Warwick High School studies intensive scheduling concept

CONNIE BUCKWALTER

Record Express Staff

Warwick High School Principal Fred Cummins said he wants to see WHS students and teachers getting the most from their school day. One method that could possibly facilitate that goal is intensive scheduling (IS) — a new concept Cummins introduced to the school board during their committee of the whole meeting Tuesday night.

Basically, IS schedules five classes into the same length day (7:50 a.m.-3:01 p.m.) that now accommodates 7-8 class periods — thus providing more instructional time (roughly 80 minutes per class instead of 49), personal attention and varied use of instructional methodologies. The concept "focuses energy on academic motivation and performance and reduces students/staff stress and stagnation" stated one of the handouts Cummins prepared.

According to a tentative timeline Cummins shared, the district began its study of IS earlier this year. Currently only about 50 public high schools across the country use IS, but like Warwick, more are considering the possibility — including Donegal and Manheim Township, Cummins said. He also noted that private schools and colleges have been using forms of IS for years. If all progresses smoothly, IS could potentially be initiated at WHS as early as next fall.

"It (IS) works better for the students. It allows schools to work like real life instead of school," Cummins said.

Much of the information Cummins used for his presentation came from the study of an IS program at Hatboro-Horsham High School in Montgomery County. Demographically, Hatboro-Horsham is almost a match to WHS, Cummins said.

In the three years that Hatboro-Horsham has used IS, surveys have indicated that the vast majority of students, staff and parents have all noticed positive changes and embraced the idea.

Three of the possible benefits of IS include improved academic performance, improved instructional opportunities and improved scheduling flexibility, Cummins said. Based on the studies at Hatboro-Horsham, without eas-

Lititz antiquers display memories of yesteryear

STEPHEN SEEBER

Record Express Staff

Lititz Springs Park was adorned with relics from days gone by during last Saturday's annual Outdoor Antiques and Collectibles Show and Sale.

The sunny weather of the Labor Day weekend provided a pleasant atmosphere for antiquers and curious strollers to look through the more than 100 displays — ranging from Victorian furniture to unique toys.

The event was organized by the Lititz Springs Park Board, a nonprofit organization, and all funds derived from the show finance the operation of the park.

Some of the collectors waited for years to get into the show while others made it a regular pilgrimage. Whatever the case, fun was the presiding motivation for most of the show's participants.

Ted and Dottie Morse, owners of the All Toy Company in Hummelstown, had waited three years for a spot in the show.

"It's a nice place to spend the day," said Mr. Morse, "we don't even care if we sell anything, we just want to display some nice things."

Eleanor Nimick and her son, Ed, came from Manheim Township to partake in the festivities. This was their sixth trip to the park for the show and Mrs. Nimick's answer to what keeps her coming was simply, "It's just a fun thing."

There was certainly enough fun to go around. The warm weather and the park's natural beauty set a relaxing tone for a stroll down memory lane.

A sign advertisement reading "Eat Zeppelin Bread, it's light as air," was a fond reminder of a simpler time when a dime had substantial value. Old postcards, handmade dolls, oil lamps and ancient tools were some of the other pages in this open air museum of national heritage.

Adding to the fun were lots of good foods. Jaycee hot dogs, Fink's french fries, the Turkey barbecues of the Brun-Lex Lions Club and old-fashioned hand-squeezed lemonade were just some of the tummy-tempters on hand last Saturday.

The fun provided by September and antiques has become an integral part of life for Margaret "Peg" Hanna.

Hanna, a spunky 86-year-old Lititz native, has been setting up her stand of glass collectibles for the last 18 years. With the aid of her three daughters, grandchildren and great-grandchildren, Hanna has helped to create and maintain the tradition of gaiety that defines the show.

Hanna had visited the show since its origin 28 years ago. As her personal collection grew she decided open a stand and the rest is history.

"I didn't know I've been coming that long," said Hanna.

During her 18 years of participation Hanna has noted a consistency, "the show is a social event where everyone just has a good time."

Like many of the vendors and buyers, Hanna plans to return next year with family and friends to display and appreciate lifetimes of souvenirs in the serene beauty of Lititz Springs Park.

United Way aids Lititz residents

CONNIE BUCKWALTER

Record Express Staff

As United Way of Lancaster County embarks on its 1994 campaign, it wants to let everyone throughout the area know how much it is committed to helping people.

Walt Legenstein, 1994 Campaign Chair and President of Certified Carpet, said that is what the United Way is all about — people helping people.

"People tend to think that Lancaster County United Way is Lancaster City only, but that is absolutely not the way it is," Legenstein said. "People are serviced all over Lancaster County. The United Way is for everyone."

According to Legenstein and Laura Wakely, director of communications, some people may not realize how much the United Way reaches out to people throughout the county — and Lititz.

A fact sheet prepared by the United Way lists 12 organizations that combined to help more than 3,000 men, women and children living in the Lititz area. Countywide, one out of every three people is serviced by the United Way, Legenstein said.

In Lititz, those services break down as follows:

The Arc provided advocacy services, family support services, sibling support groups and information to assist 38 people with mental retardation and their families; Big Brothers/Big Sisters matched 10 boys and girls with a Big Brother or Big Sister, providing them with a positive influence, guidance, friendship and companionship; 810 boys, ages 6-20, were served by the Lancaster-Lebanon Council of Boy Scouts, instilling in them a system of values and preparing them to reach their fullest potential; and 35 children with developmental or physical disabilities received occupational, physical and speech therapy through Easter Seal Society.

Also, Family Service provided 139 residents with a variety of counseling services including individual, marital, parent-child, family, adoption, child sexual abuse and pregnancy crisis counseling; Lancaster County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Abuse provided 218 residents with information about alcohol and other drug addictions and offered early prevention and intervention programs for children and adolescence at-risk for chemical dependency; At the Lancaster Guidance Center, 128 residents received outpatient mental health and chemical dependence treatment services or assessment services for students referred by school district assistance programs.

And, The Literacy Council of Lancaster-Lebanon helped 12 residents to reach their personal goals by improving their basic literacy skills; 77 victims of abuse received information, counseling, protective shelter, advocacy and referral services at the Shelter for Abused Women; The Mental Health Association provided 948 residents with information and referrals about mental health services and/or issues and social opportunities; The YWCA provided child care, a variety of health and fitness activities, adult education programs and the Sexual Assault Center with a 24-hour hotline for 522 women and their families; and 232 residents received home health care services through the Visiting Nurse Association.

Clearly, Lititz is served by the programs funded by the United Way.

CONNIE BUCKWALTER

Record Express Staff

For people who have dreamt of hiking the Appalachian Trail, but were afraid to go alone or put in the financial investment, Lititz Springs Outfitters has the ideal opportunity.

From Saturday, Sept. 17 until Sunday, Sept. 18, LSO will lead a guided 10-mile hike along the AT through the historic Rausch Gap section.

Cost of the excursion is $75 per person and includes use of all the proper equipment, guides, meals and transportation back to vehicles at the end of the trip.

"All a person has to do is show up," said Deb Crowder, owner of LSO.

Her husband, Mick Crowder, the other owner of LSO and one of the hike guides, explained that if a couple wanted to buy all the equipment LSO will lend them for the weekend, it would cost in excess of $650. The equipment includes items like Diamond BR5 backpack, Coleman sleeping bag, Ridge Rest sleeping pad, lightweight backpacking tent and ground cloth, Peak 1 backpacking stove and fuel, cookset and utensils, First Aid kit, water filter, trail map and compass and three dehydrated foot meals.

If a trip participant has some, but not all of the items, they are encouraged to bring their own equipment. Deb Crowder recommended that hikers bring a sturdy pair of hiking boots, flashlight and toiletries. LSO has a wide selection of durable hiking shoes. Trip participants get a 10 percent in-store discount on merchandise purchased within one week of the trip.

Mick Crowder, owner of Lititz Springs Outfitters, will be one of the leaders on the Sept. 17-18 guided hike on the Appalachian Trail.

Trip participants must also provide their own transportation to the trail head, which is located north of Lebanon.

The section of the trail the guides will be taking people on is suitable for all levels of hikers — even begin-

Personal touches have the power to change the entire mood and outlook of a funeral. Small reminders of who people really were -- their crafts and hobbies, their pictures, their songs, even the way they looked at life -- can shift the focus from the ritual to the person. on Saturday, Sept. 10

If you're feeling hungry this weekend, consider some of the activities sponsored by local non-profit organizations.

The Rothsville Volunteer Fire Company offers some of the best chicken corn soup around during its annual Chicken Corn Soup Sale. Starting at 9 a.m. on Saturday in the fire hall, volunteers will dish out the tasty soup at a cost of $2.50 a quart. Although there will be a few containers available, customers are strongly urged to bring their own. Mayonnaise jars and other glass containers work best while plastics tend to weaken from the heat that the soup generates.

Perhaps the best part of the sale is that everyone wins (except, possibly, the chickens). People love to eat good soup and the fire company earns much-needed revenue. This month they plan to put a new fire engine in service.

In addition to the soup sale, the Ladies Auxiliary will sell their famous clam mix for $4.75 a quart or $2.50 a pint (containers will be provided). And, various members of the community have donated baked goods that will nicely complement any meal.

Also, the Brickerville Fire Hall will be the site of the annual family-style beef pot pie supper. For only $5 for an adult ($2.50 for children ages 5-12), you can eat a delicious meal of beef pot pie and help out the Brickerville Fire Company. The sit-down dinner lasts from 3-7 p.m. and take-outs are available from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m.

And, if neither beef pot pie nor chicken corn soup are your thing, consider the chicken pot pie dinner at the Warwick High School to benefit the instrumental department of the Warwick School District.

Starting at 3 p.m. and going until 8 p.m., the Warwick Band Parents Organization will serve up some delicious chicken pot pie with all the trimmings — eat-in or take-out. Tickets are $5 a person and free for children under age 6 (eat-in only). In addition to the food, the WBPO will be selling various band-related items at a special table — afghans, windsocks, stadium cushions, pins, ect.

Plus, don't forget Teddy Bear Day in the Lititz Springs Park on Saturday from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. Although the theme of the day isn't food — it's teddy bears — there will be several food items for sale during the event. Sponsored by the Lititz Women of Today, the event benefits the Lititz Public Library.

All of these delicious activities on Saturday offer the taste of good, home-made food at affordable prices. And, best of all, they each benefit a non-profit agency in our community. Why not eat out this Saturday?

Letters To The Editor

Residents appreciate neighbors' kind actions

Editor, Lititz Record:

We would like to extend our appreciation to our neighbors who helped us on Aug. 10 when our foster son Marcus was hit by a truck in a nearby lane. He is now home with us and doing well. I was especially pleased with the care and professionalism displayed by Rothsville ambulance, fire co., fire police, Warwick Twp. police, and Chief Olsen. All of these people were prompt and extremely courteous.

We also received transportation and gifts from neighbors and friends, and calls from the local churches. We received such fine treatment by our friends and so much kindness that it prompted comments from L.G.H. staff and from our caseworkers. Our only response was "Well, we're from Rothsville, and proud of it!"

