FORMER LINDEN HALL GIRL RECEIVES MUCH COMMENT

"Stella Dallas" broke all attendance records at the Grand Theatre at Lancaster, last week. Following is one of the newspaper comments:

"Lois Moran, the Linden Hall school girl, gives a portrayal of 'Laurel', in 'Stella Dallas,' that is nothing short of marvelous. Her role is most difficult, inasmuch as she convincingly enacts the unsophisticated girl of ten and, later, the grown-up daughter of 'Stella Dallas.'

BIG BARN STRONGLY BUILT

The new barn on the Herman Metzler farm, west of Lititz is almost completed and tobacco is being stored in it. The barn is a fine mechanical piece of work, the heavy timbers being dovetailed and pinned together. Samuel Habecker and force of carpenters are the builders. It is built for permanency and should easily stand for the next hundred years, if not destroyed by unnatural conditions.

The barn is 82 by 46 feet with an adjoining tobacco shed 62 x 32 feet. It is covered entirely with slate roofing. The material was furnished by W. H. Muth. One of the features of the barn is the ventilating system.

Mr. Habecker has just completed building a residence for William Milksch and next week will start work on Robert Pfautz's new home.

Rapid progress is being made on the new barn on the Mrs. Abram Minnich farm.

Fire Tower Near Cornwall Covers 10-County District

By LeRoy Barc

Cornwall Tower, owned and operated by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, is situated in Penn Township, Lancaster county, directly on the Lancaster and Lebanon county line. The tower is 65 feet high and stands 1,200 feet above sea level.

The glass enclosed top is seven feet square and contains equipment for detecting, locating and reporting forest fires which occur anywhere within range of the tower. Communication with the fire fighting forces is secured thru the Lebanon exchange of the Bell Telephone Company. A towerman is stationed there during the months of April, May, October and November. The danger of fires during these four months is greater than any other time during the year.

Visitors may reach Cornwall tower by a mountain trail, from Penryn Park; or by auto and trail from the state road leading from the Lebanon pumping station towards Lebanon. After leaving Poplar Run watch for a sign on the right hand side of the road reading "Cornwall Tower."

Turn left at this sign, on a mountain road. If you wish to attempt the drive to the tower, take road marked "autos". If you prefer to hike, take path marked "hikers." Those who prefer leaving their machines and hiking to the tower, should not park in the road marked "autos" as it may block another person from going up or down the road. Park your auto in the path for "hikers" or draw up along the side of the state road. This is important.

Cornwall Tower is the only one in District No. 17, commonly known as the Valley Forge District. This district comprises all of Lancaster, Chester, Delaware, Philadelphia, Bucks and Montgomery counties, as well as the greater part of Dauphin, Lebanon and Berks and Lehigh counties. District headquarters are maintained at Harrisburg and District Forester is George H. Wirt, who is also the chief Forest Fire Warden of Pennsylvania.

More than 450 visitors were recorded at this tower during May of this year.

Minnich, of Lititz, Pa., who had been married fifty years, on October the 5th, were surprised when their children and grandchildren numbering forty-three, called at their home to spend the evening. USED HEAD FOR BATTERING RAM AT LEXINGTON HOTEL

Constable Jacob Singley on Monday arrested Stephen Grumbling, Walter Blantz and Martin Blantz, charged with assault and battery at the Lexington Hotel on Sunday. They gave bail for a hearing before Squire C. N. Derr.

The trio are alleged to have played holo-jack. It is said Mrs. Althouse was hit by a flying fist. The panel of a door was splintered when one of them used his head as a battering ram. Outsiders mixed in, resulting in blackeyes, according to eye witnesses.

Airman, Once Employed Here, Is Killed in Philadelphia

Clarence Markham, at one time an air pilot here, met death in the same way as his former employer, Robert Behmer, of Lititz, by crashing to death at Philadelphia on Monday afternoon. Two student fliers were with him and were also instantly killed.

Markham was flying on the field on the Roosevelt Boulevard, and on a descent at 800 feet, the wings of the plane seemed to buckle as the machine came out of a loop. The bodies of the three men were terribly mangled.

Markham, whose home was at Vine-land, N. J., was here at different times while Robert Behmer was in the flying business, boarding at Lititz. He was last seen in Lititz two years ago, when he and another aviator named Jaines assembled two planes which had been stored here.

Around Our Town

A Washington, D. C. reader of the Record sent us this new arithmetic puzzle. If you are a mathematician figure out the cause and effect of it. It has us puzzled, we'll admit. Here it is:

Add the year of birth,
Add age,
Add year of marriage,
Add number of years married.
The answer will be 3852.

It was worked out by a man in Berlin and certainly is remarkable. Try it out. If the total is not correct, a mistake was made in giving the wrong dates.

Ed. Note—After this was put in type we now see the whys and wherefores. Simple to see why the total is always the same—when one has solved it. Study it out.

Twelve years ago Paul Kauffman, a baker at this place, knowing that a well-known telephone repairman living at Akron, had a liking for cinnamon cakes, promised to deliver some to him. It was a standing joke between them, but to the Akron man's surprise, Mr. Kauffman delivered the cakes by auto last week. They were doubly good, said the recipient, after having his appetite sharpened by a twelve years' wait.

Policeman Kreider who lost a large amount of money in town last week has not heard a whisper concerning it. Some person is dishonest. It seems, from our experience, that when money is lost on the streets, it is returned less than 40 per cent of the time. Some one who has the money is going to feel mean and miserable, if not now, later on—spending money that at heart the person knows some one is honestly entitled to. It is a real test as to a person's makeup. Keeping it with the idea that no one will ever know or give up what never belonged to one.

Diogenes looked for an honest man. History says he failed to find him. To make his search more complete, he carried a lamp in his hunt.

So people are pretty much the same the world over. One can't help but appreciate a real honest person.

