THE LOST, LOST DAYS.

Aye, happy are the nodding flowers That tasseled hang from yonder tree; Their lives all beauty, wear their gold In summer crowns of purity.

A Duel to the Death.

One of our brother officers, named Vetsky, had a brother officer in the civil service, who was an especial favorite of mine. He was a man of singular intelligence, but I never saw a man so full of physical imperfections.

Make Housekeepers of Girls.

Among the matters affecting our well-being, the better fitting of our girls for entrance into the social and family world, is of serious importance.

New Designs in Furniture.

The traditional parlor set is rarely seen nowadays. Instead are a sofa and two large arm-chairs to match, covered, say with Persian raw silk.

Electrical Jewelry.

An invention is now used in Europe which is curious and interesting. It is applied to jewelry. Take, first of all, a bracelet, consisting of a death-head, enamelled with movable diamonds, rubies, or emeralds.

A Tomb in a Tree.

A startling surprise, after the fashion of the story of Guyra, was experienced not long ago by a party of Styrian wood-cutters in the forest of Drömming.

House Decorations.

Very pretty table covers are of satin, with velvet borders, at the corners of which are squares of plush, the borders being worked in point Russe stitches on both edges in colored silks.

Caught in a Trap.

At Baden Baden a French nobleman sat at the gambling table, and in a mirror in front of him saw that a tall, dark-faced man was making a suspicious movement towards his head.

They Met and Parted.

"Now then," said tramp No. 1 to No. 2 as they turned into Montclair street from Woodward avenue, Detroit the other day.

Reducing the Average.

An excitable little Frenchman was complaining about his bad luck as a stock speculator. "I can not at all get zee remotest insight into zee business."

An Irish Farm.

Imagine a level country, with a few trees and no forests, cut up into very small irregular fields by stone walls. It is of such land that Irish farms are composed.

Too Much Pressure.

He stood at the marble counter of the soda fountain and quaffed the cooling draught, occasionally gathering the superfluous froth from his mustache with his under lip.

The Burning of Milton.

The town of Milton, which stands, or did stand, upon the west branch of the Susquehanna, in Northumberland county, thirteen miles above Sunbury, was on last Thursday the scene of the most appalling disaster that has fallen upon any community in Pennsylvania for many years.

The Harrisburg Patriot, which has shown unusual enterprise of late, will on next Sunday begin the publication of a Sunday edition, and thereafter purposes to issue every day in the year.

CAPTAIN PAUL BOYTON, the manfish, a Philadelphia boy, is again at his old home, and will soon be swimming all around in his inflated waterproof dress. Beginning his aquatic experiences in 1874, by jumping from the steam ship Queen into the Irish Channel, and reaching shore in the midst of a terrible storm, his experience has been very curious.

The iron trade is not at all settled. We have very recent advices in which there is not any signs of improvement, and they have for the present given up looking for any. It is not a desirable state of things. Here we have a very decided reaction, but the trade is still in a healthy state if the speculators will all quit and let the legitimate interests run the matter as it should be run.

HANGINGS occur so seldom in Connecticut that when they do the correct style must be observed in the formalities of communicating with the invited guests. No man could more rigidly comply with the demands of regulation etiquette than did the Sheriff of Fairfield county.

COUNTY COMMITTEE. The Republicans of this (Warwick) township will be called upon to elect a representative to the County Committee next Saturday, and I wish to draw their attention to the issue which is simply this: Shall we be represented by a man whom we all know to be honest and who will respect the will of his people and neighbors and truly represent them; or are we to have a representative who will do the bidding of the worst elements in politics, and who will follow the lead of the gang, to which Kemble, Petroff and Co. belong, and which gang outraged law, justice and decency by parting these rogues?

OUR BAND.—The past months have been devoted to the frequent yet essential duty of saving the Litz Band. It is astonishing how often our Band became endangered and how often it needed saving from a collapse. Fortunately, the frequency of these breakings-down is quite equaled by the number of members who are ready and willing to engage in the task of saving it.

CONDENSED COUNTY CLIPPINGS.—The jury in the case of Julia Hoover, charged with the murder of her first sister, an infant, rendered a verdict last week of not guilty. She was at once released and proceeded to a relative's residence in Lancaster city.

THE RABER MURDERERS HUNG.—On Thursday morning at 11.15, Wise, Hummel and Brandt, who were tried and convicted at Lebanon, for the murder of the old man Raber, suffered the penalty for their crime.

Religious Notices.

MORAVIAN.—English services on Sunday at 10 o'clock A. M. and 7:30 P. M.

EVANGELICAL.—German preaching on Sunday at 9:30 A. M. and prayer-meeting at 7:30 P. M.

