The Plymouth township commissioners, at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, spent much time considering the complaints lodged by Messrs. Both residents alleged that the dumping of waste paper there has become a menace to health to the community, as the paper is blown about the neighborhood. They charge that garbage and refuse matter has at times also been deposited on the property.
They were advised that the commissioners have no present power to control the situation, but that the good offices of the board of health may be utilized, the local fire marshal appealed to and a report to civil action and seek to have the owner restrained by court order.

Boy Discovers Store Robbery

Thieves forced an entrance into Fred G. Payne's grocery store, Germantown pike and Center avenue, Marble Hill, and escaped undetected with a supply of food and tobacco valued at $50, Wednesday night.
The robbery was discovered by Alfred Payne, 13, a pupil at Barren Hill consolidated school. About to enter the store to get loaves of bread for a morning delivery on Center avenue, the boy found a pane of glass broken in the front door and several shelves bare where canned food products had been the night before.
Two burlap sacks left behind by the robbers were the only clues; obtained Officer Harry Steinmetz, of White Marsh township police, whose home is a block away, is probing the robbery. He is endeavoring to trap the crooks by tracing the ownership of the bags.
Before breaking the glass, the thieves attempted to jimmy the door. The latter plan was dropped after the robbers succeeded in releasing an inside bolt.
The Payne dwelling and grocery store are situated about 50 feet apart.
It is believed the robbery was committed about 2 o'clock, when the owner's son-in-law, Charles Hazel who lives at the Payne home, returned here. He said he heard a noise, but attributed the source to a dog. With his arrival it is likely the visitors dropped the burlap sacks, gathered up their loot and fled.
A quantity of floor also was taken.

County Will Aid Borough

A way out of the borough's difficulty in providing funds for maintenance and improvement of the streets is offered by the county commissioners. County Commissioner Stanley R. Drake informed this newspaper that the county recognizes the difficulties experienced by boroughs in these times and the commissioners are willing to aid boroughs in street improvement programs and are desirous of providing as much employment as possible. He said, he felt sure the county would go along with the borough and give aid to the extent of 75 per cent. of the street improvement costs. This means the borough would receive a dollar's worth of work at a cost of twenty-five cents.

To secure county aid, the borough must make application designating the streets to be improved, a plan of the streets, the nature of the improvements and an estimate of the cost.

Town Council has not followed the usual procedure of the councilmen designating the street work needed in each ward with an estimate of costs and council has not adopted a program of street work for the year.

The budget provides for an expenditure of $12,000 for street work. Council, as yet, has not considered any improvement work and has authorized the street committee to spend an amount not to exceed $400 per month. This money is used in patching and cleaning. The pay roll has been kept down by reason of the Relief Committee paying wages of street workers in food.

No application has been made for county aid for streets. The county commissioners have taken the initiative in making the offer and a formal offer of aid, Commissioner Drake stated, would be made to the borough at the meeting of council next Wednesday.

The offer is most generous as the borough may designate any street, and gives the opportunity to preserve the streets which must be repaired this year or will be lost.

A cursory survey of the streets show the need for surfacing Spring Mill avenue from Poplar street to the borough line; Sixth avenue from Wood street to Colwell's lane and Harry street from Washington street to Third avenue; Third, Fifth and Sixth avenues from Harry street to Spring Mill avenue; Hollowell street from Third to Eleventh avenue and building the section for half a block between Tenth and Eleventh avenues and Wells street from Fifth to Eleventh avenue. There is also great need for bettering the condition of Washington street.

A number of side streets also need surface treatment. Were the borough to make application for $20,000 worth of work it would be committed to pay $5000. This could be easily done and still leave a balance for emergency work.

While the county commissioners cannot make a definite promise at this time as to the amount of county aid that may be given, Mr. Drake stated, he believed the county might agree to aid here to the extent of $15,000.

In applying for county aid, the borough would have to supply plans and provide the engineering services.

The offer is the most generous that has ever been made to the borough. It is the solution of the financial difficulties of the borough and council should be prepared to take advantage of it.