A truckload of bananas was disposed of at the Warwick House Sale last Saturday. Late-ly bananas have been selling well there, and find plenty of buyers, people finding them a cheap food.

A missionary returning to this county stated that few people know how to eat bananas. The fibre, or fuzzy substance left on the fruit after it is peeled, should be scraped off. She stated that not even savages would eat a banana without doing this. This fibre, it is claimed, is what causes bananas to be hard to digest.

ENTERTAINED AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

A birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Behmer, Lititz R. D. 4, on Saturday, October 9th. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Behmer and daughter Eva, Mr. and Mrs. Addison Felker, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Felker and daughter Vivian, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Caskey, Gertrude Felker, Clair Eckman, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Lecking and children and Roy Stauffer, May Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Behmer and daughter Reba May, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Smith Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kauffman and children Robert and Edna, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Herman and children, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Jewell and son John, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spray and children Cleo and Minerva, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ritter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Behmer and children Fred and Jean.

Refreshments were served.

PAPAWS ARE RIPE

Just now papaws are ripe. It used to be sport for the small boy to go to the country for papaws. Some people relish them while others complain that they give them a rash.

The small tree or bush grows wild in the hills but is easily cultivated.

It is often called the Indian papaw and sometimes the northern banana, and grows native from Kansas to New York and southward.

APPLES FROM DR. STENGEL'S ORCHARD IN WASHINGTON

Dr. F. W. Stengel has on exhibit in Hensel's drug store window, two apples from his ranch at Oroville, Wash. They are of the winter banana variety, one of them weighing 17 ounces and came from four-year-old trees.

The winter banana originated in Missouri. An orchardist started trees from seeds, for grafting stock. He noticed that one tree looked different from the others and out of curiosity decided not to graft it, but see what variety it would produce. It turned out to be the now popular winter banana, grown extensively in the northwest. It thrives well in this state and there are some trees of this variety in Lititz. Jacob Hertzler, of Locust street, has a young tree, which will yield about eight bushels of winter bananas.

World's Series To New York Like Band Concerts are to Lititz

By TOM DUSSINGER

A World Series to New York City is as common as our Saturday night band concerts. The big town is usually referred to as base and indeed it is.

This pencil navigator was in New York for the final chapters of the big baseball show. New York was not "het up" about this series. They are used to them. Going about the city where Time and Taxis wait for no man, we heard many frank utterances concerning the classic. Especially was this true after the Saturday game, when St. Louis mopped up the Stadium with the Yanks, in that 10-2 game.

Down on Broadway on Saturday night the air was thick with remarks concerning the playing and outcome of the game. Also in the hotel lobbies, where the sportsmen get together and discuss the world's sports we heard much talk about "St. Louis had to win so as to draw the big Sunday crowd." Figure it out for yourself. However we enjoy the sidelights of the series almost more than the games. We had a fine seat on the mezzanine floor, opposite the press box, and just across from Graham Macnamee, the radio announcer.

The Yankees made their appearance on the field first, minus Ruth of course. The Babe always takes up the whole picture himself, so he arrived later. When Babe appeared, the Seventh Regiment Band struck up the tune "Along Came Ruth," and then switched to "Bye, Bye Blackbird" which is Babe's favorite song.

The Big Boy was besieged by autograph seekers from the time he entered until the game began. Gertrude Ederle stepped out on the field and Babe very graciously bowed to the channel conqueror and shook her hand. He autographed her score card. The crowd gave them a lusty hand. "Trudy" smiled her famous smile and took her seat. Then there was Gene Tunney, who recently became World's Heavyweight Champion and Judge Landis, Czar of base ball, in boxes along the first and third base line respectively. Many other celebrities were there to add to the color of the series. That's one nice thing about being at a World Series—if one doesn't see a good game, one gets to see a lot of old friends, such as were mentioned.

Of course there were some bright spots here and there. The superb pitching of the venerable Grover Cleveland Alexander, Lester Bell's home run, the wonderful somersault catch by Southworth, the hitting of Bob Meusel and Babe, of course, came thru with his fourth homer of the series and also made a beautiful catch and then there was the excellent short stopping by Thevenow.

Well it's all over now till next April.

Some fishermen were on an island in the Susquehanna at Fite's Eddy, fishing. They saw a strange-looking animal on the Lancaster county side of the river. EPHRATA MILK BUSINESS EXPANDS

F. S. Miley, proprietor of the Fairview Dairy, Lake street, Ephrata, is building additions to his already large milk station and dairy at that place. These additions are to house new machinery which will be installed in the very near future for the complete manufacture of ice cream, and cottage, cup, pimento and soft cream cheese.

Mr. Miley started in the dairy business five years ago without one customer. Today he has four wagons and 3 trucks on the road daily, delivering to customers in Ephrata, Murrell, Lincoln, Akron, Rothsville, Reamstown, Denver, and Adamstown.

On Saturday, Sept. 18th, Ed Rank of Lititz started a new milk route at this place, serving milk and cream from Mr. Miley's dairy.

These routes distribute about 2,500 quarts of pasteurized milk daily, besides a large quantity of cream, butter milk and chocolate-milk.

All the milk handled is pasteurized with a modern apparatus and the handling and washing of bottles is by machinery that makes the operations quite sanitary.

Quail and Grouse are Plentiful in State

Sportsmen Predict Best Hunting Season in a Quarter of a Century

The best hunting in a quarter of a century in Pennsylvania during the coming months was predicted by sportsmen who met in Philadelphia last week at the convention of the Izaak Walton League, Pennsylvania Division.

There are more quail in Pennsylvania than at any time within the memory of the middle-aged hunter, they reported. Two hatchings were noted in the southern part of the State, and both came thru in fine shape. Even in the northern tier of counties quail are plentiful.

In the grouse belt extending across the State from Elks county to Pike county, hunters predict a most favorable season, though last year was most unsatisfactory. English pheasants, too, they said, had increased rapidly during the last few years.

