HER AUNT DID IT. I WANT to get this letter registered. I looked up and saw a gaunt, rawboned old woman stretching a letter toward me through the registry window.

Then taking the letter and examining it curiously. "You're sure you've got it all right?" "I put on just what you told me."

One sees trouble in so many forms in public places—in any place where there are many people—that one grows hardened. The next day I went away on my summer vacation and forgot the whole affair.

He glanced in the direction he indicated. Yes; there in an old rocking chair under the apple tree sat a young girl. She had a faded plain shawl drawn close around her.

He then told him the whole story. He listened eagerly, and when I had finished he put his hand upon my coat sleeve and said solemnly: "If I ever knew a man totally devoid of comprehension, you're the individual."

"What you could have done?" Fred echoed emphatically. "Why, man alive, write to him. You had his address in black and white, and when the girl appealed to you to help her—Good lord! wouldn't the shade of Don Quixote turn pale. I only hope it isn't too late now."

"Too late?" I growled. "Too late to write, you mean? Well I should rather say that it is. The man may have changed his residence a dozen times since."

conscience-stricken. Fred insisted upon my telling the whole story—the identical words the girl used on the day I first saw her—and closed with a pathetic picture of her as she sat under the old apple tree when we saw her last.

"How are you?" he said huskily. "Are you the fellow who wrote the letter?" Peter Bookie had arrived at last! He shook my hand with a grip that brought tears to my eyes.

The dignified person tied the knot that bound Peter Bookie and Rose Morgan in such firm fashion that no man, woman or registered letter could readily put it asunder.

"Gee whiz!" snorted the old man, looking frightened to death. "Can it be possible that a measly Columbia county Deputy Sheriff has the power to put a fellow in a place like that? I guess I'd better settle up."

"Indeed? Then may I ask you, senior, what you are?" "I am a beggar, sir, and ask you for alms!"

"He may, and he may not," said Fred. "Anyhow we'll try it. If the girl only lives till we get him here, it's all I ask."

The hot weather has slain nearly all the clover worms in Berks county.

Murder Will Out. The arrest of Geo. Decker, one of the richest and most prominent men of Siskiyou county, Cal., for the murder of his wife and child, 27 years ago has caused a sensation.

Nothing was ever heard of the first Mrs. Decker. The skeleton found has been identified as that of the missing woman, and witnesses have been found who remember that the little children on their return with Decker said their father took mother and baby away and then returned without them.

"I tell you, William," said a Columbia county Sheriff to a farmer whom he was endeavoring to have meet a cut-throat note, "you'll have to hustle and pay up or we will put you in Jimbo."

King Lobengula, supposed to be the most powerful native potentate in Africa, has himself weighed every day on a European weighing machine.

"Gentlemen, own' to a flaw in de iron de axle-tree broke short off, and de owner de de vehicle is entitled to a new one without furdur cost. Move on, now, and don't embarrass de gent as drives de team, see!"

The Bancroft Company, Auditorium Building, Chicago, are engaged in a work deserv'ing of more than passing notice. It is the reproduction in book form in the highest style of art, of the entire Exposition. In THE BOOK OF THE FAIR, as the work is called, the panorama will move from the past to the present, in logical and historical order.

is the truthful, startling title of a little book that tells all about No-to-bac, the wonderful, harmless guaranteed tobacco habit cure. The cost is trifling and the man who wants to quit and can't run no physician or financial risk in using "No-to-bac," Sold by all druggists.

Pensions Will Stop About the Year 2000. It is calculated that eighty-one years after the close of the late rebellion there will be 55,000 widowers of pensioners on the rolls if the same proportion of veterans just before dying marry young girls immediately to make widows of them to succeed them on the rolls.

Onions Good for Nerves. Onions are a kind of all round good medicine and every housewife knows this without exactly knowing the reason why. She knows that a whole onion, eaten at bedtime, will by the next morning break the severest cold.

Wise and Otherwise. Always laugh at your own jokes; if you want anything well done do it yourself.

Furnishing a Hall. If the hall gives a bad impression the rest of the house will be less likely to please, be it ever so artistically furnished. "When we undertake to furnish a house," said a professional decorator, "we take care that the hall shall be either a rich glow of color, or a study in soft, cool tones, restful to the eye, according to its size and locality."

Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Face. The truthful, startling title of a little book that tells all about No-to-bac, the wonderful, harmless guaranteed tobacco habit cure.

