Boro Estimates Show No Real Burden As Result Of Tax Boost

1956 Assessed Valuation
Reports Increase Of
$142,100

Lititz Borough's growth, while adding to borough costs, also will do much in solving the borough's financial problems.

Assessment figures just released by the county commissioners this week, showed that Lititz' total assessments jumped a total of $142,000 in property values from 1955 to 1956. On a 14 mill basis, this alone brings in $1,989.40 in borough revenues.

And, borough officials pointed out this week, the system of assessing also becomes increasingly more important. For example, work roughly valued at nearly a million dollars completed on the Warner-Lambert tract at the end of the year, was given an assessed valuation of $40,000 by the second ward assessor, Andrew Shissler.

This would indicate, Borough Manager David Bauer asserted yesterday, that when the four-million-dollar plant is completed, the assessment will stand at approximately $160,000. The borough had contemplated an increase in valuation due to this plant at around one million dollars, based on a 25 per cent assessment, it was asserted.

The 1956 borough assessments are: First Ward, $2,646,500; Second Ward, $1,196,300.

The 1955 assessments were: First Ward, $2,567,500; Second Ward, $1,133,200.

And while weather continued as the No. 1 subject of conversation here, the four mill boost in the borough tax rate announced

Carl Drepper Undergoes Brain Surgery

Carl W. Drepper, 121 East Main Street, underwent brain surgery on Monday at Lancaster General Hospital, where he was admitted last week.

Mr. Drepper, curator of Landis Valley Museum, had been advised by his physician last month to go to Florida for the remainder of the winter. While there he was stricken ill and with Mrs. Drepper returned to his home here.

He is believed to have suffered a slight stroke before being admitted to the hospital. After a series of tests and x-rays it was discovered that he was suffering from a tumor on the brain.

Whether the operation will prove successful was not disclosed, but his condition was reported as unsatisfactory last evening.

Rearich Reelected President Of Union

At a recent meeting of the Bakers and Confectioners Union No. 272, AFL, Thomas P. Rearich, Sr., 25 E. Lincoln Avenue, was elected to the presidency for the 15th consecutive term.

Other officers elected by the Wilbur-Suchard group were: Ione Henning, financial secretary-treasurer; Howard Dussinger, recording secretary; Elwood Smith, Evelyn Showers, and Wil-

Family Moved When Shack Collapses

The plight of the White family, recent objects of local charity, reached a new climax last night when the foundation of the small shack in which they were living north of Spring Lake, collapsed.

The family, which includes seven small children ranging in age from ten years to a few months, was moved from the damaged structure late last night by the Red Cross and placed in more comfortable quarters at the Park View Hotel here.

Those here who have been providing the family with food and clothing for the past several weeks announced that the effort to find a more suitable home for the family will be renewed and that their stay in the local hotel is only a temporary one.

David White, the father, long out of work, has been working recently at the Beford Shoe Company. Reverses suffered by the family over the recent holidays make relief and assistance necessary for a few more weeks at least, it was stated.

Raymond Pettyjohn, former president of the Lions Club, has been receiving donations for the family. He also urged that anyone knowing of a suitable house the family could rent, should contact him immediately.

Warner-Lambert To Open Office Here On March 7

Temporary employment offices will be opened here March 7 by the Lambert-Hudnut Division to begin limited recruiting.

Richard Pecheur, Personnel Manager for the manufacturing division, said the offices will be located in the old post office building, between the bank building, on East Main Street. Initially it is planned to hold interviews twice a week either day or evenings on Wednesday and Thursdays.

While only a few job openings are immediately available, Mr. Pecheur explained that any person interested in a position with the company may register at these offices for spring employment.

Boro Offered Tract For Parking Lot

That off-street parking may become a reality in the very near future, was learned yesterday when Mrs. Elia Mastromatteo, 107 East Main Street, offered the borough approximately 6,000 square feet at the rear of her property for that purpose.

Borough Manager Dave Bauer has looked the site over, and said that there are a few minor things to be considered, and that the actual boundaries have not as yet been determined, but thought there was little doubt that the borough and the owner would reach an agreement on the matter.

According to Pat Mastromatteo, the plot is about 120 feet by 50 feet, and it is thought that approximately 60 cars could be parked in the area. It is just a half block from the downtown shopping section, which makes it a very desirable location for longer periods of parking than provided by the metered area of town.

Interest In Primary Is Boosted

Contest For Democratic Leadership Develops Here

Interest in the coming April primary elections increased here this week with the announcement by J. Hurley Nuss, young contractor of this borough, that he is a candidate for the position of Democratic County Committeeman from the First Ward.

Nuss will oppose Ralph Cunniff, Park View Hotel proprietor, who has served as Democratic leader here for the past several years.

The contest is the only one in sight, to-date, with nominating petitions scheduled to be filed at the Lancaster County Court House before the February 20 deadline.

Justice of the Peace Paul F. Diehm, local Republican leader, reported that so far no changes have been contemplated for Republican places on the county committee. He and Mrs. Eugene Long have represented the First Ward for years, while Republican committee representatives in the Second Ward, both of whom will seek re-election, are Andrew Shissler and Mrs. Eria Templeton.

In tossing his hat into the political ring, Mr. Nuss is following in the foot-steps of his

Thefts Occur Nightly

Police Threaten Arrests To Break Up Teen-Age Loitering Here

The looting of several hundred dollars worth of equipment and materials and extensive vandalism at the new Warwick Union School project was reported to the borough police this week.

The thefts which have occurred almost nightly for the past several weeks have included articles ranging from 250 feet of copper tubing to top-soil and bricks.

Vandalism, which broke out with a vengeance Monday night, resulted in the serious damage of an electric welding machine valued at several thousand dollars, Elwin C. Jordan, resident engineer in charge of the project, reported to Chief of Police Lloyd Hoffman.

The disappearance of varying quantities of gasoline several nights in a row convinced police that teen-agers with automobiles are responsible for at least a portion of the looting.

But teen-agers are not the only ones! According to Jordan, several nights ago he returned to the school site during the evening and found a local man and his wife loading a truck with brick. When Jordan stopped the man, he reports, the fellow became indignant and openly asserted that it was "too bad a taxpayer can't take a few bricks."

The man's automobile number has been turned over to borough police. Police also reported they have the name of a suspect who is thought to have obtained some of the stolen material, and may face prosecution over the coming week-end.

Jordan also reported that several local residents also have appeared at the school site after workmen left for the day and openly have removed top-soil which is being kept in a huge pile, to be returned to the school lawn when graded. Any further attempts to take top-soil also

Seek Wild Boar In Arizona Wilds

Already distinguished as one of the few American hunters to have bagged all four species of wild rams, Walter Bradley, of Elm, departed for the mountainous areas of Arizona, Friday, to add further trophies to his collection.

This time the well-known local sportsman seeks to add a javelina, the only "All-American" wild boar, to his collection, and with the expressed determination, if his luck holds out, to make a try for a mountain lion and a couple of bobcats.