Rabbit Season Shortened

The rabbit season, which this year has been shortened by two weeks, finds so many rabbits at large that no hardship will result from the limited period, sportsmen said. Deer are very numerous, so much so that a record killing of legal bucks was forecast.

Changes in the hunting season will work to advantage, such as the shortening of the rabbit season to end on November 30, as to big-game hunting and overlapping of the rabbit season on their hunting season has always been a source of annoyance. It will also conserve the stock and the Izaak Walton League, thru its membership, has issued requests to hunters not to overkill and always leave some rabbits in the fields.

The grouse season was reduced to two weeks instead of continuing thru November, because a canvass made of the grouse hunting districts revealed a decline in their numbers. Some

EGGS—AND MORE EGGS

Remember the good old days when there were only two kinds of eggs—good or bad? There were no shades, no varieties, no particular desire on the part of anyone to establish "grades."

That's all changed now. A chain grocery store in New York has just added this sign to its collection relating to eggs: "Eggs—fresh-laid by young chickens." The exclamation point seems to indicate that the last word has been said. Other distinctions familiar to New Yorkers are "New-laid up-state Eggs," "Fresh barn yard Eggs," "Strictly fresh Western Eggs," "White Eggs for invalids," and a dozen others.

Old-timers and folks who aren't so finicky will wonder just why it is necessary to advertise the age of the egg producers. A good old hen who led a respectable life should be able to produce as delicately flavored breakfast eggs as any flapper pullet.

It's all a matter of a few pennies lured from our pocketbooks into the coffers of the grocer. These fancy phrases can't have any other purpose, because it is the tendency these days to be willing to pay a little more under the impressions that the purchaser is getting the best the market affords.

One sighs for the good old days when a good egg was to be eaten and a bad one to be taken out and buried.

Are You "Toxic?"

It Is Well, Then, to Learn the Importance of Good Elimination.

FUNCTIONAL inactivity of the kidneys permits a retention of waste poisons in the blood. Symptoms of this toxic condition are a dull, languid feeling, drowsy headaches and, sometimes, toxic backache and dizziness. That the kidneys are not functioning as they should is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many readers have learned the value of Doan's Pills, stimulant diuretic to the kidneys, in this condition. Users everywhere endorse Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

sportsmen proposed closing the State entirely to grouse hunting for one or two years, but it is hoped that this can be avoided.

However, the Izaak Walton League, which was the medium for disseminating the results of its members surveys, view with alarm a decrease in the number of bear this season. They are not plentiful, and members fear for a closing of bear hunting in the State if preliminary reports prove correct. The third of the important changes to be made this year was the decision to close the State as a whole on certain varieties of game, instead of allowing certain counties to remain open. If the State is closed to bear shooting no exceptions will be made.

Wild Turkeys Protected

For the first time in years quail, brim-neck and other game may be hunted in every county in Pennsylvania. The Hungarian partridge and the wild turkey, however, are protected this year, a measure intended to allow a natural increase in the stock.

"Kill every fox and wildcat you run across," the league has instructed its members. "They do more harm to the grouse than the guns."

"Use dogs to hunt and retrieve English pheasants, for they can carry a heavy load of shot and may be lost and die; and don't forget, killing hen birds is illegal. Don't overkill the rabbits.

"The law against shooting baby bear will be strictly enforced, and since any bear under knee high is almost certain to be a cub, the simplest rule to follow will be "Don't shoot at any bear under knee-high." Larger bear are yearlings or full grown.

"It is unlikely that there will be this year an extra season on doe deer, as in 1925."

BOSTON HAD THE FIRST FIRE ENGINE IN AMERICA

The first fire engine introduced into America was received at Boston from England about 247 years ago.

It was a strong cistern of oak placed on wheels, furnished with pumps, air chambers and a suction pipe of strong leather. In case the suction could not be used the water was supplied to the container by buckets passed from hand to hand.

It required three men to work the pump and direct the nozzle. Few improvements were made in the method of fighting fires, until the middle of the last century, when the steam fire engines were introduced, the first successful one being used in Cincinnati in 1853, and in a few years most of the larger cities had one or more of these.

It was about this time that the present department system of fire fighting was introduced. But there need be no doubt that the Boston small boys of 1879 took as much delight in running after the fire engine as does his modern successor—only of course, he did not have to run so fast, nor so far.

Cincinnati seems to have led in the organization of paid fire departments, as in 1858 that city had 100 firemen on its payroll, who each received a salary of $60 per month.

STATE TREE SUPPLY

More than 20,000,000 trees, or in excess of twice the number that have at any time been available for reforestation work will be ready for distribution this fall and next spring, the State Department of Forests and Waters announced. This number of trees is sufficient to reforest 20,000 acres of land.

Of the total number of trees available the Clearfield nursery had approximately 9,500,000; the Mont Alto nursery 4,000,000; the Rockview nursery about 2,500,000; the nursery at Greenwood Furnace and that at the Huntingdon Industrial School more than 2,000,000 each. In addition to these trees, which are seedlings, the department will have 175,174 transplanted trees and about 5,000 shade and ornamental varieties for distribution. The seedlings available for planting include the following: white pine, 5,782,000; Scotch pine, 4,154,400; red pine, 3,850,000; Norway spruce, 2,623,500; European larch, 1,046,500; pitch pine, 1,016,000; red oak, 692,000; white spruce, 600,000; black locust, 130,000; tulip poplar, 109,000; other trees, 430,358.

Primitive Ways in Persia

When Persian women walk abroad at night a servant carrying a primitive lantern precedes them through the unlighted streets, just as was done in medieval times.

MUST PACK APPLES ACCORDING TO LAW

Approximately 1,200 carloads of apples will be packed and shipped this year under the new Pennsylvania grades, the department of agriculture announced last week. Twenty inspectors of the bureau of markets are at work inspecting apples in the important shipping districts of Adams, Bedford, Cumberland, Franklin, Lancaster, Perry, Snyder and York counties. Reports indicate the fruit is of high quality.

