THE WIDOW'S REVENGE.

"WHAT a foolish little woman! My betrothed wife ought to have more faith in me than to become jealous every time I happen to look at a pretty face."

"Really! Then I presume that I have orders not to speak to Mrs. Gresham when I meet her, notwithstanding the fact that she is an old flame of mine?"

"You don't mean to say, Nell, that you wish to break our engagement on account of a trifling misunderstanding?"

"An old flame of his, am I?" queried Mrs. Gresham, as she slowly rose from the lounge on which she had been reclining.

"Indeed!" replied Miss Beauford, drawing her small figure to its most dignified proportions.

"Yes, I overheard him tell you that I was an old flame of his, and I thought you would be benefited if I narrated the whole story of that little affair of ours."

"I thought so then, but I found out later on, that I had been mistaken."

"Ah! then it was not so hard for you as it is for me to give him up, for I—oh, Mrs. Gresham, I love Eric Thorne better than my life."

be effectually cured of his flirting propensities.

"Edith, you know I love you! Our parting was all a mistake; you forget me and married, but I—Edith, I have remained single for your sake."

"Are you sure of that, Eric?" asked Mrs. Gresham, archly. "Were you not recently engaged to that pretty little Miss Beauford?"

"I prefer to leave Miss Beauford's name out of the present discussion," he answered, constrainedly.

"And what is that, my darling?" he asked, anxiously.

"Well, you know, Eric, when I married Phillip it was such a very prosy wedding, so matter-of-fact and unromantic, that I vowed, if I ever married again—here Mrs. Gresham blushed charmingly—"I would elope."

"Of course Capt. Thorne consented to all her capricious whims. The widow kissed him and begged him to keep the affair a secret until they started."

"Here we are!" he exclaimed, as the carriage finally stopped. "In a few minutes you will be my own."

"But, my good woman, where did you come from? How did you get there?" demanded the captain in bewilderment.

"My Dear Eric: When you receive this I shall be many miles away from Newport, but that you may not be disappointed in our scheme for to-night, I have prevailed upon Miss McGrath to take my place. I trust that she will make you a good wife. This little flirtation has been very amusing to me and his made the time pass very pleasantly for both of us.

For one wild moment Eric Thorne stood quite dazed. Then the manhood within him which had so long lain dormant rose to meet the occasion.

"Nell, he said, 'I have been a fool and am rightly punished. But through all this nonsensical business I have never really forgotten you. In the presence of these our friends I ask your forgiveness. Impose upon me any penance—only say you will eventually become my wife.'"

Before Nell, overwhelmed by the situation, could answer, Nora McGrath now smiling broadly, broke in:

"And what is that, my darling?" he asked, anxiously.

"Certainly!" responded the old gentleman, promptly. "And I remember your mother when she used to sell poultry to us at home?"

"Here is a blood curdling account of the doings of a man eating leopard lately shot in Rajshahi district in Bengal. The monster has destroyed 154 persons before he was brought down. His appetite for flesh, his ferocity, his cunning and his audacity were unexampled in leopard tribe, and they would have done credit to a tiger."

For miles around the people never ventured to leave their homes after night-fall until they heard he was dead, but this was no great hindrance to him. He would seize them from the verandas when they were smoking the evening pipe and sometimes he penetrated the very houses in the dead of night and carried away children—often without giving the slightest alarm to the other inmates.

As a rule he killed only one person at a time; but sometimes he killed two, and on one occasion he killed three in one day. Children and old women were his favorite food. Among his victims there were but six men. He was impelled by a sheer hankering for human flesh, for he never touched the cattle.

The villagers began to think the scourge was a demon incarnate and it was impossible for them to organize for the pursuit. At length some twenty elephants were brought together for an expedition, and a flying column of British planters set forth in quest of the destroyer. They searched for some time in vain, until an old man whose wife had been eaten, came to report that their quarry had taken refuge in a tamarind tree.

"Forgot His Raisin."

The old man, the old woman and the children had traveled ten miles in an ox cart to see the young man graduate. It had cost the old man all the cash in sight to give the boy a chance, and now he was going to see him distinguish himself. He arrived, and found his son in the hall talking with three professors, says the Atlanta Constitution. The young man glared at him in gold eye-glasses and yellow shoes.