Teens have rights also

Editor, Lititz Record:

In reference to the Sept. 1 article regarding youths loitering at the Lititz Springs Park entrance, I would like to applaud Chief Shertzer's willingness to recognize teenager's constitutional rights. I wish that Shertzer was not in the minority in this issue. I understand that we young people can often create a condition that is disturbing to some, but this does not change the fact that we are still citizens with the same right to stand in a public area as any other person. Thus far, Lititz youths have been removed from the Power Connection, Sturgis Lane and now the Lititz Springs Park. Each situation has had reason for the action taken, and I won't deny this. No one's right to walk down the street peacefully should be infringed. Neither, though, should the right to stand in a public place be taken from teenagers. I sympathize with the complaints of the townspeople, yet if teenagers are not allowed to congregate publicly, then random crime would almost certainly run rampant with small groups of people just roaming the streets. If Lititz Park is unsuitable as a public hangout, then we, as a town, must find a place that is suitable, because it is unjust that anyone have their constitutional rights stolen from them simply because they are young.

Local physical fitness buffs of all ages and conditions will have the opportunity to increase their stamina and enjoy the outdoors by using the latest recreational facilities in Lititz — the Lititz Area Community Fitness Trail.

Purchased and installed by the Lititz Area Jaycees at a cost of $5,500, the trail covers nine-tenths of a mile and includes 14 exercise stations. The trail begins at the parking area on the east side of the Warwick Middle School and proceeds counter-clockwise along the middle school property line and around the tennis courts and athletic fields, behind the school back toward the entrance, eventually finishing near the refreshment stand at the high school track.

According to Al Olah, chairman of the project, the course is divided into 14 different exercise stations with various timber structures designed to stretch or strengthen the muscles. Each station has a sign that explains how to use properly the equipment.

A 16-year-old Warwick High School senior, who skipped her junior year, has been named a semifinalist in the National Merit Scholarship Competition. Jennifer Wiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Wiley, 513 W. Orange St.

Jennifer started at Warwick High School as a freshman, having moved to the area with her parents from Watchung, N.J. Since her arrival at WHS, she has been involved in the gifted program.

Elizabeth Township supervisors will meet Sept. 18 with the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation's superintendent of highways to discuss measures to correct a storm water drainage problem on Reifsnnyder Road in the township.

Several township residents voiced their concern about housing development and the run-off problem its creating along Reifsnnyder Road at the supervisors' regular monthly meeting Monday night.

Reifsnnyder Road residents told the supervisors that the run-off from the developments nearby is depositing silt in their lawns and a creek bed that runs through their property.

The Lititz Zoning Hearing Board Monday denied a developer permission to build an eight-unit townhouse, and ordered a continuance to research a Housing Development Corporation proposal.

In the world of contemporary Christian music, there's a gross conglomerate of styles and a melting pot of mixed messages fielded today. It's a jungle in the middle of the road, adult contemporary, new wave, punk, country and rock 'n' roll music.

For five young members of a local band, Voyageur, those very mixed messages provide the impetus for their efforts to spread the message of love and truth. They've taken a reflective stand, turned inward through their music to reach young people and share the Gospel.

The Warriors opened the football season this past Saturday, defeating Lebanon Catholic 26-6 on Grosh field. Generating that many points may seem to indicate that the home club was in control of the game. In addition, Warwick rolled up 261 yards on the ground and through the air. However, most of that yardage came on big plays and in between the Warriors were hard pressed to move the ball. In fact, Warwick was up by 14 points after running down to their name. The local team didn't help themselves when it came to penalties. They committed eight infractions.

The Warwick hockey team played through three games before they could claim a victory. They played to a 1-1 tie at Penn Manor then returned to host Conestoga Valley, which resulted in a scoreless tie. However, on Monday, the Warriorettes broke into the victory column with a 3-1 decision over visiting Manheim Township.

This summer the borough has been involved in some of the most extensive and numerous street projects it has faced simultaneously in many years.

Several have been completed, including a complete revamping of the intersection at North Cedar Street and East Lincoln Avenue.

Another completed project was a face lifting for West Main Street and work is still underway on West Second Avenue, where curb and sidewalk are being installed for anew housing development by Hurst Brothers Builders and for a professional medical building.

Grace and Eugene Harry are retiring from the shoe repair business after 28 years. Their store, long a landmark at Five Points (intersection of Front, Cedar and Liberty Streets) was the last shoe repair shop in Lititz.

Warwick's young opportunistic football team took advantage of four fumbles in the rain and mud at Manheim Central on Friday night and opened their 1974 season with a hard fought 28-14 victory over the highly-touted Barons. Keith Carvel paced the offense by throwing for two touchdowns, setting up another and still had time to score one himself.

Officers for the ABCD's for 1974-75 are Mrs. Millie Zeller, treasurer; Mrs. Joyce Loercher, president; Mrs. Nancy Hartz, secretary; and Mrs. Tilli Schouten, vice president.

Richard Pohner, 320 E. New St., will be heading the voter registration for Democrats in the Warwick School District prior to the fall elections.

Pohner, a social studies teacher at Warwick High School, has been active in politics the last few years, and was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the 102nd District Legislative seat in the spring primaries.

Their demonstrations of the values that they hold most important in life will always warm our remembrances of them and would put many a "Sunday christian" to shame!

I am reminded of the biblical mandate to entertain strangers, not knowing when you will actually be entertaining an angel. Art and Miriam will always be our special angels there in Lititz! We experienced a moment of heaven there fellowshiping with them that made the craft show dull in comparison. I wish you all could have a Gaveno!

Reader notices changes in Lititz during absence

Editor, Lititz Record:

After six months absence, we made our way back to our old home in Lititz. A friend from where we now live wanted to see the craft show. Despite the heat and humidity - I don't know why they can't hold the event either four months earlier or two months later - we made our way around a town full of precious memories. We returned with memories of the trip, both pleasant and disturbing.

We returned to a different Lititz than the one we left just a short while ago. But with all the changes and the lack of a dwelling, we were deeply grateful to Art and Miriam for allowing us to call their house "home base."

We saw good, like the continuance of the display of the cheche downtown - we won! We saw heart rending landmarks in Lititz Elementary and Lititz Springs Park. We also saw threats like continued defoliation and the impending approach of urban sprawl from Lancaster. And the crowds that Wal Mart would

Workers
honored
Labor Day

Editor, Lititz Record:

Labor Day - September 5, 1994
Labor Day is a holiday honoring working people. It is observed as a legal holiday on the first Monday in September throughout the United States, Puerto Rico and Canada. It also has become a symbol of the end of summer.

In 1882, Peter J. McGuire, founder of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters, suggested a national holiday to honor the country's working people. In September of the same year, workers staged the first Labor Day parade in New York City. Organized labor then campaigned to make the day a National holiday. Oregon became the first state to make Labor Day a legal holiday in 1887. President Grover Cleveland signed a bill making Labor Day a National holiday in the United States in 1894.

On this Labor Day in 1994, the National, Department of Pa., District 9, Lancaster County Council and local Posts Manheim #5956 and Lititz #1463 Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary urged all Americans to fly "Old Glory" in honor of the working people who helped make this country great. We are Americans devoted to years of freedom as we touch the past and celebrate the future.

On display in the window of Flickinger's Jewelry Store was a complete set of miniature blacksmith tools.

They were made by Levi Mellinger of 11 Front Street, and are believed to be the smallest set ever made. Of course, they were made entirely by hand.

The materials used were chrome-plated steel and cold rolled-steel. Mellinger worked 50 years as a blacksmith, first in Millersville, then in Lancaster and New Holland.

Finally moving to Lititz, he operated his own shop for 18 years.

The Manheim V.F.W. Ladies Auxiliary, Post #5956, will have a registration stand located at the gazebo on the square on Saturday, Sept. 10 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Voting is a prime responsibility and obligation of citizenship. If you are not registered and do not plan to vote, you should consider that self government, such as we enjoy, without the involvement of the citizenry, will not work and soon degenerates into anarchy or tyranny.

School lunch program determines eligibility

The following schools in this area, all of which are sponsors of the National School Lunch Program and/or the School Breakfast Program or Special Milk Program, have announced a change in the 1994-95 school year Free and Reduced-Price Meal and Free Milk Income guidelines for children unable to pay the full price.

The following sponsors participate in the Milk Program only: Ephrata Mennonite School, Kraybill Mennonite School, Manheim Christian Day School, Our Mother of Perpetual Help, Hinkletown Mennonite School, Lititz Area Mennonite School and New Danville Mennonite School.

These schools have adopted the following family size and income criteria as established by the Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture for determining eligibility. Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown below are eligible for free meals or free milk or reduced-price meals.

To apply for free or reduced-price meals or free milk, complete the application sent home by your school with a letter to parents, sign it and return it to the school. Additional copies are available from the school.

Food Stamp/AFDC Household: If you currently receive Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" for your child, you only have to list your child's name and food stamp or AFDC case number, print your name, and sign the application.

All Other Households: If your household income is at or below the level shown above, your child is eligible for free or reduced-price meals or free milk. To apply for meal or milk benefits, you must provide the following information or your application cannot be approved.

• Household Members: Write the names of everyone in your household. Include yourself and all children, your spouse, grandparents, other relatives and unrelated people who live in your household.

• Current Income: Write the amount of income each household member received Last Month, before deductions, and where it came from, such as Earnings, Welfare, Pension or Other Income.

• Social Security Number: Write the name and social security number of the adult household member who signs the form. Write the word "NONE" if the adult household member does not have a social security number.

• Signature: An adult household member must sign the application.

In the certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If families have such children and wish to apply for free or reduced-price meals or free milk, they should write the child's name, monthly personal use income and sign the application.

If you list income information and your child is approved for meal or milk benefits, you must tell the school when your household income increases by $50 or more per month ($600 per year) or when your household size decreases.

If you list a food stamp or AFDC case number, you must tell the school when you no longer receive food stamps or AFDC for your child.

A household may apply for benefits at any time during the school year as circumstances change. Children having parents or guardians who become unemployed are eligible for free or reduced-price meals or for free milk during the period of unemployment, provided that the loss of income causes the household income to be within the eligibility criteria.

The parent must also certify that all of the information is true and correct to the best of his or her knowledge and belief. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the determination of eligibility and may be verified by the school or other officials at any time during the year.

Neither the names nor the incomes will be released. Because the application is made in connection with the receipt of federal funds, deliberate misrepresentation of information may subject the applicant to prosecution under applicable state and federal criminal statutes.

Children who receive free or reduced-price meal or free milk benefits are treated the same as children who pay for their meals or milk. In the operation of child nutrition programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, national origin, age or disability. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Each sponsor's approving official will review applications and determine eligibility. Parents whose applications are denied will be notified in writing and advised that if they are dissatisfied with the ruling of the local approving official, a request may be made orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision. The parent notification also includes the name and address of the person to whom an appeal is made. Hearing procedures are outlined in the school's policy which is on file in each school's office and may be reviewed by any interested party.