GANG OF ILLEGAL DEER KILLERS ARRESTED

Ten pot hunters in the territory of the Seven mountains, were arrested and fined $100 each and costs and had their hunting license revoked for two years. Warrants for the arrest of several others who broke the law are also out.

Some of the men belonging to the gang live in Lock Haven and several small villages near Millheim. They had been systematically killing deer for several months and it is claimed ed some of them sold their share of the spoils in the form of sausage.

With the use of a powerful spot light and high powered rifles, the shooting of deer at night is a very simple matter. The dead deer are taken to a barn near Millheim, where a complete butchering outfit was installed, where the skinning, cleaning and dividing of the meat took place. It is estimated that more than thirty-five deer were killed this summer by this gang.

MYERTOWN MAN TELLS OF STRANGE EXPERIENCES IN PERU

Dr. Harvey Bassler recently wrote a letter to a friend in Myerstown, Lebanon county, his old home town, from Peru, where he is engaged in research work. Dr. Bassler has relatives in Lititz.

Dr. Bassler writes that he captured a nine foot boa constrictor, while in the jungle which he took to the zoo at his headquarters, where it escaped. Several days later, a commotion was heard down the street. His party went to investigate and found a four foot boa constrictor in an open ditch in the town. Near the same place another boa, much larger in size, was captured. The natives killed it and cut it up for its fat. This one was of the same size as the one Dr. Bassler has been exhibiting in the main hall of the Myerstown High School building.

A panther that had attacked a half-grown horse in Iquitos, was treed by dogs and shot. The skin was bought by one of Dr. Bassler's men, while he bought a four pound sirloin and treated the men to a feast of panther meat.

Pick and Cure Seed Corn

Seed corn cures best if picked in the field and hung up in a building where it is sure to receive a free circulation of air around each ear. Be sure the corn is well cured before hard freezes come, say State College farm crops specialists.

Good Feeding Pays

Feed dairy cows enough to get paying supply of milk. Every cow needs a certain amount of feed to maintain her system. Feed above that amount for milk production. Get a profitable yield from each cow by proper feeding.

Divide Rhubarb This Fall

If your rhubarb has been decreasing in yield with stalks getting smaller and the whole plant less vigorous, it may be time to divide the crowns. This work should be done every five or six years and may be satisfactorily accomplished in the fall. As soon as the tops have died down, dig up the roots, chop into several pieces with a spade, providing at least one bud to each piece of root and replant three to four feet apart in the row.

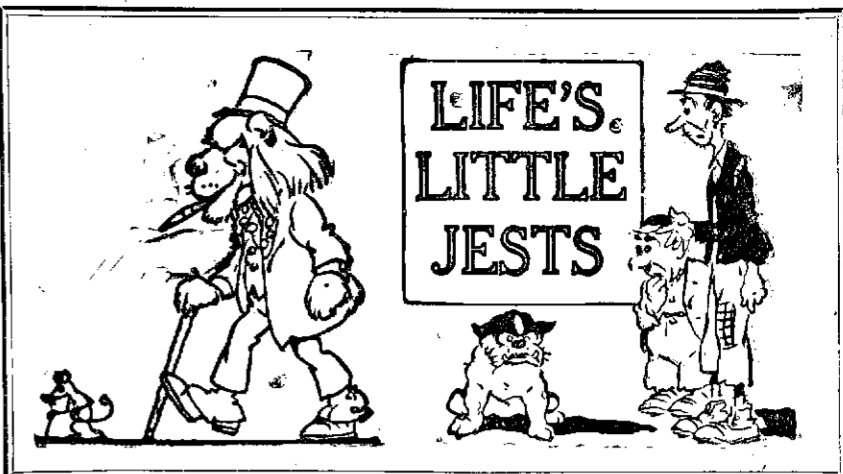

Put Pullets in Quarters

To avoid the losses of a fall molt among the pullets, be sure they are in winter quarters before they start laying. Ventilate well on warm fall nights. Observe regular feeding habits. Keep the birds fat. An abundance of green food and exercise are essential.

Protect Plowshares

When thru using the plows put some grease on the shares. It will prevent rusting and save a lot of inconvenience in the spring.

HIS VIEW OF IT

"Do you think that a commercial career is to be compared to a literary career?" asked the high-browed and melancholy youth.
"My boy," said Mr. Cumrox, "in business you can write your name on a piece of paper no bigger than a postal card and make it worth thousands of dollars. In literature you can write up reams of paper without making it worth 50 cents."

Cold Calculation

"Have you had any great disappointments in your political career?"
"Several," answered Senator Sorghum. "The people I depend on go back on me occasionally. But I don't mind. Every time you lose an influential friend you get rid of the obligation to intercede for an office for himself or a relation."—Washington Star.

EFFICIENCY

"Men never fight duels over women any more?"
"Not any more—the lady just shoots the one she doesn't want."

The Way to Forget

If you were busy being glad, And cheering people who are sad, Although your heart might ache a bit, You'd soon forget to notice it.

The Only One

"Mr. McClintock," shouted his better half, "I want you to take your feet off of the parlor table."
"Mrs. McClintock," he said, in a fixed, determined voice, "I allow only one person to talk to me that way."
"And who is that?" she demanded.
"You, my dear," he replied softly, as he removed the pedes.

Woman of Definite Moods

"But won't your mother be angry when she sees the state of your new suit?" inquired the neighbor woman after the accident with the garden hose.
"Yes," replied the small boy. "I'm afraid she will. She's very emotional about things like that."

Lady Wanted the Road

"You seem to have had a serious accident."
"Yes," said the bandaged person, "I tried to climb a tree in my motor car."
"What did you do that for?"
"Just to oblige a lady who was driving another car. She wanted to use the road."