"I believe you are my father!" he said with condescension, "but really you're quite disguised in that old hickory striped shirt. Put it off as soon as you can. I'll lend you one of my white ones. And mother, I must see your milliner. You look a freight in that bonnet. And that little cotton-headed chap—my brother, I believe? why don't you dye his hair? He's in bad taste, you know! And, father, send the ox cart home by your footman. I'll hire a carriage, you know. Oh, I've got lots to learn you. Just wait till I get home!"

The graduate was going on in this style the dumbfounded old man was slowly divesting himself of his home-made coat and as slowly rolling up the sleeves of his hickory striped shirt. Then he fell upon the graduate's neck, and the latter fell on the floor before the astonished professors. "Sit on his head, old woman!" shouted the old man, "and hand me that buggy trace, Jimmy. Why the darned critter's done forgot his raisin! That's it, Maria! Hold him down, while I flail the life outen him?"

What is a Wife? The pretty school teacher, for a little diversion, had asked her class for the best original definition of "wife," and the boy in the corner had promptly responded, "A rib."

"Man's guiding star and guardian angel," said in response to the nod. "A helpmeet," put in a little flax-haired girl.

"One who sours man in adversity," suggested a demure little girl.

A Snake Swallower. A wonderful story reaches us from Japan of a snake swallower who has outdone all forerunners in the art. Saito Tora-no-suke was one day breaking up some land, when he came upon a snake three feet long. Seizing it in his hands, he called out to his companions that if they would give him four dollars he would swallow the snake.

Nothing, Let's Hope. He—"Do you even mean to marry?" She—"Perhaps I may some time." He—"Have you made up your mind who the man will be?" She—"Merely no!" He—"Still you think you will marry somebody sometime?" She—"I may."

Condensed Milk. When condensed milk was first introduced, 30 years ago, the idea was laughed at. The inventor carried the entire daily supply for New York in a ten-quart pail, delivering it personally to patrons. He died worth $7,000,000, made out of the business, which has grown to be a gigantic industry.

Conversation of Crows.

A good many days spent in berrying, gardening, loafing and such like profitable employments in the country have convinced the listener, says the Boston Transcript, of the perfect truth of the theory that crows have a complete language of their own—or at least an elaborate code of signals, in which one sort of sound always stands for one thing and another sound for another thing, and so on.

Whenever a crow, flying over a wood, sees a man some where below, he always utters a peculiar and particular guttural cry, which is answered in the same tone by other crows within hearing. This cry means "A man down here!" as plainly as anything could mean it. You will never hear exactly the same word under any other circumstances.

There is a certain short, sharp, high, very explosive "Ha! Ha! Ha!" which the listener would say meant "play" because it is oftener heard when the crows seem to be grating about in the air for mere pleasure. You hear one fellow, sitting in the dead top of a hemlock tree, call out his "Ha! Ha! Ha!" Another answers "Ha! Ha! Ha!" from some upland pasture, and in a minute they are swinging playfully together away up in the air.

Thoughtlessness. Farmer Simpson was an exceedingly mild-mannered man, and would find excuses for the shortcomings of his neighbors, for the faults of his horses and, in fact, for every unpleasant thing that came in his way. He purchased a cow and had great difficulty in keeping her in the pasture.

From A Lady's Shoe. About town a century ago it was no uncommon practice on the part of the "fast men" to drink bumpers to the health of a lady out of her shoe. The Earl of Cork, in an amusing paper in the Connoisseur, relates an incident of this kind, and, to carry the compliment still further, he states that the shoe was ordered to be dressed and served up for supper.

The Potato as Cleanser. There is a great deal of cleansing power in an ordinary Irish potato. In many laundries boiled and mashed potatoes are used to produce snowy whiteness, and more than one camper-out, who has found himself without soap, has fallen back on potatoes as a substitute, and washed out handkerchiefs and shirts with them. As a matter of fact, potatoes will remove stains which refuse to yield to soap, and the chemical action is much less injurious to fabrics.

Over the State.

Berk's county's official ballot will be 22x33 inches. There are fifty cases of diphtheria in the town of St. Clair. Six thousand school children will parade in Reading on Columbus Day.

A Luzerne county candidate for the Legislature promises, if elected, to introduce a bill to pension the Home-stead soldiers. The body of John Campbell, a Fairview farmer was found on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad at Chester on Saturday night. He had been struck by a train.

