

MOLLY TELLS

Memorial Day This Year To Be More Poignant Than Ever, Opera Closes, Pines To Open

More poignant than ever this year, the observance of Memorial Day here.

Fresher thoughts of Anzio Beachhead, of the far-flung posts of the Pacific will take their place with slowly-fading memories of Flanders Field.

Silver lining of the clouds that hang low over any Memorial day is the hope that when another Memorial Day rolls round, drums will be beat not in martial rhythm but in victorious strain that popples of France's Flanders, the past bloom of Italy and the green verdure of Pacific tropics will rise from the earth to which they have been crushed by implements of war, to bloom once more as symbols of a better world, nurtured by the sun and air of landscapes, peaceful and quiet.

Again this Memorial period, Molly will follow the usual custom of this column by recalling a bit of the background and lines of the immortal poem for the soldier dead, in affectionate memory of the first Molly Matson who instituted the custom.

The muffled drums and roll has beat!

No more on life's parade shall meet! The brave and fallen few.

On Fame's eternal camping ground, their silent marches are being led, And glory guards with solemn tread.

The Bivouac of the Dead."

Numerous Conshohocken folk were present when the Philadelphia La Scala Opera Company rang down its curtain on one of its most brilliant seasons yet.

The "Finales" took place last Saturday night, suitably marked with the appealing "La Boheme," the last of three past-season performances, added when the regular schedule of performances proved so popular that many were turned away.

Molly extends her congratulations to Francesco Pelosi, astute and genial general manager of the company, who each year wins laurels for his skillful handling of a difficult business, and each year gives more and more musical pleasure to the public at large.

Sumner seems not far off when plans are underway for the opening of "The Pines," vacation home at Harmanville.

The annual meeting of the Board of Managers was held this morning at the home of Mrs. William Reed "Brynnyddn," West Conshohocken president. Following the meeting, the committee on the annual report remained for luncheon at the lovely Colonial home high on the hills and will lend a hand at getting out the reports this afternoon.

The opening of "The Pines" is scheduled for early in July.

MOLLY MATSON.

Two Cousins Meet on Anzio Beachhead

CPL. JOSEPH DESIMONE

PVT. JOSEPH DESIMONE

Two local cousins bearing the same name and living on the same street here, met recently in Italy. They are Pvt. Joseph Desimone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Desimone, 12 East Hector street, and Cpl. Joseph Desimone, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Desimone, Hector street near Ash. Meeting by arrangement on Anzio Beachhead, they spent a day together, their first reunion, despite the fact that Cpl. Desimone has been in Italy a year and Pvt. Desimone is close to a year.

Cpl. Desimone is serving with a Field Artillery and Pvt. Desimone with a tank destroyer unit. Pvt. Desimone suffered a wound in the leg some months ago but has recovered.

Leo Gajewski, A. B., Merchant Marine, brother-in-law of Pvt. Desimone, was also in the vicinity of the sector where the cousins are, but was unable to make contact.

Bears Win Delayed Game

The Golden Bears of Conshohocken High and the Spring City Pirates crossed bats Wednesday afternoon on the latter's diamond in a game that had been postponed from April 27 and the locals came through victorious by a 19-9 score. As a result of this triumph the Bears finished the season in second place in the Section Six of the Suburban League.

Coch Coach shifted his lineup for the game and the changes seemed to work all to the good. Joe Bate was brought from the outfield and assigned to the mound. He worked the first five innings and had good control, but was given poor fielding support. Mitchell took over in the second inning to take the lead and were never headed, although the Pirates managed, to keep within striking distance. Conshohocken added a run in the third and completed their scoring with a five run sprint in the fifth.

THE VICTORY VOLUNTEERS ARE ON THE WAY

Open your door
and your heart to them.

WHO IS THE VICTORY VOLUNTEER? He (or she) is someone in your locality—maybe a close neighbor or a friend—who has volunteered to work for the 5th War Loan Drive.

One of these volunteers may call at your home or place of work soon—on the most important mission of the hour!

America has asked you before to do something extra to smash Hitler and Tojo. In this 5th War Loan Drive, you're asked to go all-out with every dollar you can scrape up—for war expenditures are greater now than any time since Pearl Harbor. Double your extra War Bond investments. Buy at least one extra Bond now. Invest $100, $200, $300, $400—more if you can.

Yes, it's that important. This war is mounting in fury every minute—as our fighting men plunge into the biggest and bloodiest battle of history. The men who fought and bled and died for you haven't hesitated. Only by answering "yes" to the Victory Volunteer—only by investing to the limit—can you come at all close to matching their spirit. For their sake—and for your own future—open your door and your heart!