Bradley is accompanied on this trip by Marvin Schmech, of Halfville, another local hunter with considerable big game experience. The two are motoring to Phoenix, Arizona, in order to take part in the 1956 opening javelina season with Ralph A. Fisher, Sr., of Phoenix as their guide.

They also plan a motor trip to the west coast as well, as a sight-seeing trip to many points of interest in the far west, in addition to their hunting expedition.

Fisher was the guide with Bradley when in December 1954, he, as one of the four non-resident hunters with a Desert Ram permit, shot his third ram, following it with the fourth and last one, the Rocky Mountain Ram he shot in Wyoming last September.

Bradley and Schmech will venture into the famous Pinto Greek country of the Superstition Mountain range near the great copper mining town of Miami.

of the most sought-after trophies in the country today. These animals keep hidden under the cactus brush and then retreat into the rock crevices when disturbed—but become extremely vicious when cornered or threatened.

Should they bag their javelina early enough, the group will spend several days hunting mountain lions, jackrabbits and bobcats.

An account of Bradley's hunt in British Columbia for the Stone Ram is being published in the March issue of The Alaska Sportsman Magazine. The title of the article is "A Stone the Hard Way" or "The Costly

Result of a Half Century of Collecting

Dr. C. E. Lane proudly displays his rare collection of antiques he is planning to sell. The collection completely fills Dr. Lane's three-story residence on East Main Street from cellar to attic.

Local Businessman One Of Three Buyers; Would Establish Museum Here

That Dr. Cameron E. Lane, East Main Street dentist, is seriously considering disposing of his fabulous collection of antiques, was made known yesterday.

Dr. Lane, who has been a collector for 50 years, intends to sell the collection intact, and has in addition to one local prospect, two dealers who are interested in acquiring it.

The local person would place the entire collection on display in the form of a museum. One of the dealers would resell parts of the collection, and the other would purchase it for a large out-of-state museum.

Some time ago the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania authorized Carl W. Drepper, Curator of the Landis Valley Museum, to offer to accept Dr. Lane's collection, as a donation. In return for which they would build a separate structure for the collection at the Landis Valley site.

The Doctor at that time explained that a lifetime of collecting was represented by the objects and that he did not feel that he could afford an outright gift.

He has now offered to sell it as a unit at a price which reputable dealers believe to be a very fair one. Dr. Lane explained that he would prefer to have it stay in this immediate area, but his chief interest is that it will not be broken up and sold piecemeal.

One dealer told the Doctor that he believes his collection of historical china to be the finest in the United States. It includes a platter which Dr. Lane paid $350 for thirty years ago and is the only one of its kind he has ever seen. Also included is a quantity of Salopian Ware made by Thomas Turner from 1772 to 1780; Leed's Ware, dating back to 1760; a beautiful collection of Adams Ware made between 1800 and 1829; pieces made between 1784 and 1818 by Enoch Wood, and some produced by Enoch Wood and Son from 1818 to 1829; and a collection made by Ralph and James Clews from 1818 to 1829.

One of the first questions asked when a representative of the DuPonts was here to see Dr. Lane's collection was, "Do you have any Lehn's Ware?" In response to which Doc opened the door into another room which was literally filled with Lehn's Ware which had been expressly made for Dr. Lane's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Erb.

Among his most prized possessions are ten grandfathers' clocks, one of which was made in New Holland by John Esterlie between 1812 and 1830; two were made in Manheim by Jacob Eby during the period 1830-1860; a Martin Shreiner clock

'Queenie' Begins Second Semester Of Schooling

"Queenie", the borough's police dog, has returned for her second semester of schooling. Having spent the past two weeks on her old stamping ground with Officer Ludwig to determine how she would react to the first portion of her schooling, she will complete her course during the next two weeks.

According to Dr. Byron K. Horne, who watched Ludwig and John Henry Hershey put her through the paces recently, her personality has made an obvious change. At "Ludie's" command she lunges at her victim ferociously.

How the next two weeks can make any improvement in her present behavior, is difficult to imagine. Directors at the New Jersey school, however, insist that she has not reached the peak of perfection of which she is capable.

Marcia Wagaman Wins Award

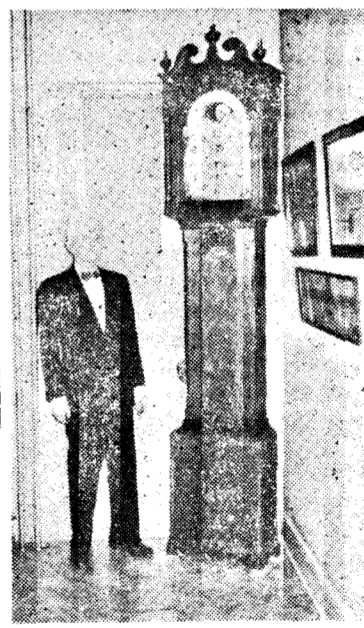

Miss Marcia Wagaman, a member of this year's graduating class, has received the Betty Crocker award in the national "Search for the Home Maker of Tomorrow" contest.

The tests were given her by Paul Lauderman, sealed and returned to the organization where they were corrected by a Board of experts. Six girls took the examination.

A winner in each school is presented with a pin and a book on "Quick and Easy Cooking". Miss Wagaman is eligible for the State award which is a $1500 scholarship or $500 for second place.

The State winners will be given a trip to Philadelphia, Williamsburg, and Washington, D. C. When in Philadelphia they

To File Articles Of Incorporation For Swim Club

Articles of incorporation for the non-profit Woodridge Swim Club are scheduled to be filed with the County Court February 24.

At a report meeting this week it was revealed that the club's goal of 350 memberships was close to realization and that based on this week's membership returns it was decided to seek formal approval of the court for the chartering of the group.

The disposition of the formality of obtaining court approval of incorporation will facilitate plans aimed at completing the pool by July.

To Stock Hammer Creek On Monday

Fred Royer, president of the Lititz Sportsmen's Association was notified last night by the State Fish Commission that 1,160 Brown Trout will be placed in the Hammer Creek Monday morning.

This is approximately 360 more trout than ever before placed there. Persons interested in helping to stock the stream should report at the postoffice

Proxy Fight Being Waged At Trappy

Minority Group Seeks To Halt By-Law Changes This Friday

A stockholders' fight to halt proposed changes in the Animal Trap Company by-laws, will be decided at the annual meeting scheduled to be held in the company offices here this Friday night.

The opposition being voiced to the management proposal was being headed by Charles E. King, of Chicago, who in letters mailed to all stockholders of the company, claimed he represents a group holding approximately 1,500 shares or roughly three percent of the Animal Trap Company common stock.

Officers of the company appeared confident that the opposition headed by King will fail to make any appreciable dent in current plans of the management.