THE AMOURS OF THE EXOTIC ADVENTURESS- Mata Hari adapted from the motion picture by KAREN BROWN by arrangement with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR

Mata Hari, famous dancer and enemy spy, undertakes to get some secret papers from her lover, Shubin, Attache of the Russian Embassy. But Shubin has been ambushed by a visit from Dubois, head of the French Secret Service, and refuses to discuss them. Learning that the papers are in the possession of a young aviator, Alexander Rosanoff, who is infatuated with her, the dancer goes to his rooms and makes love to him while her agents abstract the papers, copy them and return them at dawn. Mata Hari then steals away to get a document from Adriana, a fellow spy, for Shubin to decode. She learns that she is followed but, once in Shubin's office, manages to hide the paper in a note on his desk.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX THE THREAT

Quite ten minutes had passed. Tired, but with a certain judgment—would it be better to go and abandon the paper to the mercy of whatever happened or to stay with in sight of it and learn what would happen?—the dancer could come to no decision. To retreat meant that it might not be possible to retrieve the pearls. In any case, it was just as likely for the old man might be questioned on her departure. He was an old fool and would surely mention the note.

"What do you hear from your son?" she inquired, starting him on a subject that was bound to be endless. "He's alive and well in a nice, quiet sector, thanks to your influence," he said fervently. "Oh, Madame, we'll never forget you for it. My wife says a prayer for you every night."

"I need it," said Mata Hari, sotto voce. "Ah, it is good to know that there are ladies so gracious who interest themselves in others," the old man went on as if a flood had been released. "You see, he is our only hope..."

When the door opened, Mata Hari was sitting with her back to it and chatting with the attendant. She looked up, naturally. The first man to enter was Dubois.

Tall and lean, with a lined face and heavy jowls, Dubois, the head of the French Secret Service, looked at a man who, once he fixed his mind on a purpose, would never desist until he attained it. It was as Shubin had said. Having set his teeth, he could not let go. For the present, he had set his teeth in Mata Hari. He had observed her from a distance for some time and had drawn plenty of inferences from her travels and her connections with others. He had plenty of information to the door of her boudoir. He considered that she had been responsible for the death of at least a regiment of soldiers. But he had no proof. And the lady was too kindly regarded in high official circles.

Another man and a woman followed Dubois who brushed the attendant aside as if he had been a flea.

"Madame, you doubtless know me. I regret to inconvenience you but we have knowledge that an important document which you ought not to possess is concealed upon your person. It will be necessary to search you."

"But it's an outrage," burst out the horrified old man with his eyes popping out of his head. You have no right on this soil... And besides the lady is a personal friend of the Colonel. She merely came in for a minute to see him. She—"

"Never mind, papa," interrupted the dancer brusquely. If he mentioned the note, she was lost. "It's no use arguing with authority. So don't upset yourself."

"But it's unheard of! It's not proper..." M. Dubois takes full responsibility. "The second secret service man pushed away the attendant."

"What must I do?" inquired Mata Hari of Dubois. The old man was left red-faced and sputtering as Dubois indicated a screen in the corner. It had been put up as an ornament and did not hide the dancer's head or shoulders. She was very calm and obliging. "I have my clothes made by Desquin," the men heard her say to the woman who conducted the search. "But they tear all the same..."

"No, only the cuffs are lined because they're very heavy. Dear me, I'm afraid not much can be hidden in a chemise."

And so it went, a stream of half-mocking comment. Meanwhile, Dubois and his companions examined the chair she had been sitting on, looked sharply over the reception room and even scrutinized the neat pile of paper on the desk. Mata Hari had been shrewd enough to return the pen and ink. They could not well go any farther. The old man stood in the doorway of the main office and protested that he would bar the way.

"The lady handed you nothing?" demanded Dubois at length. "At this moment, Mata Hari screamed. The attendant rushed to her, followed by the other two."

"It was the pin," said she, coming from behind the screen with the cuff of one sleeve raised to show the bloody streak. "You haven't any water?"

"Oh, my poor Madame! Certainly. Water. Ah, it's scandalous!" She breathed more calmly when he was busy with the water.

