The Lititz Record.
 PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY MORNING.
 J. F. BUCK, Editor and Proprietor.

FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1884.

SPRING sits on a monument, like patience, smiling at mortals trudging through the mud.

THE season of baseball games and circuses approacheth; and the dulcet voice of the auctioneer is no longer heard.

THE party which nominates a candidate who has been more of a statesman than a politician will win in the coming contest.

THE ground hog has proved himself the champion weather prophet of them all; and his facetious repertorial disciple on the Intelligencer is elated to the airy clouds thereby.

WE note that Blaine's following increases slowly in this State. But it increases slower elsewhere; and here Blaine is not likely "to make the rifle," but it won't be his fault, all the same, nor the fault of his friends.

THE United States marshals in the South are undergoing a lively raking. The developments thus far made are scandalous, and vacancies are likely to occur in this branch of the government service.

MR. TILDEN says he won't be a candidate, because his physical condition will not support the excitement of a campaign and the labors as a president, at least this is what some reputable newspapers profess to know as the declarations of the sage of Grey-stone. But the convention is not over yet, and the ways of all politicians are devious and dark.

IT is the firm opinion just now of all Democratic journals that the success of their party in the coming presidential campaign is the only thing that can save the country from going to the dogs. It is likewise the unalterable opinion of the Republican papers that the country will not stand six months, if their grand old party suffers defeat. It is rather likely, however, that it would not go to sticks very soon if both of the old parties were sat down on.

IN the seventh annual convention of the Cumberland County Temperance Alliance which convened recently at Newville, one of the questions asked was: "What is forbidden in prohibition that men are so fearful to speak out boldly in defence of it?" We do not know what answer was given to this question, but are inclined to believe that there is nothing in the matter of prohibition which its friends or enemies should be afraid to speak out boldly. It is an impractical matter at present and cannot be popularly endorsed for a long time. But if the zealous temperance advocates would turn their attention to the high license system they would find there much to support and commend. Maine is a prohibition State, and yet Maine has a bad showing. In Portland last year there were 2,250 arrests, 1,426 being for drunkenness and drunken brawls.

THE RECORD has on several occasions voiced the sentiments of its readers when it deprecated the alarming prevalence of flashy literature. There is no doubt of the fact that the widespread dissemination of this harmful reading has done much to cause the reprehensible actions of young boys who are daily captured at strange places, having run away from their homes. There is no decrease in this deplorable matter, in fact books and papers calculated to injure the morals and subvert the maturing discretion of youth are being issued with greater rapidity and with increased alluring attractions.

THE custom which the publishers of the New York and other city story papers indulge in of thrusting under the doors advance copies of a new melodramatic and morally injurious tale, strung out from week to week is one against which an anxious society should positively remonstrate. The evil is thus admitted into the very heart of the home, and its presence there gives to the children an obvious sanction to their pursuit of the vile stuff.

BUT there is another influence at work almost as potent in its impulse to wrong as bad literature. It is that of the numerous wild, sensational and luridly melodramatic plays presented on the stage. These have a derogatory effect upon the minds and the morals of the youth, who flock to see them. For this latter evil we see no remedy outside of the strict watchfulness of anxious and careful parents.

WON A PRIZE.
 At a package party under the auspices of the J. O. U. A. M. of Lancaster, held last week, Horace L. Eschbach, of this place, invested 20 cents in a chance and was the fortunate one in drawing a canary bird and cage, valued at $5. Good for Horace.

Rothsville Rambles.
 Your Lexington correspondent must have read that article of the other week about Kessler and Lehart in an erroneous manner; for this reason, it did not say that Mr. Kessler worked for Mr. Lehart politically; he was doing manual labor for Mr. Lehart, who was at that time unable to perform it. I will therefore say that such corrections are always welcome as long as they are unsatisfactorily given. I claim my statement correct and his an error. However, I may have made the assertion simply to get up a discussion. If that is the object, I will give consent.

THE item of last week, stating that Mr. Jerome Kessler is going into the employment of J. S. Brubaker, at Millway, should have said that he is there already, since the 5th inst.

Mrs. Margaret Phipps (widow), residing near Rothsville, with an accident on the morning of the 14th inst. by falling from the pump bed, bruising both legs at the knees, which began to swell and assume a black color. She took to her bed and was not able to sit up for some days.

WE think that the side walks of our village should be given some attention. At many places you have to wade in the mud almost ankle deep. With a little expense they could be made high and dry.

A general thief is again coming in the near neighborhood. We would advise the community to be on the lookout and have their things carefully housed for fear he might come and claim them as his own. Chickens are in danger as well as other things.

THE spelling bee at Millport school was well attended on Friday evening last. Had it not been for the bad weather it would have been over-crowded. The spelling was grand, especially by the school, they taking the five first prizes; the sixth one was awarded to Mr. Shirk, of Oregon, who also carried one away at the other spelling bee some time ago.