H. V. Simcock

Simcock Awar'd Engraved Plaque

H. V. Simcock, local appliance dealer and electrical service man, who has made a specialty of installing complete kitchens, this week won the 1955 Regional Award from the Geneva Modern Kitchens Company, Geneva, Ill.

The award is in the form of an engraved plaque, and is based on the dealer's increase in sales during the year, his method of display, "before and after" photographs used in a sales catalogue, types of advertising employed, etc.

In the case of Mr. Simcock, through his intensive advertising he has become better known for his kitchen installations than as a dealer in appliances. Through the expert photography of John L. Boyd, Simcock has one of the most outstanding sales catalogues of "before and after" kitchens in the country. When his present renovations to his store are complete, he will have the finest display of modern kitchens anywhere in the county.

Bailey To Speak At Chamber Of Commerce Dinner

Members of Borough Council will be guests of the Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting to be held on February 22, at 6:30 p.m., at the General Sutter Hotel.

This will be the annual meeting of the Chamber, which the entire membership usually attends. F. F. Bailey, Assistant Supervisor of County Schools, has been engaged as the speaker of the evening.

Paul F. Diehm, president, said yesterday that the Board of Directors will make final arrangements for the affair at their meeting tonight. They will also reorganize for the year at this meeting.

Letters To The Editor

One thing we're mighty fond of, and that's letters to the editor.
 This week we received a long one—five finely written pages for that matter—on the subject of the private swimming pool club being formed. It was an interesting discussion, but, lo and behold, the thing was of a controversial nature and not signed.
 Every so often some well-meaning reader goes to a lot of trouble to jot down impressions, ideas or opinions upon some subject of local interest and then junks the whole effort by refusing to admit his identity.
 We can't possibly use anything of a controversial nature — or otherwise — where the writer refused to sign his or her name. Sorry!

Once again local 'squires, accountants, attorneys and a lot of others are busily engaged helping fill out income tax blanks. And once again we're reminded that nowadays success is the art of making more money to pay the taxes you would not be paying if you had not made so much money already, yet!

Community Effort

In this month's Town Journal, there is an article which describes the manner in which the small community of Ravenswood, West Virginia, goes about raising funds for its community projects.
 Needing $6,000 for needed recreational equipment, the Schools Improvement Association just goes ahead and plans a $5-a-plate dinner, call up some big-name speakers and gets them, too, at no cost — in fact the speakers pay for their own dinners.
 How do they do it? It's just that they band themselves together, make no bones about the fact that they're trying to get the funds they need, and then have nerve enough to go ahead and do a good job.
 Right now the Center drive is dying on its feet for lack of interest. Yep, lack of interest in what becomes of the Center or how much is raised to keep the place operating. Polite appeals just don't seem to get any reaction from anybody.
 Just what would happen if the directors decided to make the coming Chamber of Commerce a $5-a-plate dinner with all proceeds to go for the Center, we can't say. But after reading that article we sort of believe that down in Ravenswood, W. Va., they wouldn't even ask the question — they'd just go ahead and do it!

After talking with some of the tobacco raisers over on Front Street where they lined up waiting to unload their trucks last week, we got the idea that while local farm incomes aren't what they were a year ago, they're still well above average.
 And while out west they are predicting that farms will become larger and larger, where more automatic equipment can operate more efficiently, back here in the Lititz area the small farm is definitely going to remain small — and profitable.
 Diversification — and Dutch ingenuity — will always pay off!

You Pay For What You Get

One has only to review the improvements to school facilities in all parts of the Warwick Union district to realize that our present school board is really going all out in its program of providing the best possible facilities. What a contrast with the situation a few years ago when none of the three separate districts could find it possible to do much more than keep things in fairly decent repair.
 It would be good for the taxpayers of the borough as well as Warwick and Elizabeth Townships to give the program a good, deep look. Several hundred thousand dollars are being spent in addition to the construction of the two million dollar junior-senior high school building, and that ought to put Warwick Union right up at the top — as far as modern facilities are concerned.
 Where we will stand debtwise after all of the work is done is a matter of an entirely different color.

President Eisenhower's emphasis upon a balanced budget is real down-to-earth common sense. With times the best we've ever had economically, and the war over a decade ago, it is a poor criterion of the times that our debt has not been reduced before this. And there's just no excuse for not having balanced the budget.
 And as a parting shot—don't forget to buy Girl Scout cookies... grab yourself a pack of those Heart Haven Seals... and get that check in for the Center drive. It's a "Mid the Turmoil"

Everybody wants something different!
 "Say," John Ulrich yelled at us as we stopped out at Zartie's for gas last night, "When're they going to make up their minds whether we're supposed to raise beards for the Bi-centennial celebration—'cause you can't raise a beard overnight—or didn't you know?"
 And there you have it — another red hot controversial issue: Beards or no beards?

To some members of the committee, growing beards as part of a bi-centennial celebration is just so much stuff for the birds. But get around among a lot of other fellows, and the idea of raising beards (they don't give a hang if our forefathers didn't grow beards) really appeals.
 "I can't wait to see what a bunch like the firemen — or the Odd Fellows look like with beards," John added. "Sure, I'll go along. With a little help from my pal, Mathers, I think I can come up with something pretty artistic," he concluded, not knowing he was going to be quoted.

Silly, ain't? But maybe that's what we need right now — something silly enough to stir up a bit of enthusiasm!
 Hangover: A toot ache.
 As though it wasn't hard enough getting up these cold mornings Walter Grosh writes to tell us that the weather down in Orlando "is nice and warm with lots of visitors from the north." "There are lots of beautiful girls down here," Walter writes, adding, "but when I go down to the beach I just take my Record-Express along and read!" Hmmm!

Thought-of-the-week: Look before you lip.
 That's what we shoulda done last week when we made the booboo — and had the wrong date on the Rebekah bake sale. It wasn't last Saturday — the sale's to be held next Saturday, February 18, at the Odd Fellows Hall. Now to make things right, we'll have to put in our order for a nice, big devil's food cake — sure, and a dozen cup cakes!

Minds are like parachutes — won't work unless they're open!
 Now to get back to a subject close to our hearts: We've heard of folks reading the Record almost every place imaginable. Service men in the second world war sent us photos of themselves reading the Record on some dismal Pacific isle. But it remained for Sgt. Gary Macferran to come up with something really different!

On his recent visit home, Gary explained how early one morning at 1:30 a.m. he read the Record while sitting 40 feet up in the air in one of those huge cranes used to fill guided missiles. Gary is stationed at the White Sands Proving Ground in New Mexico. The atomic corporal guided missile is stood on end, poised for flight into space when Gary's job of loading up the missile begins.