A 6-year-old daughter of Isaac Barclay, Madison township, Perry county, was so severely burned in extinguishing a fire at her parents' home that she died. A verdict of $1500 was given to Catharine Sayre against the city of Reading because she was injured by a fall in an alley. The Judge vetoed an annuity verdict of $150.

Commissioners ordered 1,000,000 ballots for Allegheny county. Coke works at Connellsville are closing on account of the drought. Williamsport preachers officially denounced Sunday milk dealers.

The body of an unknown man was found in the Susquehanna River at Hightsville. While riding in a train near Susquehanna Heinrich Daniels, of Ontario, shot himself. Over 400 rattlesnakes were killed during the summer in Stone Valley, Dauphin county.

In the Pennsylvania Railroad yards at Harrisburg an employe named Diem was run over and killed. A Pittsburg inventor says he can make fuel gas from oil that will be cheaper than natural gas. Engineer John Buchanan fell from his locomotive at Mahanoy Plane and sustained fatal injuries.

Three-fourths of the inhabitants of the town of Possum Hollow, near Beaver Falls, are sick with typhoid fever. The Jolt at a curve threw Brakeman Patrick Leahy from his train near Shenandoah and his skull was fractured. The men who were converted to temperance by Francis Murphy, 16 years ago, held a reunion in Pittsburg.

During a street row among a party of friends at Pottsville, Constable Martin Zeigler rushed barefooted from his house, revolver in hand, and seizing William Kepley, who resisted arrest, shot him through the heart. John McLuckie, Homestead's Chief Burgess, who is wanted both as a defendant and as a witness at Pittsburg, is at Youngstown, O., where he is protected by officials and iron workers. Consternation has been spread among the workmen at Miners' Mills, Luzerne county, by the mysterious wounding at different times of Frank Hardenburg, John Evehart, and John Fremont from ambush.

William Zitzka, a laborer, was found in a field near Pottstown, with a stab in the back and a fractured skull. He will die. Death resulted to Thomas McNeilus, aged 7 years, at Hazleton, from getting a clover stem in his throat. Aloysius Blettel, an aged German, was found in his house at Lancaster burned to a crisp from an exploded lamp. Frank Arlington, a patent medicine vender, was found dead in Allentown, having died of congestion of the brain. P. H. Koons, the defaulting tax collector of Scranton, was sentenced to eighteen months imprisonment.

Knee Cap Fractured. Peter Burkholder, a farmer living southwest of Lititz, last Friday had his knee cap fractured by a plank falling on it. Dr. Brobst is attending him.

Two Fingers Sawed Off. Levi Tresh, of Clay township, near Mt. Airy, the man of flying coach fame, was unfortunate last week. His right hand was caught in a circular saw and besides having two fingers cut off the other two and the thumb were badly lacerated.

Settled for $3000. Joseph Bollinger, who had a claim against the oil pipe company for passing through his land, has settled all claims for $3000. A jury some time ago awarded him $3500, but as the company refused to pay this amount, an amicable agreement was made as above stated.

You Can See How It Works. Next Tuesday evening at 7:30 the Lititz and Warwick League will have "sample ballots" at their meeting at Bomberger's hall to illustrate the method of voting under the Baker ballot act by actual practice. All voters of all parties who wish to see how it is done and try it are cordially invited to be present.

Miss Longenecker's Wedding. A wedding took place at the residence of Abraham L. Longenecker, on Sunday, at his residence on West High street, Manheim, in the presence of a large number of friends, when his youngest daughter, Miss Fannie, was married to Nicholas Schlegel, of Washington. Rev. C. H. Shirk, of the Evangelical church, officiated. The couple will reside at Washington.

To Be Operated by Steam. David H. Snavely, proprietor of the Willow Bank Mills north of Lexington, is building an attachment to his mill in which it is to be placed a boiler to run a twenty-five horse power engine to run his machinery. The Hamner creek is so low that he has little water to run in order to fill the many orders which he has under contract.

A Newspaper Changes Hands. The Manheim Sun has been purchased by a stock company and will hereafter be published by the Sun Publishing Company, Limited. Mr. A. L. Campbell will remain as editor and Dr. H. K. Miller, business manager. The paper will be entirely independent and will be increased in size and its circulation extended. The owners comprise a number of prominent farmers and influential business men.

