FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1884.

SEVEN YEARS OLD.

With this issue, the RECORD enters upon the eighth year of existence.

It is emphatically the duty of the public to support a home newspaper.

We have further explanation for the success of our paper.

We take especial care to gather all the news in and about the community.

Let us now trace our steps and come nearer to LITZITZ whose soundings we are at present considering.

Our jobbing department has been taken care to equip ourselves with all that is requisite for turning out good work.

At present the politicians are electing the president. The people will take a hand in the fun later on.

It might not be a bad thing to buy up a stock of tea now, before the French and China war gets any bigger.

The electrical exhibition which is being held in Philadelphia is at a very appropriate place.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2, 1884. It is now in order to name the localities of leading citizens in the country.

Our Community is Healthy.

In the summer of 1822 we had a great drought in Eastern Pennsylvania.

At that time there was a pond that spread over the greater part of the meadow above where the depot now is.

In the year of 1823, 24 and 25 there was a great deal of sickness at LITZITZ.

Times are dull, goods sold cheap. Pure Baking Soda, Cream of Tartar, etc.

WROOPING COUGH, CROUP and every asthma immediately relieved by Acker's English Remedy.

The Roman catacombs are subterranean excavations which served as places of refuge and of worship for the earliest followers of faith during the persecutions they had to suffer under the predecessors of Constantine...

This is the way the Massachusetts milk makes his lemon juice. Seventeen table-spoonfuls of sugar are graced; grate the yellow rind of the lemon and squeeze the juice of the lemon on the sugar; to this add the yolk of the egg, which should be beaten till light; cover a plate with rich paste, putting a ring around the edge...

Nice salad can be made by using veal, and the inexperienced housewife will be reminded that there is as much difference in veal as in meat. For the salad choose a firm and lean piece, boil it until it is tender and then proceed as if you are making chicken salad...

PHILADELPHIA REMARKS: "An effort made for the comfort of them lifts us above ourselves." But he forgot to state that this observation was made by the man who hastily scrambled over a fence so not to disturb the meditation of a bull that was heading for him.

When you visit or have New York City, save baggage express and carriage hire. Add stop the Grand Union Hotel, opposite Grand Central Depot. Gigant rooms, fitted up as a set of one and two bed rooms, are available at a low rate. European Plan. Restaurant supplied with excellent food and beverages and service of the highest order. Rates for a single person $2.00 per day, including breakfast, and for a double $3.00.

CONFOYD those cats," exclaimed old Xeno, as he reached for his gun and fired a little salt, and sufficient to kill a great many of the backs of the dead. He then calmly recited his wiser seven-eighths; "it is only our new church choir, practicing for to-morrow."

TURNS classes of horses are in demand, and the demand is being met. The coachman is being displaced by the motor-car, and the driver is being displaced by the motorist. The man who undertakes the business must adapt himself according to circumstances and his tastes.

THOMAS DE SPAGNETTI.—Break some spaghetti into very short lengths and add to the boiling water a little oil. Drain the spaghetti and add to it plenty of fresh butter or a cup of strong, rich gravy; then mix with it one or two beaten eggs, according to quantity. When the macaroni is nearly cold, fill with a plain sauce of either tomato or meat sauce, and serve hot. Sprinkle with fine bread crumbs. Press the macaroni well down, leaving a hollow in the centre, in this place a well flavored mince of lamb, poultry, or game, fill up the mold with more macaroni, and press down compactly. Bake in a moderately quick oven, turn out and serve very hot.

TRANSPARENT PUDDING.—Butter a pudding-dish and line it with slices of stale sponge cake an inch thick. Put stewed or ripe fresh fruit or preserves on the bottom of the dish upon the cake. Beat to a cream the yolks of eight eggs, quarter of a pound of sugar and half a pound of butter. Flavor to taste with grated nutmeg and stir in lightly with a tinned whisk the whites of the eggs. Pour the mixture over the fruit and bake half an hour. Beat the whites of four eggs to a stiff froth and add four tablespoonfuls of sugar; spread over the pudding after it is baked and cook until the top is a deep golden color. To be eaten cold, with or without cream.