The huge crane, which they call a cherry picker, is a huge metal arm which, when the metal elbow straightens out, hoists him skyward. And it was sitting up there, with powerful searchlights trained upon him from the ground below, that Gary sat reading the Record while awaiting more material.
 Do-you-know-that: The Henry Gibbels will be leaving for Hawaii soon... recent snows did a real job of tearing up holes in several local streets... the Woman's Club is sponsoring a card party at the Center tonight... the swimming club project is the liveliest topic of conversation these days... with jobs becoming harder to get, many are awaiting the opening of the Warner-Lambert office here next month... Ralph "Sunshine" Newcomer has sold his home in the woods north of Elm to Ray Mann, the feed man... the Roy Reid-enbaughs are aheadin' southward... the Buckwalters will be headin' homeward next week... Ed Vogeler has an article scheduled to show up in next month's Esquire... it begins to look as though Bernie Lehmann built that thermometer in the Square about four feet too high!

Girls who swear they've never been kissed, can hardly be blamed for swearing.
 After looking at movies taken among the primitive tribes of South America, the head-hunters who slayed those three missionaries last month, we realize that we have a lot to be thankful for here in Lititz. At least we've got an entirely different set of rule for head-hunting, ain't?

Fact is those savages would have a hard time shinking a couple of local heads down to normal size, sayswhich?
 Annie Strumbendle says: "I've always thought that mosquitoes are an awful lot like children — when they stop making a noise, you know they're getting into something!"
 One thing different this year — up to now we haven't received a single one of those insulting valentines, the ones with the ugly caricatures and lousy verse.

(As overheard by John Boyd)

Well now, Mrs. Espenshate, Come on in once and tell me all the news.
 There ain't no news — except that I am chust about packed up for our New York trip. Chorch says I can have one suitcase and that's all. So I will have my big suitcase and a large over-night bag. Chorch will have a suitcase too and his brief case, so he can kid himself that he is partly on a business trip. I have to laugh!
 Is Chorch taking his Tuxedo suit along with?
 Yes. He says we might want to go to some real high-class places where they won't let a man set down unless he is dressed up with such a little black bow tie on.
 Well, now that chust reminds me that I must send Chake's to the cleaners and have the pants and vest left out a little around the waist. The last time Chake wore it to such a banquet he said it was so tight he couldn't do chustice to his dinner til he on the train and we can eat breakfast all the way to Philadelphia. Which is my ideal of the right way to go to New York. A body can set in peace and comfort and eat and read the paper. And think of the poor people that has to set on pins and needles and fight their way on the highways and take their lives in their hands besides.

 Yes, I love to ride in the Pullman cars too and pity the people on the roads—even if there ain't no snow or ice for them to content with.
 Yes, all a body has to have is a little money and every-thing is easy. But on the other side, I really believe a lot of people like to go places in their cars. I mean for what they call pleasure driving. Especially if they have new cars.
 Young people, no doubt. And all the pleasure they get is driving fast. They don't remember what pleasure driving used to be twenty or thirty years ago when a body could go slow and could see the country.
 Yes, driving was a real pleasure in them days. We had more fun in our old Model-T's than people have today in their two-toned automatics. Do you remember that time we went to Philadelphia — the four of us — and it took us all day to get there?
 Do you mean that time we went to the Sesqui-Centennial?
 Yes, that was the time. And do you remember how Chake and Chorch went to the prize fight between Chene Tunney and Chack Dempsey and how they got soaking wet in the rain while we girls set in the dry in the hotel room and heard it on the radio?
 Yes, that I will never forget. And do you know Mrs. Espenshate, I can't remember anything about that Sesqui-Centennial. What it looked like, I mean.
 I can't remember either, except that they had awful food to eat on the fair grounds. I remember how the men belly-ached about it — and the high prices.
 No, it wasn't no place for Lancaster county people to eat at. But then we only et one meal there. I think we et most of our meals at Boothby's and Kugler's and Bookbinder's and such good places.
 Yes, and at Child's for our breakfasts. Them places I remember. You know, Mrs. Veiss, a body listening to us talk might easy get the idea that all we ever thought about was eating.
 Ain't that the truth. No matter what we talk about it always ends up with what we had to eat. And speaking of food, what are you having for supper tonight?
 Well now, to tell the truth, I have not given it a thought yet. What makes you ask?
 Oh, it chust wondered me still. I thought you might give me an idea. All I can think of is a big plate of fried scrapple. But if I have that, I will have to go to the store and get such a bottle of horse-radish. Chake won't eat scrapple unless he has horse-radish. He says pouring syrup on scrapple is like pouring ketchup on French fried potatoes. He says it's a depraved taste.
 Then let's both go to the store now and I'll get some scrapple too. It makes my mouth water to think about it sissling in the pan. Come on.
 All right. Chust wait til I pull on my galoshes.

Trees, Water And You!

Are you one of the many land owners paying taxes on land which is bringing you nothing in return? If you are, the situation can be rectified by planting your idle land with young forest trees to bring you regular periodic returns right up to and including a mature timber harvest.

Maurice K. Goddard, secretary, Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters and other top conservationists throughout the country have concluded that one of the remedies for disastrous flash floods is the tree coverage of each individual's idle and often bare land.

It is a known and proven fact that trees, among other plants, have the inherent characteristics which are so very necessary in the prevention of flash floods — the ability to absorb and hold many times their own weight of water.

Remember, wherever the aesthetically inclined eye catches the beauty of a stand of trees, it should also be remembered that that particular area of land is doing its part in terms of monetary returns to the owner and incalculable returns to the community and country in the prevention of flash floods and the preservation and improvement of our water supply.

For further information concerning the procurement and cost of state-raised trees contact Paul M. Felton, District Forester, Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, 1983 W. Main Street, Norristown, Penna., or call Broadway 2-5097.

STUMBLING-BLOCKS

A stumbling-block is any obstacle or impediment to steady growth or progress. It is something or some one which stands in the way, causing perplexity or error. In life there are many things, situations and our very selves that could be considered as stumbling-blocks, which hinder our mental, physical and spiritual growth. First of all the over-abundance of material things, and the ease with which we acquire these can become a stumbling-block to our mental ability to create for ourselves.

Furthermore, the desire to accumulate external things can take up so much of our time that we neglect the pursuit of spiritual and eternal things. We imagine that our progress hinges solely in material riches, in what we have rather than in what we are. As a result, the love of material things becomes a stumbling-block to steady spiritual progress. The Bible says, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and all these things shall be added unto you."

Secondly, the situations of ease, comfort, and much leisure time which all of us consider necessary to complete happiness are not always beneficial factors toward a strong, healthy character. In truth, they are huge stumbling-blocks causing weakness, selfishness and laziness in mind, soul and body. It is a known fact that some of the world's greatest men and women were produced in circumstances where struggles, adversities and trials were their daily portion. Then too, what need is there for faith when everything runs along smoothly? It takes hard knocks, disappointments and vexing situations to nurture and develop a healthy, vital faith! "Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations: That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ, whom having not seen, ye love."

