Roberts reigns at rain-soaked Rothsville fest

RICHARD REITZ

Record Express Editor

Folks in Rothsville didn't let a little thing like a downpour stop the fun at their 39th annual Halloween Parade last Friday.

Although it "rained on their parade" as the marchers were leaving their journey from Old Rothsville Road to the Rothsville Fire Station, the festivities continued, mostly under the shelter of the fire station.

The costumed marchers and floats braved the chilly rains and eventually made it to the fire station, drenched but smiling.

Hundreds line streets during Lititz Parade

RICHARD REITZ

It was the perfect night for a parade, and the community took full advantage of Monday's crisp, clear autumn weather to cheer the costumed marchers in downtown Lititz.

Hundreds lined the streets as the marchers made their way through town, hoping that their costume or float caught the attention of the judges and earned them a prize.

With a large number of creative entries this year, that was no easy task for judges Marsha Campbell, Ruby Trimble and Ariene Bartle.

But it was hard to argue with their grand prize choice, as The Owl Hill Learning Center dazzled the audience with their re-creation of the land of Oz, complete with Dorothy, the Tin Man, Lion and Scarecrow, and even an appearance by the Lollipop Guild.

Winners in the float division, from first to fourth place, were: The Children's Corner, Lititz Cub Scout Pack 44 — Den 3, Ye Olde Toy Shoppe, and St. Paul Nursery School. Consolation prize went to the Troop 288 and 1411.

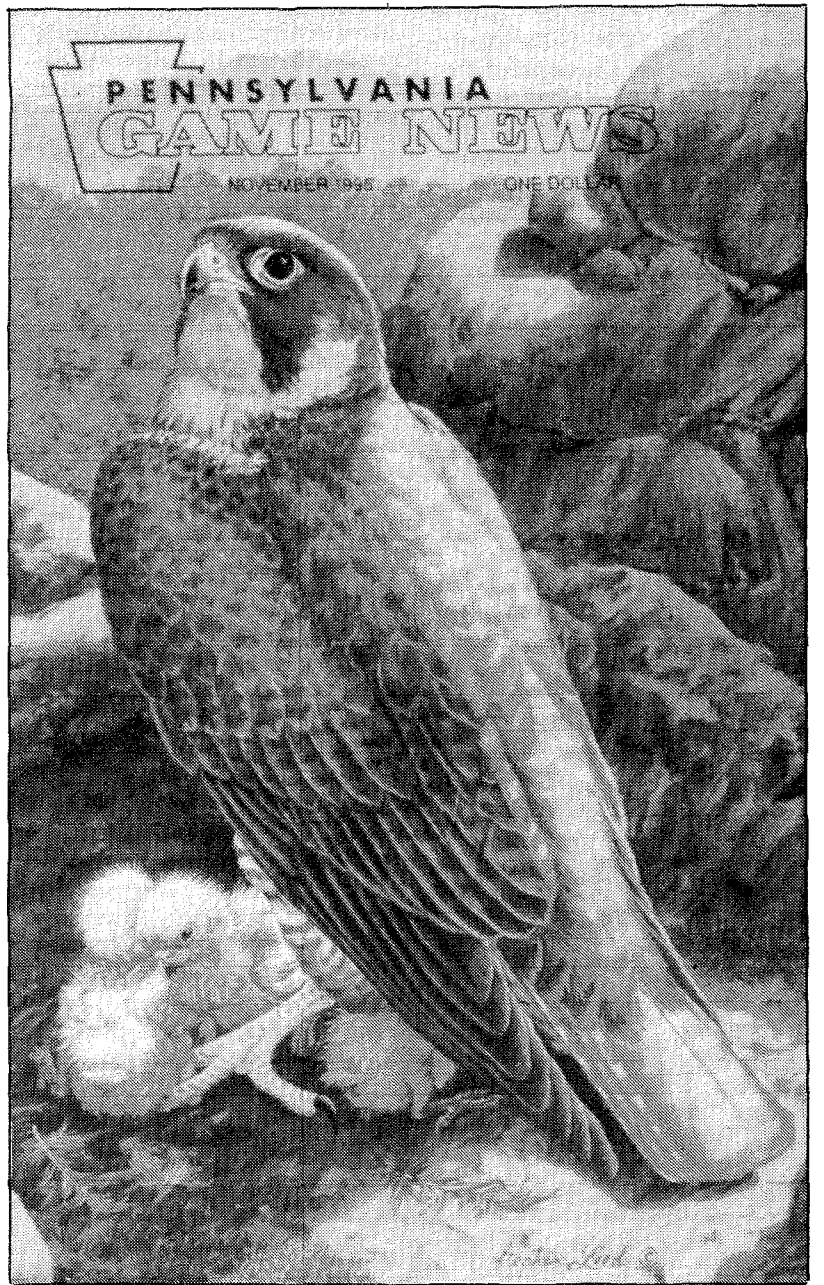

In the children's division the winners were, listed from first to third place, were:

- Best Artistic Individual — Katelyn Pilon, Elizabeth Riden, Megan Senecal;

- Best Artistic Couple — Everett and Ahnastasia Albert, Landon Nuss and Morgan Eshleman, Erica Hendrickson;

- Most Comical Individual — Dylan Stauffer, Kala Hugues, Adam Graffius;

The November 1995 cover of Pennsylvania Game News features peregrine falcons painted by Lititz wildlife artist Stephen Leed.

Leed swoops in for 2nd wildlife win

STEPHEN SEEBER

Record Express Staff

When does art imitate life? Lititz wildlife artist Stephen Leed has been bringing familiar Pennsylvania animals to life on canvas since 1977, but his most recent accomplishment goes beyond the brush and easel — it will help pay for the restocking of native wildlife throughout the state.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission announced Oct. 4 that Leed's painting of peregrine falcons took first place in the prestigious "Working Together For Wildlife" competition. The peregrine print is featured on the cover of Pennsylvania Game News' November edition. The monthly Game Commission publication was released this week, and proceeds from the prints will be used to bring back local animals that once flourished in Pennsylvania forests.

"I never really expect to win," Leed said. "I've noticed that if you build yourself up too much you're in for a let down."

This is the second time Leed, 225 N. Cedar St., won the cover competition, which was initiated by the Commission in the mid 1980s, shortly after the death of legendary Pennsylvania wildlife artist and Game News editor Ned Smith. Leed won the contest in 1993 with his frosty flight depiction, "Winter Birds," placing him in a unique category with York artist Bob Sopchick as the one of two painters to win the contest more than once. Sopchick has won on three occasions.

"I was real pleased when the phone rang so soon after the judging," Leed said of his peregrine success. "That's definitely a good sign."

This year's peregrine theme drew more than 40 paintings for some tough competition.

"We're competitive, but artists are pretty sportsmanlike people," Leed quickly pointed out.

Commissioners highlight Tuesday's vote

On Tuesday, voters across the country will take to the polls, and although many contests locally may seem cut-and-dry, there are enough contested elections to make a trip to the booth worthwhile.

One of the most important choices Pennsylvanians will make involves a referendum vote that would amend the state constitution concerning the right of someone accused of a crime to meet their accuser face-to-face in a court.

The statewide question reads: "Shall the Pennsylvania Constitution be amended to provide (1) that a person accused of a crime has the right to be 'confronted with the witnesses against him,' instead of the right to 'meet the witnesses face to face,' and

(2) that the General Assembly may enact laws regarding the manner by which children may testify in criminal proceedings, including the use of video-taped depositions or testimony by closed-circuit television?"

Countywide Races

The county-wide race for commissioner is the most visible contest locally, with five candidates vying for three seats on the board.

The candidates are: Ron Ford, John Bucher Herr, Terry Kauffman, Lilia Nice and Paul Thibault. Voters must pick two candidates.

•Ford, 55, 285 Landis Drive, Lancaster, is a Democrat and a retired Ford New Holland employee in the personnel department.

Fry's Pontiac polls moved to Linden Hall

Voters in Lititz who are used to casting their ballots at Fry's Pontiac should take note that their polling place has been moved.

Residents in the first ward, second precinct of Lititz must now vote at Linden Hall, 212 E. Main St., in the recreation room. Use the side door to enter the polling area.

All other locations have remained the same as in previous elections.

Residents and teens at odds

Congregating teenagers and concerned residents led to a Monday night standoff on West Orange Street.

Nine angry residents of that area took their case to Lititz Borough Council's Tuesday meeting with the intention of shutting down the Power Connection Youth Center — what they believe to be the source of the problem.

Power Connection Director Paul Castellitto, who did not attend the Council meeting, said Monday night's confrontation between teens and adults was a serious problem that got worse when residents, upset with (See Teens, Page 17)

Auto Auction poses questions

JILL IVEY

Record Express Staff

A proposed expansion by the Manheim Auto Auction has forced Penn Township officials to examine their zoning definitions.

According to Melvin Hess, a lawyer representing the Auto Auction, the auction would like to acquire the Risser Farm, located south of Auction Road on the west side of Route 72; and also the Cassell property, which adjoins the current auction site.

"The auction would like to acquire the properties to help their central operations and to help eliminate some of the satellite parking areas around the township," Hess said at Monday's hearing before the township supervisors.

Vote to protect children

When Pennsylvania voters head to the polls next Tuesday, they will be asked to make a decision on more than who their elected officials should be.

A proposed constitutional amendment permitting the use of electronic testimony in a court of law is on the ballot, and we will be asked to vote yes or no on the measure.

We feel the vote should be yes.

Opponents of the measure feel it is a violation of a person's right to meet their accuser face-to-face, and because children can sometimes tell tall tales. Proponents say in cases dealing with children, there may be an intimidation factor that may prevent them from telling the truth—or from talking at all.

The television-to-courtroom option would only be used in rare cases where the judge determines a child will be unable to testify otherwise.

Far too many criminals are set free because a child who is a witness or a victim is too scared to testify. It might still not be a perfect system, but it will definitely be an improvement.

Make sure on Nov. 7 you exercise your right to vote. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

And for the children's sake, vote yes on the constitutional referendum.

State offers tax amnesty for delinquent taxpayers

Will Rogers once said that income taxes make more liars out of more Americans than golf. Luckily, the cowboy philosopher of America had a knack for finding something humorous about just about everything. But for most of us, there's nothing very funny about paying taxes.

Very few citizens actually like to pay them. But as citizens of a great democratic society, most of us understand our responsibility and duty under the law. Every taxpayer has the right to expect that their hard-earned dollars are spent wisely and effectively, and that all citizens pay their fair share.