BARON'S PUDDING.—Ingredients: Three-fourth pound sugar, three-fourth pound raisins, pounded after being stone; three-fourth pound flour, one-half pint milk and one-half pint cream; sifted wheat flour, one-half pint. Mode.—Chop the raisins, stone the raisins, and mix them in halves, and mix these ingredients with the salt and flour; moisten with milk, stir the mixture well and tie the pudding in a flour cloth, previously wrung out in boiling water. Put the pudding into a sauce-pan of boiling water and let it boil four and one-half hours. Serve with plain sifted sugar.

DEAR MUTES are now taught to make movement with the lips so that they can speak. The deaf are now being trained to use their hands as a means of communication with the hearing. This is a great step towards the education of the deaf.

HOW DELIGHTFUL is the odor of that new known hay! exclaimed a resident of Hunter's Point. "I have never smelled among the vine-cold rocks and pine trees woods of a village in Maine, 'that's not hay,' said a farmer; 'that's old boots whose's burlap' over youder."

FARMER'S FOOLY.—Some farmers adhere, even against the full light of fact and discovery, to the old ways of doing things. One farmer, who had a large number of chickens, was told to use a new method of raising them. He refused to do so, and his chickens were all killed.

THE BROTHERS OF THE CHURCH.—A gentleman who had a large number of chickens, was told to use a new method of raising them. He refused to do so, and his chickens were all killed.

AN ELGIN DAIRYMAN, being disappointed in his expectations of accumulating a large fortune by rearing alpine milk at three cents a quart, conceived the happy idea of realizing extensively from the plethoric waltz carried by the Treasurer of the Northwestern Land Company, a parcel of land for $1.10 a acre, from Elgin to Chicago; they walked into town—a distance of forty miles, for the special purpose of being refused a ride back from Chicago to Elgin on that ticket. Visions of a million dollars, growing out of his baggage damages, growing out of his baggage being ejected from the train, filled his mind. He had taken eminent legal advice at a cost of five dollars, and had braced himself up to manfully resist the conductor and brakemen when they should endeavor to eject him from the train. Scarcely had the train started from the Wells Street Depot, when along came the conductor, took the "Elgin to Chicago" ticket into his hand, and the passenger, sent to Chicago pocket and passed along. Talk about mad dogs; but they ain't a circumstance to the "mad" that Elgin man generated on the spot.

RAILROAD SUPERINTENDENT.—"You appear to have been a little hurt in this collision, my friend." Maimed Passenger—"I have lost both arms and one leg." "Indeed! What is your regular business?" "I am at present out of work." "Ah! Well, with three limbs gone, you can easily excite sympathy and make lots of money at begging, but we won't charge you anything extra."

WHEN DR. S. H. Cox lived in Brooklyn he once kept a dog. Over his kitchen he wrote: "Cave Canem—teeth inserted here."

YOU CAN'T MAKE $500 by Reading This. If you have had chronic asthma, in its worst stages, for many years, being offered by the doctor a cure, for the sake of reward, for any case of asthma, they cannot cure, yet notwithstanding that thousands upon thousands have been cured, they have not been so called upon when they are in the greatest need of a cure. It is a sad fact, however, that many of these cures have been made by the use of a certain medicine, which has been found to be the most effective remedy for this disease.

PHILOSPHERS say that closing the eyes make the sense of hearing more acute. A wag suggests that this account for the many eyes that close in our churches on Sundays.

PHLO'S REMEDY FOR CATARRH is a certain cure for that very obstinate disease. It is there a word in the English language that contains all the vowels? There is, unquestionably.

HUNTS' KIDNEY CURE FOR CATARRH is a certain cure for that very obstinate disease. It is there a word in the English language that contains all the vowels? There is, unquestionably.

