof, mouldy floor and lack of fire protection.

Later the same evening we saw him stand up in the Liberty theater and, his eyes glowing with the service picture in his own mind and his voice ringing with the conviction of his own enthusiasm, tell a thousand young fellows what Home Service is.

"Can I do it? The sort of thing—camp service, you call it? Why, that's where I want to be—at the point of first contact with those living problems. Pershing was right when he said, 'The thing most needful to the American fighting forces overseas is anything and everything that will contribute to the morale of the men in service.'"

"Home Service—I see it now—means morale. When can I go to work?"

NAN of MUSIC MOUNTAIN

By Frank H. Spearman
Author of Whispering Smith

...Without an instant's hesitation a pistol shot answered from the direction in which he had fired, and in another moment a small fusillade followed. "By the Almighty," muttered De Spain, "we must have our horses, Nan. Stay right here. I'll try driving those fellows off their perch."

"She caught his arm. "What are you going to do?"

"Run in on them from cover, wherever I can find it, Nan, and push them back. We've got to have those horses."

"If we could only get away without a fight!"

"This is Sassoon and his gang, Nan. You heard Pardaloe. These are not your people, I've got to drive 'em, or we're gone, Nan."

"Then I go with you."

"Nan, you can't do it," whispered De Spain energetically. "A chance bullet—"

She spoke with decision: "I go with you. I can use a rifle. Better both of us be killed than one. Help me up on this roof. I've climbed it a hundred times. My rifle is in my room. Quick, Henry."

Overruling his continued objections, she lifted her foot to his hand, put her second foot on De Spain's shoulder, gained the sloping roof, and scrambled on her hands and knees up to the window of her room. A far-off peal of thunder echoed from the mountains. Luckily, no flash had preceded it, and Nan, rifle in hand, slid safely down to the end of the lean-to, where De Spain helped her to the ground. He directed her how to make a zigzag advance toward the pine, and, above all, to throw herself flat and sideways after every shot—and not to fire often.

In this way they advanced slowly but safely to the disputed point and then understood—the horses were gone. A fresh discharge of shots came from two directions—seemingly from the house and the stable. A moment later they heard sharp firing far down the gap—their sole avenue of escape.

They withdrew to the shelter of a large rock familiar to Nan even in the dark. While De Spain was debating in his mind how to meet the emergency, she stood at his side, his equal he knew, in courage, daring and resource, and answered his rapid questions as to possible gateways of escape. The rain, which had been abating, now ceased, but from every fissure in the mountains came the roar of rushing water, and little openings of rock and waterway that might have offered a chance when dry were now out of the question. In fact, it was Nan's belief that before morning water would be running over the main trail itself.

"Yet," said De Spain finally, "before morning we must be a long way from this particular spot, Nan. Sassoon has posted men at the neck of the gap—that's the first thing he would do. I'll tell you," he said suddenly, as when after long uncertainty and anxious doubt one chooses an alternative and hastens to follow it. "Retreat is the thing for us, Nan. Let's make for Music mountain and crawl into our cave till morning. Lefever will get in here some time tomorrow. Then we can connect with him."

Realizing that no time was to be lost, they set out on the long journey. Every foot of the troublesome way offered difficulties. Water impeded them continually. Nan picked their trail. But for her perfect familiarity with every foot of the ground, they could not have got to the mountain at all. When they got to the mountain trail itself they found their way swept by a mad rush of falling water, its deafening roar punctuated by fragments of loosened rock which, swept downward from ledge to ledge, split and thundered as they dashed themselves against the mountainside. On a projected floor the two stood for a moment, listening to the roar of the cataract that had cut them off their refuge.

"No use, Nan," said De Spain. "There isn't any other trail, is there?"

She told him there was no other. "And this will run all night, Henry," she said, turning to him and as if thinking of a question she wanted to ask, "how did you happen to come to me tonight when I wanted you so?"

"I came because you sent for me," he answered, surprised.

"But I didn't send for you."

"He stopped, dumfounded. "What do you mean, Nan?" he demanded un- ciously. "I got your message on the telephone last night, in my office at Sleepy Cat, from a man that refused to give his name."

"I never sent any message to you," she insisted in growing wonderment. "I have been locked in a room for three days, dearie. The Lord knows I wanted to send you word. Who ever telephoned a message like that? Was it a trap to get you in here?"

He told her the story—of the strenuous efforts he had made to discover the identity of the messenger—and how he had been balked. "No matter," said Nan at last. "It couldn't have been a trap. It must have been a friend, surely, not an enemy."

"Henry," every time she repeated his name De Spain cared less for what should happen in the rest of the world, "what are we going to do now? We can't stay here all night—and take what they will greet us with in the morning."

He answered her question with another: "What about trying to get out by El Capitan?"

She started in spite of herself. "It would be certain death, Henry."