"Nothing, sir," replied the woman to Dubois' look of inquiry. "Sure!"

She shrugged and made it evident that she was not. "Do you do this often, M. Dubois?" inquired Mata Hari.

Conscious that the dancer had reason to gloat over him, the man replied grimly. "No, Madame, not often. Generally we just make arrests."

All three then took their departure. The attendant could not get over it. In the ensuing period which she spent with him to make sure that Dubois and his companions would not return, he apologized profoundly and declared that there would be diplomatic action. The dancer bade him not to mind. Dozens of half-formed schemes fitted through her mind, each to be rejected in turn. She was too much in the dark. For example, if one of Dubois' operatives had witnessed her meeting with Adriana, why hadn't they searched her on the way? She guessed that they did not know of the meeting. But they had had such positive information that today she might visit Shubin with an important paper that they had been ready to dance an untoward intrusion. Somewhere there must be a leak. And it came into her mind instantly. Charlotte, the girl who had committed suicide.

Shubin? No. The opportune absence could not have been timed to facilitate a search, for his own sake, if not for hers. Nor could he, after last night, have had any idea that she would approach him again.

The boldest project suited the dancer best. Almost gaily, she asked for her note back, saying that it was too serious a matter leaving notes with all these extraordinary searches, and went out. The procedure had been a shock

C.H.S. to Open Season With Radnor High

"Perk" Smith and Max Mongiello to Oppose Each Other in Opening Game Here Next Tuesday. — Local Lineup Uncertain.

Conshohocken High will open the Suburban Two League season in this borough next Tuesday afternoon when they meet Radnor High on the school athletic field. The game will bring together two of the best pitchers in high ranks, "Perk" Smith, Conshohocken's sensational left hand twirler, and Max Mongiello, ace of the Radnor hurling staff. The Main Line pitcher has already pitched a no-hit, no-run game, when his team defeated Lansdowne in a league game at Radnor on Tuesday. He was given perfect support by his mates. Smith will be working in his first game of the season. He has fully recovered his health and while prevented from getting much outside work on account of the weather conditions he has been getting as much practice as possible inside. However, he is far from being in mid-season form. His ability as a hurler has been established for the past three seasons. He is not only a dependable hurler but a heavy and consistent hitter.

Little can be said about the local team at this stage of the game. The boys were anxiously awaiting to get going towards working themselves into condition but the unfavorable weather made it impossible to use the field. As a result the local team will open the season with only a week's workout. It is hardly to be expected the boys will be able to show anything either in the fielding or batting line. There are a number of positions to be filled and Coach Grimmeret will not be in a position to make a definite selection within a week's time. Last season the team possessed some clever hitters who are sure to find themselves later in the season but there is no certainty they will be able to hit this early in the year, especially when the short training season is taken into consideration. The rivalry that existed between Conshohocken and Radnor in baseball last season and both teams will use their strongest lineup in the hope of getting the lead.

Eagles to Play Inter-Club Game

In preparation for the opening game on April 17, the Polish Eagles will play an inter-club game on the Meadow diamond Sunday afternoon when the married men will create bats with the single men. The game will start at 3 o'clock. In the annual game between these two teams last season the House of Bonedite were successful and in order to duplicate the performance on Sunday they will use Frank Rozcziak on the mound with John Rozcziak, manager of the Polish Eagles team, behind the plate. Adam Hylinski, star hurler for the Eagles, will ascend the pitching peak for the single men. Zygy Bostic, last year's captain will do the receiving. The game will mark the final preparation for the opening of the regular season on the following Sunday, when the Phoenixville Elvans Americans will furnish the opposition in this borough. All members of the Polish Eagles team are requested to report at the club house on Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock to be measured for new caps, which will be delivered in time for the opening game.

St. Matthew's High Returns To Athletics

After a Year's Suspension Parochial School Will Compete in Several Lines of Athletics. — Will Start With Base Ball.

After a year's suspension from all athletics, St. Matthew's High will again engage in athletic competition on a larger scale than before, participating in practically all branches. Lack of suitable material made it necessary for the school to withdraw from athletics during the past year but with the enrollment of new pupils in the student body and the promotion to the upper grades of other promising boy athletes it is now possible to resume athletic relations with their former opponents.