Last spring, the General Assembly passed the Pennsylvania Tax Amnesty Program to help achieve that goal. On Friday, Oct. 13, the tax amnesty program was initiated. For the next 90 days, people who are delinquent in their taxes have a second chance—perhaps their last chance—to pay their taxes without penalty or fear of prosecution.

The program is an innovative approach to collecting delinquent taxes here in Pennsylvania. We know from the experience of the 34 other states who have implemented a tax amnesty program that it benefits everyone.

Tax delinquents can get back on track, clear their conscience and clear up their debt. For hard-working Pennsylvanians who pay their taxes, they will know that, at last, they won't be picking up the tab for tax delinquents who don't.

Pennsylvania also wins by saving hundreds of thousands of tax dollars it now expends in the administrative and legal fees it takes to track down violators. Equally important, the tax amnesty program is projected to bring in over $100 million to help support the state's general fund, a fund which supports many state services.

The tax amnesty program can work for all of us. It is open to anyone who has not filed a tax return, paid a tax or has underreported a tax before Dec. 31, 1993. Eighteen different state taxes are eligible including personal and corporate income taxes, as well as the sales and use tax.

Now, the 90-day clock is running. The program ends on Jan. 10, 1996. Anyone who does not take advantage of the tax amnesty program will have to take their chances. The Department of Revenue will enforce greater penalties and begin a vigorous pursuit of delinquent tax payers after Jan. 10.

Thanks to a new computer processing system being implemented by the Department of Revenue, the chances are that most tax delinquents will be identified. These individuals will then pay not only the taxes, interest and penalties they would normally have owed, but an additional fifteen percent penalty.

If you've got tax problems hanging over your head, take this second chance to set things right. It could be your last chance.

Note: Tax amnesty forms and assistance are available through the Department of Revenue, which is directing the program, and through its 23 district offices across the state.

Plus, for the first time, the Revenue Department has information and forms on the Internet. The homepage address is: <http://www.epix.net/homepage/parev>. Also, information is available 24-hours a day by calling 1-800-2AMNESTY.

Lions thank community for supporting parade

Editor, Lititz Record:

On behalf of the Lititz Lions Club, I would like to thank the people of the Lititz community for their support of our annual Halloween parade.

Special thanks also goes out to the police department, fire department, fire-police, public works, community band, Warwick High School Marching Band, middle school band, Staffers of Kissel Hill, Tait Towers, Clair Bros., the Halloween court, the judges, the marchers, the Lionesses, our own Lions and last, but not least, the watchers—the people with the cheers and applause.

It takes a lot of people to put together an event such as this, as you can see from the thank you list above, but most of all it takes spirit—Lititz spirit—and for that we thank you all.

¿Hay alguien aquí que hable español?

"Uh, yo no, uh, donde esta, der friend-o?"

In 1989 I spent a month in Spain, and despite having little knowledge of the language—other than one miserable year of Spanish I in high school—I was secure in entering a country where they speak non-English.

Why? Because I was with several friends who were living there and had a firm grasp of the language. If I needed anything, they were there to translate for me. I had an Espanol crutch.

But when you are in a foreign language-speaking country that long, you are sooner or later bound to have a without-a-net experience—that dreaded conversation with someone who speaks as much English as you do Spanish.

Mine came at the less-than-fashionable hotel where I was staying, wondering where my friends were, and if the hotel clerk could help me.

He couldn't. Probably even if he knew what I was babbling about as I paged through my Spanish-English dictionary, he couldn't help.

About the only time I felt confident in my grasp of Spanish was a simple phrase I used and memorized to ensure that, even if totally abandoned, I could still survive: "Mas pan y mas agua, por favor."

Translation: "More bread and water please." Another phrase I nailed down quickly: "No hablo espanol." Everyone knows that one.

Most of the totally helpless moments in my life that didn't occur in the first few years of my life involve a foreign language in one way or another. How I got through that Spanish class with a passing grade amazes me almost as much as the passing grade I got in college Spanish after I decided to try again, inspired by my 28-days in Spain.

For the Record

Richard
Reitz

As good as I have always been in my English classes is about as bad as I have been in attempts at foreign languages. I could never understand completely why, although many people say that you need to start a new language when you are really young.

I guess by the time of my exposure to foreign language in eighth grade, my time had passed. Write me off as another ugly American traveling abroad who didn't bother to learn the language.

Say what you will about state-required outcomes based education, one aspect that can't be criticized is its requirement that students have a basic competency in one foreign language.

Does that mean I would still be in high school fighting to nail down some basic phrases in Spanish? Probably not.

First of all, the schools are looking to expand foreign language education to the elementary level, giving them that needed exposure at a younger age. Had I had that background, I might have grasped the language more easily.

Also, foreign languages were not required to graduate, so when I realized I was not progressing well, hey, I just did what I needed to get by and didn't take a language the following year. Now I wouldn't have that luxury.

In addition to studying the language, students will also be exposed to the cultural aspects of the countries where the language is spoken, giving them a more well-rounded knowledge of the people and places who live the language.

The world is shrinking as technology continues to progress, and knowing more than one language is becoming more of a necessity in the marketplace. A student with a solid business education is even more valuable to prospective companies if he also can communicate in Spanish, French, or even Japanese.

Even locally, a second language can be helpful, especially considering the large Spanish-speaking population right here in Lancaster.

What the exact requirements will be in the Warwick School District remains to be determined as the 37-member Strategic Planning Committee continues to evaluate the educational goals of the district.

Hopefully, one thing will emerge: Students will leave Warwick with a language background that will do more than make sure they don't go hungry in a foreign country. It could even enable them to open their own restaurant there so that others who are hungry are fed as well.

For The Record appears weekly in The Lititz Record Express, and is written on alternating weeks by Richard Reitz, editor, and Stephen Seiber, staff writer. In case you were wondering, the headline translated is: "Is there anyone here who speaks Spanish?"

Pornography Awareness is about victim advocacy

Editor, Lititz Record:

It is again National Pornography Awareness week. Proclamations have been signed, ribbons have been distributed and a stand has again been taken. But many ask, "is the fight worth it and are you winning the battle?"

First of all let me say that the fight against obscenity is a winnable war. But my involvement is more about victim advocacy than it is about winning and losing. You see, pornography is an enslaving addiction that victimizes both the abused and exploited as well as the perpetrators.

Those who engage in the multi-billion dollar a year business of pornography are only into greed, self-gratification and personal gain. They care nothing about the lives they ruin and families they destroy along the way. This isn't a free speech issue, but is a community and human rights issue that says we choose decency over indecency and we care about a safe and healthy community environment for the welfare of all our citizenry.

Some have called this a "victimless crime." But they're wrong. As a counselor, I have seen the pollution of body, soul and mind produced by pornography. I have also witnessed the destruction, disease and death that has resulted from its use.

Therefore, to all the helpers and hard workers who helped in this year's White Ribbons Against Pornography campaign, I say thank you. And to all members of the Lititz/Warwick Community I say keep looking for us each year at this time. We'll be around continuing this advocacy work because we care and count for decency.

Soccer is still for fun

Editor, Lititz Record:

The season is over for our intermural soccer program. Local parents and family members of the U-8 girls program ended their season on this past Saturday. An issue needs to be addressed, derogatory comments made by parents at this level is a blatant show of misconduct. Believe it or not parents, even if a team does not win their game at 7-years-old, I would bet you they still had fun playing. That's the way it is supposed to be.

Our Lititz soccer program does an excellent job at teaching referees, offering clinics for coaches, and handing out conduct sheets for every parent to read. I don't believe anywhere on the conduct sheet does it say "In her face," "She's the one" or "Blatant pushing" are positive statements our children or other parents and family members need to hear.

As far as when these comments were made, the parents of the children who were playing were winning and went on to win the game. I wonder had their children not have been winning or won what kind of comments we would have heard. I can count on one hand the number of parents that were shouting these statements at a game this past Saturday, I am thankful we only had a few.

Because believe it or not the comments you few parents made were made to other people's children and grandchildren and sisters and so on. The ironic thing about this situation is maybe someday we'll all be on the same team or they'll be in the same class at school.

Let's keep it fun, positive and enjoyable.

Gekas commended for work on Endangered Species Act

Editor, Lititz Record:

Our coalition applauds Congressman George Gekas for cosponsoring H.R. 2275, the Endangered Species Conservation and Management Act. By cosponsoring this legislation, Congressman Gekas has shown his dedication to bringing common sense back to the Endangered Species Act.

The Endangered Species Act is one of the most significant, powerful and well intentioned pieces of environmental legislation ever enacted, anywhere in the world. There are, however, major problems with the Act that must be addressed. H.R. 2275 faces these problems head on and not only guarantees that endangered species will be protected, but that the rights of America's citizens will be safeguarded as well.

Right now, the private citizens that own land that is habitat to protected species are afraid of what the law will do to them and their ability to use their property. In fact, Assistant Secretary for the Interior George Frampton has gone so far as to say, "From a private landowner's point of view, the Endangered Species Act is like a nuclear weapon."

Congressman Gekas, as well as each of the bill's 120 cosponsors, has pledged to make the Act work better for people and nature. Despite the accusations that have been levelled by the environmental community, H.R. 2275 will not "gut" the Endangered Species Act. On the contrary, it gives people reasons to want to protect species on their property and at the same time safeguards the private property rights of all Americans.

Once again, on behalf of the nearly 10 million people represented by our coalition, I thank Congressman Gekas for supporting this legislation which will guarantee both the protection of our rights and the survival of our Nation's rich natural heritage.

Your vote counts on Nov. 7

Editor, Lititz Record:

Election day is Nov. 7. A citizen who is convinced of the importance of his one vote is more likely to go to the polls than the skeptic or cynic who states, "My one vote won't count."

In 1944 Senator Taft carried Ohio by less than one vote per precinct. In 1948, Senator Lyndon Johnson was sent to the Senate by a majority of 87 votes from the huge state of Texas. In 1954, Governor Harriman of New York won by a shade less than one vote per precinct. In 1948, President Truman carried California and Ohio by less than one vote per precinct and thereby won reelection to the highest office in the land.

Remember, every vote cast is a decisive vote. The votes that are not cast can be decisive too. Many cases can be cited where a person was elected to office by a minority of those eligible to vote, simply because too many people stayed away from the polls. The winner might otherwise have been beaten.