5th WAR LOAN DRIVE
Starts June 12th

JUNE 12TH. Remember the date. It is the start of the greatest "war call" ever sent to the American people. You will want to do your part. Remember, it may not be possible for a Victory Volunteer to reach every home, plant, and office. If it happens that you are missed during the drive, go to your nearest bank or Post Office or wherever they sell War Bonds. Buy all you can—at least one extra Bond—the biggest Bond you can afford. And then, when you think you've reached your limit—buy some more! Every dollar counts—NOW!

Will you be a VICTORY VOLUNTEER?

Many patriotic men and women have already signed up to act as Victory Volunteers but more are needed. As a Victory Volunteer, you will serve your country in one of the most important missions ever given to civilians in wartime. Spend an hour or two a day in your own neighborhood. The task is important—the rewards great, for you will have the satisfaction of helping America toward Victory. For full details, without obligation, go TODAY to (INSERT LOCAL ADDRESS HERE).

Back the Attack! — BUY MORE THAN BEFORE!

Penn as the son of a distinguished English Naval officer, a great friend of Charles II gave young Penn a large tract of land lying west of the Delaware river in payment of a large amount of money he owed his father. Penn was the sole proprietor and political leader by his own careful planning and described the principles of government so clearly there was little room for doubt or dispute. It was a feudal charter but secured civil liberty and representative government to the people. Penn owned all the land and the colonists were his tenants. He was compelled to give his people free government. The laws were to be made by him with the consent of the people or their representatives. In practice this meant the people were to elect a legislature and Penn would have the power of veto on such acts as were passed. He had the power to appoint magistrates and judges and some other officers and to grant pardons. Penn proved that religious liberty was not only right but that agriculture, commerce and all arts and manufactures of life would flourish under it.

"William Penn and Education" is presented by Theresa DeNendo. She told of the establishment of the school by Penn and the Council of Pennsylvania so that young people might gain some degree of education. The frame of government prepared by William Penn provided for instruction of the youth of the colony. A school was established in Philadelphia in 1683 but lasted only for a short time. Because of the differences in nationality and religion among the groups that came to settle in Pennsylvania, no unified public school system seemed practicable. It was not until 1834 that the legislature passed an act providing for the establishment of public education in Pennsylvania to be maintained by taxes. This measure established the public school policy that has been adhered to throughout the state ever since. By 1860 there were only six high schools in the whole state. The State Constitution of 1873 made definite provision for free education of all children beyond the age of six years. Since then the public school system has been vastly expanded.

"William Penn and the Future" was presented by Alice Ann Fogarty. She said that in founding Pennsylvania, William Penn established a haven for refugees and other groups who wished to try their hand in a new world where freedom could be had. Freedom to worship God as they chose and to live under a government that consisted of laws made by these people. That is the same freedom that men and women are fighting for today. She predicted that in planning for the post-war world it might be wise to follow some of Penn's plans and consider some of his ideals. In the post-war world, she said, we must treat the people of the enslaved countries fairly and give them a chance to prove their worth. Give them freedom of religion, educate them and show them how to use their freedom wisely to fulfill the dream of World-wide democracy, she said.

The diplomas were presented by George Havener, vice president of the board of directors. After the diplomas had been presented to those on the stage, Mr. Havener called Samuel Dewees, Sr., father of Seaman Samuel Dewees, member of the class, to the front of the auditorium and presented him with his son's diploma. Mrs. Maita, mother of Seaman Matia, deeply affected, remained in her seat while her son, Frank, stepped forward and received his brother's diploma.

Following the presentation of the diplomas, Mrs. Vernon Wynne, representing the American Legion Auxiliary, and Attorney E. Arnold Forrest, representing the Legion Post, awarded the certificates to the eighth grade pupils. Dorothy Herbert was presented the girls' pin and certificate by Mrs. Wynne. Ida Louise Bath, who received the award as an eighth grade pupil, was called from the stage to pin the medal on this year's recipient. Frank Matia, was presented the Boy's award and in making the presentation, Attorney Forrest paid a high tribute to Judge Bard saying that no better theme could be selected in making the award, (giving, among other things, to the boy showing the most courage) than that of the Judge, who had served as Attorney General of the State, former member of the Public Utilities Commission and appointed to his present office by President Roosevelt.