The program will start off with base ball and the school will be represented on the diamond in the coming season, playing a schedule of sixteen games, eight of which will be played on the Center athletic field, the home grounds of the team, and a like number on alien fields. Danny Redmond, former Drexel star athlete, will serve as base ball coach. He had the boys out for their initial workout Monday afternoon and ever since working until darkness intervened, rounding them into the best possible condition. Nineteen boys comprise the squad of candidates and several of them had base ball experience in the junior leagues that have flourished about town for a number of years. During the first three days out, work consisted entirely of batting and infield practice. Yesterday afternoon the squad gathered together before the practice began and unanimously elected "Reds" Logan, of Spring Mill, as captain for the coming season. Larry Butler, brother of Irv. Butler former St. Matthew's High hurling ace, and Captain Logan will bear the brunt of the pitching burden and the showing of both boys during the first week of practice has pleased Coach Redmond, who believes the two boys will be able to hold up their end against most of the high school teams. "Patsy" Bello and Jack Kehoe will form the other end of the battery, and it is believed in a very capable manner. Other positions on the team will be filled by the boys showing the most in the daily workouts until the season opens. John Tiernan has been selected as graduate manager and he is now busily engaged in arranging a schedule. He is negotiating with St. Patrick's High, of Norristown, for a game to be played on Friday of next week. If this arrangement can be completed it will be the opening game of the season. Two games have been scheduled with each of the following teams: P. I. D., Philadelphia; Marple-Newton, Broomall; St. Roberts, Chester, and St. Agnes, West Chester. The school boasts of some fine golfers and matches have been arranged with Roxborough High, Northeast Catholic High, St. Roberts, Villanova College Freshmen, Overbrook High and St. Matthew's Alumni. Proficient golfers among the student body who will uphold the colors of the school are Captain Jerry Kelly, James DeCurcio, Jack Kelly, Carl Webb and Ed. McCall. Plans have already been formulated for the organization of an athletic association, comprising the students as well as members of the Alumni for the purpose of boosting athletics in the school. Plans will be furthered at another meeting to be held in the near future. According to the program as mapped out at the present time the school will participate in base ball, basket ball, golf, tennis and track, with a possibility that a foot ball team will also be organized.

Schoolboy Hurlers Show Fine Form

Several Suburban High School League teams opened the season on Tuesday and a number of pitchers turned in high-class victories, especially when the small amount of preliminary preparation they received is considered. All teams were seriously handicapped in pre-season work-outs on account of the unseasonable weather which made the pitching records all the more sensational.

Max Mongiello, sturdy hurler on Jules Prevot's nine, turned in the best performance of any of the pitchers. Working against Lansdowne on the Main Line diamond the initial sack, Mongiello aimed at by every pitcher by blanking his opponents without a hit or run. Only four batters reached first base, all by virtue of bases on balls and only one runner got beyond the initial sack. Mongiello was given perfect fielding support by his mates. The final score was 9 to 0.

Close on the heels of the Radnor ace followed David Rittenhouse, of Norristown, pitching against Cheltenham in the opening game at the County Seat. Rittenhouse allowed but one hit and fanned twenty batters. Norristown won 6 to 0. Bill Moody, pitching for Media against Darby on the grounds of the latter team, also turned in a one-hit game to win a shut-out victory, 3 to 0. He struck out eleven of the Darby batters. Right the Darby hurler, also pitched good ball, allowing but five bingles.

"Wildcats" Prepare For Lehigh Game

Fresh from their 4 to 3 opening victory over Penn at the Main Line stadium Tuesday afternoon, Villanova will endeavor to make it two in a row tomorrow afternoon when they face Lehigh at Bethlehem.

Coach George Jacobs has not definitely decided on his regular lineup and a number of positions are still open. While the team looked good in the opening game, a couple of boots in the final innings came near losing the contest. Eddie Kobolis, ace of the Villanova hurling staff, will most likely be given the call for mound duty against the Bethlehemites. It is also likely that Czeszek will be transferred from the outfield to the shortstop position with Wronski at the keystone sack.