When a new student moves into the Warwick School District, one way they get acclimated to their new surroundings is through an orientation session before the start of school.

Last week, new teachers in the district had the same opportunity. Dr. Daniel Doremus, assistant superintendent, helped set up the orientation session that was designed to give teachers a bit of background of the district and help them get their bearings before the big day rolled around.

The new teacher orientation day took place in the Warwick Middle School Auditorium. At lunch, the teachers took a break and ate lunch with some of the district administrators and a few school board members. Afterwards, they went on a bus tour of the district's facilities. At the end of the day, they were given the chance to get into their classrooms.

Even with the opening of the new school, the district only hired about 20 new teachers this fall — some of whom are part-time or long-term substitutes.

Teddy Bear Day set for this Saturday

If you are planning your calendar for the fall, be sure to put a circle around Saturday, September 10... and your children will thank you for it! This date marks the Fifth Annual Teddy Bear Festival in Lititz Springs Park. The day of fun for all ages includes games, face-painting, entertainment and crafts, which all share the teddy bear theme. A story time is set aside to help little minds wander, there will be pony rides and, of course, great good provided by local area service groups.

The yearly teddy bear contest will be held at 3 p.m. with registration beginning at 1 p.m. Participants may enter in one or more categories: Most Loved Bear, Most Famous Bear, and Bear Float Division. Entry fee is $1. For children up to and including age ten, there is the ever popular coloring contest. Three age categories, with a ten dollar gift certificate to the Teddy Bear Emporium for each group, will once again be offered. Enjoy forms are available prior to the event at the following locations: Teddy Bear Emporium, Lititz Public Library (both located on Broad Street, Lititz) and Bob's Save Rite (Rt. 501 near the Warwick Shopping Center).

This annual event, sponsored by the Lititz Women of Today, generates proceeds to benefit a different children's project or charity each year. In the past, recipients have included the Make-A-Wish Foundation, Lititz Springs Park Playground Equipment Fund and a local foundation for "special needs" children. This year, all proceeds will benefit the Lititz Public Library.

There is no raindate for this affair; however, in the case of inclement weather, festivities will be moved to the Lititz Church of the Brethren, 300 West Orange Street, Lititz.

The day of activities is held from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. For more information, please contact 1994 chairperson, Donna Zug at 717-626-7492.

Bouncing for books

Summer wins castle use for reading most books

CONNIE BUCKWALTER
Record Express Staff

Summer Landis set a goal for herself after school let out in June and she didn't let up until she reached it.

The John Beck second grader read 242 books between the last day of school and August 22 as part of the school library's summer reading contest.

According to Summer's mother, Melissa, Summer wanted to read an average of four books every day of her vacation. Some days she read more and others, less.

As a reward for her efforts, Jeff Weit, owner of Home Base Restaurant and Bouncing Castles in Lititz, set up the bouncing castle in Summer's backyard on Wednesday, August 31. She invited about six friends over to jump around in the soft, blue inflatable castle. In addition, several children from the neighborhood stopped by to take a bounce or two.

Summer said she was hoping she could win the summer reading contest, because she likes to read. She read several Berenstain Bear books throughout the summer, but her favorite book was "Gypsy Girl's Best Shoes," which is the story of a little gypsy girl whose father finds a pair of fancy shoes that she wears all around town.

She got many of the books she read from the John Beck Elementary School Library, which was open on Monday nights during the summer. She also said that she has many books of her own.

When she was not reading, Summer liked to spend her school vacation drawing and riding her bike. She is the daughter of Melissa and Dwight Landis, 24 Strawberry Lane, Lititz.

Besides the use of the bouncing castle for the day, Weit donated coupons for free ice cream cones at Home Base to all the children who participated in the reading program.

Summer Landis jumps for joy as she celebrates being the top summer reader at John Beck Elementary. Summer read more than 240 books and won a full day of the Bouncing Castle in her backyard for her efforts.

Troop 44 Scouts attend leadership training camp

The Lancaster-Lebanon Council recently offered a seven-day outdoor leadership training experience for scouts who will serve as senior patrol leaders or assistant senior patrol leaders in the coming year. This course, known as Operation Golden Falcon, is designed to give the participants a basic knowledge of the eleven skills of leadership and help them relate these skills to their troop responsibilities. Daily activities also help develop the confidence and knowledge to direct the troop's yearly program.

Two of Troop 44's participants served on the junior leader training staff. Warwick senior Sean Broomell was recruited to act as a patrol guide. He counseled and evaluated eight members of a trainee patrol. Matt Stuckey, a Warwick Junior, served as the course senior patrol leader. He was directly responsible for all daily troop operations and special events assigned by the course director.

Warwick sophomore Jason Fleager and freshman Patrick Eckert were trainees in the 1994 course. Both scouts had an outstanding experience and were commended for their efforts during the week.

In addition to their course contributions, these four scouts lead Troop 44 by example. Sean and Jason have successfully passed their Eagle Scout board of reviews. Matt and Patrick, Life Scouts, are completing the final stages in their efforts to reach Scouting's highest honor.

Cub Scout registration

On Tuesday, September 13, 1994 local Cub Scout packs will accept new members at John Beck, Kissel Hill, and Lititz Elem. Schools starting at 7 p.m. The same program will be conducted at John Bonfield Elem. School on Tuesday, Sept. 20 starting at 7 p.m. Boys in 1st grade (but not pre-1st) through 5th grade will receive flyers inviting them to bring a parent to school on one of these dates to register them for one of the three grade/age-appropriate programs of the Boy Scouts of America. Boys in public schools may come to the School Night for Scouting program at one of the public schools mentioned in this article. For more information, call the Boy Scout Support Center at 394-4063 weekdays between 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.

Unightly spider veins respond to sclerotherapy

Spider veins are small red or blue blood vessels usually located on the legs, especially on the thigh or calf region. These blood vessels may start appearing in the late teens and early 20s and can continue to appear throughout life.

There are many causes for the spider veins, including hormonal factors, injuries to the legs and a family history of leg vein problems. Besides being unsightly, spider veins also can cause discomfort often described as a burning sensation in the skin where they appear.

What is exciting is the fact that spider veins can be safely and effectively treated through an office procedure called sclerotherapy. Sclerotherapy involves placing a liquid into the spider vein through a tiny needle. There is usually minimal discomfort during the procedure. Dermatologist Dr. John B. Legere, of Dermatology Physicians, Inc. at 14 S. Broad St., Lititz, and 203 N. Lime St., Lancaster, said "Patients are usually surprised at the ease with which these vessels are treated and are happy with the results."

Sclerotherapy is not a new procedure and has been performed since at least the 1960s. But the procedure has been refined through technology. "The needles have been reduced to a very small size, which causes minimal discomfort and allows smaller veins to be treated," said Dr. David H. Weingold, a dermatologist who practices with Dr. Legere. After a few treatments the overall response rate is often greater than 90 percent.

Other treatments, including the use of lasers, can also be performed by dermatologists, but are usually reserved for veins in other locations or vessels too small for the smallest needles.

Sclerotherapy is easily and safely performed in the dermatologist's office. Patients can usually return to work the same day, although the legs are often wrapped and the patient should avoid vigorous exercise for one or two days. Treatment sessions generally last half an hour.

Warriors rout the Panthers 41-0 in season opener

BRUCE MORGAN
Record Express Staff

The Warriors' 41-0 season-opening thrashing of Central York on Friday could not have gone any better to plan for Warwick Coach Clever Daihl.

It was literally a total team effort, as the offense, defense, and special teams all made big contributions to the win.

"I guess (Central York) is in their down cycle right now, and when we came out, everything just seemed to work for us," Daihl said. "We're very happy with what we did tonight."

And the fact that Warwick was able to jump out to a big early lead enabled Daihl to give his young quarterback, sophomore Matt Becker, some experience throwing the ball.

In his first varsity game, Becker finished 7-for-16 for 82 yards, with one touchdown and one interception.

Overall, Warwick outgained the Panthers 236-175 in total offense. Daihl was pleased with the offensive performance of his team, as the Warriors basically kept it "manilla" once they took the lead.

"We've got a lot in our offense, and we kept it kinda manilla — we didn't want to go in and do a whole lot of stuff," he said. "There's a lot of things we could have done. We could've run the option all day long if we wanted to — they were giving us the option. We could've run the trap option if we wanted to. There's a lot of things we could've done. But once we got up, then we figured... they couldn't keep up with us up front. We were very strong, the linemen were just blowing their people back off the line, and why try to do a whole lot of stuff. As you saw, we ran dive, we ran isolation, we ran cutback a little here and there, it was basically manilla. And we tried to throw the ball a little bit. We wanted to get (Matt) some experience at throwing the ball and stepping up in our pass blocking situations. That was primarily our objective once we got ahead."

Defensively, the Warriors were led by sophomore Mark Reidenbaugh and senior Nathaniel Kurtz, who each had a pair of interceptions. Kurtz returned one for a touchdown, and two of the other three led directly to Warwick scores.

"Those kids are players, we've got a lot of players on this team right now," Daihl said. "We've got about 20, 21, 22 kids who are ready to play, and a lot of backups offensively and defensively. We're kinda solid there, and I'm happy with that."

The main threat the Panthers had was wide receiver Rashad Elby, who caught six passes for 67 yards. But the Warriors' defense did a nice job of containing Elby and not allowing him to break any long gainers. His longest pass reception was for 21 yards.

"The most important thing that I'm really thrilled about is the fact that our defense is showing the potential of really doing a good job of shutting down the pass," Daihl said. "They're playing some great pass defense, dropping in their zone, and the linemen are doing a lot of pressuring the quarterback, and that's going to help us down the line."

The Panthers' running game had minus-14 yards in the first half, and they finished with 69 yards on 21 carries, but 39 of those yards came on the next-to-last play of the game.

"They couldn't run against us," Daihl said. "(Defensive Coordinator) Mick (Sload) has a great scheme in there defensively, and sometimes he's running five-man fronts, sometimes he's running a four-man front, and sometimes he's blitzing one or two guys from the outside. He's really mixing it up well, and yet we're still staying in our good coverage so we're not vulnerable."

After Warwick's defense held Central York to just three plays on its first series, Tim McCloskey returned a punt 19 yards to put the Warriors' offense in business on the Panthers' 19.

Five plays later, junior Zach Bolich (10 rushes, 52 yards) plunged in from the one-yard line to put the Warriors on the scoreboard with 7:26 left in the first quarter. Daniel Turnbull then kicked the first of five successive extra points to make it 7-0.

Midway through the second, Kurtz stepped in front of a pass from Central York quarterback Jeremy Swords and rambled 42 yards for a touchdown to make it 14-0 with 7:11 left in the half.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Warriors recovered a pooch kick, and the Warriors had a first down on the Panthers' 37. Following a 12-yard completion from Becker to Reidenbaugh, a two-yard scramble by Becker, and a 17-yard completion to Kurtz, Nick Scott (10 carries, 24 yards) capped the scoring drive with a five-yard TD run to make it 21-0.