HAD TO BE KILLED.—Messrs. J. A. Buch & Bro. owned a horse who got the blind staggers and became quite unmanageable. He ran against stone walls, fences, &c. in such a manner as to almost crush in his skull. On Monday morning he was shot and died without hardly a struggle. He was a good horse, having been bought from Joel Hutton for $157.

PHOTOGRAPHERS.—John S. Fritz, the photographer and artist, has arrived with his traveling photograph gallery and is located for a short time only at the Lititz Springs Hotel. He is competent to do all kinds of photography, and promises to give satisfaction in every case, at the same time being reasonable in prices. Pictures taken in cloudy weather as well as clear and enlarged or copied views made at short notice. Try him and be convinced.

ALMOST DROWNED.—John Diehm, an employe of Geitner's tannery at this place, made a very narrow escape from drowning on Tuesday. He was crossing a vat filled with lime water when the plank on which he stepped slipped off and he fell in. Owing to the water getting into his eyes he suffered much pain and could not find his way out. Through the timely aid of Charles Geitner, he was rescued from the perilous position, but otherwise more serious consequences would have followed.

PERSONAL.—Dr. J. N. Fretz, of Fleetwood, Berks county, is a candidate for Congress from that district. Mr. Fretz will no doubt be remembered by many Lititz people, having been the successor to Dr. William Shelly, of Warwick, after his death, some sixteen years ago.

Mr. Jesse Pannabecker, of this place, served as drum major in the Mountville Band last week, visiting Lancaster, Columbia and Marietta. Jesse speaks in glowing terms of the good time he had with the above members and says they treated him like a king.

RASCALITY AT AKRON.—On Saturday morning the Reading & Columbia Railroad Co.'s tool house, at Akron station, was broken open and the repairmen's hand car taken out and used to convey a party to Ephrata. The car was abandoned at that point and left standing upon the track. The "Night Hawk" which passes about two o'clock in the morning, struck the hand car and demolished it. The party were stealing horses and being scared off, used the above means of getting away. They left two horses tied to a fence in the vicinity of the station.

DECORATION ARRANGEMENTS.—All soldiers and sailors are requested to meet at the Sturgis House on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of making arrangements for Decoration Day.

CROQUET.

A WRITER DOES NOT AGREE WITH THE PRESS THAT THIS POPULAR OUTDOOR GAME IS GOING OUT OF FASHION.

Not long ago there appeared in the press an item to the effect that croquet was becoming unfashionable. Of course we claim no definite figures, but think ourselves safe in saying that but one who calls croquet unfashionable lies — under a mistake. It is true, lawn tennis and archery have caused a slight lull in the playing of the superior game. But does any one seriously suppose games inferior will survive games superior? Archery is not destined to a wide popularity, on account of its near relation to boy and his destructive bow and arrows, whose results have many living, or rather dead witnesses, in the way of eyes lost and scars left. Lawn tennis is not so objectionable as archery in its effects; but is in that it cannot be engaged in equally by both sexes; and in the matter of expense it has a great drawback to its general propagation. Thus, while archery and lawn tennis have such fatal defects, croquet has few, if any. Indeed, as an offset to mentioned defects, it has several advantages which neither of the others have: it is a rational game, because of its moderating exercise of both skill and muscle. Skill, because with its greatest employment comes the most victories. Muscle, because, at but few intervals in a game are the sinews of the feet or arms in a state of passiveness. Still another significant point possessed by croquet in common with many other games is the opportunities for cultivating the faculties of sight, for on the diligence with which one employs his eyes depends much of his success.

In conclusion, it is necessary for the longevity and spread of a game that it should possess merits; that it should be within the reach of all; that it should afford opportunities for the employment of the little every-day courtesies of life, and does not croquet fulfill all these requirements? Let the lovers of croquet not become discouraged by the fact of croquet being branded as "unfashionable" by interested parties in the manufacture and disposal of the games of archery and lawn tennis, but rather keep on playing the game, which reason declares the superior.

A LOVER OF CROQUET.

—A Herr Smith and Levi B. Brubaker are two good men to vote for on Saturday.

OBITUARY.—[The following should have appeared in last week's issue, but was unavoidably omitted.—Ed.] The funeral of Mrs. Harriet Borry took place on Ascension day amidst a large concourse of relatives and friends. Mrs. Borry was twice married; for the first time to Daniel Bentz, father of Peter Bentz. She was married a second time to Daniel Borry, an old mountaineer and charcoal burner, residing at the foot of the Furnace Hills, and who was the oldest person in that section of the county, being in his 97th year when he died. Mrs. Borry, after the death of her second husband, lived with her daughter, Mrs. Aaron Helman, at Salunga, from whence her mortal remains were taken to White Oak for interment. She was sick seven weeks, and her disease was contracted by a cold and finally ended in dropsy. She departed this life on May 3, 1880, and on May 6, 1880, her mortal remains were quietly laid to rest in the God's acre at White Oak. Aged 71 years, 3 months and 17 days. She was a member of the Lutheran Church. Rev. D. C. Tobias officiated.