COLD POINT F. C. TO MEET
Cold Point Field Club will meet in a regular monthly business session at the Campbell service station, Fourtown road and Germantown pike, this evening. Plans for the opening game of the Bux-Mont Base Ball League will be furthered. Walter Campbell, president, will preside at the meeting.

"Smacs" Will Have Strong Ball Team

Former St. Matthew's High Stars Organize for Coming Season.—John Tiernan Is Manager and Johnny Murphy Coach of Team.

With an array of material that would be accepted by any manager with an acute knowledge of baseball and the abilities of the players, St. Matthew's A. C. composed mostly of former St. Matthew High school diamond athletes, have organized for the coming baseball season with John Tiernan at the helm.

Johnny Murphy, former mentor of St. Matthew high base ball teams, will coach the "Smacs." Everyone knows the success with which Murphy developed the teams at St. Matthews for four seasons and curiously enough, most of the players he will have charge of this year are the same ones he taught while they were yet in high school. Among the candidates are Irv Butler, brilliant righthand pitcher at the Blue and White institution for two years; Ed Rafferty, lanky righthander who "burned 'em over" for St. Matthews a few years ago; Jack Rafferty, one of the best hitters and third basemen ever produced at the school; Charlie Kelly, who was the best hitter on Bill Ford's nine two years ago; Bus Donnelly, star shortstop on the Murphy-coached teams; Jim Fineran, former St. Matthew star catcher and who later played at Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md.; Abby Botto, Nic Botto, George Botto, Hook Hlaser, Tim Kilcoyne, Chief Murray, "Cherry" Carolin, Joe Kehoe, Gus Ruser, Paul Donnelly, Joe and Ed McCall. Jack Kehoe and Jack Dewary will be the "Smacs" and can be reached at 321 West 10th avenue. Practice will start Saturday afternoon at the Community Center athletic field.

Pointers to Hold Practice Session

Cold Point Field Club, defending champions of the Bux-Mont League, will assemble at the Woerner diamond, Cold Point, tomorrow afternoon for a prolonged workout in preparation for the opening game which will be played against East Falls, a new member of the league. The game will be played on the grounds of the Falls team. All players desiring to try for positions on the team are asked to be on hand for practice. "Sam" Fisher is manager of the team.

Amateur Boxers Enroll for Tourney

Entries for the tri-county amateur boxing tournament that will start in the Norristown Auditorium, Monday, April 18, with Holy Sanillo, promoter, of 7 Front street, Bridgeport, Thursday, April 14.

The tournament is open to any amateur boxer in Montgomery, Chester and Bucks counties. Winners in the eight divisions will be presented with championship trophies. Virtually all the amateurs who performed in the recent Montgomery county championships will take part in the coming tri-county tournament. Amateurs from Norristown, Bridgeport, Conshohocken, Lansdale, Ambler, Willow Grove, Pottstown, Chester, Phoenixville and other communities in the three counties will participate. Semi-finals of the tournament, sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union will be held April 25 and finals, May 2.

Lewis Honored by Basket Ball Group

Phil Lewis, who twenty years ago organized the Board of Approved Basketball Officials, and has served as its only president, was re-elected for another term at the annual banquet of the organization held Wednesday evening in Philadelphia. Jimmy Thornton was chosen vice president and Philip C. Jacobs, secretary-treasurer. In recognition of his valuable services to the group President Lewis was presented with a beautiful traveling bag, the presentation being made on behalf of the members by Vice President Thornton.

An important piece of legislation was the appointment of a representative in each of Philadelphia, Montgomery, Delaware, Bucks and Berks counties to hear protests that are apt to be made from time to time. These chairmen in turn present such protests at a meeting of the league. This method is expected to save much time and eliminate considerable difficulty.

A delightful program of entertainment was rendered. William J. Scheffer, president of the Eastern Basket Ball League, who was at the head of the early leagues in which Conshohocken was a member, was the principal speaker. He gave an interesting address, dwelling on the early days of the court game and mentioned a number of former local players. William S. Irwin, Jr., of this borough, who has been a member of the organization for several years, attended the banquet and was given an award. April 18 was settled upon as the date for next year's banquet.

