

Friday, November 4, 1898.

It will be all over on Tuesday night and only those on one ticket will be elected.

The Republicans, Democrats and Honest Government parties all claim the county now. Only one will claim it on Wednesday. Which will it be?

Every voter should vote on Tuesday. If the tickets in the field do not suit you write one on the ballot that will.

The railroad companies do not seem to be in a great hurry to have those safety gates erected. They seem much more liberal with their soft words than their gates.

The Lehigh County Teachers Institute has adopted the report of its committee devising plans for the relief of superannuated teachers—or, in other words to pension those who have become worn out in the service.

The committee recommended that the initiative in this matter be taken in Lehigh County and this will tend to encourage a sentiment throughout the State to secure a pension bill from the Legislature. Among the plans submitted for raising funds for the pension needs was to take shares in a building association, pay dues and initiation fees by fairs and other entertainments, private subscriptions etc.

To be eligible a pensioner must have taught for a period of at least twenty-five years and be worthy in every respect. The maximum amount to be paid a pensioned teacher is not to exceed one-third of their highest salary.

TEACHING COOKING

The offer made by ladies of a Baltimore cooking school to train in culinary science, free of charge, too girls belonging to the grammar schools will be watched with interest by the directors of Conshohocken. The immediate object of the managers of the cooking school is to demonstrate the utility of establishing a cookery department in connection with the public schools. A number of our local directors favor doing this in our borough.

If the tendency to make popular education as practical as possible is to continue there is no reason why cooking should not form a part of the curriculum. Involving as it does questions of frugality as well as of hygiene, it certainly is as important in a practical sense as bookkeeping, and much more important than drawing or music. The kitchen is of greater moment than the parlor. In the average household it is in the kitchen that most of the family expenses originate and every woman should be capable enough of using her opportunities to the best advantage in this department.

A feeling exists that mastery of the art of cooking is connected with a life of domestic drudgery. This is not true. It is or should be essential in a woman who takes upon herself the charge of a home that she should at least be able to manage it. The lack of such ability for management accounts, in great measure, for the tendency manifested by certain families to abandon housekeeping and resort to apartment houses, boarding houses and hotels.

BOARDS OF TRADE

A resident of the town recently said that the Boards of Trade of Conshohocken had done nothing to benefit the town and that such organizations seldom do benefit any community.

This is all wrong as the record of Royersford, Norristown and a number of other neighboring towns will prove. A Board of Trade is absolutely necessary to the best development of every city, town or village. It builds up the smaller centres and preserves them in their maturity. An individual naturally becomes closely attached to the field of his operations, and is ever vigilant for opportunities to boom his town and enhance its growth and prosperity. But individually his influence is comparatively small. In an organized body, on the other hand, this influence is strengthened and becomes very often all-powerful. The whys, hows and wherefores are obvious. Consider the records of our great cities. They were all small once and to their boards of trade, citizens' associations, commercial clubs or other trade associations, are they heavily indebted for the positions which they have attained

It takes time to build cities, but when once established they become forever a source of pride and of boundless value to the citizens. But if each man holds back and imagines that his colleague is going to step forth and take the laboring oar, just so sure will the craft eventually run aground. It seems to us that it should not be necessary to appraise world-renowned "hustlers" that by their inaction they are running the risk of killing the goose that lays the golden eggs.

POLITICAL ITEMS

Henry M. Brownback has been appointed postmaster of Norristown to succeed Albrecht Kneule, whose term expired September 1. Mr. Brownback was born at Linfield, 37 years ago, and is the son of James Brownback, who was a candidate for County Treasurer at the Republican Convention. Mr. Brownback has been an active Republican all his life. He served one term as District Attorney. The postmastership pays $2700 a year. He has been prominently identified with the Quay influences since the Chairmanship fight of 1895. It is intimated that his deputy will be former Borough Treasurer Harry L. Sullivan.

Democratic County Chairman Ralph E. Shafer, claims that county will go Democratic in both the State and Legislature tickets by at least 2,000. He is also confident that the Democratic county ticket will be elected by majorities ranging from 500 upwards.

