Seeds & Derham, contractors are having a sluiceway built from the temporary canal bridge along the west bank of the canal down to the pier, with the idea of draining the canal and erecting a concrete wall along the property of the John Wood Manufacturing Company. The railroad siding into the company's plant has been lowered and the track removed several feet to the west of where it originally entered the mill. By this change a sharp turn, which caused considerable trouble by reason of cars jumping the track, has been abolished. On account of the mild open winter work on the bridge has been continued uninterruptedly although with a decreased force of help. The work of completing the pier along the west bank of the river is progressing rapidly and will be completed within a few days.

There is a bill before the Massachusetts legislature requiring all hotel employees shall have a day of rest. Hotel operators oppose the bill on the grounds that they must operate seven days each week and must make their own arrangements with employes.

Amending the Child Labor Law.

Dr. Finegan, superintendent of public instruction, recommends that the child labor law be amended so that no child can engage in regular employment who has not completed the sixth grade in school and attained the age of 16 years.

The continuation school is an expense to the districts and does not perform the work expected. Children attending the school do so by compulsion and have no interest in it.

The continuation school is maintained at the expense of the district and State. In this district one teacher is employed and classes are held each day.

Many employers refuse to employ children of school age but so long as the law permits the employment of children, there are parents who will deny their children the advantages of an education and force them into employment.

Should the law be amended so that no child under 16 years of age may be regularly employed, every child will be given the same advantages in the public school system; children will be sent out into the world stronger mentally and physically and with the chances of becoming public charges later in life greatly lessened than under the present system.

The State superintendent should have the organized support of the school directors in urging the amendment of the law by the present legislature.

The Cost of Fire Protection.

When the firemen are called out to save property, they respond to the call at all hours and in all weather and give their service to the public without any cost.

The people point with pride to the local fire companies and are proud to know that Conshohocken is one of the best protected towns in the country against fire.

The Washington Company submitted the cost of maintaining the service of the past year. In the expenditures every dollar was devoted to the public service and the amount was $3824.30.

Conshohocken Company No. 2, did not submit an expense account but it is known their expenses far exceeded the appropriation of $1200 and the firemen had to meet the excess themselves.

These expenses do not include the cost of equipment and the depreciation of equipment; the cost of buildings and the charges of maintenance and depreciation.

Most cities and towns with volunteer fire departments aid the firemen by purchasing the entire equipment. Many towns pay the volunteers for the hours they are in actual service.

Conshohocken has been particularly fortunate in having a large number of public spirited men who willingly give their services and money to the end that the town may not only enjoy fire protection but the best of protection.

CHILD SAVING WORK IN ARMENIA TOLD BY AN AMERICAN

Charles V. Vickrey Gives Facts of Near East Relief Program for Orphans.

Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief, has returned from a trip of inspection throughout Central Europe and the Near East, and made a report to the trustees of the Near East Relief in which he covers in detail the actual work of child saving now being conducted by the great American relief organization in the Near East.

CHARLES V. VICKREY.

than billions of dollars spent later in suppressing international warfare and strife.

Mr. Vickrey considers the need in the Near East and especially in Armenia greater than anywhere else in the world, because, as he says, "In the countries of Central Europe there are going governments which have merely been temporarily impoverished by war. In the Near East, on the other hand, there is no such thing as stable government. The whole fabric of the state has to be created from the beginning, and the innocent and helpless children have to be trained to the responsibilities of future citizenship.

Irresistible Appeal of Orphans. Describing the orphanage work of the Near East Relief in the Armenian Republic, Mr. Vickrey said:

"We have at Alexandropol in the Caucasus, one orphanage where there are approximately 10,000 homeless children, fatherless or motherless, many of them having no known living relative. Some of them do not even know their own names, or the place of their birth. They have shown wonderful recuperative powers, and to see them play their kindergarten or other games under the direction of our American relief workers, one could never believe that they had passed through the years of suffering that most of them have experienced since they, or their parents, were driven from their homes in Central Turkey five years ago.

"For the accommodation of these orphans there are sixty splendid stone buildings, erected as barracks for the Russian army. These buildings are now given to us by the Armenian government for a period of ten years and lend themselves admirably to relief purposes.

