Marking Shrubs A small bottle comes in very handy as a marker in the garden, especially for shrubs. Simply write the name on a slip of paper, place in the bottle, cork securely, and hang it on the plant.

A medium-sized lump of sugar added to each pint of olive oil as soon as it is opened will prevent its becoming rancid.

Fashion for Fall reveals a feeling for color in general. Beads for tweeds and plaids, bright beautiful ones in jade green, orange, or amber. Fine mesh of large calicoes in rich, warm tones. Black... an important fashion color, shows up in the form of jet jewelry, beaded here and there with rhinestones or crystal.

Tortoise is in the news too sometimes complete in itself, sometimes dappled with pearls, rhinestones or crystal. It is particularly handsome with suits, coats and dresses which have tortoise trim.

What's The Life Of Fayette Street?

Some two years ago, after long trials and tribulations, we were presented with a rejuvenated Fayette Street. For the first time in a long period of years, it was possible to travel the length of our principal thoroughfare in smooth comfort.

The purpose of that ordinance, of course, was to prevent the new surface of the street and to delay as long as possible the necessity for another heavy expenditure.

But the ordinance, even with the aid of signs posted along the street, does not enforce itself. Through ignorance and failure to note those signs — or, more likely, with deliberate intent to take the easiest route through Conshohocken just as long as they can "get away with it" — ponderous trucks and tractor-trailer combinations have continued to move on Fayette Street in direct violation of the ordinance.

Some of these offenders have been apprehended and turned back; so far as we are aware not one has ever been arrested and fined. Day by day, throughout the year, many of these huge vehicles whose owners and operators contribute nothing whatever to our community are hastening the day when Fayette Street must again be resurfaced — at a cost far higher than in 1948.

There is, of course, a way of stopping this practice, effectively and quickly. Steady surveillance of the thoroughfare for would-be violators over a comparatively short period (but around the clock, preferably, to prevent trucks "sneaking through" at night), with prompt arrest and fine facing each driver who disregards the ordinance, would work wonders.

The decision rests in the hands of our local officials and law-enforcement officers. We can put a speedy end to this ruinous pounding on the surface of Fayette Street, or we can sit by and watch it being ground to pieces before our very eyes. But the choice will have to be made soon.

The Forum

Lucky Strike! Editor, The Recorder: When does "Lucky Strike" not mean a cigarette?

When it means a town, for the first time in many years, free of its blanket of dust. Automobiles that once more, don't require washing once or sometimes more often every day. Furniture and floors once more rid of their gritty, despoiling covering of grey particles, as if someone had been mopping at atmosphere that once more may be termed "fresh air!"

Comment by a borough leader: "That firm convicted itself—as far as the dust nuisance here is concerned—when that strike was called."

Comment by a service station proprietor: "This is great. Now you can leave a car out and don't have to wash it for a week. Before we had to wash our cars a couple times a day."

Comment from many sides: "It's like a NEW TOWN, without that dust."

No one likes to see an industry closed down by strike. No one likes to see men out of work due to a strike. But we must admit that this strike has done the community one great favor. It has proved in a few weeks what Town Council and Conshohocken folks have been attempting to prove for many years. It has provided "concrete evidence."

BRAIN TWISTERS

BY DON DOUGLAS Find the Strangers. There is a "stranger" in the midst of each of these groups. In other words, there is one term or name in each group which does not share all the attributes of the others. Can you find the "strangers"?

- 1. Paris, Glasgow, San Francisco, Liverpool.
- 2. Cabbage, potato, tomato, bean.
- 3. Swallow, bat, tern, stork.
- 4. Venus, Sun, Mars, Pluto.
- 5. Victoria, Catherine the Great, Elizabeth, Cleopatra.

How Fast. How fast can you figure out this little twistier? An express train which travels 10 miles an hour faster than a freight train is following 75 miles behind it. Five hours later the express train crosses a certain bridge which the freight train crossed one-half hour earlier. What are the speeds of the two trains?

We give here the last members of some famous triplets we all know. For instance, there's HIGH, WIDE and HANDSOME. Now, see if you can supply the first two members of each of these trios: 1. _____ and future. 2. _____ and charity. 3. _____ and nod. 4. _____ and the Devil. 5. _____ and obey. 6. _____ and quartered. 7. _____ and song. 8. _____ or mislead.

Place a piece of waxed paper under the centerpiece on a polished table, and it will prevent the linen from adhering to the table during hot weather, as well as preventing stains from water in an overflowed vase or rose bowl.