Kurtz's second interception of the game with 5:06 left in the third set up the Warriors' next touchdown. On the second play of the drive, Becker rolled right and found Austin Soto (two catches, 19 yards) alone in the endzone for a 15-yard TD pass.

Nearly two minutes later, Reidenbaugh got his second interception of the game and gave the Warriors' offense the ball at midfield. A 20-yard pass completion to Kurtz, a 10-yard run by Bolich, a seven-yard run by Scott, an eight-yard completion to Kurtz, and a one-yard run by Scott put the ball on the Panthers' three. Bolich capped the drive with his second touchdown of the game, a three-yard run, with 10:44 to go in the game, making the score 35-0.

Warwick completed the scoring when Russell Burkett scampered 63 yards down the right sideline for a touchdown with 1:49 left in the game.

The Warriors will try to make it two in a row when they travel to Elizabethtown to face the Bears this Friday, Sept. 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Coen's OT goal lifts Warwick in Tourney championship game

BRUCE MORGAN
Record Express Staff

The Lady Warriors' field hockey team got off to a quick start, as they won their first two games of the season and captured the championship in the Conrad Weiser Tournament last weekend.

Kelly Coen's goal with 4:59 gone in the second overtime period lifted Warwick to a 2-1 win over Kutztown on Saturday, giving the Lady Warriors the title.

The game was dominated by the Lady Warriors, but Kutztown led at halftime 1-0. Kutztown scored 1:35 into the game, and after that, the Lady Warriors outshot their opponent 6-0 and they held a 14-0 edge in corners the rest of the first half.

Finally, Emily Robb tied the game 1-1, with an assist from Coen, with 3:54 gone by in the second half. Then Warwick continued to put the pressure on, outshooting Kutztown 17-3 and holding a 14-2 advantage in corners in the half, but regulation ended with the score still tied 1-1.

Neither team scored in the first OT period, but Coen came through in the second overtime, on an assist from Robb, to end it. Each team had one corner in overtime, and Warwick outshot Kutztown 5-0.

Warwick goalie Kati Oakes had three saves, and Kutztown goalie Morse made 24 stops.

In the Lady Warriors' opener on Friday, Sarah Thorn's goal with 4:15 expired in the second half was the game-winner in a 2-1 win over Conrad Weiser.

Sara Leister opened the scoring for Warwick when she scored on an assist from Coen with 11:32 gone in the first. It stayed 1-0 for slightly less than eight minutes, as Conrad Weiser's Jen Schmidt got the equalizer with 10:56 remaining in the half.

Warwick outshot Conrad Weiser 5-2 and it had a 5-1 edge in corners in the first half.

Thorn's goal early in the second, with an assist from Robb, gave the Lady Warriors their one-goal lead again.

They just missed on a couple of later opportunities to add an insurance goal, and then Conrad Weiser put some heat on Warwick's defense late in the game, but the Lady Warriors were able to hold on.

Warwick outshot Conrad Weiser 8-2 in the second half, but the Lady Scouts had a 6-2 advantage in penalty corners.

Oakes made three saves, while CW goalie Sage stopped 11 shots.

WHS booters gain confidence in Wyomissing Tournament

ROBERT HELLER
Record Express Staff

The Warwick soccer team traveled to Wyomissing High School on Saturday to take part in a four-team tournament which also included Conrad Weiser and Dallastown.

Although the Warriors lost their first contest to Dallastown 4-0 and their consolation match to Conrad Weiser 3-0, head coach Daryl Groff was not overly concerned.

"They were real games, but they were really nothing more than scrimmages in our eyes," said Groff. "We need to sort some things out yet, but I have to say that I was quite happy with how we played against the competition being that it was our first time playing together."

The tournament did include some top competition, with Wyomissing and Conrad Weiser being two of the top four teams in Berks County.

With it being early in the season and the Warriors not having any real game experience under their belts yet, the purpose of going to this tournament, Groff said, was to get some of that experience and to let the players get comfortable with playing together. Not necessarily to come away with a pair of victories and the championship.

Groff thinks they accomplished that.

"Considering that we have not played any live competition and that we have a lot of new guys on varsity this year, I was happy...I am glad we went," said Groff. "The more we played, the lads looked more confident. That was one of our goals of the day, that the last half we played would be better than the first, and it was by a long shot."

Only time will tell if this experience will carry on into league play, and if the Warriors can come together and be competitive in a very tough Section One.

The Warriors home-opener is tonight against Pequea Valley with the junior varsity starting at 6 p.m. and the varsity at 7:30 p.m.

Lady Warriors win two of three

BRUCE MORGAN
Record Express Staff

Warwick's girls tennis team opened its season with two wins and one loss in three non-league matches, defeating Manheim Central and Norlebo, and falling to Annville-Cleona.

The Lady Warriors improved their record to 2-1 with a 7-0 shutout over Norlebo last Friday.

Warwick's number one player, junior Brianne Peiffer (3-0), remained unbeaten with a 6-0, 6-0 win over Trina Shultz.

At number two, Kelly Lundsten (2-1) defeated Lindsay Warlow 6-3, 6-3, and at third singles, Val Christman (2-1) dropped Tara Ruhl 6-3, 6-1.

Laurie Klunk (2-1) made quick work of Jordan Sigler, 6-1, 6-2 at number four, and Liz Moyer (2-1) completed the singles sweep with a 6-3, 6-1 win over Jackie Groff at number five.

Peiffer and Lundsten teamed up to shutout Norlebo's doubles team of Shultz and Warlow 8-0, and Christman and Klunk defeated Ruhl and Groff 8-4.

Warwick-5
Manheim Central-2

The Lady Warriors got four singles wins to seal their 5-2 win early against the Lady Barons on Monday, Aug. 29.

Peiffer defeated Jen O'Neill 6-3, 6-0 at number one singles, and then Lundsten, at number two, suffered a close loss in three sets in an exciting match with Hilary Waltman. Waltman took the first set 7-5, then Lundsten bounced back to win the next one convincingly 6-0, but Waltman won the third set 7-5.

Christman defeated Sandy Sanadsky 6-1, 6-0 at number three, Klunk dropped Jen Kay 6-2, 6-0 at fourth singles, and Moyer defeated Krista Stauffer 6-0, 6-0 at fifth singles.

In doubles play, Peiffer and Moyer suffered an 8-7 loss to O'Neill and Waltman, and Christman and Klunk defeated Sanadsky and Kay by a 6-1, 6-1 score.

Annville-Cleona-4½ Warwick-2½

In Warwick's match against Annville-Cleona, the Lady Dutchmen had a 3-2 edge at the end of singles, and they wrapped up their 4½-2½ victory with a win in doubles.

Peiffer and Lundsten accounted for the Lady Warriors' two wins in singles, as both players prevailed in three sets. Peiffer defeated Caroline Bell 6-0, 1-6, 6-4 at number one, and then Lundsten came back from a first-set loss to defeat Kristin Martin 5-7, 6-0, 6-3 at second singles.

Annville-Cleona's Daniel Peiffer downed Christman 6-2, 6-4 at number three, then Eliska Kovarik defeated Klunk 6-3, 6-0 at fourth singles, and Karyn Miller dropped Moyer 6-0, 6-3 at number five.

In doubles, Warwick's team of Peiffer and Lundsten split with Bell and Kovarik 7-5, 6-7 (9-11), while Christman and Klunk fell to Martin and Miller 6-3, 6-2.

"We playing pretty well," Warwick Coach Ron Wanner said. "We've got to improve our consistency. We're making too many errors we shouldn't be making. That's right down the line — everybody."

Lady Warriors use Central Dauphin Tourney as tune-up for regular season

ROBERT HELLER
Record Express Staff

In a tune-up for the regular season, Warwick's girls volleyball team won one out of four matches at the Central Dauphin Volleyball Tournament on Saturday.

There were 10 teams competing in the Tournament, and they were broken down into two divisions. Warwick was grouped with New Oxford, Central Dauphin, Steel-High and Bermudian Springs.

After dropping the first three matches of the day, the Lady Warriors defeated Steel-High in their final match.

"We did OK," said head coach Lori Moul. "We really started slow. I do not know if the first team we played (Bermudian Springs) was any better than us, but we did not move, we did not talk, we played terrible."

"The second one got a little better and in the third one we played well, but were edged out by Central Dauphin. Then we put it together in the fourth match and beat Steel-High."

Victories and success are not always parallel in the world of sports, and even though Warwick went 1-3 at Central Dauphin, the most important thing to Moul was getting her team some game experience.

"That is why we were in this tournament early — to get some matches in," said Moul. "I was not really concerned about wins and losses, I just wanted to see them get some playing time together.

"We accomplished our goal, which was to come together a little bit as a team. We accomplished that because we played better at the end of the tournament than we did at the beginning. And that is why we did it."

The Lady Warriors open their season tonight at Elizabethtown, with the J.V. starting at 6:30 and the varsity at 7:30.

Linksmen place fifth at Overlook

ROBERT HELLER
Record Express Staff

Perhaps a case of early season jitters may have caused some of Warwick's golfers to shoot above their average in their first match of the year. Perhaps it was the fact that Overlook Golf Course played very tough that day for all six teams in Section One, not just the Warriors.

Warwick finished fifth out of six teams in their season-opening Section One match on August 30 at Overlook, with a team total of 457.

Hempfield won the match handily with a score of 414, with Manheim Township finishing second with a stroke total of 434. Cedar Crest was third with a score of 450, Solanco was fourth with 454 and Penn Manor was sixth with 473.

The greens and fairways were not very friendly to the young golfers, as only Hempfield's Jason Moyer and Tom Meredith, who both shot a 77, recorded scores in the 70's.

Chad Wettig was the low-man for the Warriors with an 88, while Jason Valudes and Jon Thomas were close behind, both shooting 91. Brian Wenger fired a 92 and Warwick's number-one player Kevin Hicks struggled through his round with a 95. Eric Rossi shot a 102 for the Warriors as well.

"It was just one of those things," said head coach John Sukenik. "If our number-one guy shoots his average, we would have beaten two more (teams). But, those sorts of things happens in golf. Overall, I was (pleased) because a couple of the kids shot better than they have averaged. Unfortunately for Kevin, he shot 10 shots higher than his average. But that happens."

It probably will not happen to often for Hicks though, who averages around 85, and with Wettig shooting an 88 and Valudes, Wenger and Thomas two and three strokes from shooting in the eighties themselves, Warwick looks as if they are on the verge of success.

Sukenik would like to see about 15 strokes shaved from his team's performance in the next few matches. If that happens, he feels that Warwick will win some matches.

"Township's kids were all in the 80's, and it is nice if you can do that," said Sukenik. "If we can put four players out of six in the 80's in our remaining matches we will win some. That is our goal at least."

LYSC players will be admitted free to Warriors' Sept. 15 game

Lititz Youth Soccer Club players will be admitted free of charge for both the junior varsity (6 p.m.) and varsity (7:30 p.m.) soccer games when Warwick hosts Manheim Township on Thursday, Sept. 15. Please remember to wear your soccer shirt.