Dr. Swallow's stumping tour was interrupted on Wednesday, the Honest Government candidate having been called home from Wilkes barrie by the death of his son-in-law.

Local betting on the election is very limited. Here and there an even bet is made on some particular candidate but the field is so confused that the wiser ones have concluded to keep their good money in their pocket.

Conshohocken voters should remember its two home candidates and give them a large complimentary vote.

The newspapers of the county are saying many complimentary things about Mr. John K. Light, indicating that he is going to have a large vote throughout the county.

Ex-Postmaster-General Wanamaker was arrested as he stepped from a train at Rochester, Pa., on Wednesday on a charge of slander preferred by Thomas Robinson, the veteran editor and former Superintendent of Public Printing. Col. Robinson, left Harrisburg a few months ago when he resigned the office of Superintendent of Public Printing and returned to his home in Butler.

Recently, in a speech, Mr. Wanamaker criticised the former Superintendent for his part in the printing on the famous bulletin on "Diseases and Enemies of Poultry," which caused a scandal and involved on expense of over $60,000 to the State.

Robinson has always contended that he was innocent of any wrongdoing and that he simply performed his duty. It is supposed that the suit grows out of this matter.

Robinson has been for years Senator Quay's right hand man in Butler county, and it was at the request of Senator Quay that Gov. Hastings appointed him Superintendent of Public Printing over half a dozen other applicants, including Thomas G. Simple of Pittsburgh, who is understood to be after the place in the event of Col. Stone's election.

Mr. Wanamaker went to Rochester to address a political meeting. After the Sheriff of Beaver county had served the summons at the railroad station Mr. Wanamaker, who was not put under bonds, made his speech.

The summons are returnable on December 1. State Senator C. C. Kaufman, who was with the Philadelphia statesman, said: "This is Quay's own county and somebody is getting smart. The suit will never be tried."

CONGRESSMAN WANGER

Endorsed by the Manufacturers of the District. Traffic's Endorsement Also.

The following letter and the signatures explain themselves:

To our fellow voters of the Seventh Congressional District:

Believing our common interests to be involved in the election of the Representative in Congress from this district, November 8th, we respectfully submit the importance of a vigorous effort toward securing the right result, and earnestly ask your cordial co-operation therein.

The disastrous effects of the panic of 1893 were so severely felt, it is needless to urge the importance of avoiding a like recurrence by every means in our power; and to more than allude to the improved conditions resulting from the election of President McKinley and a sound money House of Representatives, and the wise legislation thereafter enacted, to demonstrate the advantage of proper results at the polls.

To the return of prosperity a partial check was given by the war with Spain, which is believed to be now ended, and the great stock of importations with which the country was flooded in anticipation of the Dingley Tariff Act, has been consumed, and unless the integrity of our country's finances, and the stability of its industrial system and menaced by the result of the election, an era of great prosperity and enterprise is before us.

The attention given to and efforts made for the enlargement of our foreign commerce have produced results of considerable value and helped to produce the splendid balance of trade in the nation's favor the past year. These results may be multiplied and made prodigious under the new conditions resulting from the brilliant triumphs of war and diplomacy, if the opportunities are grasped and the needed legislation enacted. The President and members of Congress who sustain sound money have shown themselves equal to the emergency, while opposition and obstruction to the facilities for profitable international trade have been made by the opposing element.

Trade once lost is not easily regained, and with the adjustment of the future relations of our country with other nations, we should be ready and have every reasonable facility to enter and hold the new markets opened to the producers of American factories and farms, the same being carried under our country's flag and exchanges made direct with the United States; accordingly, Congress should be in harmony with the President, and an adverse majority in either House may prevent action and fritter away opportunity to our untold loss.

We submit that this district, irrespective of party or factional affiliation, should contribute toward the national result, made desirable by every just consideration of wise public policy, by re-electing, as its Representative in Congress, by a decisive majority, the Honorable Irving P. Wanger, whose consistent support of sound money and protection and the development of international trade, especially fit him for the position.