Aunty Has the Goods

LITTLE Alice—Aunt Jane, can I read those letters upstairs in your trunk. The ones tied with blue ribbons?
Aunt Jane—No, but if you're a good girl I'll take you to the courthouse next week and you can hear my lawyer read them.

STRONG MAN

"Strongest man in the world, eh?"
"Yep—held up a train."

The Hypochondriac

"He is a man of wonderful robustness," said the pharmacist.
"But he has taken every kind of medicine he could get hold of," said his assistant.
"Yes, and he has survived them all."—Washington Star.

A Bust, Anyway

Father—You kept the car out rather late last night, son. What delayed you?
Son—Had a blowout, dad.
Father—Huh! Tire or roadhouse!

Warning

"Am dat a sixty-dollar suit, Jackson?"
"It am; an de man what steals it gets sixty days."

Optimism

"I won't have Mr. Jones kissing you like that, Mabel."
"But, dad, give him a chance. He's only just beginning."

Persona Non Grata

He—Would you like to dance this one?
She—Yes. Would you mind hunting up a partner for me?

A Remedy

Wife—Chess teaches women silence. Husband—Buy a set tonight. There's a shop on your way home.

A BACK NUMBER

A Cincinnati woman relates that a visiting Eastern friend expressed surprise at finding her reading the Old Testament.
"I don't see anything so strange about it," remarked the lady of the house.
"Why, my dear, don't you know that the Old Testament is away out of date?" replied the friend. "They have a New Testament now."

Words of Great Men

"I never hear you quoting from the words of Thomas Jefferson."
"I'm like a lot of people," answered Senator Sorghum. "I know that what Jefferson wrote was splendid and full of patriotic inspiration. When I try to recall his exact words, I get as far as 'When, in the course of human events,' and then my memory becomes confused."—Washington Star.

NO SCANDAL

"They say there's never been a breath of scandal about Grace."
"Well—she cats clothes to kill the breath—maybe."

His New Discoveries

"My husband appreciates me more than he used to."
"How did that happen?"
"Well, you see, he went to an Intelligence office to hire a girl, and in describing me to her he impressed himself with a lot of my good qualities he hadn't before noticed."

Forgot One Thing

A farmer was accused of having slandered his neighbor.
"Did you call him a rogue and a liar?"
"Yes, I did."
"And did you call him a thief?"
"No, I forgot that!"

MIND GONE

"So you think our friend the old barkeep has lost his mind entirely?"
"Yes; just sits and sings all day, 'When the swallows come again.'"

Cause of Lumbering Gait

'Tis neither strange nor odd I beg To hereby tersely state, That he who wears a wooden leg Should have a lumbering gait.

"May I have the last dance with you?"
"You've just had it," she said sweetly, as she wiped her shoes.

HARVEST TIME

Modern town-bred folks do not appreciate the harvest idea. To them the word "harvest" suggests merely some kind of cinch where everyone pays in good money to them without making much effort. But that style of harvest is scarce.

If you want to see a real harvest, go out into the country districts of Lititz and shake hands with those horny fist-ed fellows and ask them how it is. They will tell you how for six months they have been laying awake nights for fear of this or that thing happening and a good deal of the time it did happen.

However, there is usually some left, and it is some happy day when the last end of it is rolled into the barn.

THE RISK OF FOOTBALL

"How about the risk the boys take in football?" a parent asked a prominent school principal not long ago.

"Yes, there is some risk about it," was the reply. "It is not so much as some people think. But there is also a lot of risk in not playing. These boys who have nothing to occupy their spare time, take more serious risks than those who are working off their energy in football."

Everything considered it is a highly risky thing being a boy. A lot of them get into trouble. But those who are working up physical ability in some good sport like football, even if they take chances of getting hurt, will come out healthier and better able to stand the strains to which they will be subjected later, than those who are carefully shielded and protected that they never acquire physical and moral stamina.

THE COLLEGE STUDENT

If you want to see American youth at its highest point of self confidence and exuberance, visit one of the men's colleges about the time the fall term opens.

The sense of escape from home supervision, the feeling that now they are men and can do as they please, stirs their enthusiasm, which they express by their ecstatic rah-rahing, and no end of singing and jollification. It is a great thing to be young and people perhaps never again reach that height of happiness.

To let them tell it, they know a great deal. Probably more than they ever will again. But it is pleasant to see all this energy and vitality. After four years of this experience they will quiet down, and their energy will make them a force for better citizenship here in Pennsylvania. But they should realize that much will be expected in return for their wonderful opportunities.

COLUMBUS A GO-GETTER

Columbus Day was celebrated on Tuesday. Christopher Columbus, the Italian navigator, stood shoulder high above the other navigators. He visualized an unknown country and deliberately planned to chart a new world.

Four hundred and thirty-four years ago, when the old world was steeped in the superstition that a ship would drop off the rim of the world, Columbus showed them that he had a mind that was wide open to the consideration of facts.

He placed his own belief above that of the scientists of the time and backed by courage and spirit, he found America.

Columbus showed qualities which are needed today. He teaches the lesson of thinking for oneself, and the courage of following ones own convictions. His ideas, by getting out of the rut of superstition and prejudice, led to progress.

This is true in government affairs, science, business and what not.

The spirit of discovery and go-getter is always needed. The discovery of America is not such a long time ago, considering the history of the world. Yet since then the world has speeded up. Electricity and steam have been harnessed. The route taken by Columbus in his slow sailing vessel required months to cross from continent to continent. Fulton shortened it with steam, the ocean cable and then the wireless cut down the time to seconds.

Columbus was the advance guard of the new spirit of free thought and discoveries.

The two organizations were working together for the improvement of the Hull's Tavern road and since this is accomplished they have reason for mutual rejoicing. Representatives of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation are expected to be present at this meeting. Motion pictures of the highways of Pennsylvania will be shown. After the business session a luncheon will be served. Get your member and be present at the meeting on Friday evening at Manheim.