Many-Gifted Man

Lesson for July 23, 1850

IF A MAN can do one thing well, he can usually find his place in the world. Life being as short as it is, and the possibility of misfits being what it is, it may also be said that many talents who are given to a man, he should use them all.

Dr. Foreman. "That is, in a country church-yard may rest the bones of some hired man who has had another kind of start, might have been a world-famous scholar and poet like John Milton."

Triple-Threat Men

WHAT in football is called a "triple-threat man" is to be found off the gridiron, sometimes, in real life. One is a great while there arises a man who not only "could have done" more than one thing well, but who because of special circumstances and opportunities actually does many things well.

Such persons are rare, and far above the average. Ordinarily men take each a long time becoming experts in one line that they simply don't have time in their lives to be expert at other things too. But there are geniuses with many sides, or perhaps men gifted with many talents who have an extraordinary capacity for hard work.

In our times there is Albert Schweitzer, outstanding not only as a scholar but as a musician, doctor and missionary. The President of Harvard at the present time is a noted chemist as well as a distinguished executive. Robert E. Lee was a brilliant soldier who also, as an educator, left his mark on his native state to this day. Leibnitz was a diplomat and philosopher; S.E.P. Morse not only invented the telegraph but was a painter of unusual ability; the man who thought up the idea of savings banks was a minister of the Gospel; King David was a poet, musician, general and monarch.

Samuel the Versatile

SAMUEL, Judge of Israel, was another such man. "Jack of all trades but master of none" does not describe him, for he was master of whatever he did. He has gone down in history as a prophet—what in our times is called a preacher; but this was by no means all. He served his generation in other ways as well.

He was the chief executive of the people, king without the title, though possessed of dictatorial powers, when during a wave of unpopularity he resigned, and dared his critics to produce one single case of dishonesty or graft, none was brought against him.

He was a circuit judge, going from one city to another dispensing justice. He acted as a prophet, as the high priest of his people. We know of one occasion when he led his people in battle, and he was as successful as if war had always been his business. He was a king-maker, for God entrusted to him twice the scepter of Israel, and used his talents for himself. But at no time and in no way did Samuel work for Samuel. He worked for God and his country, and he died a poor but honored man.

One of the greatest needs of the nation today is men of Samuel's caliber, triple-threat men. We have plenty of small-caliber bureaucrats, and we have plenty of large-caliber men who are quite selfish. Now few unselfish large-caliber men there are! The other thought is that the times and the man go together. A man's greatness comes in large part from his opportunities.

John Milton helped make England — but England also helped make him. Samuel helped make Israel, but at some other stage in history, he might have lived and died a country priest.

Let no man think himself self-made; not even a great man. Without God who endows him with his gifts, without the times that call forth the gifts, even the most gifted shrink to little or nothing.

members of each of these trios: 1. _____ and future. 2. _____ and charity. 3. _____ and nod. 4. _____ and the Devil. 5. _____ and obey. 6. _____ and quartered. 7. _____ and song. 8. _____ or mislead.

"It was suggested that a bust of Brown be placed in the chapel opposite that of Bishop Potter, but this never materialized. John Brown was of deeply spiritual nature and proved a great consolation to Missionary Potter when the latter lost his young wife, the lovely Lancaster County Pennsylvania German girl, Eliza Jacobs, who rests under a granite Greek Cross beside the chapel.

"Brown often escorted the children of Col. Thomas A. Westling (the iron-master of Mont Alto), on huckleberry-gathering picnics into the mountains. Brown, through regarded as a man of mystery, was respected as a thoroughly good character and made many friends among the mountain folk. Lovette T. (Lovey) Bondurant, a step-daughter of Michael Trevant, a charcoal burner, became Brown's housekeeper and general help. A dark Huguenot fair and religious character, she became his wife since she knew all the mountain paths and no doubt his "underground" for his slaves' rebellion across the Blue Ridge line, which was the real reason for his presence in the locality.

"Brown was regarded as a dangerous character by the FBI's of his day, his nobody uniting at Osawatomie, Kansas, but at Mont Alto they were not sure of his identity because he wore a huge black beard which hid his eyes. Remarks of inquisitive strangers, about the furnace and the country store and she would report them to the military authorities. As he increased, quietly folded up his tiny establishment in the night and moved across into Virginia where no one would suspect him in a state of southern sympathies. There, under the name of Smith, he rented a large farm and apparently devoted all his energy to getting the place in order for the next year's crops.

"A few of the old lie-cutters' sons still point the way from Mont Alto to where Brown's cabin stood, on Snowy's heights, and the remains of the chimney are still visible, it is said.