A PATENT (?) FENCE.—There are all kinds of fences in use nowadays, from the common zig-zag to the highly ornamented iron fence. But for novelty the one in the rear of East Main street (toward the railroad surrounding a meadow, we venture to say there is no other in the county to compare with it. The man who made it is not a poor person either, or he might be excused to a certain extent. Where he got his idea from we would like to know, for it is indeed a strange one. It is far from being on a level at the top, and looks more as though it was intended to be scalloped in the order of fly-paper on a ceiling or like a skirt bottom. Then again there is a regular zig-zag style about it, some of the palings hanging outward and others inward, showing that no attention was paid to keep it in a line. Wood of all kinds may here be seen, from a split rail or a solid hickory to a rotten pine stick. It has created a great deal of laughter, and many persons have gone specially to take a look at it. No charges to see it.

LEVI B. BRUBAKER, one of our most respected farmers, a lifelong worker in the Whig and Republican parties and an honest and straightforward man, is a candidate for member of the Republican County Committee from Warwick township. He should receive the votes of all true Republicans at the primary election on Saturday afternoon.

SLIGHT FIRES.—On Saturday about noon a slight fire was discovered in the Sisters' House connected with Linden Hall Seminary. It appears that in one of the upper dressing rooms a coal oil lamp had been in use means of getting away. They left two horses tied to a fence in the vicinity of the station.

DECORATION ARRANGEMENTS.—All soldiers and sailors are requested to meet at the Sturgis House on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of making arrangements for Decoration Day.

THE MILTON FIRE.—M. H. Taggart, Esq., of this place, on Monday proceeded to Milton, the site of last Friday's conflagration, and returned on Wednesday. He describes it as one of the most heart-rending scenes and says no one can form an idea of the terrible disaster without seeing it. He himself found it a great deal worse than he had supposed it to be. Over seven hundred families were rendered homeless and almost penniless, some barely escaping with their lives. He found many of the victims living in tents, while others had gone to their friends and to the neighboring towns and villages until a more permanent location can be had.

Among the sufferers was James N. Taggart, son of the above-named gentleman, and well known in Lititz, who had gone to housekeeping in April with an entirely new outfit of household goods. James did not live in a house of his own, but his loss on furniture will be about $500. When he saw that danger was imminent, he procured a horse and wagon and conveyed a good portion of his goods to the river's edge, where he guarded it from further injury. He is now living with his brother Harry, about one and a half miles from Milton. James has the sympathy of his many Lititz friends.

MILTON SUFFERERS.—A collection in behalf of the sufferers at Milton will be taken up in the Moravian and Evangelical Sunday-schools on Sunday next by the scholars. Contributions in money will also be received at the stores of Messrs. Miller, Tshudy, and Wolle, and at the post office. We hope all will respond liberally.

CHURCH NOTES.—A baptizing in the "Grumbler" faith took place before a large number of people at Millport on Monday last. Six persons were immersed.

There will be a "dipping" on Sunday next at the Hammer Creek near Brunnerville under the auspices of the United Brethren denomination. Rev. J. Weirich will officiate.

The Synod of the Lutheran Church of Pennsylvania will hold its session in Lancaster, commencing on Trinity Sunday, May 23. Two hundred ministers and nearly as many lay delegates will be in attendance.

The Dunkard love feast held at the Middle Creek meeting house on Tuesday and Wednesday was very largely attended on Tuesday afternoon and evening, not less than 2000 persons being present, of which fully one-half could not get into the meeting house. Everything passed off pleasantly, not an accident occurring as far as heard from.

At the conference of the Brethren, or "Tankers," held in Lancaster Pa., March 19, two practical duties were impressed on the membership. One was that extravagance in funeral feasts must be discouraged; and another, that "the signing of tavern license is regarded as unbecoming to those who profess to follow Christ."

A curious bit of ecclesiastical legislation is the prohibition to serve "in any civil office further than supervisor or roadmaster, overseer of the poor, school director and postmaster;" and also that "birthdays or surprise parties are not permitted among the Brethren."

FUNERAL OF JOHN ZOOK.—The funeral of John Zook, Sr., who died on Wednesday of last week, took place from his late residence on Sunday morning, the interment taking place at Longconcker's meeting house, 1/2 mile west of Lititz. The attendance was very large, as Mr. Zook was well known throughout the county. Arriving at the meeting house, many were unable to gain admittance, owing to the crowd. The officiating clergymen were Rev. Benjamin Shelly, of near Manheim, and Rev. J. Specht, of Manheim. Rev. Christian Brubaker, of Manheim township, was also present and spoke a few words before the close of the services.