The Warwick soccer coaching staff and the Warwick Soccer Parents Association are teaming up with Eurosport's Passback program. The purpose of the Passback program is to provide footwear to players who cannot afford the most basic pieces of equipment.

Please bring clean and still playable leather soccer shoes (no sole separations, holes, broken studs, mud, etc.) to the Sept. 15 game. Eurosport welcomes turf, replaceable, molded and indoor shoes. Please write the size on the soles of the shoes, as the size indicators on the inside of the shoes are often worn away by use.

The shoes will be collected at the ticket windows and then be shipped to Eurosport. Eurosport will distribute these shoes to needy players in the United States and overseas.

Thank you in advance for your participation in the Passback program and have a great soccer season.

With party workers in both precincts going from door to door to stimulate interest, the Republican Party led the registration by a ratio of 3-1.

Three local women had narrow escapes and harrowing experiences last Thursday night when a large section of Beach Haven, N.J. was inundated and destroyed by the terrific forces of the hurricane that swept along the Atlantic coastline.

They are: Mrs. Mabel Hertz, of East Main Street; Mrs. Ella Badorf, North Broad Street; and her sister, Mrs. Fred Ungst of Rohrestown.

More than 1,000 baskets of red, ripe tomatoes were scattered about the intersection of Front and Locust streets early Tuesday-morning when a large truck overturned in making the sharp turn.

Property owners of town face an increase in taxation next year due to a misunderstanding between the borough school board and the town council regarding the expense of building the athletic field on West Orange Street.

The misunderstanding has existed for some time and thus far has not been ironed out despite several joint meetings held for that purpose.

The School Board met Thursday evening with all members present. The treasurer reported having received the state appropriation of more than $8,000 and a balance of $13,572.51 was on hand.

It was decided to apply for Federal Aid to complete the athletic field and agreed to spend $516.15 additional in order to qualify for the same.

The Delphian Chapter held its first meeting for the fall on Friday evening at the home of Misses Sophia and Maggie Bricker. Fifteen members were present. Miss Anna K. Miller, the president, presided.

All citizens should be aware of the fact that by voting in a free election, they demonstrate to the world that government based on self-determination works. Each time an American citizen fails to cast a ballot because he is just too complacent, too indifferent, too comfortable, or just too lazy, he demonstrates rejection of all the ideals and principles for which our nation stands. Therefore, you can see how important it is to register and vote each and every time the opportunity presents itself.

Registration forms will be available to register you as a new voter, to report a change of address since you last voted, or to report a change of party. Auxiliary personnel will be on hand to help you fill out the forms, and the completed forms will be taken personally to the Lancaster Courthouse. If you will become 18 years of age on or before November 8, you will be eligible to register to vote in this year's election. The deadline for registering to vote is October 3.

Absentee ballot forms will be available to those who cannot get to the polls to vote. So, come see the Manheim V.F.W. Auxiliary at the annual Flea Market, sponsored by the Manheim Historical Society on Saturday, Sept. 10.

School board

ing the standards, the number of students receiving failing grades decreased while the numbers of students earning honor roll status increased. Additionally, Cummins noted that fewer students had interim reports sent home by the teachers.

With IS, a typical school day would include five periods — most 80 minutes long — with the first two and last two periods being used basically for scheduling instruction, Cummins said. The operative third period would be about 90 minutes long, but be subdivided into three segments, one of which students and teachers would use for lunch. The other two sub-periods could be used for additional study time, band, orchestra, chorus, clubs, tutorials, special prep sessions and the like.

Also, instead of taking the typical courses like math, English and science for an entire school year (36 weeks), students would now study them for one semester (18 weeks), Cummins said. However, because of the increased instruction time and the varied use of teaching methods (audio, visual, hands-on), Cummins said that studies have indicated that students' retention time does not decrease, nor does their education suffer as a result. This change would actually allow students to schedule more electives and earn more credits towards graduation.

Cummins said he views IS as the "glue that binds" six critical elements of high school restructuring together — student performance assessment, partnership with business/industry, site-based management, use of technology, interdisciplinary and team teaching and performance standards for graduation. He also said that it would accommodate the changes proposed by the state-mandated outcomes based education, which has not yet gone into effect in Warwick.

The board responded to Cummins' presentation with interest. Board member Madelyn Buckwalter questioned the structuring of the third period — the time to be used for tutoring, lunch, etc. — and its management. Cummins said that was one of the only downsides he could see with IS, but said that he felt it could be worked out so that the students and teachers benefitted.

Board members also indicated that they wanted Cummins to continue his study of the concept. Cummins has briefed teachers and administrators on the idea and said that he would welcome discussing it with interested parents. At this point, both Dr. John R. Bonfield, Warwick superintendent, and Cummins said that IS is only being considered as a possibility at the high school level.

After the meeting, Cummins said he did not see any significant cost increase associated with implementing IS at the high school — except for the possible addition of some teacher's aides. He also said that he felt the idea would work well for students attending vo-tech or participating in open campus.

Also during the meeting, school board members watched a video on distance learning, which involves educating students through the use of satellite technology, computer networks and fiber optics.

"It's exciting and fun to have these kinds of tools available to us," Bonfield said.

The board also discussed the community library concept — an idea that would possibly combine the resources of the school district and the Lititz Public Library to serve the community.

Bonfield said that the district had discussed the idea about a year ago and is now revisiting the possibility and engaging in dialogue with members of the library board.

Board members heard several requests for out-of-state field trips, which they will be asked to take action on during their Sept. 20 regular meeting.

At the Sept. 20 meeting, the board will also vote on whether or not to support the vo-tech modernization proposal. Both Bonfield and Ruth Husser, board member and vo-tech liaison, said that they felt that the vo-tech would be making several changes that would make more programs available to Warwick students.

Girl Scouts

search for the country's best community projects by young Americans.

The Rolling Hills Neighborhood Girl Scouts were awarded a fourth place check for $100 by holding a book and bake sale on the front porch of the Lititz Public Library during April.

The prize money, as well as all the proceeds from the book and bake sale, were presented to the library.

This is the second year that the Girl Scouts ran the book/bake sale, but the first time they decided to enter a community service contest.

Cadette Troop 394 organized the sale and invited other troops from the neighborhood to participate.

According to Maryann Richmond and Harriett Shuman, co-leaders of troop 394, "the girls did all of the work."

The project began with the girls making colorful donation boxes that were placed in local businesses and churches. A sign on the boxes asked people to donate as many children's books as possible.

"Businesses were supportive," said Richmond.

Once the donated books were collected, they were sold during the April 30 sale. While browsing through the children's books, buyers were tempted with an assortment of tantalizing pastries.

All of the categorizing, handling of money and sales were done by the Scouts themselves.

The sale was a success, bringing in just over $400 as a result of the hard work.

In the two years of the sales' existence the Girl Scouts have raised more than $800 for the library. Richmond said she thought that the library would be the perfect organization to support because, "it benefits everyone in the community."

The Girl Scouts applied for the Colgate-Palmolive contest in the spring of this year and had found out just two weeks ago that they won fourth place.

The judging was done by Andrew Shue of TV's "Melrose Place," "Blossom's" Joey Lawrence, and "Saved by the Bell — College Years" Tiffani-Amber Thiessen and Mark-Paul Gosselaar.

The judges all agreed that the Rolling Hills Neighborhood Girls Scouts' project stood out as an "important and outstanding contribution to the Lititz community."

Richmond said that she wanted the Girl Scouts to, "do something other than just sell cookies."

When she mentioned the prospect to the Rolling Hills Service Team they asked her what she had in mind. The result was the birth of the book/bake sale.

The $100 check from Colgate-Palmolive was presented to the Lititz Public Library, represented by Donna Hammond, last Friday morning.

Richmond said that from beginning to end, the process has been a gratifying learning experience for the girls. She finished by saying that they were all looking forward to doing it again.

To date, the Colgate-Palmolive Company has awarded more than $5.5 million to America's young people through "Youth for America."

United Way campaign

The campaign kick-off for 1994 is this coming Saturday, Sept. 10, and will be celebrated with a Day of Caring.

Wakely explained that volunteers from many of the county businesses that endorse and support the United Way will "go around to the different agencies and perform tasks." These employees are volunteering their time on Saturday to do things as simple as mowing the yard for someone who cannot do it themselves to removing and installing a new roof on a group home.

This is the third year for the Day of Caring, which has replaced the traditional kick-off dinner and is more illustrative of what the United Way is all about, Wakely noted.

This year the United Way has set a goal to raise more money than it did last year — $5.4 million. Legenstein explained the four goals of the campaign: increase corporate giving by 7 percent, start 100 new workplace campaigns, get 10,000 new givers and increase the leadership gift giving to 375 people — 25 more than last year.

Legenstein is asking people to step forward if their business does not have a workplace campaign.

"I don't care if you only have one employee — that being yourself — I want you to contribute to United Way," he said.

Although the most cited reason for contributing to United Way is because people like the feeling of helping others, Faulkner Chevrolet/Faulkner Oldsmobile has added a new incentive to contributors this year — the chance to win a 1995 Chevrolet Metro. The car will be given away during a drawing on Dec. 15, 1994. To be eligible for the drawing, a person needs to pledge to give at least $2 per week ($104 a year) to the United Way of Lancaster County's 1994 campaign.

"It makes you feel good. You're helping other people. You're helping your neighbor. It's the right thing to do," Legenstein said of the campaign.

Wakely noted that 90 percent of every dollar received goes to supporting the service agencies.

village ruins, a cemetery, abandoned strip mines and also learn basic low-impact camping techniques, map and compass skills.

Mick is an assistant scoutmaster in Lititz and an avid hiker. The other guide, Matt Campbell, achieved the highest possible rank in scouting — Eagle.

Time is running out to make reservations for the guided hike. To register, contact LSO by Sept. 9 or 10. A deposit is also required.

In addition to the guided weekend tour, LSO offers unescorted packages on a different section of the AT, starting 30 miles north of Lititz on Route 501. Transportation will be provided from one pre-determined point back to the parking area at the end of the weekend.

Cost of the unescorted adventures is $85 per couple and includes all the necessary equipment rentals: Plus, LSO staff will instruct hikers on the use of all equipment, explaining the safety and setup features.

This section of the AT is slightly more difficult than the Rausch Gap area, noted Deb.

This is the first year for the Trekkers Weekend Appalachian Trail Adventures at LSO. Fall is the prime time for hiking and trips will probably be scheduled for weekends through October, Deb said. Both Deb and Mick said they hope that the weekend AT adventures will introduce people to the wonders and joy of hiking — something the couple likes to take time to do whenever time permits. Their two sons (Christopher, age 13, and Timothy, age 11) are also avid hikers and Boy Scouts.

To find out more about the organized trips or to find books about the AT, stop by LSO, 49 N. Broad St., Lititz. They have a full selection of camping and scouting gear, books and music.