"Brown left home too soon, as with his fitting came louder reports of a slave's rebellion and look-outs were built on the mountains to watch for the invading 'army'. One at Pine Grove Furnace, Cumberland County, is a favorite objective of hikers to this day, and a militia company was quartered in the massive mansion of ironmaster Michael Ege at Pine Grove.

"Lovette would have accompanied Brown to Virginia had her family would not let her go and his rebellion missed a 'Joan of Arc'. She later married a lumberman and lived out a very quiet life in northern Clinton County. Some of her letters on John Brown shed new lights on his career.

"Brown's rebellion, on October 16, 1859, failed, he was severely wounded and captured by U. S. forces, led by a grand-son of George Washington and Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson, in person. Brown was tried and hanged at Charlestown Jail, December 7 of that year. But he had touched off the spark and the Civil War became inevitable.

"Of New England origin, John Brown's father was a tanner, while his mother was descended from John Owen, possibly of Welsh Gypsy blood, and Benjamin Mills, a Dutch tailor. John Brown conducted a tannery for nine years in Pennsylvania, near New Richmond, Crawford County, now one of the most sparsely settled maintained by the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission. He also ran timber rafts on the Allegheny river.

"Brown's remains lie in the shadow of mighty Whiteface Mountain in the Adirondacks of New York. On the farm porch, he founded by an earlier namesake, and set up as an asylum for free Negroes. There Brown had asked to be hanged just before his execution, and his body was taken there by his sorrowing admirers. During the touring season his shrine in Pennsylvania and his last resting place in New York are visited by thousands of tourists from all parts of the world."

July Night

July is a month of strenuous activity on the farm schedule but it is a time of even-paced quietude in Nature's plan. The surging rush of Spring's exuberance has subsided; the elemental urgency that throbbled so insistently a few weeks ago has faded away. At day's end when labor is finished and a man can sit in his favorite wicker chair on the farmhouse porch, he enjoys watching the arrival of night. July sunsets are often the most spectacular of the year; bright colors slowly drain from the spreading sky canyons; the after-glow lingers long above the mountain rim. Successive battalions of shades, each darker than its predecessor, move unhurriedly down from the heights and take over the meadows and fields.

There is a strange, mysterious feeling of depth and richness to a July night. This is especially noticeable immediately after a shower when the soil is moist and the foliage of dust-stained grasses and leaves is washed clean. There is a pleasant, distinctive fragrance in July air, a fragrance that never notices any other time of year. July stars are bright, perhaps all the more so to human eyes because many major constellations are in other areas. Hercules and Bootes are high in the heaven but Cassiopeia is circling low.

July nights are memorable because they combine a feeling of Nature's push toward maturity with satisfying maturity and earthy sounds that deeply stir one's feeling. Corn is stretching upward fast and acorns are swelling in their chalice saucers; first planting of potatoes is ready in the warm darkness of rich humus; garnet-red raspberries are hanging thickly in sunny woodland glens. There is elemental night music while fireflies stage their dot and dash lantern ballet above lawns and gardens. Cicadas sing in the warm and their thin, aloof notes scratch softly against the blackness. Night hawks' hollow booms carry far as they dive earthward; the sad, clear calls of whippoorwills come from pasture ravines and sweet tones of cowbells sound from the night pastures. For only a brief time says the pessimist, can man sit and feel the richness of a July night. A deeply satisfying experience, says the optimist, is to be in tune with Nature's pulse in the heart of Summer.

consideration, the Union rejected both the Equitable and the plan presented by the Company. The Pension Plan would have cost the Company the equivalent of 7.5 cents an hour. The final settlement on a basic rate was increased by six cents to a total of 8 cents across the board.

"In addition to the increase of 8 cents across the board, the Company grant includes: 1. Reduction from 10 to 9 hours in the minimum rest period before an operator reports for duty after completion of a shift.

2. Payment for performance of charter work from "time out" to "time in."

3. Payment of overtime when an operator performs any work after the completion of a twelve-hour span of duty.

"Others items incorporated in the agreement were modification of working conditions, some of which had heretofore been in practice. Others were modified in order that there would be a clearer conception of how they would be affected."

If we only had a 10-year

ARM!

Every now and then we sit back and think: "Ah, if we only had a 10-year Arm, we could reach back 10 years into our past—and do so many things differently!"

We think—as most men do—of the changes we would make.

And the one thing that comes to mind most frequently is this: we'd have most certainly enrolled in that wonderful Payroll Savings Plan in 1940! Yes...