What an awful time Mr. Pickwick would have had in India—there are 25,000,000 widows there.

—No matter how expert a gunner a man may be, he's bound to make a failure at house-hunting.

Over the State. The Cracker Trust gobbled up the two Williamsport cracker bakeries. Trolley privileges have been granted to the Birdsboro Street Railway.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad is surveying a route to lay tracks into Pottsville. A street car in Lebanon ran down and killed the little son of Hotelkeeper Steover.

The order regulating rifle practice by the National Guards has been issued and is more strict than ever before. The committee investigating the alleged Councilmanic bribery in Reading tried in vain to get at rock bottom facts.

One firm has a contract to put into Congressman Hopkins' saw mill at Lock Haven 130,000,000 feet of logs and it will require 13 years to do the work. Jackson W. Miller, of Jeffersonville, has used the Citizens' Passenger Railway Company for damages alleged to have been incurred by the building of a trolley road past his farm without his consent.

A Society to Reform Husbands. Mrs. Jannette Van Nest, of New York, is the founder of a new society, the purpose of which is to reform husbands who are either weak or wicked. In a circular, Mrs. Van Nest classifies husbands who need reformation as "venial," in which class she names faultfinders, cardplayers and those who indulge in dissipation, while in the criminal class she puts those who are cruel, who gamble and get drunk.

In Choosing a Wife. "Choose a wife with a low, soft voice and a pretty foot," said a veteran man of the world the other day to a man about to marry. "They are the only things which won't change, and when you are old you can close your eyes and listen to your wife's chatter, or glance down at her little foot resting on the fender, and imagine you are still young. Now, a pretty figure sometimes grows spare and gaunt, or the contour is covered up by a burden of adipose. The sunny hair grows gray. Even the eyes change when surrounded by wrinkles. The little hand grows yellow and shriveled. But the neatly-booted foot may look just as it did long ago, and the pretty voice be as harmonious as ever."

The largest pumps in the world are used in the sewers of London. An oculist says that scarcely one in twenty of watchmakers suffers from weak eyes. What an awful time Mr. Pickwick would have had in India—there are 25,000,000 widows there. The breaking strain of an inch rope is estimated at 9000 pounds. In making the average trip around the world a traveler covers about 22,000 miles.

A shameful sight presented itself to respect able people who happened to be on the Spring grounds on Sunday afternoon. Several Runaway Accidents. On Wednesday morning Wm. C. Enock's new bread delivery wagon came near being made into a pile of kindling wood.

His horse shied at some object along Front street, when Mr. Enock alighted from the wagon and led him by. Just as he was about to step in the wagon again the horse made a dash to get away so sudden that the driver was thrown to the ground.

and by hitting on to the lines was dragged ten or fifteen feet, when a bystander stopped him. Mr. Enock arose with a bruised elbow, a scalp wound and covered with mud, but was glad it was no worse.

The horse now seemed to be cooled down and Mr. Enock was about to resume his journey when the treacherous animal made another plunge and got away from the driver, running down to near the San Domingo creek, where he was captured by one of the Yeager boys.

The second runaway looked as though everything would be broken to pieces and Mr. Enock was thinking it would cost an entirely new wagon by the time it was over. Fortunately, however, only a shaft and a glass on the side of the wagon were broken.

Nine Lititzites had a thrilling experience on their way home from a party at Lincoln about 12 o'clock on Monday night. They were riding in Michael Bear's large surrey with two horses hitched to it.

At the Millway mills the horses shied, ran up a bank, upset the conveyance, spilled them all out, and ran away. Percy Bear was dragged about half a square, but was hurt comparatively little.

Frank McKinnon had a leg nail torn out, had his foot and finger hurt and felt his injuries to such an extent that he was confined to bed two days.

The other passengers, including several ladies, were all more or less bruised and the top of the wagon was broken off. Another conveyance was secured at Millway to convey the party home at a late hour.

On Monday a frightful runaway accident occurred in Elizabeth township, near Brickerville, in which the lives of four Lancaster men were imperiled.

Mr. John E. Sobum, the well-known coal merchant and dyer, accompanied by a Mr. Walbauer and Edward Houser, drove to the residence of Peter Bantz. Returning home, they were joined by Edward Bear, a nephew of Mr. Bantz.

As they started from the house they descended a hill and the horse ran away. Down the steep incline the animal dashed at a mad gallop, and at the foot of the hill the wagon was overturned.