Women's show attracts diverse businesses

From a private school for young women to an eye surgeon, from a trendy styling salon to a financial counselor, the businesses who will be on hand to sell their goods and services at the first annual Central Pennsylvania Women's Show are many and diverse!

To be held September 16-17 and 18 at the Donecker's Expo Center/Ballroom, the Central Pennsylvania Women's Show is designed to provide businesses a unique opportunity to market their products directly to women consumers. Corporate sponsors of the Central Pennsylvania Women's Show are: CoreStates Hamilton Bank, Lancaster General Hospital, The Donecker's Community, WARM-103FM and Leoniak, Ltd.

"Dozens of booths will be set up trade show style," states Lititz resident Hugh Coffman, show producer. "Women will troll through the aisles browsing and interacting with the vendors." Coffman added, "this is a niche marketing event focusing on the importance of the female consumer."

Other kinds of businesses committed to participating in the Central Pennsylvania Women's Show include: retail clothiers, make-up consultants, a photographer, a drapery designer, and egg processor, a plastic surgeon, a heart surgeon, a vintage jewelry designer, gynecologists, accountants, investment brokers, a book store, an eye doctor and many more.

Throughout the three day event, seminars and presentations will also be offered in a separate stage area adjacent to the show floor.

Show hours are Friday, September 16, Noon - 8 p.m., Saturday, September 17, 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. and Sunday, September 18, 12-4 p.m. Admission will be charged. For more information on the Central Pennsylvania Women's Show, call the Coffman Communications Group at (717) 293-9196.

Hugh Coffman is a resident of Lititz at 214 Acorn Lane. Trade shows are not new to Coffman, who managed the State Farm Show for two years.

Fans flip for Phanatic

CONNIE BUCKWALTER

Record Express Staff

Just because the professional baseball players are on strike doesn't mean their mascots are. Last Thursday afternoon, the Phillie Phanatic caused quite a commotion when he made a special appearance at Bomberger's of Elm's store on Newport Road.

About 350 fans lined up outside the store shortly before the Phanatic's scheduled 5 p.m. arrival time. As the minute hand passed the five o'clock hour, several children were getting noticeably impatient and ran around the store to see if the Phanatic was hiding anywhere.

But the Phanatic is not one to shy away from people and he made his grand appearance riding atop a brightly decorated van, dancing and wiggling his furry green body — much to the delight of onlookers.

The Phanatic then had people frantically trying to get his picture as the children attempted to push through the crowd to get his autograph and a hug. He barely stood still for a minute, always clowning around with whoever he came across.

The Phanatic's appearance at Bomberger's was part of a special promotion by the store, which will be moving its entire operation except groceries to its new Lititz location on Furnace Hills Pike (Route 501) in late October.

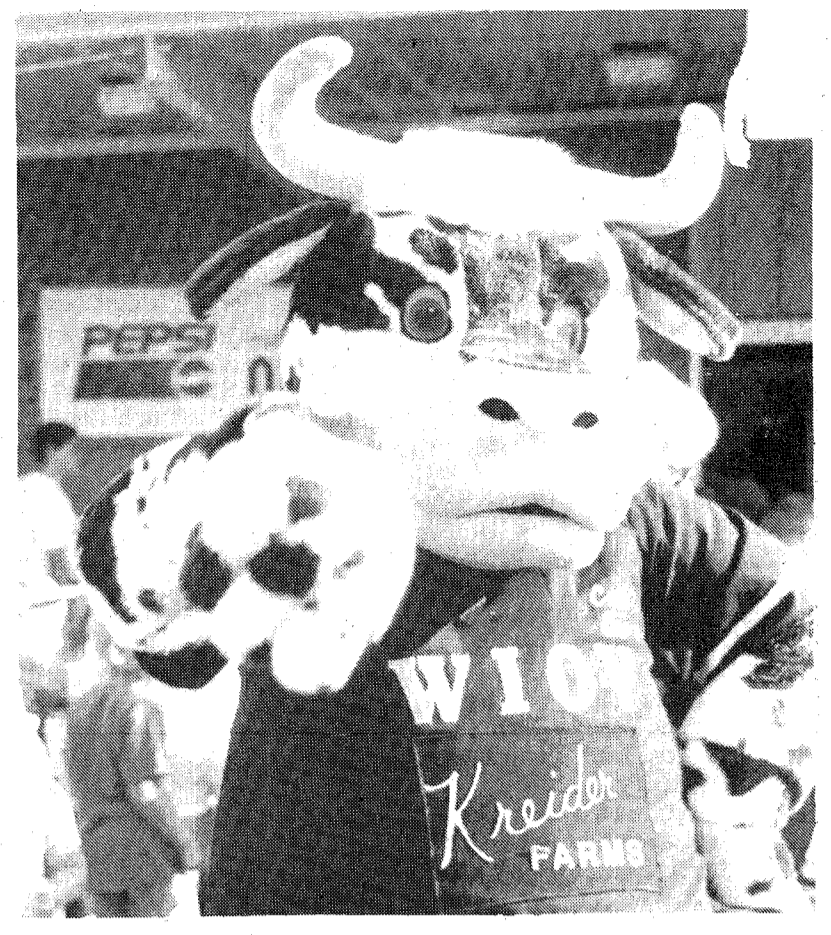

Henry Bomberger, one of the store owners, said that Bombergers will be holding special sales on certain items throughout September as they prepare to pack up their inventory for the move.

The grocery store, which will remain in Elm, is slated for renovations, he said.

In addition to the Phillie Phanatic appearance, WIOV country radio broadcast from the store and the hot dog wagon was set up outside offering super meal deals on french fries, hot dogs, sausages and soda. Hot dogs and cokes were selling fast at $.25 each.

Lititz resident Barbara Shenk displays the plaque she was awarded as one of the top five home economics teachers in a national contest.

Teacher excels in 1994 contest

CONNIE BUCKWALTER

Record Express Staff

Lititz resident Barbara Shenk takes her teaching seriously. As the supervisor of the home economics department at Hempfield High School, Shenk has shared her love of teaching with hundreds of students during her 27-year career there.

This summer, Shenk's teaching talents were recognized in the Home Baking Association's 4th Annual Search for America's Most Outstanding Home Economics Teachers. As one of the top five finalists, Shenk separated herself from the more than 200 home economics teachers from across the nation who entered the contest.

Grand prize was an all-expense paid trip for two to an exclusive mountain resort near Durango, Colo. for three days and two nights for the HBA annual meeting, $1,000 and a plaque.

Although Shenk didn't take top honors, she came close, noting that she was told she was second. Decimal points separated the finalists, she said. Although she admitted that she felt pretty confident that she would be among the initial top 40 finalists, she said she was honored to be in the select top five.

Carol W. Stevenson of Ashland, Virg., was the grand prize winner. The other finalists included Monica Harvey of Stapleton, Neb.; Elaine K. Beck of Havertown; and Rebecca Rhodes of Milan, Tenn.

Shenk said she prepared her entry for the contest in just two weeks and wasn't sure of what to expect from her first time in the contest. Stevenson, the champion, had been a finalist last year and probably knew how to prepare, Shenk said.

As part of the entry, Shenk sent in a folder with letters of recommendation, newspaper clippings of programs she helped to initiate and other relevant information about her teaching skills.

"I have good communication skills and I get along well with the students and I'm pretty good at writing," she said.

Robert L. Wildasin, assistant superintendent at Hempfield, wrote in his letter of recommendation that Shenk "shapes the values, attitudes and behavior of her students, her fellow home economics teachers both within and outside our school district and numerous family and community groups."

Shenk has been nominated for WGAL-TV8's Jefferson Awards and nominated one of this year's winners, Annie Smith. She also nominated fellow Lititz resident and Hempfield High School Principal Douglas Minnich for the Pennsylvania Home Economics Association Friend of Home Economics Award, which he won.

Throughout the school year, Shenk keeps busy by encouraging her students to reach out to the community as they learn new life management skills.

This past year, Shenk's students participated in Columbia Day Care and Meals on Wheels, Saint James Episcopal Church Homeless Breakfast program, Too Many Chef's Clubs prepared food for Oswego Village and Oak Hollow and did a healthy snack/junk food junkie lesson for National Nutrition Month.

Home economics courses may be electives, but Shenk said she sees them as being important because they can prepare students for future careers, teach them valuable life skills and develop interpersonal skills.

Over the years, Shenk said she has seen the face of home economics courses change — and the enrollment. Now more than ever, males are taking courses in culinary arts and other areas, she said.

Although this year's contest is over, Shenk has her sights set on next year, when she plans to enter again. She is also looking forward to the start of school and to moving into the new classroom space at Hempfield this fall.

When she is not teaching, Shenk still finds herself in the classroom — but this time as a student. She earned her bachelor's degree from Mansfield University, her master's in education from Penn State and is now enrolled in Penn State's doctoral program and is working on her principal's certificate. She received her director's certificate in vocational education.

Shenk said she relaxes by just looking out her windows of her Lititz home, which is surrounded by state gamelands. She said she enjoys bird watching and wildflowers.

Board names Bortz park supervisor

CONNIE BUCKWALTER

Record Express Staff

People far and wide comment on the beauty and cleanliness of the Lititz Springs Park. Harold Bortz is one of the people they have to thank.

As park maintenance supervisor, Bortz is responsible for coordinating the general upkeep of the park grounds. The park board of trustees officially appointed him to as supervisor several months ago, but Bortz has long been active with the park.

Bortz traces his interest in the park back to when the Lititz Moravian Church and the Park Board of Trustees entered into an agreement to provide for the management of the park. Over the years, he has served several terms as a congregational representative on the park board.

Currently, Curt Cassady works with Bortz to take care of the park. Bortz also noted that park board member Bob Herzer and Dennis Bortz help out considerably.

Bortz said their responsibilities include mowing the grass, cleaning and clearing the bandshell area by blowing it clear of leaves, removing trash, cleaning the bathrooms and taking care of plumbing and minor electrical work.

Bortz said the busiest times are during special events in the park like the Fourth of July Celebration, craft shows and art shows.

"Mostly in the big events we have the local scouts helping us out in clean-up," he said.

In the spring, the Lititz Area Jaycees help out big time when they host their Spring Clean Up Day, Bortz said. He said that event really helps prepare the park for the spring months after the winter.

Usually Bortz starts work early in the morning, when the park usage is slightly down so that he can mow grass without affecting people using the area.

Although most people who use the park are considerate, Bortz said it bothers him when people just toss their wrappers and trash anywhere.

At 80 years old, Bortz is at an age when many people are more interested in their retirement than in maintaining the beauty of a park.

"I've always worked all my life and I guess I'm one of those workaholics," he said with a shrug.

The Lititz Springs Park is open to the public seven days a week, from dusk to dawn.

Lititz Fire fighters offer relief out West

STEPHEN SEEBER

Record Express Staff

For many people, summer vacation means spending time at a splendid resort in the Caribbean where the toughest decision might be whether to get a tan on the deck or amid the rolling blue surf.

Unfortunately for many residents of western states, the raging infernos that engulf forests by the acre take no vacation.