Lastly, sometimes we ourselves stand in our own way to mental and spiritual growth and become stumbling-blocks. You are thinking—how can this be possible? We hinder ourselves by our self-concern, fear of failure, pride, indifference, lack of self-discipline and lack of dependence upon God. Jesus said quite clearly that, "Without me ye can do nothing." If we ignore such words we are merely fooling ourselves, aren't we?

These are some of the stumbling-blocks that could appear in anyone's life. Maybe you could add some of your own hindrances to successful living that have been missed—why not list them for your own benefit??

THE HAPPIEST DAYS

Little Girl Days of pinafores and paper dolls.

It seems incredible when so many have lived in beautiful girl and boy land that the philosophy of insanity that prevails in many minds throughout the world today could really be taken seriously. It denies the existence of a personal God and goes all-out for cynicism. It preaches the self sufficiency of man while reducing his lot to worse than slavery.

One brilliant man who had temporarily "fallen" for this insane philosophy tells how he turned from it back to sanity when he began observing the delicate formation of his little daughter's ear. He realized at that moment that he was not self-sufficient. He found that his church was a veritable refuge in the trying days that followed when he publicly repudiated Communism.

The Church needs your help and the help of all in fighting this insidious doctrine that would enslave the world. You can do your part through regular attendance and active participation and by urging your friends to attend church with you.

Effective Praying

Lesson for February 12, 1956

WHEN most people think of prayer they think of only one kind though there are several. The word "prayer" suggests asking for something; though it ought to suggest thankfulness, confession of sin, aspiration, trust. But leaving all these other kinds of prayer out of account, what a wonderful thing prayer is! If I could go to a millionaire once a year and ask him for anything I wanted; or if I could have an interview with the most famous person in the world with the privilege of asking one favor,—how dizzy I Dr. Foreman would be at the pleasure of the prospect! Yet God has more treasure than a millionaire, and the fame of the most renowned men is nothing compared to his glory. It is such a God to whom I can take my desires and requests, every day, every night of the year. It is only because prayer is so free that we take it for granted and fail to appreciate it. We might value the opportunity more if we had to pay well for it.

The Price of Prayer
In a way, prayer does have a price. That is to say, if prayer is to be effective, certain conditions have to be met. Jesus told some stories which bring out what these conditions are. One is the tale of two men who went into the same temple to pray. One was an old hand at it,—if there was a "praying class" of Jews (corresponding to a working class, or a professional class) in those days, he was a prominent member of it. The other man had perhaps very seldom prayed. The first man was a regular contributor to his church; the other man—if he was like the average in his profession—seldom darkened the door of a place of worship. But in Jesus' story these two men found themselves side by side in the same temple, and only one was "justified," that is to say, only one got favorable attention from God. And that one was the man who had nothing to say but "God, be merciful to me a sinner." To ask God for this and for that, as if we deserved it, as if it were our right to demand gifts from God,—this is no way to pray. Effective prayer begins with confession and repentance, not with demands.

Not to the Proud
Let us make a short list of some differences between wrong prayer and right prayer. Wrong prayer is really talking to oneself, or talking so as to be overheard by some one we want to impress. Right prayer is addressed to God alone. Wrong prayer is proud; right prayer is humble. Wrong prayer wants God to support the pride of the prayer. Right prayer casts pride away and comes to God without a claim. In wrong prayer, I come to God asking him to do something for me which will give me a better reason than I now have for being proud of myself. In right prayer, I come to God asking him to cleanse me of the pride which makes me feel that God himself is hardly necessary. In wrong prayer, the one who prays rises from his knees just as he was, for he has no wish to be changed; in right prayer, the one who prays rises a better man, for he asked God to forgive and change him.

Keeping at It
Jesus seldom if ever tried to put all the truth into one parable. He was generally content with setting out one truth at a time. So the parable of the bothersome widow, the woman who finally wore out a stubborn and selfish judge just by keeping after him,—that parable does not say everything about prayer. But it does teach one thing: Keep at it! Jesus is careful not to say that God is anything like that judge. What he does mean is that if even a bad character like that judge can be moved to do the right thing by a persistent woman, surely God our Father in heaven, who is neither lazy nor stubborn nor ill-willed, will listen to persistent prayer. We must be careful not to read into this parable more than Jesus said. There is no promise here that God counts the number of times we pray for a thing, and that if we only pray enough times he will be sure to answer. There is no guarantee that God will answer any prayer we can think of if we say it often enough. What Jesus promises is that God will bring justice at last... if we keep on wanting it.

Easy way to break the small car habit!

It's the hardtop buy of the year with the most power and size per dollar of any car in this style.

If you're accustomed to buying in the low-priced-three range, chances are you're paying for Pontiac's size, performance and distinction—but you're not getting it! As a matter of fact, you're not even coming close!

Where else at a price so low can you enjoy bossing the most modern, most advanced power plant in the industry—the mighty Strato-Streak V-8?

Where else at a price so low can you get the luxury of Pontiac's optional Strato-Flight Hydramatic—America's newest, smoothest automatic transmission?

Where else at a price so low can you find a big 122-inch wheelbase, such luxurious interiors and all the other fine-car features that put you so squarely on even terms with buyers of far costlier cars? Come in and see how easily this heart-lifting Strato-Streak beauty can be yours. Once you do, you'll be out of the small-car class forever!

You can actually buy a big, glamorous Pontiac 860 for less than you would pay for 44 models of the low-priced three!

From Out Of The Past

Taken from the Files of the Lititz Record and the Lititz Express.

TEN YEARS AGO
 February 7, 1946

The lobby of the General Sutter Hotel took on the appearance of a wartime bomb shelter Tuesday night when icy and slippery highways stranded a large number of visitors to the borough. At midnight approximately fifty members of the Lady Alice Dunn Rebecca Lodge of New Holland commandeered the lobby and sun-parlor when they were unable to obtain rooms. Using chairs, settees and benches the group wrapped themselves in overcoats and blankets and endeavored to obtain sleep. The group had made one effort to return to their homes following a lodge meeting here but were forced to turn back. The icy pavements which followed a short rainfall around 8 o'clock Tuesday evening caused numerous falls.

Harry Neidermyer, local musician, will play with the Harrisburg Symphony Orchestra during a concert this evening in the McCaskey High School auditorium, Lancaster.

B. F. Lutz announced this week that he has sold the Lutz swimming pool to Howard Eberhart, returned service man. The Lutz pool was the first built in Lancaster county outside of the city and was constructed over thirty years ago. Hundreds of local children learned to swim in the pool.

A stirring appeal to local business and industrial men to "decentralize government" and to protect freedom of enterprise from being usurped by government, made by Jack Davis, secretary of the Reading Chamber of Commerce, featured the annual dinner meeting of the Lititz Chamber of Commerce held in the General Sutter Hotel Tuesday evening. Paul F. Diehm, president, and 82 members attended.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
 February 13, 1936

A drive for books for the new Lititz Public Library will be made on Saturday February 22, according to an announcement by the directors of this project. On that day machines will cover Lititz and all residents who have books they no longer use or need are asked to contribute them to the library.