Election day will soon be here—Nov. 7, 1995. Encourage your relatives and friends to vote by offering to drive them to the polls. Every vote is important and will influence our government. You can make the difference!

The National, Department of PA, District 9, Lancaster County Council and local Lititz Springs Post 1463 and Manheim Post 5956 Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary urge each and every citizen to vote on Nov. 7 and to fly the American flag on this important day.

It's time 'face-to-face' law is changed for children

Editor, Lititz Record:

I'm writing this letter in response to Mr. Gerald G. Grimaud's letter, published Oct. 19.

I read your letter about voting no on the referendum that takes away the right to meet accusers face-to-face when said person is 18 years of age or younger.

I totally agree with you. The defendant has the right to face his accuser when the balance of power is equal between the two. This is not the case with a child and an adult. The adult definitely has the upper hand. He can intimidate and terrify a child with just his presence, let alone an intimidating look.

The referendum is mainly on the agenda for children who have been physically and/or sexually abused. Do you remember the power and control adults had over you as a child? Now picture a child who has been sexually abused by a parent, caregiver or so called friendly neighbor next door, for years. They've been coerced into keeping this secret by threats and even if none were given a child's life depends on adults.

VFW donation will help fund Cub Pack 156

Editor, Lititz Record:

Cub Scout Pack 156 would like to thank the Lititz VFW for their generous contribution to our group.

Many people do not realize the expenses involved in operating a Boy Scout troop or a Cub Scout Pack. There are many books, awards, and supplies that are needed each in order for the program to run smoothly.

Most of these expenses are met through different fund raising projects or contributions such as the Lititz VFW to our organization. The support we receive helps boys to develop into good outstanding young men through the scouting program.

Thank you again for your generous support.

Donald Lundvall
Cub Scout Pack 156

So you're asking a child to walk into a courtroom and face a person who has had total control over them, sometimes for years, and who they feel holds their very life in his or her hands. I don't call that a balance of power. I don't call that fair. I call that intimidating a child enough, so that said perpetrator, or should I say defendant, can walk free and abuse again.

Mr. Grimaud, would you prefer that a man who has committed indecent exposure, indecent assault, involuntary deviate sexual intercourse, rape, and incest walk free? (Please, anyone who does not fully understand what these terms mean, look them up, you'll then understand a child's horror.) Do you want him to walk free because this child is terrified to face him and in some cases even afraid to talk about it? I would hope not.

Sir, I know this happens from my own personal experience and many other women and men I have spoken too.

Yes, there probably are a lot of innocent people in prison, but think about how many predators are still on our streets where our children walk and play. I think it's worth a change.

I say to hell with 200 year old laws that didn't protect the rights of children—vote yes.

Lititz Library thanks VFW for donation

Editor, Lititz Record:

On behalf of the Lititz Library Board, Friends of the Lititz Library and everyone in the community, I would like to thank the members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for their pledge of $25,000 to the Lititz Library Building Fund.

Your past support and your commitment to our future goal of a new community library is greatly appreciated.

Kissel Hill ready to reach goal of 400 donated books

Kissel Hill first grader Mark Power, 7, hopes when this year's Book Bank is finished, the total exceeds his reach. In celebration of American Education Week during the week of Nov. 13, the library is hoping to collect 400 new or used books to add to the library. Books will be collected Nov. 15-17 in a collection box in front of the school.

Warwick students commended in National Merit Scholarship

Fred J. Cummins, Principal of Warwick High School, announced today the three Warwick High School Seniors who have been named as Commended Students in the 1996 National Merit Scholarship Program.

The Commended Students are: Loyal P. Hall, son of Loyal and Donna Hall, 143 W. Lexington Road, Lititz; Matthew S. Wahl, son of Stuart and Catherine Wahl, 1422 E. Newport Road, Lititz; and Jessica L. Weinstein, daughter of Dr. Richard and Wendy Weinstein, 6 Apple Drive, Lititz.

A letter of Commendation from national Merit Scholarship Corporation, which conducts the program, will be presented by the school to these scholastically able seniors.

About 35,000 Commended Students throughout the nation are being honored for their exceptional academic promise. They placed among the top five percent of more than a million students who entered the 1996 Merit Program by taking the 1994 Preliminary SAT/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

Although the qualifying test scores of Commended Students are outstanding, they are slightly below the level required to continue in the competition for Merit Scholarship awards to be offered in 1996.

A Merit Program spokesperson commented, "Recognition of academically promising students and of the key role played by schools in their development is essential to the pursuit of educational excellence."

Loan relief available for ag graduates

Agricultural graduates and veterinarians may have up to $10,000 in student loans repaid through the Agriculture Education Loan Forgiveness Program if they apply by Nov. 15.

"Up to $2,000 of PHEAA loans may be repaid for each year the borrower works in the operation of a family farm, a family farm corporation, or practices veterinary medicine that includes agricultural animals in Pennsylvania," said PHEAA President and Chief Executive Officer Michael H. Herschok. "Up to $10,000 in loans may be repaid in a borrower's lifetime."

To be eligible, borrowers must be in their first year of employment on or after July 1, 1991.

Applications for the program may be obtained by calling PHEAA at 257-5220 or writing: Agriculture Education Loan Forgiveness Program, P.O. Box 8114, Harrisburg, PA 17105-8114.

Lititz Christian to present 'The Nutcracker' Nov. 16-17

On Thursday, Nov. 16 and Friday, Nov. 17, at 7 p.m., the Lititz Christian School Junior High Drama Group will present the two-act drama of "The Nutcracker" in the chapel of the Lititz Grace Brethren Church at 501 W. Lincoln Ave., Lititz.

This classic Christmas fairy tale, set to the music of Tchaikovsky, stars Mindy Beiler as Clara and Jonathan Cameron as the Nutcracker. Adam Rohrer portrays the Prince.

Kevin Arnold plays the role of Clara's father, and Lauren Weaver plays Clara's mother and The Sugar Plum Fairy. Matt Robyn plays Clara's brother, Frank, and Krakatuk. Christopher Martin plays Godfather Dross. Melanie Hershey plays Aunt Harriet and the role of Mickey and The Mouse King.

Other members of the cast include Rachel Zimmerman, Missy Hackman, April Kelsey, Allison McCornaghay, Rachel Mitchell, Clarissa Kreider, Melinda Allen, Christina Colantonio, Katie Dorman, Stephanie Ebersole, Joel Hibshman, Lisa Lehman, Tony Trupe, Emily Wilson, and Jamie Dessen.

"The Nutcracker" is under the direction of Renee Willard, assisted by student director Stephanie Kilgore.

Tickets are $3 for adults and $2 for students. For further information contact The Lititz Christian School office at 626-9518.

Rain finally subsides for 'Sunset'

Saturday evening, the Warwick Marching Band performed in competition in Lebanon at the 21st annual Music in Motion T.O.B. competition.

After two weeks of rained-out competitions, the band finally was able to stage their field show "Sunset Boulevard." Lebanon High School hosted 20 bands from Pennsylvania along with their own high school and middle school bands in exhibition. The setting was perfect for the event, Mother Nature cooperating and giving the crowded stadium of spectators and the participating bands a beautiful crisp fall evening.

Groups I, II, III, and IV were in full attendance with Warwick competing in Group II with seven other bands. Warwick was the sixth band in Group II to perform. The WHS drum majors led the band onto the field with that good old Warwick pride. The opening of their show sports an impressive instrument lift, along with their powerful musical ability. Warwick mastered their instrument lifts, their auxiliary was effective, their marching maneuvers were clean, and they executed a polished performance.

This was good enough to earn them a third place trophy in Group II with a score of 87.45.

The Group I winner was Wilson

High School with a score of 84.5. Group II top honors went to Pittston with a score of 93.55.

Susquehanna landed second place with a score of 90.75 and Warwick captured third place.

The Group III winner was Liberty High School with a score of 93.1 and Carlisle went home with a first place win in Group IV with a score of 95.1, also landing best overall.

Warwick will compete at Carlisle on Saturday, Nov. 4 in the Tournament of Bands chapters.

Tickets for the event can be purchased in the hallway adjacent to the band room on Thursday evening from 6-7 p.m. A pep rally is scheduled for the band, Friday, Nov. 10 after band practice in preparation for T.O.B. championships in Scranton. You can enjoy the band's final performance at Grosh Field on Friday, Nov. 3 at Warwick's last football game of the season.

All senior members of the marching band, the football team and the cheerleaders will be honored. The festivities will begin at 7 p.m. prior to kickoff.

Bowersox to compete in national FFA speech event

Robert Bowersox of the Warwick FFA chapter will be competing in the National FFA Extemporaneous Public Speaking Career Development Event on Nov. 8 in Kansas City, Mo., during the 68th National FFA Convention.

"The students competing in this event are the very best," says Carol Duval, National FFA Organization teacher services specialist. "It took a lot of hard work and preparation for the FFA members to advance themselves to the national level."

Bowersox is coached by Lisa Hockreiter and Dale Gerber.

Even participants are required to deliver a speech on one of three general agricultural topics—agriscience and technology, agrimarketing and international agricultural relations—prepared within a 30 minute time period. The speech must be 4-6 minutes in length, and at the conclusion of the speech, the judges may question the speaker for five minutes.

Winners are selected based on the speech delivery, content and responses to the questions. Events are conducted in local chapters with winners advancing through district, area and state competitions. National contestants will advance through preliminary and semifinal rounds with the top four speakers competing in the final national event.

The National FFA Extemporaneous Public Speaking Career Development Event is sponsored by American Farm Bureau Federation as a special project of the National FFA Foundation.

FFA is a national organization of 444,497 members preparing for leadership and careers in the science, business and technology of agriculture. The organization has 7,264 local chapters located throughout the United States.

FFA's mission is to make a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education. Local, state and national activities and award programs provide opportunities for students to apply knowledge and skills learned in the classroom.

VFW and mayor welcome foreign students to Lititz

The Lititz Springs VFW Post 1463 Ladies Auxiliary presented American flag desk sets to approximately 50 Japanese students at Linden Hall in August. Presenting the flags were: Linda Shultz, patriotic instructor; Anne Loechner, treasurer; and Becki Donlin, president. Pictured here with several of the Japanese students are Linden Hall Headmaster Dr. David Devey, Donlin, Lititz Mayor Russell Pettijohn, Loechner and Shultz. During the presentation, Mayor Pettijohn gave a brief message to welcome to welcome the girls to Lititz, as well as Linden Hall, to obtain a cultural education in the United States. This annual project is sponsored under the Americanism project as suggested by the National, Department of Pa., District 9, and the Lancaster County Council VFW and Ladies Auxiliary.