THE public sale of household goods held on the 15th inst. by Reuben Fry, was well attended and things brought a fair price. J. M. Fry bought eight China dishes. Two of them are white and ornamented with a bright blue, with a beautiful landscape and palaces in the centre. They are twelve inches in diameter and one and one half inches deep; six are of a purple hue, very ornamental, a landscape in center, with lofty mountains, trees, church, farmhouse and cattle. The price of the first two were forty cents per piece, the other six at twenty-six cents per piece. These were bought for a family relief, having been in the house for over thirty years.

THE store and post office will next week be in the hands of the new-comer, H. C. Seldomridge.

MR. and Mrs. Kiehl, a boy.

OUR school closed with a small number of pupils in attendance, the messals having half the number at home before the close yesterday.

G. G. Landis is still in a critical condition.

A genus from here is getting up a private telephone line to the depot. Hope he will be successful in the undertaking.

The familiar and pleasant face of Capt. Aoram Settle of New Holland, appeared in town last week. The captain is a candidate for clerk of quarter sessions and makes a good impression wherever he goes.

Mr. Hiram B. Snyder, of Stevens, visited our sanctum on Saturday last. Hiram was a schoolmate of ours, and he never forgets old friends.

J. B. Gable, who will on the 1st of April go into the store business at Penn, has been appointed postmaster for that place.

Mr. C. F. Stoner, candidate for Register, paid his respects to Lititz on Tuesday. Mr. Stoner is deputy register at present, and should be elected, which seems likely, will know how to proceed with the business pertaining to the office.

Mr. F. S. Shertzer, traveling agent for Hood, Boudrich & Co., Philadelphia, was in town this week. Benny says he always meets with success in these quarters.

The Reply.

Ed. Record: Noticing a short public letter in your column, in which the initials H. W. D. are referred to and given some prominence, with some inapplicable cognomen attached, we are rather loth to go back to the new outerver. But presuming that that writer is also an ex-Superintendent of Sunday-schools and an ex-what-not, we will draw a brief contract on the first writer's part, and leave the sketch of the second part to be delineated by the audience. We differ in many visible respects. That writer has been blessed with better halves, has already reached his majority, his locks are gray and may be classed under Shakespeare's sixth stage, leaving but the seventh undone. Notwithstanding these unmistakable evidences of a remaining age, after which an account of nonessential communications is to be given the writers and accomplice meddle with instances not in the least insinuating of their vocations.

Now a word to the temporal Moyer. That name has been affixed to the pre-stated initials, but it has not dislocated any of his joints and we can hardly think that his nose can have receded, as it is yet prominent. The last writer of the RECORD and his accomplice have often doubted under assumed names, and no doubt disguised in other respects. They are persons of sanctimonious appearance. We do not hope they are the blind leading the blind.

The work of remodeling Zion's Lutheran church has not yet commenced. The committee moves very cautiously in the matter than was at first supposed. We understand that a feasible plan has been submitted by Mr. Gingsrich, the well known builder and contractor of Lebanon, and it is probable that it will be adopted but at present no definite conclusion has yet been reached. Another congregational meeting was held on Monday afternoon, but we are unable to state whether any contract was concluded with Mr. Gingsrich or not. It is very doubtful whether operations will be begun for a month to come.

Anna Maria Keller, who was the eldest among the ten children born to the late John Kramer and his wife Catharine, nee Sheib, first saw the light of earth in Lancaster city Sept. 23, 1793. In 1819, Sept. 9, she was married to the late Frederick Keller, with whom she resided a few months in Lancaster, and then, before the close of that year, removed to Lititz, where both abode until they died. Their marriage was crowned with seven children, of whom five, together with thirteen grandchildren, survive their mother, the father having been called away to rest Sept. 9, 1852. In the year 1820 Mother Keller was added to the membership of the Moravian congregation this place by the rite of confirmation, which was administered to her by the late Bishop Benade. She was fervently attached to the church of her adoption. Throughout a long life her seat in the sanctuary was never vacant, though in her later years, owing to defective hearing, she understood not a word of the sermon. It was with evident joy that she discharged the duties of membership and she bore the reproach of Christ gladly. On last November Mrs. Keller succumbed with pneumonia. Fearing a lingering illness, the aged widow left her quiet habitation and found a good home with her eldest son, Edward Keller, the well-known sexton of the Moravian church here. What days she spent under this roof were days of conflict with her own infirmities and of patient waiting for the summons home. To the inexperienced she seemed now and then to show symptoms of possible recovery, but it was only as the last flicker of the dying flame. On Saturday morning at 5:30 our Mother Keller passed peacefully into her eternal rest, at an age of 85 years, 5 months and 22 days. Her loss is mourned by five children, of whom Hiram Keller, ex-mayor of Williamsport, is one; and by two sisters, Mrs. Lichtenthaer and Mrs. F. W. Christ. The latter is much afflicted invalid. The funeral service was held in the Moravian church Monday, March 17.

Happenings in Oregon and Vicinity. There have been very few cases of sickness in this place during the winter; I might say during the past year. Do we owe this blessing to Providence? It is a question. My opinion is that we do not. This community being so free from illness, speaks well for the women; it shows that the housewives look well to their back-sink drains at the back of the house, being typhoid fever and other sickness. People should prohibit throwing the kitchen waste or slops out of the back door, because the ground soon becomes charged with matters that ferment and breed disease. Where poultry is kept there should be a pail to receive all animal and vegetable matter and emptied daily.