"I don't mean at the worst to try to cross it till we get a glimpse of daylight. But it's quite a way over there. The question is, Can we find a trail up to where we want to go?"

"I know two or three," she answered, "if they are only not flooded."

The storm seemed to have passed, but the darkness was intense, and from above the northern Superstitions came low mutterings of thunder. Compelled to strike out over the rocks to get up to any of the trails toward El Capitan, Nan, helped by De Spain when he could help, led the ascent toward the first ledge they could hope to follow on their dangerous course.

The point at which the two climbed almost five hundred feet that night up Music mountain is still pointed out in the gap. No person, looking at that confused wall, willingly believes it could ever have been scaled in the dead of night. Torn, bruised and exhausted, Nan, handed up by her lover, threw herself at last prostrate on the ledge at the real beginning of their trail, and from that vantage point they made their way along the eastern side of Music mountain for two miles before they stopped again to rest.

It was already well after midnight. A favoring spot was seized on by De Spain for the resting place he wanted. A dry recess beneath an overhanging wall made a shelter for the fire that he insisted on building to warm Nan in her soaked clothing. It was dangerous, both realized, to start a fire, but they concealed the blaze as best they could and took the chance—a chance that more nearly than any that had gone before, cost them their lives.

The mutterings above the mountains now grew rapidly louder, and while the two hovered over the fire, a thunder squall, rolling wildly down the eastern slope, burst over the gap. Nan knew even better than her companion the fickle nature of a range storm, and understood uncomfortably well how a sudden shift might, at any moment, lay their entire path open to its fierceness. She warned De Spain they must be moving, and, freshened by the brief rest, they set out toward El Capitan.

They had covered more than half the distance that separated them from the cliff, when a second thunderstorm seeming to rush in from the desert, burst above their heads. Drenched with rain, they were forced to draw back under a projecting rock. In another moment the two storms, meeting in the gap, rushed together. As if an unseen hand had touched a thousand granite springs above the gap, every slender crevice spouted a stream that shot foaming out from the mountainsides. The sound of moving waters rose in a dull, vast roar, broken by the unseen boom of distant falls, launching huge masses of water into caverns far below. The storm- laden wind tore and swirled among the crowded peaks, and above all the angry sky moaned and quivered in the rage of the elements.

It was only the lulls between the sharp squalls that enabled them to cover the trail before daylight. When they paused before El Capitan the fury of the night seemed largely to have exhausted itself, but the over- charged air hung above the mountains, trembling and moaning like a bruised and stricken thing. Lightning, playing across the inky heavens, blazed in constant sheets from end to end of the horizon. Under it all the two refugees, high on the mountainside, looked down on the flooding gap.

Their flight was almost ended. Only the sheer cliff ahead blocked their descent to the aspen grove. Hardly a moment passed after they had started until the eastern sky lightened before the retreating storm, and with the first glimmer of daylight the two were at the beginning of the narrow foothold which lay for half a mile between them and safety.

The face of El Capitan presents midway, a sharp convex. Just where it is thrown forward in this keel- like, the trail runs out almost to a knife-edge, and the mountain is so nearly vertical that it appears to overhang the floor of the valley.

They made half the stretch of this angle with hardly a misstep, but the advance for a part of the way was a climb, and De Spain, turning once to speak to Nan, asked her for her rifle, that he might carry it with his own. What their story might have been had she given it to him, none can tell. But Nan, holding back, refused to let him relieve her. The dreaded angle which had haunted De Spain all night was safely turned on hands and knees, and, as they rounded it toward the east, clouds scudding over the open desert broke and shot

Wouldn't you love to be the picture of health you see so often in others—but have never yet been yourself on account of your thinness. The difference between you and what you yearn to be can easily be overcome.

We all know that some thin people are healthy but the great majority of the underweights are apt to be weakly, nervous, de- vilitated.

Cut Out the Jumps!

Have you "the jumps"—or other manifestations of nervousness? Are you easily confused or startled at un- expected noises or sounds? Do you worry or fret over trifles? Then look to your nerves. Something is radically wrong with them.

Upset nervous conditions usually result from some exhausted or impaired bodily organ, which does not properly give it's allotted service. Go after the offender through that great recupera- tory center of the body—your stomach. Ask your druggist for DR. CHARLES TONIC TABLETS. They are the very best of preparations to soothe and smooth the racked and exhausted nerves of nervous prostration victims. Those who are debilitated; those who suffer from the groaning burden of liver and kidney trouble, will once more turn toward health, by using this splendid formula.

The great wreckers of women's deli- cately balanced nervous systems as exemplified in the special ills peculiar to their sex—will be quickly relieved by DR. CHARLES TONIC TABLETS, which also present the gift of rich red blood to the anemic. The TONIC will also go far to arrest and vanish dyspepsia and many wasting diseases that lead to consumption.