Warriors' bid for sixth win falls just short

BRUCE MORGAN

Record Express Staff

Only six minutes separated Warwick's football team from a win over McCaskey on Saturday.

That's how close the Warriors were to getting their sixth win and guaranteeing themselves a second straight winning season. The last time Warwick had back-to-back winning seasons occurred back in 1978 and 1979.

But the Red Tornadoes scored two touchdowns in the final 4:00 of the game to erase a 28-21 deficit and escape with a 35-28 victory over Warwick in Lancaster.

McCaskey and Warwick are now both 3-3 in Section One and 5-4 overall.

The game featured plenty of offense, with the Warriors gaining 319 yards and the Tornadoes earning 309 yards.

"I'm not disappointed in the way the kids played," Warwick Coach Clever Daihl said, "I'm really not disappointed in anything—I have a disappointment that we didn't win, but it wasn't because of something we did or didn't do. It was just, we didn't win. Everybody played hard and McCaskey deserves to win too because they played hard also. It was (two) evenly-matched teams, (two) well-matched teams (and) both teams came out and played hard, neither one gave up. They just had a little bit more in the third quarter than we did. That seems to be the difference. I'm not disappointed in the fact that the kids did anything that they should not have done or the coaches or anybody else. I'm just disappointed that maybe we didn't get the break here or there that would've separated the win from the loss."

The Warriors had things going their way in the first half, when tailback Russell Burkett ran for 120 yards and quarterback Matt Becker threw for 68 more.

What it added up to was a 14-6 Warwick lead at halftime.

The Warriors showed on their very first drive that they could move the ball on the Tornadoes, as they moved the sticks from their own 3 to the McCaskey 31.

A fumble thwarted their progress and McCaskey converted it into a 6-0 lead, with quarterback Mickell Bynum (13-27-2-226) hooking up with receiver Sylvester Gray on a 31-yard touchdown pass with 2:24 to go in the first.

But the Warriors returned the favor, cashing in on a McCaskey turnover early in the second.

Alex Daecher's interception gave Warwick the ball on the Tornadoes' 38, and on the Warriors' first play from scrimmage, Burkett burst 38 yards on second and third efforts and lunged into the endzone to tie the score 6-6. Andy Derr kicked the PAT and Warwick had its first lead at 10:03 of the period.

"Russell is our main man and when he's healthy and he's running and doing what he has to do, and when he gets some good blocking up front, all he needs is a little crack, and he keeps those knees pumping," Daihl said. "He's a super kid, works hard every single play, and you see him in practice, he works the same way in practice too every single play."

On their next possession, the Warriors started on their own 12, but got a couple first downs through the air, with Becker connecting on 4 and 14 yards to Mark Reidenbaugh and 16 yards to Alex Daecher. A McCaskey 15-yard penalty took the ball to the Tornadoes 27, and then Burkett did the rest, going 11 and 16 yards to cap the drive. Derr's PAT made the score 14-6 with 2:39 left in the half.

As good as their first half was, the Warriors' third quarter was equally as ugly. They gained only one first down on five possessions, and McCaskey intercepted two passes.

The Tornadoes tied the score 14-14 on a 34-yard TD pass from Bynum to tight end Kevin O'Hara and a two-point pass from Bynum to Bill Way with 3:58 to go in the third.

Then McCaskey linebacker Joey Benning returned the second of those two interceptions 37 yards for a go-ahead touchdown with :28 left in the period, making the score 21-14.

"Our biggest problem was we didn't do anything in the third quarter, and I don't know why that was, but we just kinda fell flat on our face in (that period)," Daihl said. "We picked it up later on and made a game of it, but the third quarter really lost it for us."

Quarterback Matt Becker stands over center Todd Kurl and calls a play during Warwick's game against McCaskey.

The Warriors got a bit of life back when Burkett went the distance with a 36-yard catch-and-run of a twice tipped Becker pass. Derr's PAT tied the score 21-21 with 11:03 left to play.

Burkett finished the game with 125 rushing yards on 22 carries, 2 receptions for 41 yards and three touchdowns, and Becker was 10-for-25 for 156 yards, with two interceptions and one TD.

The tie lasted exactly 5:00, as Warwick regained a 27-21 lead when fullback Zach Bolich, getting a key block from Burkett, raced 45 yards down the left sideline to score the six points. Derr's fourth PAT of the game pushed the lead to 28-21.

McCaskey didn't quit though, as they answered with a seven-play, 80-yard scoring drive and tied the game on a 42-yard TD pass from Bynum to Way with 4:01 left.

That led to the Tornadoes scoring what turned out to be the game-winner, a 23-yard TD pass from Bynum to Way with 1:42 to go. Guy Burkholder's PAT made it 35-28.

Still, Warwick had one last opportunity, and a Becker-to-Cory Pfautz 33-yard completion took the ball from the Warriors' 38 to McCaskey's 29. But the Warriors were unable to punch it in, and the Tornadoes held on for the win.

"It was a well-played game, I thought both defenses were pretty much in tune to what everybody was doing," Daihl said, "and except for big plays, mistakes, breakdowns in coverage, it was a pretty well even-played ball game, both offensively and defensively."

The Warriors wrap up their season this Friday, Nov. 3 when they host the Cedar Crest Falcons on Grosh Field at 7:30 p.m.

Warriors to host Falcons on Friday

BRUCE MORGAN

Record Express Staff

The Warriors conclude their season this Friday when they host the Cedar Crest Falcons on Grosh Field at 7:30 p.m.

They still want that sixth win of the season to assure themselves a winning record for the second year in a row. It just eluded them against the McCaskey Red Tornadoes last week, and this Friday's game is their last chance.

To beat the Falcons (5-1 Section One, 7-2 overall), the Warriors (3-3, 5-4) will have to stop the run and score some points. But stopping the run won't be easy because Cedar Crest lines up in a two-tight end formation, and size-wise, they're probably the biggest team the Warriors will face this season.

Gettle is the Falcons' big running back, as he gained 864 yards on 155 carries going into last Friday night's games.

The scary thing for the Warriors is that Cedar Crest can also pass well too, and the Falcons have some blazing speed at the wide receiver position.

"Their game plan of course is to slowly, methodically take the ball and keep it away from your offense," Warwick Coach Clever Daihl said. "But if you can jump ahead of them, then you might have a chance to take them out of their game plan and make them do something that they haven't done that much."

"Unfortunately with Cedar Crest, I don't think that's an advantage because they throw the ball pretty well too," he added. "And number 22 is so hard to defend that we may be creating our own hodge-podge of misfortunes if we have to stop them from running. And now they start throwing the ball, I don't know if we have anyone who can cover him well enough. He's the fastest thing we've seen."

"They're really a good ball club, a terrific ball club," he said. "I think we've done a pretty good job this year going against good ball clubs. (See Warriors, Page 11)

Tailback Russell Burkett breaks off a long gain. He scored three touchdowns on Saturday, including two rushing and one receiving.

Lady Warriors lose in District quarterfinals

BRUCE MORGAN

Record Express Staff

The Lady Warriors' hockey team finds itself in the unenviable position of battling through the District 3 Triple-A loser's bracket to qualify for the State Tournament.

That's the result of suffering a 3-1 loss to Boyertown in the District quarter-finals at Conrad Weiser High School last Saturday, which ended their hopes of a District championship.

The Warriors (16-5-1) advanced to that game with a 2-0 shutout of Carlisle in an opening-round game last Wednesday, Oct. 25 at Lebanon High School.

The difference against Boyertown was that the team just didn't play well, Coach Bob Derr said. "We didn't play up to our ability," he commented. "We didn't decide to kick it in until the final 15 minutes and by then it was too late."

By then Boyertown had a 3-0 lead. They scored twice in the first half, at 5:24 and 19:45, and again at 15:10 of the second half.

Erica Widder got Warwick on the scoreboard when she connected on a feed from Tara Gergal with 5:00 left in the game, but it wasn't enough.

Overall, Warwick had the edge in statistics, outshooting Boyertown 7-6 and outcornering them 13-5 (9-2 in the second half), but it couldn't turn those opportunities into goals.

Part of the Lady Warriors' problem was they didn't get the upper hand early in the game. "Their play is based on scoring early," Derr said. "If they score early, then they'll roll. But if they get behind, then they're in trouble."

Derr also noted that, in the latter part of the season, his team has been playing not to lose rather than playing to win.

"I got to get them to go out and play the game and forget about everything else, just go out and do it," he said.

Derr acknowledged that Boyertown is a good team, but he felt the score wasn't a true indication of the matchup.

"They're not that much better than we are," he said.

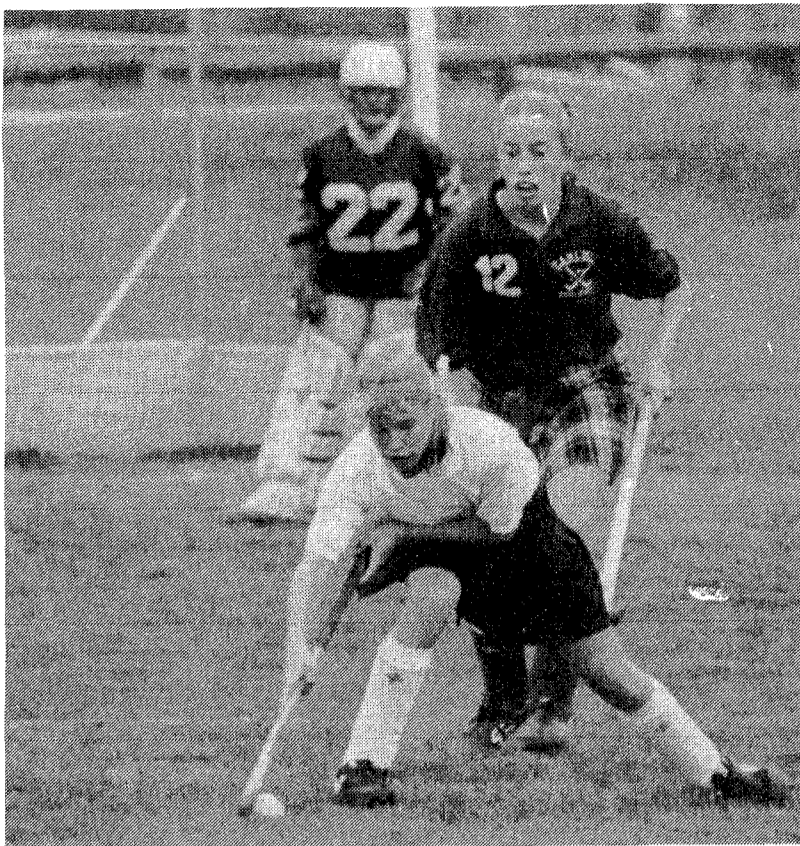

So now the Lady Warriors must try to do what they did last year, when they earned a State berth by recording back-to-back wins in the loser's bracket. Five teams from District 3 go to States, including the four semi-finalists and one from among the four teams who lost in the quarterfinals.