Holy Matrimony

MEISKEY—HERR

Richard H. Meiskey, of Lititz, and Miss Mary M. Herr, of Manheim were married Friday by John F. Burkhardt, authorized licentiate of the Baptist church. This was the first ceremony performed in the Alderman's new offices at Lancaster.

TURKEY CROP ENCOURAGING

The prospects of the Lancaster County housewife for preparing a home-bred turkey for Thanksgiving or Christmas are brighter than for some years. On many of the farms there can be seen large flocks of this variety of fowl, and if nothing happens, the Lancaster county breeders will supply a large part of the trade for the holidays. The raising of the turkeys depends largely on the weather for a rainy spring will kill the small fowl, which are not able to withstand a great deal of dampness. While there was an abundance of rain this summer, it came too late to do much harm to the growing "youngsters." The gapes, a disease common among this breed, was missing to a great degree this summer. At one time the turkeys were almost considered as a wild bird on many of the farms, they caring themselves until rounded up near the barn. Now they are bred and raised in many instances as carefully as the chickens, with the result that the turkey is now considered as a "meat" and not a "game bird."

OBITUARY

She was a member of the Neffsville Lutheran church. Besides her husband she is survived by her father, John S. Bowers, 93, who resided with her, and four sons, Walter, George, Harry and Charles, of Neffsville. One brother, Albert Bowers, of Lancaster, also survives. Funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon from the late home, and at the Neffsville Lutheran church. Interment was in the Silver Springs cemetery.

Isaac Stauffer
Isaac Stauffer, 40, of Manheim R. D. 5, died at St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday night at 6 o'clock, from the effect of injuries received on Wednesday, Sept. 29, when he fell from the top of a hay loft in his barn on his farm. The man lost his balance in some way while working on the loft and fell to the floor, 20 feet below. He is survived by his wife and four children, Noah, Homer, Vera and Anna, at home. One brother, John, of Palmyra, and one sister, Mrs. John Heller, of Eden, also survive. Services were held on Monday afternoon at the home and at Chiques church. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery.

Mrs. Fianna Reidenbach
Mrs. Fianna R. Reidenbach, widow of A. B. Reidenbach, died on Friday night at 11:40 o'clock at her home on East Main street, Lititz, from infirmities due to advanced age, after an illness of four days, in her 90th year. She was born at Rome and lived in Lititz the greater part of her life. She was a member of the Moravian church. Her husband died in 1909. Six children, Rev. Otis Reidenbach, of Lake Mills, Wisconsin; Elmer of Philadelphia; Mrs. Alice Milch-sack, Bethlehem; Ira, of Pittsburgh; Harry, New York, and Mary at home, survive. Nineteen grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren also survive. Services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the home, with interment in the Moravian cemetery.

SUPPLYING THE WINTER FUEL

In a short time the ring of the ax and the whir of the saw will be heard on many of the farms of rural Lancaster. Here a large quantity of wood is used for fuel during the winter months, and the supply is usually gathered and supplied after the corn is cut. Practically all the large farms have a tract of woodland and from this tract of woodland the winter's supply of fuel is usually gathered. The trees selected for this purpose are usually cut the winter before and allowed to dry during the summer. They are then hauled to the barnyard and cut into lengths with the saw attached to the gasoline engine. Before the farms were equipped with these pieces of modern machinery, the sawing had to be done by hand, requiring many more days than it does at present. Several cords of wood, or a supply sufficient to last during the winter can now be sawed into proper lengths in a few hours. While many farmers use coal to some extent, a scarcity of this product causes little worry, owing to the extensive use of wood as fuel.

BOY SCOUTS

JOTTIDOWN SAYS SOMETHING

A Scout is Courteous
In every day life, we miss something which once was quite common, but seems that it has gone forever. And that is courtesy.

The woman is no longer held in much respect. It seems the slogan of many is "Me first, let the other guy follow." Of course life is speeded up as a result of the progressive business of America, and men are in a hurry to get where they want to go in the shortest time possible. But it does not take long to excuse oneself when he goes tramping over other's feet, or upsetting somebody when in a hurry.

A Scout is taught to be courteous to women, children and old people. He is always ready to help the weak and the helpless, and for any courtesy shown he must not accept pay of any kind. For, when once courtesy is put on a commercial basis, it loses its value, and the age of Chivalry will have disappeared for all time.

Scout Jottidown (KWK)

A Scout Is Kind
In the unrelenting onrush of progress, many virtues are being trampled under foot. Kindness, like courtesy is being sacrificed to the great god of Progress. Business in its headlong plunge, drives all before it, dealing cruelly with those who break under the strain and entirely disregarding those who are struggling hard to hold their own.

How many evidences of cruelty to animals we have found. A man beating a horse or other dumb beast of burden because it did not and could not pull a heavy load. Since machinery has taken the place of animals for power, such things are not heard as much of. But the many murders and robberies which one reads about attest the hard-heartedness of humanity.

Scouting may be termed a sort of reform, starting with young minds and teaching them to be kind to the helpless and weak, and to the dumb animals, and to do all he can to protect them.

Scout Jottidown (KWK) Beaver Patrol, Troop 2

Other things sold as follows: 35 bushels apples, 65 to 80 cents; 3 baskets quinces, $1.25 to $1.45; grapes, 60 cents; 30 bunches bananas, 60 to $1.20; 35 pumpkins, 5 to 10 cents; 28 lbs. Bologna, 28 cents; broom, 40 cents; 28 shirts, $1.50 to $1.85; 6 umbrellas, $1 to $1.20; 2 couches, $1.25 to $1.75; 2 rockers, $1.25 to $2.25; sink, $4; 6 lumber jacks, $1.70 to $2.25; Ford, $85.