More than 10,000 gallons an hour were pouring into the ground under South Broad Street yesterday and last night from one of the worst leaks the Lititz water department has faced in its history. The leak has been located in front of the home of Harry Riegel between Second and Third Avenues and workmen started last night the frigid task of breaking through the macadam to begin repairs. No water came through the street surface to tell of the leak. It was discovered and charted by the electric sentinels in the booster station. C. Walter Miller, water superintendent, saw there was a leak when he changed the charts on the electric clock early yesterday morning. There is a danger that the tremendous amount of water pouring out of the main will cause a sinkhole under the street.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton H. Alt-house of South Broad Street, recently completed a series of tinted photographs of the Hotel Hershey which have been placed in the Hershey Public Library and large New York City hotels. The pictures placed at Hershey are large, suitable for hanging. The Althouses are now working on a series of the Masonic Homes at Elizabethtown—Mr. Althouse taking the pictures and Mrs. Althouse tinting them.

THIRTY YEARS AGO
 February 11, 1926

The Pretzlette, with an illustrated cover by a High School pupil, made its initial appearance in the high school here last Friday. It has a variety of reading matter and a sprinkling of original jokes and poetry. It is a good idea and a means to the use of good English. Those who have seen it praise the ability of the young writers. The Society of Farm Women Number 1 met at the home of Mrs. N. W. Hess east of Lititz on Saturday afternoon to see a demonstration of the propane bottled gas stove given by J. B. Hewes of Lancaster. Oyster soup, coffee, biscuits and toast were prepared on the gas stove and were served and enjoyed by the ladies.

Barton and Luther Sharp, boys who were reared on the farm and know many things that city boys never learned, in tracking a coon came upon a honey-bee's home in an old stump in the furnace hills. They collected thirty-two pounds of the finest honey imaginable. They failed to get the coon but set traps for it and possibly will catch it later.

With the new express train to be put on by the Reading, between Lancaster and Reading, Lititz residents can reach the Berks County seat in 49 minutes, just four minutes longer than it takes to reach Lancaster by trolley. What the trolley company should do is to straighten out the road at Kissel Hill and make the run between these two places in half an hour.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Eggs continue to drop in price as the mild weather continues to spur the hens on to greater efforts. Merchants quote henfruit now at 24c a dozen.

According to a statement claimed to be made by one of the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, that corporation has $600,000 ready for the building of a new station at Lancaster. Last week several of the officials visited Lancaster and discussed the proposed new station, which all agree is badly needed. But the new station will have to be erected along the cut-off, for that is the only location that the railroad people claim will benefit them. They will spend no money on the old station.

The officers of the Rothsville canning factory have decided not to do any canning next summer. There is considerable goods still on hand and besides it is no secret that the factory has not been on a paying basis and that there are a lot of debts. Mr. Mackey who was here since it began, leaves for Virginia the first of March.

Several hundred people have already visited the farm of Jere C. Cassel, south of Manheim to see the cow belonging to Lewis Farmer who gave birth to a triplet of calves a few years ago. Peculiar as it may seem, two of the three calves are Holsteins and the other is of common stock. The triplet youngsters, while small, are perfectly formed.

It looked more like cruelty to animals than pleasure for four persons to be seated in a sleigh on Tuesday evening with one horse pulling them through more mud than snow as they passed through town.

It looks more like winter this week. We had snowfall for two successive days and had it been colder at the time of falling it would have amounted to a deep snow. However, a few ventured out in sleighs just the same.

Mrs. Christian Kling and two daughters—for a long time engaged at Linden Hall, have left

They Torqued it up for the BEST TAKE-OFF YET

First thing you need in a car, of course, is power to spark performance.

And you get that in a 1956 Buick in plenty — from big 322-cubic-inch V8 engines that hit new highs in horsepower and compression.

But the power under the hood must be carried to the rear driving wheels in the form of twisting force on the drive shaft.

That's torque — the end-product of your transmission.

And the higher the torque build-up — the greater the "torque multiplication" in starting and accelerating — the better the getaway and response.

So if you want to feel take-off that leaves your breath behind you, come try a '56 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

For in this airplane-principled transmission, Buick engineers raised the ceiling on torque to give you the best getaway yet.

They did it with something they call "double regeneration" — a new way to make flowing oil add to its own velocity.

And when you use the full torque of a Buick beauty like the one pictured above, you're using the highest torque multiplication to be had in any standard-production American automobile today.

Come see for yourself what that means in new thrills and new safety.

You'll find brilliant new getaway response in the first inch of pedal travel — plus greater gas mileage to boot.

You'll find an electrifying new safety-surge of full-power acceleration when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch.

And you'll find this spectacular performance blended into the smoothest-traveling, the sweetest-riding, the highest-powered and the easiest-handling Buicks yet built. Drop in on us this week — today, if you can — and judge things firsthand.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Mrs. Kauffman, Local Housewife Takes A Fling At Poetry

Mrs. Betty Kauffman, local housewife, whose letters-to-the editor on such local topics as borough taxes, water charges, etc., caused a mild upheaval here last year, this week turns to poetry in giving vent of her feelings upon another local topic of considerable interest.

"Maybe this will answer some of the questions asked by S. H. in your paper last week," Mrs. Kauffman writes. I'm hoping that this so-called poem will bring in many letters to your paper pro and con. I really enjoy other people's opinions whether they agree with me or not. In fact, it's much more stimulating than a cup of coffee — so here goes!"

Judgement Day At last it was here! The day we had awaited so long.

Faces were brightly shining. Voices raised in song. A solemn hush fell over the crowd.

Not a sound was heard. Everything was quiet and still.

He smiled and said, "My Master has sent me to bid you 'hello'."

My name is Peter. My mission is to tell you where to go."

He paused; then started towards the people. Slowly they divided into groups of two.

He turned to his left and quietly asked, "For your reward, what did you do?"

A loud strong voice was raised in answer,

"Oh, Saint Peter, listen to me. We have done well.

I know you'll agree. For our families we provided a new house.

Furs for our girls; cars for our boys.

Our wives had all the latest appliances.

And for our babies the best of toys. Our educational courses were rated low. But our school was the best money could buy.

We kept our children out of trouble, too.

Mainly by money or a favor done on the sly.

We also built a swimming pool, To rescue us from the heat.

It was very exclusive, you know.

The Clientele couldn't be beat. You must be pleased with us, Saint Peter,

For we call ourselves the 'Better Class'."

In horror he stopped his little speech,

For his voice had changed to the braying of an ass.

Saint Peter turned to the smaller group,

"Have you decided whom your speaker will be?"

"Yes, Saint Peter," a quiet voice spoke,

"These people have chosen me. We had not all those worldly possessions.

But we all were very happy. We prized our other blessings more.

And taught our children faith, love, and honesty.

We had no house but we had a home.

One in which we all had a share. Yes, and had many blessings.