Last year, Warwick defeated Lower Dauphin in an exciting, well-played game in double overtime to move onto the PIAA Tournament.

"It's a familiar road we have to take and it's not a nice one," Derr said. "Every game is a death game, and you got to win to move on. If someone would've told me before the season or even before the District tournament that this is what was going to happen, I would've said, 'No, I don't believe it.' I felt really good about the chances of this team doing well."

He still does. He believes that they're better, on paper, than the other three teams in the loser's bracket, but he also knows that they have to prove it on the field.

"They have to decide to do that," he said. "If we can get to the State championships, anything can happen, but we got to get there."

Michelle Marks gains control of the ball in front of the Carlisle goal cage as a defender puts the pressure on.

Derr would like to see teams seeded in the District tournament, instead of just randomly paired with each other, because he believes the best teams often times meet in the early rounds while teams that aren't as strong end up in the semi-finals and finals.

"The best teams don't get separated," he said. "It's just not right. There's something wrong with what's going on. They need to seed that tournament so the best teams get separated."

Widder and Janelle Long scored goals against Carlisle last Wednesday to lead Warwick to a 2-0 win.

Widder's goal, at 13:40 of the first half on a pass from Anita Miller, gave Warwick a 1-0 lead.

It stayed that way until Long blasted a shot home, with an assist from Cori Rife with 12:40 to go in the game.

The Lady Warriors had a big edge in the statistics, as they outshot the Thundering Herd 12-3 and outcornered them 16-2. Warwick goalkeeper Kati Oakes stopped all three shots she faced.

 Several Warwick players were rewarded for brilliant seasons by being named to the Section One All-Star team.

Seniors Erica Widder, Kati Oakes, Cori Rife, Jen Noll, and Maria Smith and junior Janelle Long were selected for the Section One team, which will play the Section Two All-Stars at Lancaster Catholic High School on Monday, Nov. 20 at 7 p.m. A Youth Hockey exhibition will be held at 5:30 p.m.

Amazingly, Warwick has six of the 13 players on the Section One All-Star team.

Widder and Oakes are each two-time honorees.

Babcock set for States after placing fourth at Districts

BRUCE MORGAN

Record Express Staff

Warwick senior Andy Babcock is making the most of his final run through the cross country post-season.

Two Thursdays ago, he finished

Andy Babcock ran a strong race at Districts, finishing fourth in 16:42 and qualifying for States for the second year in a row.

second at the All-League Run and then last Saturday at Milton Hershey, he won his second District medal and qualified for States for the second year in a row by taking fourth place out of 289 runners in the District 3 Triple-A meet.

His time was 16:42.44, which was 22 seconds behind the pace set by winner Scott Davis, of Carlisle.

Babcock's fourth-place finish was the highest at Districts for a Warwick runner since Matt Seigford began coaching in 1989. Chris Purdue placed sixth there in 1992 and Laura Grimm finished 11th in 1991.

Babcock's classmate Corey Carvell barely missed a medal and a trip to States, as he placed 23rd overall in 17:15.09. The top 20 finishers won medals and the cutoff for State berths was also at the 20th finisher (West Perry's Adam Driscoll, 17:08.10).

"I'm a little disappointed (Corey) didn't make it (to States), although I think he ran better than what he did at the County meet," Seigford said. "I think he ran a smarter race. His performance was a lot better, he just came up a little short."

Dallastown's Chris Dodson, the eventual third-place finisher, went out hard and took the early lead in the race, while Babcock, Davis and second-place finisher Dan Shaffer, of Red Land, ran together in a pack. As the race progressed, they eventually reeled Dodson back in.

"(Andy) ran the race he needed to to win it, it's just a matter that he came in a couple places short," Seigford said.

Added Babcock: "I thought I ran well, I wish I would've kept up with the leaders a little better, but it was a good race for myself. I ran the way I should've run."

Babcock's finish was 11 places better than where he ended up at Districts last year (15th, 16:48).

He did that in what Seigford described as less than ideal conditions for the Triple-A boys' race.

"It was almost too warm for the race by the time the (Triple-A) boys ran," Seigford said. "I think that may have been a factor in Andy's time being slower than what (Annville-Cleona's Jon) Wenger ran (16:26.13), because Wenger ran early in the morning (in the Double-A boys' race), and I think the conditions were a little better for him than they were for Andy."

Sophomore Dave Adams placed 103rd in 18:34.19, senior Jon Conville finished 125th in 18:47.43, junior Nate Nixdorf took 126th in 18:47.87, sophomore Chris Baumgardner crossed the finish line in 179th place in 19:25.07, and sophomore (See Babcock, Page 11)

The Thursday Evening Quarterback

It's another big weekend for local football teams, as the Warriors host Cedar Crest in their final game, Penn State travels to Northwestern, and the Philadelphia Eagles battle the Cowboys in Dallas.

In last week's Thursday Evening Quarterback, Don Campbell and Rick Reitz each had 5-3-1 records to tie for first place. Special recognition goes to Rick, as he was right on the money with the Penn State score, correctly predicting a 45-21 Nittany Lion victory.

Lititz's Rick Myers is this week's guest. The answer to last week's trivia question was 1978 and 1979, which was the last time Warwick's football team had back-to-back winning records.

If you know the answer to this week's trivia question, send it to Bruce Morgan at the Lititz Record Express, 22 E. Main St., Lititz, PA 17543 or call 626-2191.

This week's trivia question is: Bobby Ingram recently set a new Penn State record for most career touchdowns. Name the player whose record Ingram broke.

Lady netters exceed expectations

BRUCE MORGAN

Record Express Staff

Years from now, when Warwick's girls' tennis coach Ron Wanner reflects back on the 1995 team, he will remember a group of girls who overachieved expectations.

The Lady Warriors lost their numbers two, three and four players to graduation from 1994 and a lot of the girls who stepped into action this season didn't have much experience, but they made up for that with a never-say-die attitude.

Competing in a tough Section One, Warwick earned a winning league record of 5-4 and an overall record of 7-6.

"(The team) did (exceed my expectations), it really did," Wanner said. "I was hoping to just get into the win column, and they far exceeded that. I was delighted. I think we had overachievers this year — they just would not quit and it showed in their record."

"Generally, some of my younger players really improved a lot and some of my freshmen were better than I thought they'd be," he said. "I knew where my seniors would be, but it was in my younger players. If they can continue that, we hope to be competitive again next year."

Senior Brienne Peiffer finished a fabulous four-year career at Warwick with a regular season record of 10-3, losing only to Ephrata's Kristin Sherk, Penn Manor's Michelle Crouse, and Manheim Township's freshman sensation Anne Nguyen, the eventual L-L champ.

Over her four years in Warwick's lineup, Peiffer compiled an impressive career regular season record of 39-10.

She capped this season with a sixth-place finish in the L-L League's Singles Tournament and a District qualifying berth.

Asked how big of a disappoint-

ment it will be to lose Peiffer to graduation, Wanner said, "Tremendous. She's the best player I've ever had. Put it this way, you don't win championships without a good number one player. Period. Unfortunately, I didn't have enough strong players to put with her. Even though she was the best I had, we didn't win any section titles because of that, I didn't have enough depth. But she did a tremendous job. I give her all the credit in the world."

Senior Liz Moyer finished with a 1-12 singles record at number two singles for the Lady Warriors, but most of her matches were against very strong players from other teams.

"There's not much separating the players from two on down to eight or nine," Wanner said. "Until you get to eight or nine, they're close. You figure as you go down, your records will get better. Even though (Liz) didn't have a good singles record, she helped us a lot. She helped us a lot in doubles, she won some big matches and I was glad to have her."

Senior Jessica Weinstein had a final record of 7-6 at third singles, junior Laura Wenrich went 3-4 at number four, senior Jenny Haines posted a final mark of 6-7 at five, sophomore Amanda Christman went 3-2, and freshman Kate Geesey was 0-1.

Graduation will again hurt Wanner's team next year, as Peiffer, Moyer, Weinstein and Haines — four of Wanner's top five players — will be gone from the lineup. Other seniors on the squad were Liz Goodman, Kara Shenk, and Elena Castellanos.

Wanner credited the seniors with playing a big part in the team's success this season.

"They knew they lost a lot of players, but the seniors really stepped up and did a nice job," Wanner said. "They're the ones who did the bulk of the playing."

He was also impressed with the play of his doubles teams, which got Warwick victories in its matches against Solanco, Hempfield and McCaskey.

"Doubles really came through — we practiced doubles a lot at practice — some nights that's all we do, and I think it showed in (those matches)," he said.

Falcons, Raiders win top honors in competition

The Warwick Midget Cheerleaders held their 7th annual cheering competition at the Warwick High School gymnasium on Saturday, Oct. 21.

The Falcons took first place in the Junior Division (girls ages 8-10) and the Raiders won top honors in the Senior Division (girls ages 11-13).

These teams will again display their winning performances on Monday, Nov. 6 at 7 p.m. at the fourth annual Charity Basketball game between the Warwick School District faculty and a combined Warwick Township/Lititz Boro Police squad. The game is being held in the high school gymnasium. Proceeds benefit Ronald McDonald House.

All the Senior Division teams will be cheering for the game.

Warwick linksmen battle, but suffer disappointing record

The Warwick linksmen finished their 1995 season with a 1-46 Lancaster-Lebanon League record and a 3-49 record overall.

The leader of this year's team was senior Kevin Hicks, who averaged 77 during L-L play and 79 overall in 10 matches. His best score of the season was a 73, which he shot when Warwick hosted Section One at Overlook on September 26.

Hicks attained a big accomplishment by reaching the District 3 championships in both of his years at Warwick.