PREPARING FOR THE WINTER

These are busy times for the housewives of rural Lancaster County, in fact much depends on the labors performed now by those who will be called upon to serve the typical country meals during the time the rural sections are in the grip of the winter's storms. Now is the time the corn has to be dried, catsup cooked, apple butter boiled and numerous other commodities prepared to be stored for use during the winter. The garden vegetables are placed in jars, and in a short time the cabbage will be cut and stored. A housewife in the rural sections who does not have the shelves in the cellar filled with jars of vegetables and fruit is considered derelict in her duties. Along with these are many glasses of jellies and jams, all entering into the preparation for use during the off season.

RARE SUGAR DISCOVERED

By a chemical process known as acetylation, the bureau of Standards has discovered a very rare sugar known as gentiobiose, which although it is considered of no commercial value at this time, it is expected to prove valuable to industrial chemists in working out problems in the manufacturing of corn sugar.

The new form of sugar is an extract of the waste liquor known as hydroly which results from the manufacture of crystalline corn sugar or dextrose, and has caused apprehension in the sugar industry because of its quantity and undesirable influence on the duration of the manufacturing process and sugar yield. The name gentiobiose was given to the by-product because up to this time the gentian root had been known as the only source.

Two-Story Construction That Has Conveniences of One-Story House

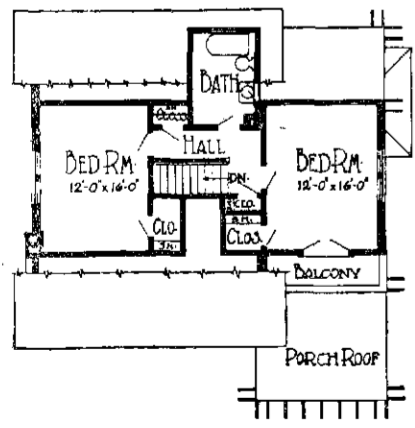

First Floor Plan.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give ADVICE FREE OF COST on all problems pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on the subject. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie Avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Inexpensive, two-story construction, with one-story convenience, that is an objective which seems a bit difficult to achieve in a small home and yet it can be done if one is not too literal in his interpretation of what is meant. Just how would we go about it to get this result? Well, the simplest way is to take a look at the plans which accompany this description. Modify them to suit yourself, and then go ahead. Yes, here is a two-story house which offers most of the convenience of the bungalow.

It is a small house, and yet not too small for a fair-sized family, for it contains six rooms and an enclosed sun porch. There are really two front entrances, one door opening into the living room and another into the sun porch. These two rooms occupy the front portion of the house. The living room is a large one, 23½ feet by 13 feet with the fireplace at one end. The sun porch is slightly set back from the line of the living room and is square, being 12 feet each way. Directly back of it is the dining room. Doorways open from this sun porch into both dining room and living room and there is a door from the living room into an interior hallway. From this hall the dining room, kitchen, first floor bedroom and lavatory, and the stair to the upper floor are reached.

Yes, there is a first-floor bedroom and lavatory and it is these which give the house its bungalow convenience. They are placed in one corner where they neither interfere with the other rooms nor are disturbed by the activities of the living portion of the home. Between the bedroom and the dining room is the kitchen, a compact space, 12½ by 10 feet, where everything has been designed for labor saving in the preparation of meals and other necessary housework.

The stairway leads to an upper hall, at each side of which there is a large bedroom. A big closet in each bedroom, including that below stairs, will appeal especially to the lady of the house, while there are, in addition, two smaller closets in the upper hall. On the second floor is found the regular bathroom with full equipment. A special feature of the second floor is a small balcony reached by French doors, opening from one of the bedrooms.

In construction, this is a frame house finished in stucco, but, like many other such designs, may be treated in other finishes to suit the taste of the future occupants. Either siding or shingles would be appropriate and brick also might be used to good effect. The chimney and the porch walls are of brick which adds a pleasant decorative touch to the rather plain walls set upon a low concrete foundation.

Simplicity is evident throughout, the only ornament besides the brick work being the pergola-like porch roof and the entrance detail (the latter is also simple, but adds much to the front appearance of the house) and the use of brick for sills below the windows. This last item is quite effective, when brick of a good color is used in relieving the solid color of the wall expanse.

Woodwork, Trim Basis for Good Decorating

Today the vogue is in favor of woodwork in the same neutral tone as the background of the walls. Sometimes it is a little lighter, sometimes a little darker, but it does not stand out and assert itself. However, real hardwood finished in its natural color will always be in style and beautiful.

All the hardwoods—mahogany, walnut, maple, birch and the like—can be finished in their natural colors with oil or varnish. Often it is desirable to stain the wood so the natural color will be intensified. But every house owner should insist that good varnish or varnish-stains be used. The finish should be waterproof and wearproof—one that can be washed with soap and water without harm to its luster or durability.

On soft woods and where the color scheme demands a color in the woodwork, paint or enamel will give the desired finish. Enamels produce such beautiful effects and are so durable that they are quite generally used. They give a solid coat that covers the grain of the wood. And enamels come in lovely colors that can be safely mixed to secure countless tints and shades.

From colonial days white has been a favorite color for woodwork. But ivory, sand, putty and tan have a warmth in them that is infinitely more beautiful than a cold white. Many people feel that the kitchen and bath room should be pure white, but apple-green, yellow and ivory are just as sanitary and more attractive.

If the right kind of enamel is used on woodwork, it can be washed with soap and water as often as desired. Rain will have no effect on it and the sun will never dim its colors. Be sure that the painter uses a waterproof enamel. This is economy in the real sense of the word, for a good enamel will last twice as long as a poorer grade enamel and look better all its long life.

SUCK AND PUFF

During the war between the North and the South, it one day happened that a ragged urchin was captured loitering around the ammunition tent of a Confederate camp.

The lad was taken before General Lee, charged with being a spy. As evidence against him was a note found in his pocket which stated:

"Puff, puff—draw up—puff—draw up."