United Brethren Appointments. At the United Brethren conference at Lebanon last week Rev. C. G. Miller was appointed pastor for Lititz circuit. Rev. J. W. Boughter, the former pastor, goes to Rapp's station. Mr. Miller is a native of Clay township; is a graduate of the Dayton, O. college; is a young man possessing all the qualifications for an active and hard worker in the good cause of this circuit. He is married to the oldest daughter of Hiram L. Erb, of Clay.

A Hard Fall. The Manheim Sentinel of last week says: While standing on a step-ladder draping curtains in her parlor on Wednesday Mrs. Dr. J. Francis Dunlap had a slight attack of vertigo and fell to the floor, striking the mantle with her head and badly spraining it and the sofa with her head, causing concussion of the brain and rendering her unconscious for several hours. Mrs. Dunlap while the immense circulation is considerably bruised over her entire body as a result of the mishap.

"Pit Schwefelbrenner" in Town. Mr. Ed H. Raach, known as "Pit Schwefelbrenner" on account of published Pennsylvania Dutch papers which he is the author, was in Lititz on Tuesday and while here attended the funeral of H. H. Grosh. Mr. Raach is now publisher of the Manheim Chunk Democrat. In the time of Lincoln's administration he published a paper at Lancaster named Father Adams, which had an immense circulation. Mr. Raach is now 72 years old. He was a son of the late Squire Christian Raach, and was born at Warwick in the house now occupied by Joseph Sherk. In 1866 his father was buried here, and that was the last time our former citizen attended a funeral at Lititz, but he still thinks much of the place of his birth and boyhood days.

A COLUMN OF JOINTINGS.

Chastening Parties—Case Dismissed—Low Water—Races at Rothsville—Houses are Scarce—Chasing a Thief. Julius F. Sturgis is down at the river again this week fishing with hook and line.

An omnibus load of Warwick ladies and gentlemen hied to the hills on Tuesday on a pretended chesnutting trip.

Those Lititz violators of the law, who shot partridges west of the Springs grounds last week, are likely to be prosecuted in a few days. So they should be.

John Gible, who purchased H. S. Meiskey's property on East Main street, is erecting a stable on the lot.

The case of A. C. Pfautz, in which he was charged by Maurice Seabold with larceny of tools, was dismissed by Squire Reidenbach for want of evidence.

The fall levee at the Middle creek German Baptist meeting house will be held on Monday and Tuesday, October 31st and November 1st.

The Knights of the Golden Eagle of this place will not parade on Columbus day. The committee having the exercises in charge failed to notify them at their last meeting night whether they had a tent or not and without music they refused to parade.

The Moravian church choir presented their leader Prof. F. S. Van Vleck with a handsome bible last week as a birthday present.

The Lititz Springs are lower now than they have been for a number of years, yet the many trout in the stream seem to be as happy as ever.

The last horse races for the season will take place on the Rothsville track on Saturday. If the weather is favorable, a big time may be expected. Should the day prove unfavorable, the following Saturday will be chosen.

Rev. C. L. Moench will preach a special sermon to Garfield Castle K. G. E. on Sunday evening, October 30th.

Franklin L. Royer, who moved on Dr. Hort's farm near Brickerville some time ago, will move to Brunnerville this week.

Mr. H. H. Grosh, who died last Saturday, left a will in which everything is willed to his wife absolutely, and she is also named as executrix.

Tresspass notices ready printed on muslin can be had at the RECORD office.

Unclaimed letters remain in the Lititz post office for B. Adams, Henry Hoffman and Samuel L. Udels.

Miss Lizzie Brown gave a party on Saturday evening in honor of her guests Misses Ottay and Heise of Columbia. There were young ladies present from various sections, and on Sunday they spent part of the day very pleasantly at Kessel Hill with Miss Lizzie Martin.

Jacob B. Young is setting up a kiln of bricks at Manheim this week, while his place here as mail carrier is being filled by H. W. Stark.

Phares Bucher went to New York state on Monday to buy winter apples, which he will have here in several weeks.

Houses are in demand in Lititz. Any one having a house which is likely to become vacant has no trouble to find a tenant. Next spring there will be a still greater demand. More should be erected.

Late passenger trains over the Reading and Columbia branch of the Reading railroad are most generally caused by delays on the main line, and the heavy freight traffic over the main line at present frequently causes these delays.

They say surprise parties are just the thing, but the lady of the house thinks differently the next day while cleaning up after one.