"This orphanage at Alexandropol is but one of the 229 orphanages that the Near East Relief is now operating in various parts of the Caucasus, Anatolia, Cilicia, Syria and the Constantinople-Straits area.

"Thirty miles from Alexandropol, at Kars, there is another group of Russian army barracks, which were given us by the Armenian government for relief purposes. I was going through the dormitories of this orphanage at Kars when the young American college girl in charge turned to me and said: 'Mr. Vickrey, it sometimes makes me feel just a little older than Methuselah, to be called 'Mother' by 6,000 of those Armenian children. And that is exactly what she was—the only mother that these 6,000 Armenian children have, except as she avails herself of the organized assistance of native Armenian women, in caring for this large family.

"In the hospital at Kars I found 1,150 beds, which, the day I was there, were occupied by 1,238 patients, it frequently being necessary to put two or more children in a single bed. At Alexandropol we have in one hospital, or group of hospital buildings, 1,500 trachoma patients. At Karaklis, forty miles east of Alexandropol we have an orphanage devoted exclusively to the care and training of the blind children. At Delljan we have another orphanage, located on a mountain side, for the care of tubercular children, this segregation being as much for the welfare of the healthy children in the orphanages as for the care of the unfortunate consumptives. At Erivan we formerly had twenty-six distinct orphanages, though they have now been reduced and consolidated to seven in number. There are some thing more than 4,000 orphans in the region of Harpout."

GARRICK THEATRE

Feminism is the underlying theme of "The Restless Sex," the photoplay feature of Manager Sablosky's bill at the Garrick Theatre during the first half of the week of January 17. However, the photoplay, which is the film version of Robert W. Chambers recent novel of the same name, has nothing to do with suffrage. It treats of a woman who, having a taste of independence, wishes to become more than merely a wife and to attain a place for herself in the world of art and letters.

Marion Davies, the pretty young star, plays the role of the heroine an impetuous society girl. Her love of excitement leads her away from the man she loves into an unfortunate marriage, but later true romance asserts itself and the ending is a happy one. Ralph Keilard and Carlyle Blackwell have the leading male parts. "The Restless Sex" has been filmed upon an unusually elaborate scale. With Robert Z. Leonard as the director. A ballroom scene in which over six hundred people take part, a thrilling automobile accident and scenes in a millionaire mountain camp are features.

The picture is made by Cosmopolitan Productions producers of "Humoresque," which made such a big hit with Norristown audiences at the Garrick some weeks ago and is a Paramount release.

The vaudeville bill will be headed by "Seventy Cents" the same being the title of an amusing comedy that will be offered by Harry Bulger and Company.

Sherman, Van and Hyman will appear in a melange of songs and comedy and will be found to be exceptionally entertaining.

The Texas Duo will offer an unique musical novelty, something entirely different from anything that has appeared here before.

MIDWAY BEATS STARS OF NORRISTOWN SCHOOL LEAGUE

Saturday night in the Norristown Y. M. C. A. the local Midway A. A. team scored its sixth straight victory when they defeated the Stars of the Norristown school league by the score of 46 to 12. The Midway played the best game of the season as they had to beat the team that was supposed to be unbeatable.

The Stars was the best combination that could have been picked. They started to roll up a large score at the beginning of the second half, but Midway soon braced up and no more scoring was done by the Stars. The Stars lined up with a good team but not good enough to beat the locals.

Swede, who so much is heard of as a wonderful player and also a jumper could do nothing against the local defense and as a jumper failed to show his supremacy when Rein of the local team jumped a field goal in on him.

At half time Midway was leading 10 to 4.

More Eggs or Money Back!

The Purina System of Feeding keeps the flock laying in the fall and the winter, because it supplies plenty of material for whites as well as for yolks. This enables the hen to make complete eggs of all the yolks that develop in her body.

When a grain ration is fed there is not enough protein for whites. Many yolks that form are not laid, but are eventually absorbed back into the system as fat.

More-Eggs Guarantee

Purina Chows, when fed according to directions, are guaranteed to make hens lay more eggs than any other feed, or the money paid for Purina Chows will be refunded.

"Say it with Flowers"
It is Flowers about which the poets preach,
For which mortals yearn and angels reach.
It's the Flowers along life's dreary way,
That makes life worth living from day to day.