Fortunately, through the Pennsylvania Bureau of Forestry/D.E.R. (Department of Environmental Resources), people like Lititz residents P.J. Whiskeyman and Tom Benjamin are willing to risk their lives to limit the damages that these unforgiving blazes can unleash.

Pennsylvania, like many other states, is contracted by the federal government to bring temporary relief to combusting western woodlands through the use of fire fighters.

Whiskeyman and Benjamin are two of these fire fighting mercenaries commissioned by the state organization and were flown out west to help contain the fires in Idaho and Utah early in August.

To be eligible for the program, Whiskeyman and Benjamin underwent an application process, followed by a step test and weekend training. Upon completion of training, the applicants wait for a phone call from the state.

Because they are contracted by the state as federal fire fighters, their call to duty could come at any time.

When Whiskeyman and Benjamin received their calls one early August afternoon they packed their gear, hopped on a plane and headed west — not exactly sure where they would be stationed.

The two week trip for the two members of the Lititz Fire Company No. 1 began August 5 in Utah with the "East Harker Complex," which is a series of fires. The second leg in the race to save the woods took place in the Cascades of Idaho with a destructive fire known as the "Thunderbolt."

This is Benjamin's fifth year in the program. A 1990 call to Oregon began his national fire fighting career.

The excursion was Whiskeyman's first trip and she was the only female participant from Pennsylvania. Being genderly outnumbered obviously did not present a problem on the trip as Whiskeyman said she felt, "very comfortable with the crew."

First stop, Utah:

Home for the next week was a tent city, or base camp, set up in a high school cafeteria — a two hour bus ride from the fire.

Base camp was primarily an area to eat and sleep. Not much else took place because recreation and relaxation were rare commodities. During one of these endangered moments Whiskeyman found some time to shoot hoops in the high school gym.

Camp was also an opportunity to meet with different crews from around the country. Benjamin and Whiskeyman were two of 40 people from Pennsylvania. In addition to the Keystonean representatives, there were crews from New Jersey, Maine and New Hampshire.

As the fire raged onward there was little time for socializing, and the crews were bussed to their designated work areas. A typical day of western fire fighting consisted of digging a containment perimeter for a 12-15 hour shift.

As they dug to the sounds of crackling embers and the smells of smoldering ash, Whiskeyman and Benjamin said they were bathed in periodic showers of slurry and water via planes and helicopters respectively.

Benjamin noted that the work day is not 12 hours of non-stop labor. "There's a lot of waiting involved," said Benjamin, which he attributes to the fact that it is a government run operation.

Second stop, Idaho:

Base camp was pitched in the woods to accommodate 300 people this time, and without the facilities of a high school cafeteria the food was less than delicious, Benjamin said.

The bus trip to the fire was only 30 minutes this time. The "Thunderbolt" in Idaho was a tough job, Whiskeyman said, because they were dealing with extremely dry and humid weather.

Upon their arrival, 600 acres had been consumed, and as Benjamin and Whiskeyman boarded the plane for home one week later, 3,000 acres had been lost. The 25 percent containment achieved in Idaho was due to a cooperating wind, Benjamin said.

Both fire fighters agreed that the trip to Idaho was not as effective as they had hoped.

As members of the Lititz Fire Co., both Whiskeyman and Benjamin noted that fighting forest fires is entirely different from any other kind of fire fighting.

"This is different from conventional fire fighting," noted Whiskeyman. She said that the key to forest fire fighting is containment.

"Every fire is different," Benjamin added. Some are stubborn and frustrating, like the "Thunderbolt," while others are more cooperative, he said. One thing is for sure, the two said they felt that the entire voyage was an adventure.

"We had a good crew and an effective crew boss," Whiskeyman said. Meeting people from different walks of life and fighting fires far from home is an adventure that both Whiskeyman and Benjamin said they were proud to take part in, and both are looking forward to the next phone call.

Benjamin is already scheduled to head west sometime this week, and Whiskeyman hopes to make the trek again someday. Meanwhile, they will both continue to save lives by helping to fight fires in the Lititz area.

Aunt Tollie's store features area crafts

STEPHEN SEEBER

Record Express Staff

There is something special about a crisp autumn afternoon of exploring local country shops, and Lititz craft lovers are certainly no strangers to the array of high quality handicrafts that characterize the borough.

Just six weeks ago, Lititz's newest member of the crafting society arrived with plans to offer a slew of unique and exciting items to local connoisseurs.

Aunt Tollie's Country Store, 23 N. Broad St., has set up shop behind Glassmyers along North Lane, and is now open for business Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Formerly named "Something Special" for four years in Bird-In-Hand, Aunt Tollie's is an experienced craft dealer and is happy to call Lititz its new home.

Colleen Mosser, the store's manager, said that she is looking forward to building a rapport with area residents.

"We were in Bird-In-Hand for four years," said Mosser, "which has a high density of tourists, and we really didn't get to know anyone on a personal basis."

Mosser decided to leave the hectic Bird-In-Hand scene after she became a grandmother two years ago, bringing her cohort, Ruth Knier in sales along to help out. The shop in Lititz is a much smaller and relaxed operation — exactly what Aunt Tollie's Country Store is all about.

"Almost everything is handmade locally," said Mosser, "We don't deal with any large companies, only individual crafters."

Aunt Tollie's features ceramics by an Akron woman, an Amish man from Leola hand carves toy trains, calendars and clocks come from Chambersburg. Mosser's cousin makes shelving and a girl from Rothsville creates Christmas angels and sunflower hats.

If country preserves hit your sweet tooth, then Aunt Tollie's collection of John Dochter jellies are worth a try. Sweet tomato butter, dandelion jelly and apple raisin chutney are just a few of these palate pleasers from Brownstown.

In addition, the store proudly displays painted tin punches and Wick-enheiser chimes, both which are made locally and are not commonly found in craft shops, according to Mosser.

Aunt Tollie's has an impressive selection of local work and they aim to promote them at an affordable price. "We want to keep our prices reasonable," said Mosser.

Mosser also made it clear that they are not here to compete with Lititz's established craft shops. Instead Aunt Ruth Knier straightens up the front porch at Aunt Tollie's Country Store.

Tollie's "tries to sell items that other merchants don't have," and if they don't have it, they refer the customer to someone that does.

"We want to be part of the community, not a competitor," she said.

Thursday thru Saturday, Sept. 22 to 24, Aunt Tollie's will have an open house and will be running discounts on many items. Open house hours will be Thursday and Friday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Local Scout Leaders
Welcome New Boys

The Lancaster-Lebanon Council, Boy Scouts of America, cordially invites you to join in the great adventure of scouting. There are more than 300 groups in our area. From a boy's perspective, Cub Scouting is fun! From a parent's perspective, Cub Scouting helps strengthen the family bond. The whole family can get involved in special projects and activities that give a boy a sense of personal worth and instill values in him that will prepare him to make ethical choices throughout his life and achieve his full potential as an adult.

Leaders of Brunnerville Cub Scout Pack 156 are prepared to accept new members at School Night for Scouting, the annual fall recruiting drive of the Boy Scouts of America, scheduled for Sept. 13, at John Beck Elementary, starting at 7 p.m. Boys starting in first grade (but not pre-first) will be in Tiger Cubs, B.S.A. in second and third grades will be in Cub Scouts and those in fourth and fifth grades will be Webelos. Boys interested in joining Boy Scouts (for ages 11-17) should contact area Scoutmasters to find out how to join a troop or call the Boy Scout Support Center at 394-4063 weekdays between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Fliers containing details on each of these Scouting programs and how to join them are being distributed through public schools in the Warwick School District. Boys attending private schools who live in the Brunnerville area are welcome to attend the School Night programs also. If someone wants to join Pack 156 but cannot attend School Night, they may call Barry Todd at 626-1314 to make other arrangements.

John Beck School

School opened on Wednesday, Sept. 7. The children who live in Brunnerville walk to school every morning. As you are probably aware, there are no sidewalks as they make their way up Pine Hill Road across Brunnerville Road and up Lexington Road to the school. Children walking down Lexington Road toward the school do not have the protection of sidewalks. Please exercise extreme caution and drive slowly and carefully as you drive in the school zone as students make their way back to classes. We are very fortunate to have two diligent, loyal School Crossing Guards to help our children across Brunnerville Road and Lexington Road. It is your responsibility to heed the traffic directions that they issue, even if it means slowing down and stopping briefly. Both Nellie Conlin and Evelyn Hackman do an excellent job of seeing to the safety of the children. Please be courteous and friendly to them as they do their important job.

Preserve your memories forever

Creativity and friendliness characterize the atmosphere found in Tracee's Framery. Owner Tracee Kulp-Myer and her assistant Stephanie Adair bring 15 years of combined framing experience to the cozy shop located in the balcony within the Bomberger's of Elm store on Newport Road.

The duo is committed to preserving everything from a person's most treasured memories to a poster or jigsaw puzzle.

And don't worry about whether or not something can be framed because these two have done it all — from christening gowns to dog collars to school medals — there is almost nothing they cannot frame.

"You name it, we can frame it," Tracee said. Much of Tracee's business is traditional cross stitch and picture framing, but she noted that more and more people are moving away from 2-dimensional art and including framing family heirlooms like antique photographs, hand-knitted doilies and other attic treasures.

"Once something is framed, you can enjoy it on the wall," Stephanie said.

"The things that we frame are going to last forever," Tracee added. Stephanie is well-versed in the art of framing, as she has earned the designation of certified picture framer, ensuring customers that their belongings are in the best of hands.

During the month of October, Tracee's Framery will be running a 10 percent off coupon special and showcasing some of their 3-dimensional work to give customers ideas for the perfect personal holiday gift.

With more than 1,000 mouldings to select from, Tracee carries metals and woods in all styles and sizes ranging from an eye-catching rainbow of colors to gold leaf Victorians and florals. To complement the frames nicely, mat boards come in a wide range of colors and styles — including multi-opening mats. And, most jobs are completed within two-three weeks of the customer's initial visit.

As the holidays draw closer and closer, Tracee's becomes deluged with framing orders so her advice is to act now to beat the Christmas rush.

Tracee's Framery is open Monday through Wednesday, 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.; Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. until 8 p.m. and from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Saturday. The phone number is 665-6657.

Personal

The Labor Day weekend found James Shreiner and his wife, Kathryn, and Raymond and Verna Shreiner enjoying the northern tier mountains of Pennsylvania in Potter County. Fall is showing a hint of color in the trees with a promise of a brilliant display of fall foliage in the next few weeks. Walking, talking, playing and hiking are always an enjoyment as we meet and greet friends. It was once again a pleasure to talk to Helen Erway who writes a news column for the Potter County Enterprise. In her news column, she keeps her dedicated readers up to date on the happenings in her area and other areas of interest to the many people from Lancaster County who visit her beloved mountains.

Nursery announces toddler programs

Salem P.R.E.P. Nursery School, 140 North Penn Street, Manheim, offers two unique toddler programs beginning Monday, September 19.