Proxy Banned For Voters' Registration

Unregistered Electors to Be Eligible to Vote at April 26 Primaries Must Appear in Person Before County Commissioners.

Registration of voters in Montgomery county by proxy is banned. All unregistered electors in the county, who desire to vote at the primary election April 26, must personally appear before the county commissioners and declare their party preference.

The legal necessity of a personal visitation on the part of men and women who have not yet registered and wish to do so in time to qualify for a ballot at the coming election was emphasized today in an opinion submitted to County Commissioners Ridgway, Drake and Albright by County Solicitor Henry M. Brownback.

Under the law, Mr. Brownback declared, voters are given three opportunities to register. First, when the assessors visit their homes. Second, by leaving signed certificates with the assessors when they sit at the polls 62 or 63 days before the primary election.

And third, by filing an application with the county commissioners at least 10 days before the primary election.

In the first two instances, the time is past for such enrollment but registration can still be made if unregistered electors personally visit the offices of the county commissioners and declare their party affiliation.

A practice whereby some individual or individuals go to the trouble of having voters sign registration certificates and then he or they deliver the declarations in a batch is illegal, and such a method will not be recognized, County Solicitor Brownback asserted.

Not only must an unregistered voter sign a registration certificate but the voter is required by law to personally appear before the county commissioners and have his or her name entered in the registration list.

This method is provided in the Act of May 11, 1927, County Solicitor Brownback pointed out. In setting forth that an unregistered voter may be registered by the county commissioners "at least 10 days before the primary election," the act further provided that this late registration must be done "in the same manner" as the electors are registered either when the assessors visit the home or sit at the polls 63 or 62 days before the primary election.

Pointing to the "in the same manner" phraseology of the act, Mr. Brownback interpreted it to indicate that in registering with the county commissioners unregistered voters must also "do the job in person."

Mr. Brownback's opinion also explained when one has reached the age of 21, and is not over 22, and is not enrolled, he or she may declare his or her party preference at the date of the primary.

He further pointed out if a mistake is made in registering party affiliation of an elector, the error can be corrected by filing a petition in the Court of Common Pleas at least 10 days before the primary election.

The same may be adopted by an elector who is denied the right to file any application for registration by the county commissioners.

Because of the illness of Leo Conley, of this borough, and following the presentation of a certificate from Dr. Ruth, the case against Conley, in which he is charged with keeping a gambling house, was continued until next week by Judge Knight, after the case was informed there would be no objection on the part of the officials of the district attorney's office.

Board Chooses Local Girls To Teach

(continued from page one) stated that a former lessee of the auditorium had made connections with the electric switch board and left a loose wire dangling on the stage. This he contended was a hazard to the building and the board should take precautions that there be no interference with the electric system. The superintendent was instructed to permit no changes of the electric system by lessees of the auditorium.

A request was received from the Plymouth Welfare Association for use of the auditorium for May 6 and 7, when a play will be produced and the proceeds devoted to relief work. The board granted the request and named the rate as $45, the same as paid by the American Legion.

A request was made by the combined boys committee of the Community Center and Rotary Club for the free use of the auditorium for the evening of May 5, when the boys will present a play in celebration of their work. As the auditorium is in use at that time, the request was referred to the superintendent to arrange with the committee for a suitable date. Permission was given for use of the auditorium.

Cold Rooms In order to bring the board's attention to the heating conditions in the school buildings, Mr. Roberts made a motion that the superintendent be authorized to purchase stoves for two rooms in the high school building.

Superintendent Landis explained that during the cold days in March the wind came through the window sash and through the brick walls and that the Principal suggested to the teachers using the cold rooms to transfer the classes to warmer rooms. The teachers declined the offer. Superintendent Landis said there had been no complaints from the student body.

Superintendent Landis reported there is difficulty in heating the manual training building and on one occasion had to dismiss classes for one morning owing to the cold rooms.