The occupants were tossed into the air and landed heavily on the ground. All were more or less injured and an examination showed that several of Mr. Sobum's ribs were broken.

Young Bear's shoulder was dislocated. Walbauer and Houser escaped without broken bones, but they were badly bruised. The top of the wagon was broken off and the vehicle was otherwise damaged.

After the accident the men went to the house and later in the evening started home, driving the same horse.

Injunction Against a Water Company. William K. Mohler, burgess of Ephrata, was granted an injunction against the Ephrata Water Company, restraining them from occupying, digging up and trenching the streets, alleys and lanes in the borough for the purpose of laying water pipes.

The bill in equity states that in April the borough council granted by ordinance, to the water company, the privilege of using the streets of Ephrata borough for the laying of water mains for the purpose of supplying water to the borough and to the residents.

The ordinance was vetoed by him. The ordinance was not passed over his veto, but nevertheless the water company went ahead with the work of digging up the streets.

This, it is further alleged, will cause immediate damage to the borough.

Created a Dense Smoke. People in this vicinity noticed a dense smoke arising in the east some miles from here on Friday afternoon, and were sure a big fire was raging somewhere.

One of the huge pipes of the Crescent Oil Company sprang a leak at the farm of Benjamin Sheffer, of near Farmerville, and in a short time a large quantity of oil had escaped.

The oil ran down a hill and emptied into a stream, and fearing that it would reach the Conestoga creek and contaminate the water some one applied a match, and in an instant a roaring mass of flames and volumes of smoke filled the air.

The flames communicated to the surrounding trees and fences and considerable damage was done. The fire and smoke, which could be seen for a great distance, attracted many people to the scene. The oil burned over two hours. The oil was turned off at Millway, and the leak repaired. It is estimated that about a thousand gallons of oil were consumed.

The proprietor quickly nabbed the burglar, and calling for help, Constable Frain arrived and took him into custody, taking him to Lancaster later in the day. Madden smashed the plate glass in the front of the store in order to effect an entrance.

They Changed Places.
There is at least one man in Rockford, Ill., who is convinced that his wife is a true helpmate. His name is H. W. Allen, and he travels for a wholesale grocery firm. The other day he threw his shoulder out of joint. He had a trip mapped out that it was necessary should be made. His wife told him that if he would mind the baby she would make the trip for him. He laughed her to scorn, but she was in earnest, and she took his sample case and went the rounds. The result was that, while he made a rather poor fist of taking care of the baby, she got ten pages more orders than he ever secured in one day in all the years he has been on the road. The firm has written to Mr. Allen, suggesting that he trade jobs with his wife permanently.

The Birds Joined in.
Rev. Mr. Dobbins, pastor of the Lincoln Park Baptist church, at Cincinnati, O., inaugurated a new feature on Sunday morning. Last Sunday Pastor Dobbins announced that the following Sunday he would preach on the subject of "Spring," and "Song Birds." He requested as many of his congregation as could to bring canary birds to church, and when services opened on Sunday forty cages, each containing a bird, were hanging from chandeliers and walls and several from the organ.
The birds were all tamed at first, but when the organist began on the opening hymn the warblers seemed to take courage at once and began chirping vigorously. Throughout the sermon the birds continued singing, and the sight was a novel one. The pastor drew a lesson from the happiness and industry of the birds.

Figs and Thistles.
Swearing at a horse never stops his walking.
He who sows wild oats is not apt to reap tame ones.
A scolding wife is just as beautiful to look upon as a sneaking husband.
He offers a Site for the Mint.
Solomon Close, Jr., one of the owners of a tract of 650 acres of land near Auburn, Schuylkill county, says that owing to the difficulty of securing a suitable site at a reasonable price in the vicinity of Philadelphia for a new mint, he is willing to donate a tract of fifty acres of the above land on which the government can erect the proposed mint. If the tract is accepted he will let out a portion of the balance of the 650-acre tract into building lots and call it Mintown, in opposition to Quakertown.