People keep on coming and going. We have lost some good neighbors and pleasant people. Some people have the knack of always being pleasant; they move through life as a band of music moves down street, jingling out pleasure on every side through the air, to every one far and near that can listen. Some people fill the air with their presence and sweetness, as orchards in October days fill the air with perfume or ripe fruit. Some women cling to their own home like the honeysuckle over the door, yet like it, sweeten all the region with the fragrance of their goodness.

Only one week more school. The majority of the boys and girls are rejoicing—very few are sorry. The children, like a great many of the older people, are apt to regard winter as a dreary season of the year, which is to be endured, while the minds live in anticipation of a coming spring time. This view of winter is not reasonable. History and geography tell us that the most powerful and happy people live in the zone where winter wears away several months of the year. Winter is the season of intellectual activity, school teaching, etc. It is to be regretted that so few of the patrons see the importance of visiting the school. This term has almost expired again, and very few of the parents have been inside of the school room. Parents should by all means be induced to visit the school; it would interest and benefit them, the teacher and the pupils.

In Earnest.

The big advertisement of John S. Givler & Co., found very easily in another part of the RECORD, shows that this firm is in earnest in business. They carry an immense stock of goods, and in advertising so extensively know that they can accommodate patrons just as they say. All goods are plainly marked, to sell at one price only, and that at bottom figures. You can buy as cheap as your neighbor, and from one salesman as cheap as from another. Let the readers of the RECORD bear this house in mind when they go to Lancaster, and we venture to say they will find nothing misrepresented.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. Elizabeth E. Halderman. This venerable woman died in Harrisburg on Monday at the ripe old age of 95. Her maiden name was Jacobs. She was educated at Linden Hall Seminary at this place, having been one of its earliest scholars. In June, 1879, she was in Lititz for the last time at the commencement exercises of Linden Hall, where she occupied a chair in one of the middle aisles near the front of the church. So at the ripe old age of ninety-five, that milestone of life, which very few reach, after a few weeks illness, as a child goes to its slumbers, Mrs. Halderman passed out from this earthly life. One of the pleasing incidents of her last hours was the thought that the partner of her earlier years was near, and the end of that estimable lady and Christian woman was peace. The rest all hope for came to her at last.

To Farmers of Pennsylvania. Gentlemen:—Over twenty-eight years we have manufactured our Blood Purifier, and our brands have become household words in nearly every section of the country. In many communities the demand for them is increasing, while in others the same have been unknown. We want to be informed of the demand for goods of lower cost, had become almost universal, and having peculiar advantages of new materials and manufacturing facilities, we determined to meet this demand, and introduced a FIFTY-FIVE CENT BOTTLE PREPARATION, made by a new process exclusively our own. The quickness with which this Preparation sprang into use among intelligent farmers, will be shown by the following statistics:

Of the $25 Phosphates there were sold During 1879, 1,287 Tons. " 1880, 3,957 " " 1881, 5,147 " " 1882, 8,288 " " 1883, 10,192 "

The reports of the action of the $25 Phosphate have been satisfactory in every case, and we have no doubt that the information upon this point, very plainly, as it is our business to give it, will be of great value to produce good results. MEETING OF CITIZENS

To Hear the Report from the Sanitary Committee and to Inquire into the Cause of Sickness.

In response to a call for a citizens meeting at the Springs Hotel on Monday evening to hear the report from the Committee appointed to investigate the cause of the many cases of fever with which we were afflicted last fall, there were comparatively few citizens present.

Chairman Tshudy called the meeting to order and Rev. Brickenstein read the report, which was in substance as follows:

"The report of the committee states that they were unable to gather any well attested facts on which to base an intelligent judgment as to the cause of the sickness last autumn. Such an inquiry, as will be readily understood, presented peculiar difficulties, and it is one which perplexes medical and sanitary experts everywhere. As a preventive, the utmost cleanliness in and about our streets and premises should be observed. Lititz has always had a justly good reputation in this respect, but it is not possible to be too thorough or exacting in this particular. The report concludes as follows:

"The entire absence of any authority which this committee, or any similar one, or a town-meeting itself possesses, even though representing the views of the large majority of our citizens, prompts the suggestion whether, from sanitary as from various other considerations, the time has not arrived to seriously discuss the question of the incorporation of Lititz as a borough, so that there may be legal authority to compel obedience to sanitary regulations so as to guard the town against the invasion of preventable diseases."

After the reading of the report, the subject of incorporation was discussed by a number of those present, and a resolution adopted to appoint a committee of five to inquire into the feasibility of incorporation. This committee consists of the same persons as were represented on the sanitary committee, viz: Dr. Brobst, Dr. Roebuck, Rev. Brickenstein, Israel G. Erb and M. M. Fry. They will consult an attorney and adopt such measures as are necessary to see whether the majority of the people are in favor of having Lititz made a borough.