And we gave to others all we could spare.

We had no pool to cool us. But we had the wonderful rivers and streams;

And we used these to full advantage.

We, with our foolish dreams, We are not of the 'Better Class'.

His voice died away and angels' voices were heard.

The music was sweet and low.

Then louder and higher as the hitting of a bird.

Saint Peter held out his hand. "Come, follow me. There's a mansion waiting for you".

The 'Better Class' then cried with a plea, "But what are we to do?"

"I'm sorry but you will have to go below.

False pride and worldly possessions have been your goals. And thru these things, You have lost your souls.

You'll find that money is not the key

To the lock of our Golden Gate.

What a shame, poor people, You should learn this too late."

Sincerely yours, Mrs. Betty Kauffman

REVIEWING SPORTS

BY Tom Dussinger
Record-Express Sports Editor

That the New York Yankees are exclusively a symbol of American baseball to the people of Japan, was emphasized in an hour-long talk with S/Sgt. James R. Johnson, former Lititz High athlete, just returned from a tour of duty with the U. S. 5th Air Force, stationed in Nagoya, third largest city in the Land of the Rising Sun.

Jim said, "The fact that the Yankees were defeated by Brooklyn in last fall's World Series did not in any way detract from the Nipponese worship of the Bronx Bombers. To them the Yankees are the Alpha and Omega of baseball."

Being an avid Yankee fan, Jim added, "This of course, shows intelligent thinking on the part of the Japs."

The Yankees, who toured the Orient last fall, played the Chinchin Dragons in Nagoya on November 1st, and Jim, from a seat behind the Yankee dugout, saw the Bombers take the Dragons by a 7 to 0 score.

His observations on Japanese baseball were highly informative.

The stadium where the game was played was of modern structure and design, seating 40,000 people. For the Yankees' game about 30,000 turned out and Jim observed that the price of tickets kept the crowd under capacity. The admission of 1,000 yen, which is $2.75 in U. S. currency, was prohibitive to a large segment of ardent baseball fans in that city as their average monthly earnings are approximately 8,000 yen per month.

Jim said the Yankees won with comparative ease and some Jap metropolitan papers claimed they didn't go all-out to win, although Casey Stengel later made the statement that they gave their all.

As to the modern ball park, Jim commented further that, but for the jibbering language of the fans around him, it was like seeing a ball game in any big league park in America.

There were ceremonies prior to the game and some clowning by the Yanks during the warm-up period, which the Japs loved.

The line up announcements were confusing, related Jim, since Japanese words all end in vowels. Consequently, the names of the Yanks sounded strange. Such as Fordu (Whitey Ford), Martinu (Billy Martin), etc. (Wonder what they did with Yogi Berra.)

However the umpires use strictly American terms — ball, strike, safe and out.

The field was in excellent condition. The infield was of the "skinned" variety while the outfield looked like green velvet. Advertisements adorn the walls, just as in some American parks. However, no beer or pop bottles are sold in the stands, to later be heaved at an erring umpire.

Japanese ball players are generally skillful. They are fast and compare favorably with Americans on defense. Their throwing arms are not as strong and at that are considerably weaker, particularly against our big league pitching.

Baseball, Johnson said, has a strong hold on the Japanese people. Games are in progress all over the place at all hours. He has seen games being played as early as six o'clock in the morning, before the participants went to school or work. They play until it is too dark to see the ball.

Asked how their best teams would be rated according to our classifications, Jim thought they would be comparable to our Triple-A even though, he said, Stengel listed them in Class A.

Whatever category, they idolize American ball players and copy their style of play.

In Tokyo the Yanks were feted and showered with gifts. Crowds followed them wherever they went. The same was true in Nagoya and other stops of their itinerary.

During the conversation Jim described conditions in Japan since the war. The changes in culture and more modern, Westernized ways of living, especially among the younger people in the large cities.

It was a most interesting and enlightening chat with Jim. Above all, he wanted to emphatically point out (and we agree) that the Yankees are still tops.

Baseball Bits

Didja know— The Kansas City ball park, home of the departed A's, has no bleacher section.

On June 15, 1952, the New York Giants led the St. Louis Cardinals 1 to 0 after three innings. The Cards won out, 14 to 12.

Casey Stengel is the only National League player in World's Series history to hit a home run to win a game 1 to 0.

Willie Mays is only the third New York Giant played to win the National League batting title. Bill Terry and Larry Doyle were the other two.

Who can predict what cities will comprise the major leagues ten years hence?

With the Dodgers threatening to vacate Ebbets Field, and now the Giants contemplating getting out from under Coogan's Bluff and moving across the Harlem River to Yankee Stadium with the eventuality that they may even seek greener pastures in another city — anything can happen.

Imagine New York with only one big league club.

Face Crucial Test At New Holland This Friday Night

By Tom Landis

Forging ahead on a 20 point last quarter, the Warriors gained the upper hand and coasted to a 14 point victory over Solanco at Quarryville Tuesday night.

After being outscored 14-10 in the first stanza, Warwick bounced back in the second period, with the help of Ed Harnly's six points, to edge into a 24-21 lead at halftime.

With scoring evenly distributed in the third quarter, the Warriors were again outscored by one point to bring the score to 37-35 at the end of the period.

The last stanza saw Warwick break loose for 20 points, led by Harnly's 9, to outdistance their opponents by 12 counters and coast to their tenth victory.

Warriors Defeat East Lampeter

By Tom Landis

Ray Huber's 12-point first quarter got the Warriors off to a fast start here Friday night as the locals downed East Lampeter to bring their record to 9-2.

Starting off with a bang, the Warriors tallied 16 points to their opponents' 12 in the first stanza.

The second quarter saw Lampeter gain a point, 16 to Warwick's 15, but the Warriors still maintained a slim three-point lead at half-time with the help of Nev Weit's six points.

Warwick picked up three more in the third period, outdistancing their opponents, 9-6.

The last quarter again saw Lampeter pick up a point on the locals, racking up 14 to our 13, but Harnly's six points helped clinch the game and another win for Warwick.

Since spelling was not one of my outstanding subjects in school (in fact it's hard to decide what was) I remained silent. The more I thought about the idea, the more I wanted to try it. First I wrote the column, then I racked my brain for a title. It had to be something about hunting and fishing — like Rods and Guns, Fish and Game, Bullets and Lines or Plugs and Shells.

Of Plug and Shell

BY John Helter

One year ago, on a Sunday evening, I was pleasantly occupied in a game of "Scrabble". My "teachers" were Marvin Miller, his very attractive wife, Arlene, and a one-time Honor Student in the Lititz High School (and she never lets me forget it) whom I wooed and won, my wife.

No conversation in which I partake can exist for any length of time, without the subjects of hunting or fishing arising.

One of my guests was ideally suited to the discussion of the subjects. Marv, now editor of the sports department of Lancaster's morning newspaper, was giving me the latest news concerning the much-talked-about San Juan rabbit. I, in turn, spouted off with information I had picked up on this oversized cottontail.