ONE DAY in October, says an officer in Egypt, I received an anonymous telegram, surreptitiously passed out from the jail at Tantah, to the effect that 75 persons, wrongly there confined, were about to be released, and that they had already fled. I at once sent Dr. Crooksbank, who then had not taken charge of the jails, to examine every prisoner in the jail and report. He found the 75 men there with open wounds and running sore on their feet, though in many cases the punishment had been inflicted, two months previously. Some bore the marks also of the thumb-screw upon their fingers, and others the marks left from being suspended from beams. On the face of this report it was with great diffidence and after much opposition that I succeeded in getting Rogers Bay, who was a perfect Arab scholar, and whose death I regretted, sent to Tantah for the purpose of holding an inquiry with the mudir into the case of these people. The result was that he reported that they were all charged by the mudir with having committed a robbery in which it was clear that only 14 persons had been concerned. The mudir had seized 77 sheiks and other respectable men whom he considered it was his advantage to arrest, and who were some doubtful characters, and had courted and tortured them all until they signed a confession dictated by him implicating those whom he desired to obtain freedom. The mudir and his accomplices are said to have died under their sufferings, and those who inflicted the torture—not the mudir, unfortunately—are now in the same prison, at my instance, awaiting their trial for murder.

THE EXCLUSIVENESS of the Chinese nation in Italy, which has been a proverbial fact for many years, is now being broken down. The Chinese government has recently signed a treaty with the United States and European nations, a change of great importance has been wrought in the policy and affairs of the Chinese government. In fifteen years ago old China consented, largely through the instrumentality of an American, the late Mr. Anson Burlingame, who represented the United States, that she should enter into regular diplomatic relations with other nations, and any benefit which has resulted to either of the parties in interest therefrom is to be credited to the man to whose gentlemanly exertions, China herself being a land of an anti-Oriental civilization, with an aristocracy founded entirely upon scholarship, the representatives whom she has sent to foreign nations have been well equipped with intelligence and report upon the facts that make the civilization of Western peoples the hope of the whole world. That the traveled statesmen of China have proved acute observers and have made reports on what they have witnessed in foreign lands of sufficient weight to modify the internal policies of their own country in many directions is already quite manifest.

A MOST striking illustration of this point is given in the recent edict that the construction of railroads as an auxiliary to the network of water communication throughout the empire has been the government's action. Li Hung Chang, the Viceroy, is known to be a man of liberal views in statecraft, and is said to have acquiesced in the new railroad projects in the firm belief that in view of the utter lack of native capital and training for such enterprises they could be fully prosecuted successfully under the full financial and executive control of foreigners in the Chinese service. This belief is of great consequence, since the project of the Lord of the Vermilion Fend, and means, if the scheme shall be carried out, that the whole vast Empire will be thrown open to the influences of Western civilization. Aside from the material advantages which are likely to follow so radical a step, the construction of railroads in China would certainly break down eventually every remaining barrier of exclusiveness, and allow the Christian missionaries to engage freely in his mission.

THE WATCHMAKER can't afford to do a cash business, because he makes all his profits on time.

IT'S EASIER for a man named to pass through the eye of a needle than for a young woman in a fur-lined silk cloak to walk around without letting it fly open just a little to show that the fur is more than mere border.

THE WINNEBAGO INDIAN is the most conspicuous object of interest at Black River Falls, Wis., owing to there being about 1,000 of them attending the payment of the Government annuities. As each person, buck, squaw, or papoose, draws about $20, the supposed wards of the nation are temporary Vanderbilts. Some few Indians make good use of their wealth, but the majority are spendthrifts. They patronize billiard-rooms and invest in California fruits and all the delicacies of the season. Whisky bears the same relation to them that a torch does to a powder magazine. They are anxious to get it, and there are avaricious squaws who would sell their own without scruple did not the vigilant land sentiment make it exceedingly dangerous. Failing to secure whisky, the red man resorts to strange devices to assuage his thirst and barrow up his throat. Common extract is in great demand among the dusky braves, and will produce speedy intoxication. Bay rum, hair oil, tomato catsup, vinegar, and molasses are among the fluids they are willing and anxious to purchase for beverages.

THEY now tell us that the idea of calling a man a "brick," is taken from Homer, and that "pull down your vest," is a quotation from Shakespeare. If this is true, it is a pity that it is not so that a man can't be called a dog. "Gosh dern yer belt," without being accused of dropping into the classics.