Gymtot is a half hour program offered Mondays from 9:15 to 9:45 a.m. for toddlers 18-24 months. The program has the children participating with a parent in a wide variety of large movement activities including rhythm instruments, parachute fun, and an obstacle course.

Mommy and Me is an hour program offered Mondays from 10:15 to 11:15 a.m. for toddlers two years of age. Children participate with a parent in a variety of activities including art, music, books, play, and movement.

Both programs offer a special time for a parent, grandparent, or caregiver and tot to play together and enjoy each other. An added benefit to the program is that the adults meet other adults who are parenting toddlers. Both classes provide an opportunity for adults to share parenting experiences and frustrations of toddler development.

The teacher of the toddler programs has a B.S. degree in Early Childhood Education and three years' experience working with toddlers.

Joyner-Kersey delivers motivational message at MU September 10

Jackie Joyner-Kersey, often hailed as "the world's greatest female athlete," will open the Millersville University 1994-95 series of cultural programs on Saturday, September 10.

A continuing dominant power in the track and field arena, Olympic medalist Joyner-Kersey will deliver a motivational speech when she visits Millersville. Her presentation, slated for Millersville's Lyte Auditorium, will begin at 8 p.m.

She currently owns the top five marks of all time in the U.S. Women's long jump competition, and has not lost a completed heptathlon since the Olympics in 1984 when she brought home the Silver Medal. And, most recently, she won her third straight heptathlon title at the Goodwill Games in Russia.

In 1992 at Barcelona, Spain, she received the Olympic gold medal after winning the heptathlon with 7,044 points. In 1988 at Seoul, Jackie shattered her own world record in the heptathlon to win the gold medal; at the time of that competition, she was suffering serious pain from a strained knee tendon injury. But being the consummate athlete she is, she again made history: Joyner-Kersey was the first athlete in 64 years — male or female — to win both a multi-event and an individual event in the same Olympics.

Humble, hard working and naturally talented, Jackie states, "In order to make your dreams a reality, you must work hard, believe in yourself and believe in God. Nothing is going to come too easy — appreciate your struggles and then you'll go on to achieve higher heights."

Since 1985, she has "racked up" over 18 records in various events, and 24 recognition awards, including the prestigious Sporting News Athlete of the Year Award (the first time a woman was so honored). Additionally, she is a two-time winner of the Jessie Owens Memorial Award from the Athletics Congress — the first time in history an athlete was given this award consecutively.

Aside from sports, Jackie gives 100 percent to another love of hers: philanthropy. She created the Jackie Joyner-Kersey Community Foundation to support the development of leadership programs in urban areas across the United States.

Tickets, if available, are $10 and will go on sale September 7 at Millersville's Student Memorial Center banking area. Hours are 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. Call (717) 872-3510 for more information.

St. Joseph's joins in spirit of Walktoberfest

St. Joseph Hospital has joined the ranks with local companies and national corporations to sponsor Lancaster County's second annual Walktoberfest, Sunday, Oct. 2, at 10 a.m. in Lancaster County Central Park.

The eight-mile walk-a-thon is expected to raise more than $20,000 for diabetes research.

"We recognize the impact of diabetes-related health problems," says Lori Barr, RN, CDE, coordinator of diabetes management services at St. Joseph and chairperson of Lancaster County's Walktoberfest. "The hospital's decision to help sponsor this event reflects our commitment to the community and the American Diabetes Association. Through Walktoberfest, we hope to call attention to both the seriousness of the disease and the need for medical research that finds a cure."

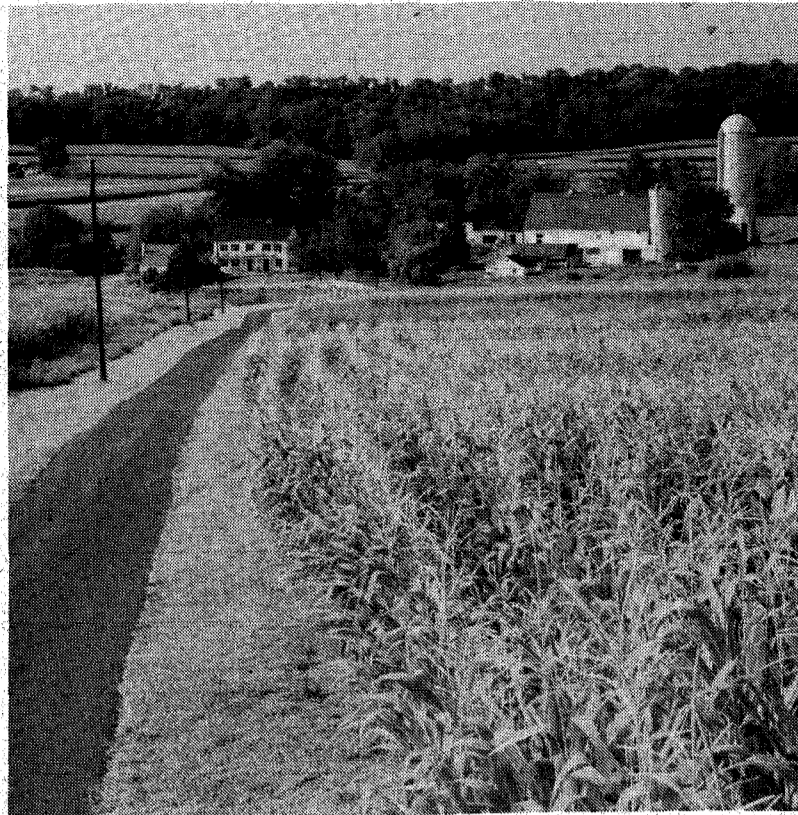

According to the Lancaster Chapter of the American Diabetes Association, an estimated 20,000 Lancaster Countians have diabetes; nationwide diabetes patients total nearly 14 million. Diabetes is a disease that affects the body's ability to produce or respond properly to insulin, a hormone that allows blood glucose to enter the cells of the body to be used for energy. It can cause serious health complications including blindness, kidney disease, heart disease, stroke and nerve damage leading to amputation of the legs and feet. Diabetes is the fourth leading cause of death by disease in the U.S. Currently there is no cure.

The American Diabetes Association is the nation's leading non-profit health organization supporting diabetes research, advocacy and information for patients, health professionals and the public. The American Diabetes Association is dedicated to finding the keys that will prevent and cure diabetes. More than $90 million has been invested

Recipe Exchange

The dog days of summer will soon turn to cool, crisp days of autumn. If cool is on your mind now, try ice cream. New homemade recipes have already been tried, tasted and judged recently at Penn State's Ag Progress Days.

Nothing quite tastes as good as homemade ice cream. Maybe it's the twenty minutes of churning or the mixing of ingredients, but the result will prove to be rewarding.

The Churn-off Contest requires entrants to create a special recipe for ice cream or frozen custard using real dairy products. Each contestant prepares their entry using special flavors and techniques in churning. After several testings, the final recipe is submitted and judged by ice cream experts and eaters alike.

Freezing Tips

Generally, a consistent churning process combined with a well packed freezer creates the best ice cream. Using the recommended freezer size and churning evenly, the freezer should be packed with layers of ice and rock salt. Inconsistent use of rock salt can cause variations in freezing of ice cream.

If a recipe calls for cooked mixtures, allow several hours or overnight to chill. If adding fruits, nuts or other solids, use small pieces to avoid clogging the dasher blades. Sweeten fruits before adding to the mixture to keep them from freezing hard. Pureed fruit allows for better distribution. Sugar and candy lower the freezing point, you'll need a higher proportion of salt to ice cream.

Ice cream will keep in the freezer about two weeks and longer if the recipe includes eggs. Store in a tightly covered container. Don't refreeze ice cream if it becomes soft. It will become lumpy and unpalatable.

Three recipes in the contest were selected as winners, with each receiving $300, $150 and $100 respectively. The following are the three winning recipes in the Ag Progress Day's contest. A complete brochure featuring all of the recipes is available by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to "Ice Cream... Churn-off Contest Ag Progress Days 1994," the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, 2301 North Cameron Street, Harrisburg, PA 17110-9408.

FIRST PLACE "Orange Pineapple"

Elsie Smith, Roaring Spring
Ice Cream Mix
3 cups sugar
6 pasteurized processed eggs
4 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 tsp salt
4 cups milk
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 cups whipping cream
2 cups light cream
1 can evaporated milk
1 tablespoon vanilla extract

Orange-Pineapple Mix

1 can orange juice concentrate thawed
1 cup maraschino cherries
2 tsp cornstarch
1/4 cup sugar
1 tsp orange extract
4 tsp light cream
1 20 oz. can crushed pineapple

Mix cornstarch and sugar in water to dissolve. Stir mixture into heated orange juice concentrate and bring to a rolling boil. Add orange extract and light cream. Add a few drops of orange food coloring for extra color. In blender, blend crushed pineapple and maraschino cherries and add to mixture.

In a heavy saucepan, heat milk until it scalds. Mix sugar, eggs, cornstarch and salt and stir into milk. Cook until it forms a soft custard. Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup of cold milk and stir into custard. Let cool.

THIRD PLACE "Raspberry Fudge Ripple"

Mr. & Mrs. Bill Neese, Penn Run
Ice Cream Mix
4 cups fresh raspberries
3 cups sugar
1/4 tsp salt
2 cups milk
1 small package instant vanilla pudding
1 1/4 pints half-and-half
1 cup light cream
1 cup Hershey double chocolate fudge topping

Press berries through sieve, add sugar and salt, set aside. Mix pudding and milk. Combine berries, pudding mix and cream. Freeze until firm. Add fudge topping and turn freezer 12 cranks to mix fudge into contents. Makes 4 quarts.

School's Open!

It's back-to-school time and those bright yellow school buses are once again on the roadways. In the interest of safety, we want to inform both motorists and school children on safety tips that could save a life. Please remember the following:

PARENTS

- ✓ Flashing amber lights are a pre-warning that a bus is preparing to stop. You also must prepare to stop. It's the law.
- ✓ Flashing red lights and/or extended stop arms mean that the bus is stopped to either load or unload school children. You must stop.
- ✓ There is only one situation in which a motorist approaching a school bus displaying flashing red lights may pass. A motorist may pass a school bus when approaching the bus from the front on the opposite side of the road if the road is divided by a physical barrier such as a fence, median strip or railing.
- ✓ Motorists approaching from behind the school bus must stop.
- ✓ You must stop at least 10 feet from the school bus when the red lights are flashing.
- ✓ You may proceed after the red lights stop flashing. Do not proceed until the children have reached a safe place.
- ✓ If you fail to stop for a school bus, you will:
 1. Get an automatic 60 day suspension of your driver's license.
 2. Accumulate 5 points on your driving record.
 3. Pay a $100 fine.
- ✓ Remember, state law also requires buses to stop at railroad crossings. Please be patient.
- ✓ Be sure to dress your child properly for inclement weather. The bus could be late and your child may have to wait longer than normal.
- ✓ If it is dark and rainy, dress your child in bright clothes so that he or she is easily seen.