Other seniors who will be missed next year are Jon Thomas and Ryan Martin. Thomas had an L-L average of 90 and an overall average of 92, while Martin shot an average of 103 in L-L meets and 97 overall.

Junior Eric Rossi shot an average of 88 both in league meets and for the season.

As a team, the Warwick linksmen averaged 448 in L-L play and 450 overall during the year. Their best score of the season was a 431, also at Overlook. In golf, six players shoot and lowest 5-man scores claim victory over the other schools in the match.

"The season left me with mixed feelings," said Warwick Coach John Sukenik, who is retiring both from teaching and coaching at the end of this school year. "On one hand, I was disappointed with our won-loss record. It was frustrating because our number one and two players (Hicks and Rossi) shot competitive and consistent golf, while our number three to six players were erratic, shooting anywhere from 87 to 108.

"On the other hand, the kids tried hard," he said. "They were a pleasure to work with and we had numerous activities that made coaching enjoyable. You would not be embarrassed to take these kids anywhere. From the golf course to the restaurants we visited, people complimented them on their manners and behavior.

"I would like to thank Jeff Hibshman, who served as a volunteer coach, the Warwick grounds crew, and finally (principal) Mr. Fred Cummins and the athletic department for their cooperation," he said.

Other Warwick golfers and their season averages were juniors Mike Foley (96), Mike Thorn (97), Keith Mather (93), and John Warner (99), sophomores Shane Weaver (99) and Steve Royer (106), and freshman Jevon Miller (108).

Babcock

Seigford's goal for the team was to place in the top 10, and the Warriors tied for 10th with Cedar Crest with 372 points. There were 42 complete teams in the race.

The PIAA meet will be held in State College this Saturday. Seigford knows there are a couple runners from District 1 who are looking tough right now, but he's optimistic Babcock can win a medal.

"Based on what Laura did, being (12th) at Districts (in 1992) and she ended up winning a State medal finishing 15th, it gives me some confidence on where (Andy) can finish," Seigford said. "I think his chances for a State medal are pretty good."

Warriors

We've played well. We just haven't from some reason or another had enough experience or enough good preparation time to win it in the end."

Offensively, Dailh believes they should be able to move the ball running and passing against the Falcons.

Tailback Russ Burkett is the Warriors' leading ground gainer and is coming off a big game against McCaskey. Quarterback Matt Beckerman makes the passing game go.

"Matt was in playing both ways for us (against McCaskey) and that has some disadvantages, but he did a good job, and he didn't get injured or bruised up or anything, so we're in good shape going into this game," Dailh said. "I think there's some things that we do well that people have to be concerned about, and I think we have a chance to move the ball both running and passing.

"We just have to do a better job of reading the defense and calling the right plays because every defense gives you a weakness — you just have to find it," he said. "And we didn't do a very good job of finding it in the third quarter against McCaskey. They made some adjustments at halftime that we weren't prepared for and it just took us awhile to figure out what they were doing. Cedar Crest is just like any other team — they're just bigger."

JV football team ends season with 20-16 win

Warwick's Junior Varsity football team locked up a winning season on Monday, defeating McCaskey 20-16 on Grosh Field to finish its season at 5-3.

The Warriors opened the scoring on a 30-yard touchdown pass from Brent Salmi to Mike Goodhart. The score was set up by a 25-yard pass completion from Salmi to Corey Pickel. Derek Salmi ran for the two-point conversion to give the team an 8-0 lead.

McCaskey then answered with a touchdown and a two-point conversion to tie things at 8-8.

But Warwick got a lift when Sean French recovered a fumble, and they broke the tie on another Salmi-to-Goodhart hookup, this time for 20 yards. The try for two failed and the Warriors' lead stayed at 14-8 at halftime.

In the second half, McCaskey took the opening kickoff and drove for a touchdown and two-point conversion to take a 16-14 advantage.

There was no further scoring in the third quarter, as both teams' defenses forced punts. But early in the fourth, the Warriors took over on their own and marched 90 yards for the go-ahead points. Derek Salmi capped the drive with a 5-yard TD run to make it 20-14.

The Warriors' defense then came through and turned away the Tornadoes to preserve the victory.

"It was a good game," Coach Blake Bender said. "The kids did a great job. They sucked it up when they had to and they made the big plays."

One of Warwick's highlights of the game was a hook-and-ladder play, in which Derek Salmi ran the ball about 40 yards.

Their 5-3 record marks the first time in the five years Blake Bender has coached the team that the Warriors have finished with a winning record.

"Coach (Mike) Brown and myself had a lot of fun coaching this year," Bender said. "The kids had a great attitude, they played hard and they played like winners. We told them this is a stepping stone, but that they got to get into the weight room."

Stiegel Lions schedule fund-raisers

The Baron Stiegel Lions Club has released a schedule of fund raising activities for the Lions year 1995-96 as follows:

- Nov. 5- Buffet breakfast, Bricker-ville Fire Hall;
 - Jan. 7- Buffet breakfast, Bricker-ville Fire Hall;
 - Feb. 4- Buffet breakfast, Bricker-ville Fire Hall;
 - March 10- Buffet breakfast, Bricker-ville Fire Hall;
 - April 27- Chicken barbecue, Esbenshades Greenhouse and Nursery; and
 - May 11- Chicken barbecue, Lutheran Church picnic grove, on Route 322 in Bricker-ville.
- The profits derived from these activities is used locally primarily for sponsoring two Midget baseball teams, assisting the financially disadvantaged to obtain eyeglasses and eye exams, assisting a bum victim, conducting two Easter egg hunts, distribute fruit baskets to elderly and contribute to Lancaster Blind association. Funds are also used to help fight drug and alcohol abuse and sight research among others.
- Baron Stiegel Lions are headquartered in Bricker-ville serving primarily Elizabeth and Clay Townships. Call club secretary for information at 626-0114.

Scouts uniting to collect food to Share the Harvest

Helping to feed the hungry will again be a joint project for the Boy and Girl Scouts of the Lititz area when they canvass the community for non-perishable edibles, beginning on Saturday, Nov. 11, with the distribution of plastic bags, and concluding Saturday, Nov. 18, when they will be collected.

People are asked to put the bags of foodstuffs outside their door by 9 a.m. on Nov. 18. No glass contained, home-canned, refrigerated, or frozen foods will be accepted.

Foods ideal for donations are potatoes, canned tuna or ham, peanut butter, jelly, baked goods, fruit, cake mixes, puddings, Jello, pasta of any kind, rice, cereal, paper products, vegetables in cans, spaghetti sauce, or soup.

Cancer patients available to talk on smoking effects

Members of the Red Rose NuVoice club, a support group of individuals who have lost their larynx to cancer, are available to speak to elementary and middle school students on the effects of smoking.

They offer a 17-minute video produced by the American Cancer Society entitled, "It's Not A Walk in the Park" which details the life changes laryngectomies face after surgery. After viewing the video, NuVoice members will facilitate class discussion and frankly answer student questions.

To schedule a NuVoice speaker or to learn about other school's tobacco intervention programs, call the Lancaster Unit of the American Cancer Society at 397-3744.

Scouting for Food, locally called "Share the Harvest," is a program sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dutch Council, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of America, in cooperation with Lancaster Foundation and Community Food Banks. The goal is 125 tons of food.

Although hunger is frequently associated with under-developed countries or those that are war-torn, the fact remains that children and their families in our very own community lack basic nutrition and suffer hunger on a day-to-day basis. Each year the Scouts make a comprehensive effort to alleviate this problem and are asking the community to lend a hand once again by checking the pantry for some food donations.

In order to collect the food on Nov. 18, the Scouts will distribute plastic bags, which they will tie onto door knobs only.

For the Nov. 18 collection at 9 a.m., the Scouts will return to the homes where they placed the bags and collect the food items that have been placed outside the door. No Scout will be permitted to enter a home to collect the food.

The bags will then be taken to the rear of St. Paul Lutheran Church, Orange Street, after 10 a.m. Anyone who doesn't have the bag of food outside by 9 a.m. may take it there.

Concert to launch Mill Coffee House for young adults

RICHARD REITZ
Record Express Editor

Teen-agers in the Lancaster Evangelical Free Church Youth Group are hoping their new coffee house is anything but run-of-the-mill.

The group is bringing back The Mill Coffee House, named after a similar social gathering place for adults at the church that disbanded a few years ago.

Although the coffee house will be held on alternating Fridays at The Mill — the former site of the church — at 813 Rothville Road, the organization kicks off with a three-band concert at the new church site, across the street at 419 Pierson Road.

According to Chris Strayer, one of the organizers of the coffee house, the Nov. 10 concert in the church sanctuary will feature Christian-alternative rock music by Jawbone Hill, as well as Call Me Betty (which features Chris' brother, Joel Strayer on drums) and Scarlet Thread.

The doors will open at 7:30 p.m., with the concert beginning at 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 and are only available at the door prior to the show, Strayer said. Proceeds will benefit the coffee house.

Strayer, 15, said The Mill Coffee House "is designed to be an outreach to the people of our culture, making them feel comfortable and familiar with Christianity so that they gain interest in Jesus," according to the Youth Group's vision statement.

Anyone is invited to participate, although its focus will be on teenagers and college students, the Warwick High School freshman said.

The coffee house will have a different acoustic band or performance scheduled each night, and a schedule has been set for the rest of the year:

- Nov. 24 — Scarlet Thread
- Dec. 8 — open mike night
- Dec. 22 — CN Christ

Admission is $2, except for open mike night, when admission is free. Strayer, who is responsible for booking the acts for the coffee house, said some groups they are looking to have perform next year include Rain Children, Ghoti Hook, Acoustic Sunday, and, appropriately enough, Mac the Coffee Man.

The coffee house will feature a snack bar with tea and coffee, as well as other refreshments and snacks such as french fries, chips, nachos and more, he said. Because of rules at the new church, the only time the coffee house will not be able to serve coffee is at the first concert.

While most proceeds will help perpetuate the coffee house, Strayer said they will give 10 percent to the Lancaster Evangelical Free Church. (See Coffee House, Page 17)

Preacher's Post

Pastor Ralph Z. Moyer
Lititz Church of the Brethren

Let me tell you a parable: Imagine you are at a football game. It's time for the kickoff. The team huddles together, heads bowed in prayer, with the coach in the center. Suddenly they give a loud cheer, and all the players go sit on the bench while the coach trots out onto the field all by himself!