Then Marv, who at the time was editing the Lititz Record-Express, in the absence of Mr. Young, came up with the most laughed-at joke of the evening. "Why don't you write a column on out-door sports for Bill?"

I merely chuckled, but my wife erupted with a roar that could be heard above the blare of TV and the noise of six children who were giving their interpretation of an atomic bomb blast.

Now, just how my wife knows where I hide my "goat" is a mystery to me, but she sure can find it!

Of course, maybe she was justified by the fact that she was 30-some points ahead of me in the word game we were playing and I was in fourth place. (There being four of us in the game.)

Since spelling was not one of my outstanding subjects in school (in fact it's hard to decide what was) I remained silent.

The more I thought about the idea, the more I wanted to try it. First I wrote the column, then I racked my brain for a title. It had to be something about hunting and fishing — like Rods and Guns, Fish and Game, Bullets and Lines or Plugs and Shells.

That's It! OF PLUG AND SHELL!

Now, 52 ideas later, and on the birthday of this column, I wish to thank Marvin for his patient help and suggestions, my wife for putting my "goat" back where she found it, with her kind words or her smiles as she reads my weekly efforts, Bill Young for publishing the column (not to mention the weekly contribution to my fishing tackle fund) and to you, the readers, who on numerous occasions have made comments on my material. (Good, bad, or indifferent.)

If in some way I have induced you to take a child fishing, hiking, camping or to better enjoy nature, if I have instilled in you the effort to be a better sportsman or to respect the land-owners' rights, if I have made just one farmer more conscious of good conservation practices, or if I have only made a smile appear on your face on a day when things went wrong — then I feel, in my small way, I have contributed to the better understanding of the sports and the out-doors that I love.

Nature, God's greatest gift to man, was put here for you to enjoy.

Man, through far-sighted laws enacted in the past century, has provided us with more area, better fishing and more wildlife for recreational purposes.

Look around you, friend, enjoy it, it's Free!!!

This week the Pennsylvania Game Commission weekly newsletter came through with a bill that was introduced to the House, and which has much merit. Any sportsman, worthy of the name, should favor this, for the betterment of his sport.

CARRYING OF FIREARMS. Proposes to amend Section 705 of The Game Law by providing

This an' That
Otto Graham, who came out of retirement to quarterback the Cleveland Browns during the past season and earned the title of "Professional Athlete of the year" in the nationwide poll, is the first footballer to win that honor. In 1954, Graham was runnerup to Willie Mays of the New York Giants baseball team. For his work in leading the Browns to the 1955 National Football League title, Otto also was picked (for the sixth time) to the Associated Press' all-pro team, was voted the plaque of merit by the Sports Broadcasters Association, and named to football's hall of fame. Quite a year for the 34-year-old veteran . . . The National Football League hopes to have fewer injuries next year because of a new rule voted unanimously at its recent annual meeting. Henceforth, when a ball carrier is grounded as a result of bodily contact, the ball immediately becomes dead. The ball carrier can still fight his way free of tacklers, but if any part of his body except hands or feet touch the ground the play ends.

BOXING REFORMER . . . Julius Helfand, New York Athletic Commission chairman, ordered New York Boxing Guild to disband, freeing fighters from monopolistic control. Helfand hopes to improve boxing by reviving small fight clubs.

(Continued from Page 1) ment. The letter, dated February 1, 1956, and mailed to stockholders by King in his effort to round up proxies, follows: A group of associates and myself own about 1,500 shares of stock in Animal Trap Company. This is about 3% of the stock. We purchased this stock hoping that some of the company's past profitable operation could be restored. Due to the fact that the company went for over a year without paying dividends on the common stock, the price of the common has been as low as 5 1/2 although book value is over $16 per share, and stock once sold at $35 per share.

The proposal of the management to amend the by-laws: "Section 1. The business and property of the Company shall be managed by a Board of seven Directors, who need not be stockholders of the Company." has infuriated a large segment of the stockholders to whom I have talked.

WE BELIEVE THAT EVERY DIRECTOR OF ANIMAL TRAP COMPANY SHOULD BE A STOCKHOLDER! The management's proposal that directors need not be stockholders indicates that they want to run the company without taking the risk of investing in the company's stock. WE OPPOSE THIS RESOLUTION PROPOSED BY MANAGEMENT.

We ask your support in signing the enclosed proxy which will be voted against the resolution proposed by management. By signing the enclosed proxy and mailing it to me, you will ensure that only stockholders can be directors of our company. Yours very truly, Charles E. King.

ANTIQUES

(Continued from Page 1) considered one of the finest ever made. Shreiner located in Strasburg in 1787 and made clocks there until 1810. Elias and John Leinbach manufactured clocks at Reamstown from 1788 to 1810, one of which is in Dr. Lane's possession; there is also a Samuel Hill, made in Harrisburg.

The collection also includes Steigel glass, milk glass, objects of brass and copper, several spinning wheels, one of which was owned and used by the mother of Nathan Reist, late of this borough, and an authentic Colonial canopy bed seven feet, two inches tall.

As his reason for deciding to sell his collection, Dr. Lane stated that having no family, and realizing that he is getting along in years, he feels that it would be a source of satisfaction to know that the efforts of his fifty years as a collector would be housed under one roof where others could continue appreciating the pieces, many of which are heirlooms.

The first building lot in the tract sold was purchased by Richard Gingsbach, of Rothsville, who plans to build a residence as soon as plans can be completed. The sale of several additional tracts now is pending.

FROM OUT OF THE PAST INTO THE PRESENT!

Yes, there was competition in the jewelry business forty-three years ago. Here's what Harry Wertsch said about it in the Lititz Record on February 27, 1913:

"Our Spring Line of jewelry is now in. We have some of the latest styles and patterns to select from. We are convinced more than ever that you can buy jewelry cheaper at home than anywhere else. Buy it and be convinced for yourself. Wertsch, Main Street, Lititz, Pa."

While Harry evidently believed forty-three years ago that one could buy jewelry cheaper at home—in Lititz—than anywhere else, we do not believe that it is safe to make such a statement today. We say this simply because it would be a tough statement to prove.

Of course, Mr. Wertsch was not thinking about Lancaster city jewelers or even Philadelphia jewelers. His statement was directed more at the big mail order houses, which at that time were getting a large amount of "home town" trade because of their claims of lower prices.

However, we will say this: today it costs no more to buy a certain piece of jewelry store merchandise in your own town, from a man you know personally and who guarantees satisfaction, than it does to buy that piece elsewhere. You may not save a lot of actual dollars by buying in Lititz, but we know you'll pay no more — and at Fickinger's, if anything goes wrong or looks wrong TO YOU, you won't have to leave Lititz or write a lot of letters to get a satisfactory adjustment. SIMON T. FICKINGER, Jeweler.