We pretend to no greater interest for manufacturing in the issue involved than pertains to agriculture, commerce, or other forms of industry, but may more quickly feel the result of the general condition of trade, and we are not so numerous as to make difficult our assembling together; and for the common welfare we invoke hearty co-operation in support of the candidacy of Mr. Wanger.

From Traffic

Hon. Irving P. Wanger, the candidate for representative in Congress of the Republican and Honest Government parties in the Seventh (Bucks-Montgomery) District, is now serving his third term in that position, and richly merits re-election, being one of the most indefatigable workers in behalf of sound money, adequate protection to American labor and industry and enlarged commerce among the nations of the world.

Mr. Wanger has always co-operated very cordially with the members from Philadelphia in advancing his interests and his work for League Island, the Delaware River and other matters of interest to Philadelphians has made him hosts of friends among our citizens. Perhaps his most substantial service was the able and exhaustive report he submitted from the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce in favor of a National exposition of American products and manufactures adapted for exports at Philadelphia next year.

Mr. Wanger is consequently well equipped to aid in the wise solution of the great problems to be settled by Congress in the near future, and is very zealous for the legislation which will enable the people to secure the trade the new conditions make it feasible to obtain, and every sound business principle is an argument for his election by a decisive majority.

Mr. Wanger is very attentive to the wants of his constituents, and spares no effort in their behalf. This has made him hosts of friends among old soldiers, for whom and whose widows and orphans he spends more time at the Bureau of Pensions in the examination of cases than probably any other member of Congress. He is an able lawyer, and for the poor in particular it is a great advantage to have his services without fee or reward in support of deserving claims, which through meritorious require keen intelligence and sound judgment to bring to a successful termination.

Mr. Wanger is in the prime of vigorous manhood, of pleasing address and fine oratorical ability. He is highly esteemed by Speaker Reed and his other colleagues, and his large majority of two years ago and nomination by two parties in this contest show his place in the esteem of his constituents.

Hon. Irving P. Wanger was born in North Coventry, Chester County, Pa., on March 5, 1853, and he has for many years been a resident of Norristown. He commenced the study of the law in 1872 and was admitted to the bar on December 18, 1875. In 1878 he was elected Burgess of the town, and two years later became a delegate to the Republican National Convention. He was elected District Attorney of Montgomery County in 1889 and again in 1892. The fidelity with which he had served the people in the above capacities deservedly led to his being chosen the representative of the counties of Montgomery and Bucks in Congress and to two subsequent re-elections. Unless all signs fail his continuance is a certainty. A failure to do so on the part of his constituents would be a serious loss not only to the district he represents, but likewise to the business interests of the State and the country.

Montgomery County Teachers Meet

The Montgomery County Teachers' Institute opened its second day's session under very auspicious circumstances. Even more teachers were present than on Monday. Rev. Mr. Hainler, of the Second Baptist Church, offered devotional exercises. Addresses were made by Superintendent W. W. Stetson, of Main; Miss Margaret McCloskey, Professor C. C. Miller and F. G. Hobson. At the evening session a lecture on "The Empire of the East" was delivered by Rev. Robert S. McArthur.

As the Teachers Institute continues the sessions become more largely attended and more interesting. Wednesday Miss Mary Mc Closkey gave an object lesson to the teachers that taught them a great deal. J. M. Coughlin of Wilkesbarre spoke on "The Nature of the Mind," in which he advocated the use of more English Grammar in the schools. L. D. Bonebrake of the Ohio schools spoke on Ancient Educational Ideas in which he showed how the school system had been greatly advanced from the first parochial schools. At the afternoon session Mr. Coughlin spoke on the advantages of training the will power of the pupils. Superintendent Stetson of Maine pointed out some of the weakness of the schools of today and denounced them. Mr. Bonebrake followed with the target province of the schools and Miss Margerita McCloskey closed with school room decorations.