Rev. Ira Hicks, the weather prophet, says a cold wave sufficiently vigorous to make careless people respect it is very apt to sweep down from the polar regions from the 20th to the 22d.

Have you learned how to vote? The method is simple and consequently easily understood if you take a little time to study it.

Every subscriber of a local paper should make it a point to file every paper received. In after years the pleasure of perusing the accounts of happenings that have in many cases passed from memory will be greater than reading events fresh in local history. Old files of local newspapers possess an inestimable value, providing they go, the means of missing links in the chain of local history.

At about two o'clock on Sunday morning Jacob Hollinger, living with John W. Hollinger, heard a noise in a shed on the premises wherein oysters are kept. He proceeded to the shed and seeing a man inside he closed the door securely and ran for help. In the meantime the prisoner forced out some boards and ran away. He was seen running and the thief is known. Heretofore Mr. Hollinger missed some of his oysters.

There will be a meeting of the W. C. T. U. in the Bible class room, Monday evening, October 24th, at 7 o'clock.

Miss E. J. Eschbach's pupils had a half day trip to the hills on Monday. Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Seabold and Lewis Himmelberger the teams were secured and the trip arranged. Mrs. Seabold also supplied a basket of "goodies" for the little urchins.

A fair evening will bring a lively crowd to our town this (Thursday) evening to participate in the Republican parade and hear the speeches at the Hotel Leopold.

Daniel Leurgis, the well driller, drilled H. S. Frederick's well thirty-five feet deeper than it had been. He is now engaged in drilling a well in rear of Isaac Bueh's residence on Broad street.

The eccentric road of engine 1093, drawing a freight train due here in the afternoon, broke at this place Wednesday afternoon, causing a delay of about an hour.

A Long Walk to see Buchanan's Grave. Christian Moss, aged 87 years, a resident of Kentucky, arrived in Lancaster on Monday, having walked the entire distance to visit the tomb of President Buchanan in West Hill cemetery. Mr. Moss was intimately acquainted with the former President. He says he never travels on railroad trains. After staying several days he will return to Kentucky.

A LIFE-LONG CITIZEN DEAD.

After Long Suffering H. H. Grosh Passes to That Bourne From Whence No Traveler Returns. Another life-long citizen of Lititz is numbered among the dead. Henry Harrison Grosh passed quietly away last Saturday evening shortly before eight o'clock in the presence of his family, the result of Bright's disease of the kidneys and other ailments.

Ever since he had diphtheria, about six years ago, he began falling in health, and instead of a robust picture of health as we were accustomed to see him he gradually grew more frail and weak until death's summons came and caused him to say farewell to his family and friends.

Mr. Grosh was a son of the late Charles and Susan Grosh, and was born in Lititz, in the house now occupied by Benjamin Giegrieh, on February 4th, 1837. At the age of about fifteen he was apprenticed to a coach maker in Bethlehem, where he learned coach trimming. In 1858 he and his elder brother Samuel formed a co-partnership in Lititz and began the manufacture of buggies and carriages, which partnership was continued until death. In 1866 he was married to Miss Caroline Oehme and their union was blessed with eight children, six of whom with the exception of the youngest widow survive. In 1893 he enlisted in the volunteer service to fight for his country and served nine months. About eleven years ago he united with the Moravian church, when Rev. Charles Nagel was the pastor. In February, 1887, when he celebrated his fiftieth birthday, there was a large gathering at his residence to do him honor and congratulate him on the happy event, which was a most pleasant occasion to Mr. Grosh, who made every caller realize that he was welcome, and an occasion still fresh in the memories of most of our citizens.

Mr. Grosh was of an active and jovial disposition, and whatever he undertook was carried out in the fullest measure and not by halves. His memory was most excellent and what he once heard worth remembering was never forgotten.

Mr. Grosh's surviving brothers are Samuel of Lititz and Herman of Bethlehem; his sisters are Mrs. Elias Buch, Lititz, and Mrs. Caroline Lawell and Miss Agnes Grosh of Bethlehem.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. C. L. Moench spoke touchingly on the man's life and death, and referring to the duty of every living person, admonished them to be prepared for the day when they would be called to death's door, closing with a few well chosen remarks in the German language. Rev. Charles Nagel followed in most beautiful eulogistic remarks, as a warm personal friend of the departed brother, but he seemed to be too much affected to speak in his customary easy manner. After a choir hymn, the remains were borne to their last resting place by six members of Stevens Post, G. A. R., where in the beautiful Moravian custom the body was lowered into the grave. Mr. Grosh's age was 55 years, 8 months and 11 days.