There are no inferior "come-backs" to DR. CHARLES TONIC TABLETS—and they will achieve marvelous recuperative results when other tonics and restoratives such as iron, strychnine, arsenic, quinine, etc., often fail. Safe and pleasant to take.

PRICE 50 CENTS A BOX

If your druggist does not carry them, send 50 CENTS and we will send a box by mail.

1200 New York Doctors Fighting Poison Gas.

Do you know that you folks at home as well as the brave boys "over there" are menaced by "poison gas"—the insidious kind that steals away health and the joy of living, in the perpetually recurring disturbances resulting from a gassy, sour stomach.

1200 New York physicians regularly prescribe JOHN'S DIGESTIVE TABLETS as the most perfect form of relief known for these stomach dis- orders. The TABLETS are highly beneficial for gastric and intestinal indigestion, heartburn, acid or sour stomach, flatulence and gastric catarrh. They sure do vanish that poison gas which is the basis of most stomach ailments, as well as banish bad breath which usually heralds that gas-filled stomach.

Get the TABLETS at your drug store. They insure quick, lasting relief by taking three to six dissolved in a glass of water or chewed before swallow- ing. Have JOHN'S DIGESTIVE TABLETS handy in the dining room for chronic cases of gastric or intes- tinal indigestion—as one or two TAB- LETS should be taken before each meal.

 —Mrs. Wickert, wife of Edward Wickert, of Gulf Mills, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Duncan of Conshohocken, is still in the Bryn Mawr Hospital, where she was removed last week suffering from an ailment which it was believed by the physicians, would necessitate surgical treatment.  —The large golf course of the Gulf Mills Golf Club located on the former Benjamin Hughes farm at this place was opened for the sport on Saturday, and quite a number of members of the club with their friends indulged in the game. At many points along the roads which bound the course were quite a number of spectators watching with interest a game never before played in this vicinity. As the course has the appearance of not being fully completed, the belief is the starting of the sport on Saturday did not mark the formal opening of the golf links, and that this will occur later on. One of the best views of the new club grounds can be obtained from cars on the Philadelphia and Western runway. Notwithstanding the Gulf station is but a short distance from the grounds, the report was current at one time that the P. & W. Company would erect a station on their line near the 15-mile hill for the accommodation of the members of the club. Nothing has as yet been done towards the consummation of this probable plan, conveying the impression that it will not mature.
 —Sunday afternoon marked the closing of the sessions of the Men's Bible Class of the Gulf Christian Church for the balance of the summer, said sessions to be resumed about the middle of September. There was a large turnout at the closing meeting, which was inspirational in every way, and the words spoken by the class leader, Jaquette Palmer, were complimentary in the extreme to the members who have been so faithful and co-operative in keeping up the standard of the organization. Mr. Palmer touched on the review of the class from its institution to the present, comprising about six years of good works in the community, all that is necessary for a furtherance of this moral uplift, he said, is co-operation and faithful attendance. With these essential elements the class will continue to grow numerically and continue to diffuse the spirit of morality. At the close of the meeting there was a general handshaking among the members and that they would all meet again in September, was the expression heard throughout the assemblage.

GULF MILLS

Thomas Tague will hold a public sale of horses, cows, pigs, sheep and farm machinery at his farm on the Arden road near Gulf Mills to-morrow.

George McGuire of Gulf Mills and Paul Valcovic of Henderson, Upper Merion, two of Uncle Sam's young soldiers stationed at Camp Meade, have been enjoying short furloughs at their homes. They stated that they believed they would soon embark for over the seas to join the ranks of young America in the conflict.

The members of the Men's Bible Class of the Gulf Christian Church had an enjoyable time at their social held in the church on Saturday evening. There was speaking by the class leader and other officers, vocal selection by some of the members, and an evening of pleasure prevailed. The event concluded with the serving of refreshments. There was a large attendance.

Harry L. Jones, of Boston, Mass., son of the late Frank L. Jones, for a number of years proprietor of the Bird-in-Hand Hotel at Gulf Mills, was visiting his uncle, J. Brinton Jones over the week end. The visitor from the Hub was engaged in the machine shop of the Wood Company at that place for some years. In April last he severed his connection with the works, since which time he has been a representative of the Factory Mutual Fire Insurance Companies of Boston, Mass., acting in the inspection department. He came to Chester, Pa., in the interest of the firm, and stopped over here for a short visit among his relatives.

Zigzagging on the Conshohocken road near the residence of Norman Wellard on Friday evening, a Ford auto belonging to William Shafer, of this place and driven by another person crashed into a pale fence in front of the dwelling of William Harper. Fortunately no one was injured. Some parts of the front of the car were considerably twisted in the accident, but after repairs had been made it could proceed under its own power. The fence will also need repairing. When the car began to move in an irregular course it headed towards an embankment, and in order to escape plunging over this, the driver gave it a sudden turn and the machine crashed into the fence.