The awards to the graduating class were presented by Supervising Principal A. S. Richards as follows: West Conshohocken Home and School League Award of $5.00 to the graduate having the highest grade average in English during the last four years in the public schools, to—Rita McCarrick. West Conshohocken Citizens Award of $25.00 to the graduate having the best record in school citizenship as based on general deportment and cooperation with the principal and teachers, to—Samuel Dewees. He Could Be Sure Of The Horse

By IRVIN S. COBB

LAST year they were holding a benefit at one of the Boston theatres to raise funds for a humane society making a specialty of caring for infirm work beasts and domestic animals, generally. The slogan of the campaign was "Be kind to dumb brutes" or words to that effect.

A gentleman prominent in theatrical circles was urged to purchase at least two tickets for the performance. The tickets were ten dollars each. He considered the proposition from various angles and then made this response:

"I don't believe I'd care to invest. Don't misunderstand me, my heart is with you in this noble work, and I've decided to do something for the cause. But I believe I can save money by buying a horse and being kind to it."

Buy A Buddy Poppy

For every American war-dead there is a bereaved friend who has said a prayer over his buddy's grave.

Many miles from that grave are weeping parents, other friends and forlorn relatives who must in their hearts balance the glory of Victory with the sadness of personal loss.

Yet they know—as does each fighter who makes the supreme sacrifice—that the freedom for which we fight is worth any price: life itself. It remains only to match the gallantry of the dead with the courage to go on, bereft.

In the name, then, of those dead—and of the living they have left behind, rally 'round the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and wear a Buddy Poppy for Memorial Day! You'll honor our heroes who have died in combat: you'll help those who have survived disabled—and their families.

This Buddy Poppy means a lot to me

Why?

BECAUSE it tells guys like me that the people we know back home will not forget us when we become civilians again.

This Buddy Poppy is a symbol of the American spirit of fair play.

It stands for all those things in America that are worth fighting for.

It makes fellows like myself feel that you folks really appreciate what we've tried to do—and that you'll never let us down when the bands stop playing and the victory parades are forgotten.

To Honor the Dead by Helping the Living

Don't refuse to buy a poppy . . . offered you in the extended hand of a Veteran. This year's goal is the sale of 12 million Buddy Poppies . . . each of which has been made by a disabled war veteran in a government hospital; and the proceeds from the sale of which will aid needy veterans; servicemen and their families; and the National Home for Widows and Orphans of our hero dead.

In Flanders Fields

(After John McRae, 1918—By Edgar Guest)
(Illustrated by Charles La Salle)

In Flanders Fields, the Germans go
Between the crosses, row on row,
Which mark the graves of Freedom's dead,
Great bombers battle overhead
And flame against the guns below.

We are your dead! Short years ago
We gave our lives that you might know
Freedom and peace, and now we stir
In Flanders Fields.

Hear us once more. To battle go!
Hold high the torch! Destroy the foe!
Keep faith with us—land, sky and sea!
Set every captive nation free.
Then we shall sleep, where poppies grow,
In Flanders Fields.

Dear Miss KITCHEN

- 1. Tell me how to make more use of celery.
2. How can I stretch that valuable tuna?
3. What can I do with left over pork roast?
4. Never waste so much as a leaf of celery, for it has real nutritional value—adding calcium, iron, some potassium as well as other vitamins to your diet. Cut outer stalks in 1-inch lengths, simmer in a saucepan with a little water as possible, until tender; use remaining cooking water with milk to make a thick white sauce; add seasoned celery and serve on crisp thin toast; sprinkle with grated cheese for protein.

READING & WRITING BY Edwin Seaver and Robin McKown

Most Americans have a secret nostalgia for the frontier, for elbow room and to spare. Perhaps that's one reason for the enormous popularity of Mary O'Hara's novels, "My Friend Flicka" and "Thunderhead."

MARY O'HARA

two sons, Ken and Howard. This is a lovely story of a boy and his capable, not any Ken and any Howard, but the particularly sensitive boy capable of an enduring love, and his own, his very own, colt.

When the world famous singer, Marian Anderson, was a child, she once sang before a well-to-do fraternal group, and asked for, and got, a $10 fee, instead of the customary $5. Afterwards, the chairman of the committee said to her mother, "That girl of yours is going to make money out of singing. I wouldn't be surprised if some day she made $50 a concert."

Random items from John Gunther's "D-Day": General Montgomery gave the author a letter for Wendell Willkie, and made a record by misspelling both Willkie's first and last names.

This amount includes $163,302.52 in "County funds"; $8,380.27 in "Fee Office Funds"; and $61,373.84 in "Restrictive County Funds."