Deceased was neatly dressed in a white flannel shroud. The coffin was made of polished walnut wood and was an unusually large one. The corpse measured 6 feet 3 inches and the coffin was 7 feet 1 inch long and 28 inches wide. It barely went into the hearse and the doors of the conveyance could not be entirely closed.

CLAY TOWNSHIP ITEMS.—Surprise Party.—Miss Lizzie B. Bollinger was agreeably surprised by a number of her friends and acquaintances on Saturday evening, May 15th. Various games and amusements were in order during the evening. The party dispersed at a seasonable hour. All seemed to enjoy themselves and participate in the different amusements.

Forest Fire.—A great fire was raging in the mountains in the upper end of the township on Wednesday of last week. The fire was extinguished in the evening, after having done considerable damage. Quite a large amount of timber was consumed belonging to different parties.

THE LEBANON PARADE.—On Monday a firemen's parade took place in Lebanon, in which seventeen companies participated, including the Hope, of Manheim, this county, which was accompanied by the Manheim band. The parade was about one mile in length, had over 2,000 men in line, and the display was grand. The pavements, houses and streets were lined with people, and the enthusiasm was intense. There were about one dozen bands in procession, including one from Altoona, the State Capital, of Harrisburg and Perseverance of Lebanon. Handsome hose carriages, fine steamers and gaily equipped companies with flags and other ornaments, made up the parade.

THE CENSUS.—While in Lancaster a few days since we had the pleasure of meeting Hon. H. C. Snowden, census supervisor for this district. He stated that the appointments will be made public the coming Saturday or Monday. Warwick township, as heretofore stated, will be divided into two districts, the Reading and Columbia Railroad to be the dividing line.

The Bull Ring politicians claim that nearly all the Republican appointments in this county have been made from their friends and in the interest of their candidates—final announcements being purposely delayed to keep the anxious "on the string" until after the primaries. "Smith men" or "Reinoehl men" have had little favor, the only exception being young Carpenter, who is in Smith's office. They say that the Democrats will get a few, by grace, in accordance with the requirements of the law, and that "Hayes Grier will boss their appointment by an arrangement between Cameron and Wallace." "They will be generally thrown into districts where the Bull Ring can afford to dispense with them."

There are at least eight applicants from Warwick township, all anxious to know who will be the lucky ones; or, rather, who will be the most influential and favored. However, there is little use in any one over-exerting himself about the matter, for we have it from good authority that the position will be worth only from $40 to $75 in this township.

POSTPONED.—The tenth anniversary of the K. of P. Lodge of this place, announced to take place in Orchestra Hall this (Thursday) evening, has been indefinitely postponed.

POLITICAL.

FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

The array of names of candidates for the Legislature from the Northern district, presents a list somewhat calculated to embarrass the voter at the primaries. In determining who to vote for, we should look mainly to two things, being as we are a farming constituency. The first is, is the man sufficiently familiar with practical farming, and the second, is he sufficiently intelligent to be of any use at Harrisburg if we do send him there? Now what we need is a plain, practical farmer, and at the same time an intelligent man, who will feel at home when cast among a set of men mostly selected from other and more intelligent industrial classes—a man who will see the interest of the farmer and who is able to protect it against the designs of corporations or any other interest, when that interest, whatever it may be, strikes at the farmer unjustly or unfairly.

The reader has no doubt anticipated by jumping to the conclusion—that my first choice would be the active, intelligent and energetic farmer of Warwick—Johnson Miller.

Mr. Miller is the man. He is a good, practical farmer, works right about his own place, is willing, intelligent, fully competent to handle his own road with any set of men anywhere, whether in the cornfield or in the halls of legislation. He has paid more attention to agricultural statistics and learning and knows more about it, as applied to practice, than any other man in the county, young or old. For many years he was honored by Judge Watts, Secretary of local agricultural reporter for Lancaster county to the department at Washington. He is a good writer and a good speaker and a self-reliant man. He is plain and unassuming and is in fact just such a man as the people of the Northern District ought to encourage. And I will further say, if that is worth anything, that he is a man of strict honesty and integrity. Having such a claim in our district, I am willing to represent us and our interests, let us do ourselves the honor and him the justice to send him there as one of our representatives.

NORTHERN DISTRICT.

AN EXPLANATION.—A communication appeared in the Lancaster dailies this week in which, among other slanders, it was stated that a few years ago Johnson Miller received only 7 votes in the township when a candidate for school director. The fact is that Mr. Miller at that time was not a candidate for school director, was not at the polls, and the 7 votes cast for him was simply the spite work of a few persons who had an ill feeling towards the gentleman.