Reports The superintendent reported attendance in the grades for March as 1038 and in the junior and senior high schools as 692 and 50 in the continuation school, at total of 1780 equal to 94%.

The visiting nurse paid seven visits to the schools and two to homes—39 pupils were given care and advice and 206 were given hearing tests and 21 were found to be defective. 78 pupils were sent to the dental clinic and one to a medical clinic.

Twenty-eight cases of absence were investigated. Three were found to be illegal, eleven due to illness, four were due to a lack of clothing and the others were removals.

Authorization was given for repairing the retaining wall along the school property in Third avenue.

The secretary was instructed to advertise for bids for coal and for school supplies.

The treasurer reported receipts for the month as $10,446.97. Included in the account is $8171.47, State appropriation and $2230.26 in taxes. He also reported the receipt of additional taxes amounting to $1104.74. The disbursements amounted to $9430.52 leaving a balance of $2465.77.

Orders were granted for payment of bills amounting to $581.82. Mr. Wood protested to the charge of $900 for conducting the local

New Station At Norristown

Reading Company Awards Contract for Modern Passenger Station at DeKalb Street.—Building to Be of Brick.

A contract was awarded yesterday by the Reading Company for the construction of a passenger station and express building at Norristown. William Steele and Sons Company, of Philadelphia, was the successful bidder.

The main passenger station will be built on the west side of the railroad about 180 feet north of De Kalb street. Passenger platforms will be on each side of the tracks for a distance of about 900 feet, 400 feet of which will be sheltered. In addition there will be a waiting room on the east side and a connecting tunnel under the tracks between platforms.

The station building will be reached by driveway off De Kalb street near Schuylkill avenue. The driveway and parking space will be on the west side of the railroad extending the entire distance from De Kalb street to Swede street. The average width of the parking space and driveway west of the station is about 100 feet.

Platforms will also be reached by stairways from De Kalb street at the point where the railroad crosses the street on the bridge now being constructed.

The station building and waiting room will both be built of brick in the American Georgian style. In harmony with the traditions of the locality. The main building on the west side of the tracks will be about 30 feet by 100 feet, while the waiting room on the opposite side will be 10 feet by 35 feet. The station building will have a large waiting room 27 feet by 45 feet with, in addition, baggage and parcel room, women's room, restrooms, telephone room, news stand and ticket office. The exterior walls will be laid in an ornamental brick bond with ornamental terra cotta trim. The interior will have tile floor, ornamental terra cotta wainscots and decorations suitable to the style. All fittings and equipment will be the best of their respective kinds.

The express building will be built separately on the same drive as the station but at the Swede street end of the site. It will be 35 feet by 50 feet housing both offices and working and unloading spaces. It will have a platform on siding for direct handling from cars and will offer all conveniences and facilities for the efficient handling of express matters.

The site, where not paved for driveways, parking space and approaches, will be neatly graded and planted.

Confesses Robbery, Placed on Parole

Woodrow W. Grossman, 17, of Rebel Hill, who is alleged to have broken into Woerner's store, Rebel Hill, about a year ago, has returned to this vicinity and admitted the crime. The Youth has evaded the police for almost a year by fleeing to Texas, and Monday afternoon was arrested after County Detective Richard Reitsnyder. He is charged with felonious entry and larceny. On his way to Texas, Grossman said he was arrested four times for illegal car riding. Once in West Virginia, twice in Missouri, and once in Texas.

At a hearing before Magistrate White, Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Viola Woerner declined to press the charge and Grossman was released on parole for a year's period. At the present time he is living at the home of Robert Griffith, at Rebel Hill.

Court Approves New Bridges

Judge Knight approved the reports of juries of view on the inspection of completed bridges in the county, one over Middle creek on the road leading from Bassamansville to New Hanover; and also a bridge over Mill creek, on Conshohocken road, in Lower Merion township.

The members of the jury of view were Alvin C. Alderfer, Daniel M. Anders and Muscoe M. Gibson. The jury of view also reported favorably on the inspection of the site for the construction of a bridge over Sprengels run in Lower Pottsgrove township.