The opposing team kicks off, and the coach catches the ball. He valiantly charges up field, but is soon buried under 11 tacklers! He is carried off the field half-conscious. Ridiculous, isn't it?

Yet, this is similar to the picture many people have of the church. The members, like the players on the bench, sit back as spectators. They expect the pastor to do all the work, like the coach out on the playing field, all alone. People rationalize that, after all, the pastor is getting paid, and has better training and more experience.

The Apostle Paul has a much different image of the church. According to Romans 12:5-8, all the members of the church have gifts. The gifts differ, but every member has some, and they are to use them for the glory of God and their neighbor's good. That is, every member should be on the field, playing in the Game. The Body needs all of its parts, working together.

The pastor is like the coach, working to enable each member to use their gifts effectively, to build up the Body of Christ! The pastor will help the church call forth, challenge, train, and disciple members, and then commission them to use their gifts — especially the greatest gift, love — out there in a needy world.

Pastors are ordained to have different functions from laity, but they are not different in status. Both are co-workers in the Body. The laity receive their call ("ordination") at their baptism or confirmation. Martin Luther referred to this as "the Priesthood of all Believers."

Together, pastors and laity are to be faithful to their separate callings and in using their gifts. Talents are not to be hidden under a basket, or go unused. Gifts are a terrible thing to waste!

Another parallel has been made between a play in a theater and our Sunday morning worship services. Many people think that the pastors and choir are the actors, God is the prompter, and the congregation is the audience or spectators.

In reality, the congregation is to be the actors, the pastor and choir are the prompters, and God is the spectator or audience.

In other words, everyone in the church is to be involved. No one in the Body is a spectator. Every member is needed for a team to play up to its full potential!

So, let the Game begin! Let's play!

interested to see how they would report their experiences. In secular terms, the mission was not a resounding success. They had been driven out of Antioch of Pisidia (another Antioch); at Iconium they were soundly opposed and they fled for their lives; at Lystra they were initially wildly successful but eventually stoned and expelled from the city. In some of the cities they had caused deep divisions in the Jewish community itself, and sometimes between Jews and Gentiles. On the plus-side, there were many people who gladly heard and responded to their message; some churches were established.

Paul and Barnabas, standing up to report to the people of Antioch, the church that had sent them out, might have complained bitterly about the way they were treated on their journey, the hardships they had to endure, the fickleness of the populations. But, the writer of Acts says their report was definitely upbeat: "And when they arrived, they gathered the church together and declared all that God had done with them and how he had opened a door of faith to the Gentiles" (14:27-28).

OBSTACLES OR DOORS?
Note: not a word about whether they had succeeded or failed in their mission. The negative experiences they had along the way were interpreted, not as obstacles or defeats, but as a "door" opened to them by God. The way they "played the game" had actually been of more importance than whether someone decided that they had lost or won. The "way they played the game" was one of obedience to the task, even in the face of hostility and defeat.

Later, writing to the Corinthians, Paul saw his work from this perspective, not in terms of success or failure: "I planted, Apollos waters, but God gave the growth" (1Cor. 3:6, 7). We do what we can and leave to God the questions of ultimate success or failure. Obedience, not success, is what we're called to.

Hungary missionaries share tales of Christian outreach

Reverend Rick Wislocky, a recently approved Assemblies of God missionary to Hungary, will be speaking at Calvary Temple Assembly of God, 490 W. Lincoln Ave. in Lititz, on Sunday, Nov. 5 at 10 a.m. according to Reverend Chuck Guerin, pastor.

Rick and Lori Wislocky have been in ministry at Christian Life Assembly in Camp Hill, for 8 years. Among their responsibilities has been the coordination of the church's missions program.

In this capacity, they have not only coordinated missions activities at the church, but have numerous opportunities to travel in the United States and abroad on missions trips.

"As young people," Rick remembers, "Lori and I had a tremendous interest in missions. This developed through missions trips and opportunities to travel through our teen years. Our years at Christian Life Assembly have given us invaluable preparation for our assignment in Hungary."

In 1989, Hungary's parliament passed legislation legalizing freedom of assembly and association as the nation shifted away from communism. In October of that year, the Communist Party was formally dissolved. The last Soviet troops left the country in 1991. These steps have paved the way for a growing Christian outreach in Hungary, as well as increased international commerce (two factors that are significant to the Wislockys' assignment).

Rick and Lori Wislocky of Christian Life Assembly of Camp Hill will address topical missionary issues this Sunday at Calvary Temple Assembly of God in Lititz.

Middle Creek to evangelize

Middle Creek Church of the Brethren invites everyone to its Evangelistic and Revival Services, held nightly Nov. 5-12.

The evangelist for these services is Jim Rhen, pastor of the East Cocalico Church of the Brethren. A song service will begin at 7:15 p.m., followed by the worship service at 7:30.

Nursery care will be provided and there will be children's stories Monday through Friday.

Saturday night is designated as youth night. The church is located at 401 Middle Creek Road, Lititz.

Area women meet for home improvement

Is your house in need of a facelift? On Tuesday, Nov. 7, the Refreshing Times meeting will demonstrate just how this can be accomplished. Hosts Rita Richard and Jean Kruijs will offer helpful hints on storage, painting, using borders and window treatments.

Refreshing Times is a program designed to meet the inspirational and educational needs of women in all age groups. Free nursery and preschool child care is provided. Meetings are held every first and third Tuesdays of the month from 9:15 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. at Millport Mennonite Church, located at 820 Log Cabin Road, near Rothsville.

For more information, call 626-6883.

"I understand how the residents feel," said Castellitto, "but I'm concerned with how they handled it."

Kathy Kneisley, 3 W. Orange St., told Lititz Borough Council that loitering teens using filthy language "were out of control and ruined the parade."

Council President Dennis Stuckey said that the Borough had concerns about the gathering of teens outside the building, but observed no problem when he made an evening trip to the center.

"I made two trips down and I didn't see all these kids we're talking about," he said.

Robert Close, 11 W. Orange St., added "there's a big difference between living there and observing."

Mayor Russell Pettyjohn, who served as Council president when the Power Connection was shut down for similar complaints at its former East Main Street location, said that police patrols would be stepped up in the area to keep a minimum of five people from standing outside at any time.

He also suggested a meeting between the Power Connection and residents to try to resolve the issues peacefully.

Castellitto added that he is working with youths at the Power Connection to try to find the source of the incident, but that he is not even sure if teens from the center were responsible for starting the trouble.

Students' artwork featured at Autumn Art Show and Sale

RICHARD REITZ

Record Express Editor

The culmination of a year's work will be on display this weekend at Fran Spangle's Art Studio and Gallery.

Students in Spangle's art classes—ranging in age from 15 to 82-year-old Doris Allebach of Lititz—will display up to four of their favorite creations for exhibition and sale. And to hopefully win an award as well.

Spangle expects about 80 pieces to be on display in her studio, located at her 117 W. Lexington Road home.

The show will be held at Spangle's Art Studio and Gallery on Saturday, Nov. 4 from 1-7 p.m., and again on Sunday, Nov. 5 from 1-5 p.m.

The artwork will be judged by artist Jeff Martin, who will present awards for most unique subject in any medium, best handling of any medium, most interesting or complex design, and five judge's choice awards.

The public will also have an opportunity to vote for their favorite work, with the top vote-getter receiving the public choice award.

The show is open to the public and admission is free. Refreshments will be available, and there will be a drawing for original artwork created by Spangle.

This is the third year for the student show, and while many of the people attending are family and friends, its popularity continues to grow each year with the general public, Spangle said.

The show is open to the students' development as artists.

"This is an esteem builder," she said. "It is an accomplishment to put a frame on your work, and educate others on what you have been doing... an ending on the projects they've worked on all year."

This is not just student artwork, she said. "The quality is high, and it continues to improve."

While Spangle teaches mainly oil, water and pastel, she said many of the students work in mixed media, so their will be a variety of styles on display at the show.

Lori Gochnauer of Lititz, a student with Spangle for about a year, said when she enjoyed art when she was in high school, but didn't pursue it for many years while raising a family.

It was only when her daughter began studying with Spangle that she decided to pursue her own art interests, and has been enjoying her return ever since.

Artists who will be exhibiting work at the show in addition to Gochnauer include: Viola Beam, Carol Lebo, Marty Stoner, Olympia Sipe, Sondra Weiksner, Jean Weiksner, Betsy Drenning, Betty Schott, Don Krushinski, Ruth Horning, Linda Laukaitis, Jean Fitzgerald, Sally Ingram, Martha Ann Newswanger, Doris Misselhorn, Doris Allebach, Michael Reilly, Hazel Greiner, Hilda Patschorke, Naomi Stauffer and Cheryl Paris.

More artists may be added before the show begins on Saturday, Spangle said.

For more information on the show or on Spangle's art classes, call 626-0087.

The Christian alternative rock band Jawbone Hill will be the featured band at The Mill Coffee House's triple-bill concert on Nov. 10 at Lancaster Evangelical Free Church.

Mill Coffee House

Planning for The Mill Coffee House has been done by 10 members of the Youth Group, as well as the group's three advisors.

"The mill is a cool building," Strayer said. "It will be a lot of fun to have it there." They even have a sign ready to hang outside The Mill promoting the coffee house—courtesy of the last Mill Coffee House.

He hopes that the coffee house will give local teens an entertaining social place to gather and have a good time.

"Right now the only thing in town is the Power Connection," Strayer said. "And Paul Castellitto (director of the Power Connection) told me he thinks this is a cool idea. The difference between the two is that we're trying to get more of the Christian music aspect."

He is hoping that the coffee house can attract at least 50 people or more each time to socialize and enjoy an evening of good music.

Strayer and the Youth Group are not planning The Mill Coffee House as a short-term thing.

"Hopefully it will keep going, and going and going," Strayer said.

For more information on the coffee house, call Chris at 627-8653.

Power Connection holds open house

What is there for teenagers to do these days?

The Power Connection Christian teen center opened last month as a safe haven for social and spiritual development—a place to hang out, a place to learn.

"We're averaging between 15 and 30 kids each night," said Power Connection Director Paul Castellitto.

This Saturday, Nov. 4, from 1 to 5 p.m., Castellitto and his staff will hold an open house for the community at the 2 W. Orange St. center.

"It's a chance to meet the director, board of directors and volunteers," Castellitto said. "It's a chance to look at our programming and resources."