Among the relatives and friends of the deceased from a distance at the funeral we noticed the following persons: Mr. Herman Grosh, wife and child, Mrs. Lawell and Miss Agnes Grosh, Bethlehem; B. Frank Saylor and wife, David Bear and wife, Cuba Myers and wife, Charles Reugier, Philip Lebzelter, the Downey Brothers, Geo. W. Haugman and wife, Mrs. D. B. Flory, P. G. Ammon and wife, Lancaster; Reuben P. Grosh and wife and Frank Grosh, J. G. Deitrich and wife, Ephrata; Mrs. Donovan, Manheim; E. H. Raach, Mauch Chunk.

Died in a Corn Field. On the farm of Martin Hess, tenanted by Elias Eschenshagen, near Kessel Hill, a sudden death occurred last Saturday. When the dinner bell rang all persons connected with the farm made their appearance with the exception of Matthew Kostler, a German, who had been engaged in husking corn. Search was made and he was found dead alongside a corn shock.

Deputy Coroner A. B. Reidenbach held an inquest, the jury's verdict being death from heart disease. The cause of death was ascertained as far as is known. The remains were interred in an old graveyard on the farm the following day. His age was about 53 years, and he was a native of Wurttemberg, Germany.

Big Watch Factory Combination. The gentlemen who recently purchased the old Lancaster watch factory, organized the Columbian watch company, with President Charles H. Root, of Springfield, Mass., president of the Aurora watch company, at Aurora, Ill. The works at Aurora will be removed to Lancaster, and the factory will be in operation by January. Over 300 hands will be employed. Capital, $350,000.

Political Points. Manheim Republicans will have a torchlight parade and mass meeting on Saturday evening.

On Friday evening, October 28, the Republicans will have a big demonstration in Lancaster. Invitations will also be sent to Republican organizations in Philadelphia, Reading, Harrisburg, Lebanon, York, Coatesville, West Chester, and other neighboring cities and it is expected that each will send large delegations.

Local Columbus Day Celebration. The celebration of Columbus Day in Lititz will be fully carried out according to the programme as published in last week's RECORD. The Warwick public school children will join in the parade, which will be formed on the Lititz school premises punctually at 1:45 P. M., and after the parade they will proceed to the Moravian church, where the exercises will be held, beginning at 5 o'clock.

The morning exercises in the public schools of Lititz are intended for the children and parents, on which occasion a new flag will be raised on the High School building. The flag is fifteen feet in length.

The day should be generally observed as a holiday in commemoration of the event. Let all people take an interest in the proceedings and turn out in full force to the occasion, same as will be done all over the country.

Coming With Horses. A. S. Becker, of Kessel Hill, who is in Canada buying horses, writes that he will be in Lititz on Thursday with a carload of good and big heavy horses, weighing from 1500 to 1650 pounds, on Friday, October 25th. Farmers should call and see his stock.

HAZERS COME TO GRIEF.

A Lititz Student in the Lehigh Preparatory School is Ill Treated and His Father Claims Damages. From the Philadelphia Press.

The hazing of the preparatory student of Lehigh Preparatory School, who took place on October 1, in the South Bethlehem post office building, has culminated in an investigation and may possibly lead to the expulsion of the men implicated and the issuing of a warrant for arrest of one of the college men. Personals.

Miss Naomi Moyer, of Myerstown, visited her sister Mrs. M. J. Steiner. Mrs. W. H. Appel, of Allentown, is here visiting her mother and brothers.

Issue G. Pfautz heard Wayne McVeigh deliver a Democratic speech in the Philadelphia Academy of Music last Saturday night. Mr. Pfautz was well pleased with what he heard.

William Longenecker left on Sunday for Toronto, Canada, to resume studies in a college of veterinary surgery.

Oven P. Bricker, Esq., and wife were in Lititz on Sunday and had their infant child baptized by Rev. C. L. Moench.

Mrs. Charles Sturgis of Lancaster visited Lititz relatives and friends on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Landis Binkley, of Millway, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seaber at this place last Sunday.

Mrs. Isaac Buch visited friends in Philadelphia and Reading from Friday to Tuesday.

Mr. Edwin Holl and wife of Warwick made a trip to Pike county covering about two weeks' time, which they greatly enjoyed.