The New Yorkers are protesting against confectioners selling brandy drop candy to children. About 200 drops will yield a teaspoonful of brandy.
The Military Drill.
Athletic sports have their due, perhaps undue, attention in most of the colleges and high schools, but in the graded schools, within my observation, exercise is casual and undirected. None of the games or sports is, however, a substitute for military drill, and some of them create a new need for it. A good oarsman need not be erect or graceful; a good arm and plenty of wind meet his needs. The champion "cyclist" is not apt to have square shoulders. The football captain is so padded that a safe judgment can hardly be formed as to his natural "lines," but a good jog and momentum seem to me a non-essential—to be his distinctive marks. In baseball the pitcher seems to be an occasional observer to have parted with all his natural grace to endow the curved ball.

A military drill develops the whole man, head, chest, arms and legs proportionately, and so promotes symmetry and corrects the excesses of other forms of exercise. It teaches quickness of eye and ear, hand and foot, qualifies men to step and act in unison, teaches subordination, and, best of all, qualifies a man to serve his country.—Benjamin Harrison in Century Magazine.

Parkman's Head Lot.
He could command for work not more than one-twentieth of the time which other men have, and for 10 years—from 1853 to 1863—he could not work at all. From his return from the west in 1846 to the day of his death, Nov. 8, 1893, he never knew a day when he was an entirely well man. He spent some months at a water cure in Northampton without benefit. The physician urged him to prepare to die, but Parkman replied that he should not die, even if he did not get well.

At a later date he went to Paris to consult Dr. Brown-Sequard, who for three months tested him for insanity, but finally told him that his head was perfectly sound and that he could do nothing for him. The doctors all told him that he must not work, and he once said to me that if he had followed their instructions he could never have written his books. The situation was desperate. For a great part of the time he could not read continuously for more than five minutes without straining his eyes, and it was impossible for him to write or read for long periods.—McClure's Magazine.

To Prevent Railway Collisions.
An apparatus for preventing collisions between railway trains is described as consisting essentially of a band of traveling paper impregnated with iodide of potassium. Over this paper a platinum stylus moves, and when a current of electricity passes through the stylus and the paper the iodide is decomposed, leaving a blue mark, as in the Bain chemical telegraph. The current is supplied by the moving train by the following method: The wheels press down levers placed at intervals along the rails and complete the circuit of a battery connected with the platinum stylus and paper of the apparatus. The marks thus made on the paper indicate the position of the train, enabling the signal man to trace its course along the line, and having this guide, as well as absolute control over the signals, the claim is that he is in a position to reduce the chances of collision to a minimum, if not to render it impossible.—New York Sun.

Tip Poisoned.
Tip, the frequently furious elephant in Central park, the largest beast in captivity, whose vicious temper had rendered him an exceedingly dangerous animal to keep for exhibition, was on Friday executed in his pen, poisoned by cyanide of potassium, and died at 4:19 P. M., after evincing all the symptoms of agony most intense. Three attempts were made to poison the cunning old monster—the first two early in the morning.

At 3:15 fifteen capsules of cyanide of potassium were given to Tip in a dish of bran. In a few minutes convulsions seized his mighty frame. He staggered toward the farthest end of his cage to get away from the men who had been feeding him. The chain upon his leg tripped him, and, forgetting in his dizziness that he could snap that chain as if it were flimsy thread he fell upon his side.
The poison, now supreme, convulsed his every muscle. His great legs, which at that moment no hundred men could have controlled, were extended, still in pain. For a few minutes he lay motionless. Then his trunk, that delicate organ with its thousand little muscles, slowly uncurled, two loud trumpet blasts resounded through the building, and with a last convulsion that snapped in two the heavy iron chain which bound him round, Tip lay dead.

Two men had again been sent for guns with which to shoot Tip if it came necessary. It was feared that he might break out of his pen. Their services were not required, however, for the huge beast's struggles quickly ended.

The dead elephant is to be mounted by a taxidermist, and his stuffed remains will be placed beside those of Jumbo, the monster that was killed in 1885, at St. Thomas, Ontario, by a railroad train. The men of science want first, however, to examine Tip's organs and determine, if possible, what it was that made him so wicked.

Many Curious Letters.
The family of Wagner, residing on north Sixth street, Lebanon are greatly puzzled over two anonymous letters. They are not of a threatening character, but beg of Mr. Wagner to vacate the house in which he lives at once for his wife's sake. The epistles were found under the door by Mrs. Wagner, who has been nervous ever since the receipt of the first, May 3, and can neither eat nor sleep. Many people believe that Mrs. Wagner has been bewitched, but efforts to trace the authors of the missives, which were evidently written by a female, have proved futile. Mr. Wagner is an iron worker, and cannot imagine who should write such letters. He says he has not an enemy in the world that he is aware of.