If we'd only had the wisdom to do that one thing, we'd have had a very pretty little nest egg tucked away today.

Here it is in a nutshell:

You know, as well as we do, how the years fly by as you grow older. And you don't want another ten years to slip past and find yourself saying: "My, if only I'd started that Payroll Savings Plan ten years ago!"

THE PAYROLL Savings Plan, in case you don't know it already, is an easy, automatic method of saving that is both painless and sure.

This marvelous plan sets aside a small part of your earnings each payday, and socks it away in U.S. Savings Bonds. In ten short years (and HOW they fly!) they pay you back $4 for every $3 you put in today!

This is a self-fattening investment—guaranteed by Uncle Sam—that will let you do things for your family and for yourself that you could never do without such a convenient plan!

So start in on this wonderful, automatic, painless plan today!

Babson Discusses

World War 3

New York City, July 20. Every two months, at least, I come to New York to check over the outlook with a few very influential and well-informed people whose names readers would recognize. This is a review of their unanimous opinions at the moment.

POSTPONING WORLD WAR III

These men insist that neither the United States nor Russia can afford a World War III at the present time. It certainly would result in destroying some of the larger cities of both nations and millions of innocent people.

Asia and Western Europe into stopping the Communists. Added to this we must keep our own people happy by providing full employment. At first thought this seems a cowardly position for us to take, but it is believed that Russia also is anxious to prevent war and is willing to compromise to keep the peace.

MORE INFLATION INEVITABLE

The high level of U. S. production should continue as long as the Cold War lasts. When this comes to an end, either by a Hot War or by Peace, then will be the time for an economic crash.

are thrown out of work, the New York guess is that the Government would loan money to buy automobiles on ten year payments and at a low rate of interest! Even now congressmen are asking "Why is not the Government as justified in loaning money to buy furniture as to buy homes? But, although the effects of Newton's Law of Action and Reaction may be postponed, the law cannot be repealed. Trouble is coming someday.

I asked, if under these conditions the automobile companies would be allowed to make money for their stockholders? To this my friends answered, "Yes, because the taxes which the Federal Government collects are dependent upon these auto companies and, in fact, all other companies paying dividends."

dividuals will have to be extended and increased by the Government. RUSSIA DOES NOT NEED WAR To repeat: The Cold War will be continued until there either is a Hot War or Peace after which mass unemployment can be prevented only by the U. S. Government adopting a more or less socialistic program. Hence, Stalin figures that if he is patient he is bound to reach his goal in the end, namely, the spread of Communism throughout the world.

In the meantime, the U. S. will require vast sums: (1) For defense AND ESPECIALLY FOR THE REMOVAL OF BASIC INDUSTRIES FROM OUR BIG CITIES; (2) For subsidizing consumers purchasing power to prevent unemployment in the U. S.; (3) To bribe Europe and other nations to keep out Communism and (4) To help out domestic manufacturers facing destructive foreign competition due to the absolute necessity of reducing tariffs. SUGGESTIONS TO INVESTORS STOCKS TO AVOID: Those of companies with most of their assets in big cities; those having a high proportion of labor expense and thus very subject to labor pressure; and those which will suffer from foreign competition and imported goods.

Beauty In The Home

Q. Do you advocate squeezing a face that is infested with blackheads? A. Probably a better treatment for working blackheads out of the skin is by rubbing granular soap over the affected areas until the pores are freed of their burden.

bleach that you can recommend? A. One splendid complexion tonic is lemon juice and milk, rubbed into the face and throat before retiring at night. Q. Will you please give me a beauty mask which will help to correct a sagging chinline? A. Try placing a strip of cotton, saturated with chilled astringent, from ear to ear, and tying it firmly in place with a gauze bandage. Keep this on for 20 minutes while you relax in the "beauty position"—feet and hips higher than the head. Q. How can I add gloss to my hair? A. The beaten white of an egg added to the regular shampoo is a good way to do this.

Q. How should shadow be applied when the eyes are close together? A. Blend eye shadow outward toward the corners and into the wrinkles at the end of the eyes. Q. Is there any pre-shampoo treatment I can give to my hair? A. Comb the hair thoroughly, being sure that the teeth cover every inch of the scalp. This loosens the dandruff, which you must then brush out. Then you're ready for your liquid soap shampoo. Q. Can you give me a treatment for enlarged pores around the chin? A. Bathe this area frequently and regularly with a little lukewarm water and borax. Q. What is a good skin tonic and