Rev. H. A. Brickenstein and daughter arrived safely in Glasgow, Scotland. They will be back next June.

Miss Sabilla Boyce of Mt. Joy is visiting the family of John Leib and other Lititz friends.

Rev. George Gerhart and wife, of Lock Haven, were the guests of Adam J. Ulrich and wife from Tuesday to Wednesday.

Dr. Brobst was summoned to Sunbury on Monday to visit a niece, who is seriously ill with spine disease.

Isaac Buch of this place and D. W. Dietrich of Warwick are serving as jurors in common pleas court this week.

Mrs. W. W. Appel of Lancaster visited Lititz friends on Tuesday.

Miss Stella Leopold of Lebanon is in town, stopping with Mrs. Caroline Hambricht.

Dr. John Roebuck, of Bethlehem, visited his brother Dr. F. J. Roebuck at this place this week.

Mrs. Martha Becker of this place and Mrs. Susan Whitmyer of Lincoln visited near Lime Rock on Wednesday.

Mr. Cavier Grube and wife of Reading were in town last Friday and Saturday, having come for the purpose of attending the reception of his brother Wilson and wife, recently married, and which was held at the residence of the parents of the young man.

West Earl Items. There will be a Republican mass meeting at Wm. G. Bear's hotel Friday evening, October 21.

The following speakers will be present: Hon. W. W. Brown, Esq., of Lancaster; and Dr. J. C. Brobst, of Lititz. A grand parade is to take place in the evening, to which all clubs are invited to attend.

Mr. C. Wolf raised a Harrison and Reid pole on Tuesday evening, October 18th. The pole is seventy-five feet high.

On Saturday a game of base ball was played between the Akron seniors and the Brownstown club. The score was 17 to 3 in favor of Akron.

On Wednesday evening the Brownstown cornet band played for a mass meeting at Landis Valley.

Want the Fish Law Changed. There is much dissatisfaction among the fishermen of the state on account of the many loose places in the fish laws, and when the next legislature convenes a number of sportsmen, will be presented. They formulate these proposals: The fishermen want the law changed to eliminate the points. They want the salaries of the fish wardens raised so that they can devote their time to prosecuting violators of the law; they want out-line fishing free to all, and the heaviest fines levied on those who explode dynamite in the rivers, and those who run sawdust and alkali into the streams.

They also recommend that the trout catching season be extended from April 1 to August 1, instead of April 1 to July 1.

Record-ings. Leaves are leaving. Fallowen soon here. The green stockings is the latest. Peaches have gone out of sight. Women are always more superstitious than men. Fresh sausages are now the leading breakfast dish. Chestnuts are becoming plentiful. (This is one of them.) The mousetrap idea has been applied to a soup spoon. Preparations for Halloween observances are under way. The hat market is amply stocked for the coming season.

The advance in coal has brought about a demand for coal stoves. A heart bluish—the blues of the happy maid when he proposes. "Did the barber cut you?" "No; but it was a pretty close shave." Trips to the mountains for leaves and nuts are popular at this season. It is an odd fact that the duty of most missionaries is to go to the bad. Long rows of corn shocks give the country an autumnal appearance. Corns can be made airtight by a five-minute plunge in hot vaseline oil. The puckering persimmon wants a few more good frosts to make it palatable.

The musca domestica, or common housefly, is now buzzing a feeble and faint buzz.

Flies should be cheap, if we may judge by the number to be seen in the country. A West Philadelphia bug sharp has trained a spider to keep his room clear of mosquitoes. A man is a pore creature at best. The average human body is punctuated with 7,000,000 of them. Nobody but a lightning change artist can regulate his clothing to suit the weather nowadays. It is a remarkable fact that most parents have the aptitude for choosing misfit names for their children. Betting is already going on on the result of the election. We know a Lititz man who has a neat sun at stake.

AKRON AFFAIRS.

Protracted Meeting—To Build a Town Hall—Real Estate Sold—An Inventor at Work. On Sunday evening protracted meeting started in Zion's Evangelical church.

The Grace Evangelical church will be dedicated November 20th. George Price intends moving his stable further back on the lots on which it is at present, and intends building a public hall. Such a hall would tend to improve our town.

Dr. Z. B. Wenger, purchased a building lot for $275, on which he intends erecting a dwelling.