The Brooklyn Tabernacle in Ashes.
For the third time in his 25-year pastorate, Rev. Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage, the noted Brooklyn divine, saw his great Tabernacle destroyed by fire on Sunday. With it went up in smoke the Hotel Regent, one of the finest hotels in East outside of New York. The Summerfield Methodist Church and more than twenty residences were damaged to a greater or less extent. It was one of the greatest fires that Brooklyn has ever seen, causing a loss of probably $1,250,000.

Fortunately no lives were lost, so far as known. Dr. Talmage himself had an extremely narrow escape from death, and so did several officers of the church. Less than ten minutes before the fire started there were more than 6000 persons in the church. Had the discovery been made while they were there, there would have been in all probability a stampede and fearful loss of life.

Pennsylvania Hemlock Going.
The proprietors of Pennsylvania tanneries are searching in Central Wisconsin for supplies of hemlock, and it is probable, from the near approach of the time when the hemlock of Pennsylvania will be exhausted, that the tanneries of this state will be removed to the West. The time required for the exhaustion of the available Pennsylvania supply is placed at five years. A survey places the area of hemlock timber in Central Wisconsin at 3600 square miles, along the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, and states that tributary to the road are 4,000,000 cords of bark, enough to supply all the tanneries of the country for many years. The departure of the tanneries from Pennsylvania means the loss of an important industry.

Hasn't Felt the Hard Times.
One of our old substantial farmers came into town the other day and remarked: "They tell me that there is a money panic and hard times. Why, I wouldn't have known it if they hadn't told me about it. The panic hasn't reached me yet on my farm. I have plenty to eat, plenty to wear and not troubled with any panic."

SHE DON'T WANT TO TELL
What made her beautiful. Yet it's only what other women have. Wealth of beauty comes only with a healthy body. Health is a set of good habits. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription assists nature in establishing these habits. Women have silky faces, dull eyes and hollow cheeks, to say the least, when they get together with low spirits, when they are made miserable with disorders, derangements and weaknesses peculiar to their sex. Health is regained, after periods of dizziness, nervous prostration and excitability, or other manifestations of derangement or displacement of the womanly organs, when the "Prescription" is used. Besides, it acts on its merits. The proprietors take the risk. It is guaranteed to benefit or cure all the diseases, diseases and weaknesses of women, or money is refunded.

A CASE OF EVERYDAY SAD LIFE WITH A HAPPY END—HOK'S ELECTRIC BELT THE SAVIOUR.
Prof. C. U. HOK'S.
I was born a son nearly twelve years old, who from his infancy up to six months ago, was afflicted with a disease which he could not make the slightest movement without pain. We consulted the best physicians in our district to minister to his ailments, but all their efforts failed. At last means were applied one of Hoke's Electric Belts and his ailments were cured. He was cured in five months, seemingly improving, when one day, to the utter amazement and unbounded joy of his mother because she could not see him, he was sitting in his chair and walked. His father, who was at work in the field, came home to witness the seeming "miracle," the neighbors looked on with astonishment and our mother could not believe what she saw. The physicians themselves were puzzled at the power of Hoke's Electric Belt. We feel that God has used us as a means of blessing to us.

A DARK CLOUD WITH A SILVER LINING—A MOTHER'S SORROWS AND HOK'S PANACEA.
A parent's tribute to Hoke's Electric Appliances for the preservation of her two daughters:
BRUNNERSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 23, 1893.
Prof. C. U. HOK:
I most cheerfully bear testimony to the wonderful curative powers of your celebrated Electric Appliances. Several years ago my heart was broken by the loss of my dear daughter who died from what the physicians pronounced consumption. Since her decease another daughter (Corn) was similarly affected, and the doctors told us her disease was incurable. I bought one of your Electric Belts and treated her with it, and she was cured. She had treatment from different physicians who said she could not live, but she is now a healthy and happy girl. I have given up one child and now seeing another cured, I feel that I can do all I can to make her comfortable, as she must die. You have cured my feelings. I feel that I was advised to try Hoke's Electric Belts. We at once bought and applied one of your Electric Belts and treated her with it, and she was cured. She had treatment from different physicians who said she could not live, but she is now a healthy and happy girl. I have given up one child and now seeing another cured, I feel that I can do all I can to make her comfortable, as she must die. You have cured my feelings.