"That hain't nawthin'," said the lad, "only just the way to play 'Home, Sweet Home' on my mouth organ."

He was acquitted.

CROP OF APPLES WILL BE HEAVY

Trees Everywhere Heavily Laden With Large Size, Luscious Fruit

Without a doubt the apple crop in the county is one of the greatest outgrowers have ever produced. Wherever there is an orchard it is laden down with fruit and the quality is of the finest and of more than ordinary size. With many of the growers it is now a question as to what they will do with their surplus, for they are not prepared to take care of the tremendous crop. A great quantity will be worked into cider and apple butter but this will not nearly use all the fruit. Extensive growers will place large quantities in cold storage but the smaller growers will not be able to do so as, unfortunately, there are only a few places in this county where they are equipped to store large quantities.

It has been only within the last few years that there has been any demand for cold storage for our fruits as the growing of fruit in Lancaster county has been neglected more or less. In other parts of the state where fruit growing is done on a large scale, there are large storage plants and if the growing of fruit continues to increase in Lancaster county, it will be necessary to build storage plants to take care of the crops.

TREE AND BIRD DAY

Gov. Pinchot proclaimed Friday, Oct. 22, as Arbor Day and Bird Day. He declared that in no other state is observance of this day more significant than in Pennsylvania, with its 13,000,000 acres of forest land, and asked that all the school children and all the people of the state observe the day properly. He says: "I recommend to all the people of the State, and particularly to the school children, the proper observance of Arbor Day. Every teacher and every pupil should do something definite to protect the trees and care for the birds. The reciting of poems and the holding of indoor exercises no longer satisfy those deeply interested in tree life and bird lore. What we need is actual tree planting, more object lessons in practical forestry, and an abundant bird life. Those we cannot have unless we keep fire out of the woods. The interest and enthusiasm which accompany the ideal Arbor Day should bear fruit in the form of more growing trees, a richer bird life and better forests."

NUT GATHERING ALMOST A THING OF THE PAST

At least one pleasure enjoyed by the children of a generation ago is denied the youngsters of rural Lancaster county in this age. That is the gathering of nuts after the fall frost had burst open the enclosing shell and season the fruit for winter storage. Not so many years ago the rural sections abounded with chestnut, walnut, hazel nut and other varieties of nut trees and bushes. The woodsman's ax has eliminated many of the large fine walnut trees; the blight has killed all the bearing chestnut trees, and the small bush nuts have been practically all removed when fences were removed. The butternut, at one time plentiful in Lancaster county, is now a rarity. Shell barks and walnuts can be found, but not in large quantities. Where bushels of nuts were gathered a generation or so ago, one is fortunate if you can find a quart.

A Difference

The difference between a failure and a successful man is rather aptly illustrated by the fact that while the failure is doubting whether a thing can be done, the successful man is going ahead doing it.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Title Float in Harvest Pageant Parade at Omaha

The grain-growing states of the Central West, the bread-basket of the nation, for the thirty-second successive year celebrated the close of the harvest season with an elaborate fall festival pageant at Omaha under the auspices of Ak-Sar-Ben. The big events were the electric parade on Wednesday night, September 29, and the great costume ball on Friday evening, October 1. That pictured above is the title float of the harvest pageant parade. Other floats pictured in elaborate detail the agricultural resources of the central western states. The pageant is the occasion of one of the big annual gatherings of the states of which Omaha is a central point.

Girl Heroine Honored in Naming of This New Bridge

The Chicago & Northwestern railroad has just completed and dedicated this new steel bridge over the Des Moines river, between Boone and Ogden, Iowa. It has been christened the "Kate Shelley" bridge in memory of the heroine who, in 1881, then a girl of fifteen, risked her life by crossing the old long trestle structure to warn an approaching train that the bridge was about to go down. A violent storm was raging. Her daring deed gave her national fame and a rich reward. She died in 1912.

Hampton Beach Gets a Big Whale

The residents of Hampton Beach, N. H., were greatly excited the other day when a forty-foot whale was found marooned on the rocks of Great Bear's Head. It was the first whale to go ashore there in twenty years. When discovered, he was alive, but he died during the day, presumably of exposure and chagrin.

Showing Her Trophies From Jungle

Laden with approximately 2,000 trophies and specimens of Brazilian jungle life, Mrs. Marshall Field III returned to Chicago and declared that her three months in South America with the Field museum explorers equalled for thrills and fascination anything she had found in civilized life. Mrs. Field is the only American woman known to have shot a jaguar. She is seen above exhibiting some of her trophies.

Lititz High Smothered At Reading

Lost Hard-Fought Game by Score of 25 to 0

In spite of the fact that several regulars were on the injured list, Lititz High in losing at Reading on Saturday afternoon, by 25 to 0, did better than was expected. Reading had a big advantage in weight and experience, the backfield averaging 175 pounds, with plenty of subs to insert. The Lititz clan probably suffered stage fright, but in the second half found themselves, when Reading failed to score a single point, tallying all their points in the first and second quarters. Longenecker was back in the game after a two-weeks' rest, but was slowed up on account of a bad ankle and had been in his usual form the Reading points would have been cut down.

The Reading Eagle stated: "The visitors showed real ability in spots, but failed to demonstrate any steady deliverance of football." Lititz was successful in six out of eight forward passes and broke up all but one of Reading's aerial attempts.

Reading was the first to score when Smith ran half the length of the field in the first quarter, but the kick over the posts was declared null and void, due to some careless Reading man being offside. The first quarter saw but one touchdown marked up on the Reading side of the ledger, but the following quarter provided the most action of any throughout the game. In the second period the Berks youths crossed Lititz's goal line three times and kicked one point. Reiser taking a pass for 40 yards and Henne and Hess plunging thru the line, after working the ball up the field to the line. Stark kicked but one point after touchdown and the half ended with Reading on the long end of a 25 to 0 score. They failed to score a single point in the second half.