John Schrantz of this place, who had been working on the repairs of the P. & R. railroad for about twenty-six years, has received the position of watchman at the railroad bridge below Ephrata.

A Republican mass meeting will be held here on November 5th. Hiram Seiders has been confined with rheumatism for the last week.

Peter Weidman and Calvin Stoner have engaged several building lots of S. K. Wolf, on which they intend building next spring.

The coming perpetual motion inventor may be an Akronite, if he continues a little bit longer at his ingenious device. We wish him success and hope he will have it accomplished before long. Go ahead, Al, and keep her up.

H. C. Witzmer received his new bus this week, which makes a new appearance. It was built by D. B. Kofroth, of Rothsville, who knows how to put up a fine and good conveyance.

Neighborhood News. Last week's so-called state fair, held at Lancaster, was not a financial success. In court Samuel F. Hofer, of Penn township, was divorced from Louisa B. Hofer on the grounds of desertion.

The tearing out of fish baskets by the sheriff's deputies has had its usual setback on the Susquehanna lately. The law requires it to be done, and the deputies enjoy the outing as a picnic, the expenses of which are paid by the county.

Jacob Baney, horse dealer, who failed at Myerstown, has been located at Newark, N. J. Recently a true bill has been found against him in the Lebanon court for false pretense as alleged by Jacob Moyer, horse dealer, of Millersburg. Extradition papers were asked of Governor Pattison to bring Baney to Lebanon for trial.

Cockroaches—How to Get Rid of Them.

Cockroaches are very general feeders. All sorts of household refuse, almost all kinds of food and many other substances, such as blacking, paint, india ink, the bindings of books and other articles containing paste, are eaten by them.

Very few of the advertised remedies are at all satisfactory. The best is, perhaps, a fresh pyrethrum powder. The powder ground in this country from California-grown plants, and sold under the name of California Bubac, is the freshest and purest.

As your daughters grow up teach them at least the true merits of house-keeping and cooking; they will thank you for it later in life a great deal more than for accomplishments.

When in Egypt some years ago I was present when the railway authorities cut through a sandstone hill at Alexandria, and by doing so revealed the existence of a large number of ancient Egyptian tombs.

Commenting upon this fact with some English friends standing by, the Arab foreman of the native laborers anxiously inquired the meaning of the scrutiny referred to.

It was a man's hat. Into the stiff band that formed part of the lining were stuck a dozen or more slips of paper.

On one slip was written, "Smith—Thursday—11 sharp;" on another, "Meeting of Board of Trustees, Friday, 4 P. M.;" on still another, "Mrs. Brown's reception—15th inst.—8 to 11."

He was a business man with many interests, many friends, and consequently, many engagements. Yet he never seemed in a hurry.

"He does more work in a week than many a man does in a month," was said of him.

Such were the verdicts that he won from others.

"How do you manage to do so much, and yet so well and so easily?" he was asked. The answer was, "It is all in my hat."

At the London Zoo recently, some one tried the effect of music on a 6-months-old chimpanzee. At the first sound of the violin the little fellow's hair bristled up with fright and he covered his head with his shawl.

The piccolo at first frightened the monkey, but he soon held out his hand for the instrument, which he was allowed to examine. The flute did not interest him, but the bagpipes—reproduced on the violin—achieved a triumph.

Sweden has 2000 school gardens. —United States farm mortgages amount to $15,350,575,000.

—There are $1,400,000,000 in gold in circulation throughout the world. —Caterpillars attain a great size in Australia—some of them a foot in length.

She can take ten minutes every day and read to her children a few words on astronomy, geology or physiology. Not dry statistics, which carry no knowledge to the little minds, but the names of planets and stars, their places, and the mythological story connected with them.

What Mothers Should Do.

As the boys grow up, make companions of them; then they will not seek companionship elsewhere.

Remember that without physical health mental attainment is worthless; let them lead free, happy lives, which will strengthen both mind and body.

Try and sympathize with girlish flights of fancy, even if they seem absurd to you; by so doing you will retain your influence over your daughters, and not teach them to seek sympathy elsewhere.

"No, not that way! I never knew one man in a hundred to do it right," said the clerk in the umbrella store.

That will spoil that umbrella when you have repeated the operation half a dozen times," the clerk continued.

The clerk took the maltreated article, shook out the folds of silk, and worked the spiral out of the ribs, and proceeded to demonstrate the proper methods of umbrella rolling.