Free refreshments will be available, donated by Oregon Dairy, Stauffers of Kissel Hill, Achenbach's and Wengert-Graybill Dairy.

Although the Power Connection has received some bad press in the past, Castellitto expects that visitors this Saturday will walk away with an understanding of how most of these teens want to be a positive part of the community.

"I think they're learning that life is about constantly proving themselves," Castellitto said, adding that he is impressed with the teen's desire to govern their activities at weekly meetings.

The non-profit Power Connection ministry is still working to raise funds to cover their $40,000 annual expenses.

Visitors are asked not to park on the Orange and Broad Street block that surrounds the church. Additional parking is available at the First Church of God, 33 E. Center St.

For more information on open house activities, call 627-4777.

BIA show features local contractors

The Building Industry Association of Lancaster County (BIA) held its 11th Annual Fall Home Show at Franklin & Marshall College's sports and fitness complex Oct. 6.

"This is the largest site available in Lancaster County to accommodate our needs," said Steven Edris, BIA president and event coordinator. "We estimated approximately 5,000 people came to the show." The event was previously held at Park City.

The BIA show featured 240 different booths from 130 contracting firms, including two area contractors.

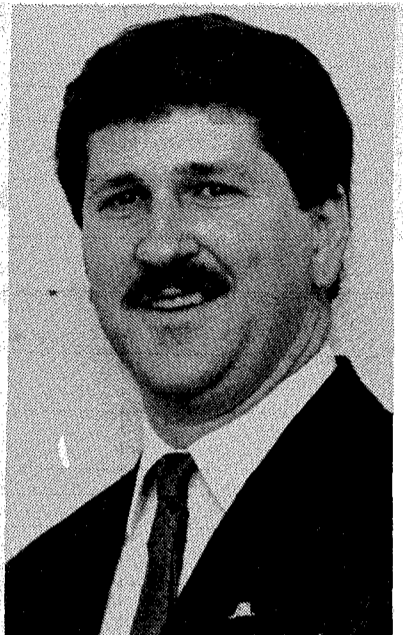

In addition to Edris' residential contracting, headquartered at 2470 Camp Road, Manheim; general contractor Steven B. Oberholtzer, 17 Landis Valley Road, Lititz, displayed his prize-winning projects in custom building, remodeling and restoration.

Oberholtzer recently won Best of Show, Best Bath, Kitchen, Interior and Exterior in the Lancaster County Parade of Homes for a custom home on 220 Owl Hill Road in Lititz.

According to Oberholtzer, "while the home show builds clientele for the contractors, it also provides an educational opportunity for home buyers," as they see up-close finished examples of every aspect of home building. From plumbing to electrical work, it was all under one roof at this year's Fall Home Show.

Edris added that a spring show is currently being planned for March 1996.

New agent heads State Farm office

Mark Hough is the new agent at the State Farm Insurance office at 50 S. Broad St., Lititz, effective Wednesday, Nov. 1.

Hough, a member of State Farm's first national Agency 2000 class, has been working out of the Pennsylvania regional office in Concordville for the past six months. Prior to that, he was an auto operations underwriting supervisor at State Farm's Westlake regional office in Westlake Village, Calif.

He began his State Farm career in 1987 as an auto underwriter at the company's corporate headquarters in Bloomington, Ill. A former resident of Lancaster, he received a bachelor's degree from Elmhurst College in 1985.

His wife, Sheila, who worked as a State Farm auto operations assistant for 17 years, is the office assistant in Lititz. Office manager is Delsey Barnhart, who has four years' agency experience. The Houghs and their children—Audrey, Jonathan and Amy—live at 9 Peach Drive, Lititz.

Fulton Corp. to merge with New Jersey bank

Fulton Financial Corp. of Lancaster and Gloucester County Bankshares, Inc. of Woodbury, N.J., signed a definitive agreement on Oct. 25 to merge through an approximately $32.8 million stock transaction.

Under the agreement, announced jointly by Fulton Financial president and chief executive officer Rufus A. Fulton, Jr. and Gloucester County Bankshares president and chief executive officer Warner A. Knobe, Gloucester County Bankshares will be merged into $3.3 billion Fulton Financial.

Gloucester County Bankshare's wholly-owned $192 million five-branch subsidiary, The Bank of Gloucester County, will become Fulton Financial's ninth banking affiliate.

The Bank of Gloucester County will retain its name and autonomy. Based on the Oct. 24 $21.75 closing Fulton Financial common stock bid price, each share of Gloucester County Bankshares common stock outstanding at the time of the merger will be exchanged for 1.555 shares of Fulton Financial stock with a dollar value of $33.82.

The exchange ratio will be adjusted if the Fulton Financial common stock closing bid price during a period designated in the merger agreement is between $20 and $22 per share, with 1.53 the floor for a share price of $22 or more and 1.73 the ceiling for a share price of $20 or less.

Gloucester County Bankshares has 970,279 shares of common stock outstanding.

In relation to Fulton Financial's closing bid price Oct. 24, the merger price is approximately 2.3 times Gloucester County Bankshares' Sept. 30 book value of $14.62 per share, and 11.93 times its estimated 1995 earnings of $2.75 million.

Lititz woman to advise Congress

Patricia Leoniak Coffman, president of Leoniak, Ltd., 409-411 N. Water St. in Lancaster, has been nominated by Representative Robert S. Walker to serve on the National Council of Women Advisors to Congress.

Coffman, who lives on Acorn Lane in Lititz, will participate in the Women Leaders Summit called by the Republican women members of Congress in Washington, D.C., on October 23 and 24.

The Women Leaders Summit is the first conference of women leaders from business, local and state government, and community organizations convened solely for the purpose of advising the U.S. Congress.

This Summit will consider some of the most important questions facing this country today and will formulate policy recommendations for Congress. The summit is the initial step in the establishment of an ongoing Council of Women Advisors to Congress. By convening a group of women leaders from various areas of the country as advisors, the Republican leadership hopes to begin tapping the experience, energy, and ingenuity this group of women uses every day to solve difficult problems.

A final report of the proceedings of the summit containing very specific recommendations will be prepared and presented to the Members of Congress. Key women leaders will discuss these findings in a meeting with the Republican leadership, who will in turn develop recommendations for legislation.

Participants in the summit will form the membership of the first Council of Women Advisors to Congress, will be briefed regularly on issues and survey data, and will provide recommendations to Congress on an ongoing basis.

New business women chapter includes Lititz

A new chapter of the American Business Women's Association is being formed by combining the Lititz Charter Chapter and the Graystone Charter Chapter.

Jane Deibler, 1981 national vice president of District IV, will be the keynote speaker. She has recently retired from Armstrong World Industries, Inc., and is currently an independent Mary Kay consultant.

Beverly Trimble, 1993 national vice president of District IV, will be the presiding officer for the combination ceremony on Wednesday, Nov. 15, at the Eden Resort Inn. She is the general administrative manager for Power-Draulics, Inc. and is very active in the Lancaster community, having served on several non-profit agency boards of directors.

The two chapters are combining to gain strength and increase membership to support the mission of ABWA:

"The mission of the American Business Women's Association is to bring together businesswomen of diverse occupations and to provide opportunities for them to help themselves and others grow personally and professionally through leadership, education, networking support, and national recognition."

The combination ceremony will begin with a networking period at 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 6:30. Officers of the newly formed chapter will be elected that evening and will be installed by presiding officer Trimble. A short business meeting will follow.

Current members of the new chapter reside in areas such as Lititz, Manheim, Mt. Joy, Columbia, Elizabethtown, Landisville, East Petersburg, Mountville and Lancaster.

However, membership is not limited to any geographic area and prospective members may join any of the eight chapters in the Lancaster county area.

Interested parties should contact Edythe Hicks at 626-2998.

True urges hearings on PECO/PP&L merger issue

With the talk of a possible takeover of PP&L by PECO, Rep. Katie True has called upon the Public Utility Commission (PUC) to investigate and conduct public hearings on the issue of threatened hostile takeovers in the state's electric utility industry.

"I am concerned about what effect such a merger would have on rates and services to PP&L customers," said True. "It's hard to say what effect this merger could have, especially if it takes the form of a hostile takeover."

True sponsored a resolution expressing the concern of the House of Representatives and asking the PUC to conduct a thorough investigation, including public hearings of the proposed merger.

"Good public policy calls for consideration of interests of all groups of people who may be affected by a takeover, including customers, suppliers, communities, employees, as well as shareowners," she said.

True noted that a strict anti-takeover statute was enacted by the state in 1988, and in 1990 an anti-takeover measure was enacted in the face of a hostile bid to take over a corporation located in the commonwealth.

"I expect the House will adopt this important resolution in October," True said.

Matches cause $10,000 damage to Lititz home

RICHARD REITZ

Record Express Editor

A fire at a Lititz home on Oct. 16 that caused an estimated $10,000 in damage was apparently started accidentally by a young boy who had been playing with matches.

The fire started in the home of Robert VanVooren, 117 Noble St., shortly before 3:45 p.m., according to Lititz Fire Chief Ron Oettel.

VanVooren leases the home from its owner, Lynwood Hyle.

Oettel said the fire started when VanVooren's stepson lit a match, blew it out and threw it on a pile of papers and clothing in his bedroom on the second floor of the house.

The boy left the room for a few minutes, and when he returned, he saw smoke and attempted to smother it with a sheet, Oettel said.

Prior to the arrival of firefighters, VanVooren attempted to put out the fire using a garden hose. Firefighters arrived at 3:51 p.m., and the fire was brought under control at 4:05 p.m.

No one was hurt in the blaze, but Oettel said firefighters helped rescue two of the family's 10-or-so cats who were still in the house when the fire broke out.

Lititz was assisted at the scene by Rothsville Fire Co., with Manheim Fire Co. on standby.

Lititz man finds fire while 'falling behind'

The end of daylight savings usually means one extra hour to sleep in on Sunday. For Jeff Hess, it helped save his life.

The annual turning back of the clock couldn't have come at a better time, as a late night Saturday kitchen fire in his brother's third floor apartment at 71 E. Main St. was reported by neighboring tenant Gregg Hershey, who was in his own kitchen resetting a clock.

"It was quick action and quick thinking on his (Gregg's) part," said Lititz Fire Chief Ron Oettel Jr., "and I'm confident to say that he saved a life."

According to Oettel, when Hershey went into his kitchen to change his clock, he heard a crackling noise and thought he smelled smoke. After a looking in the hallway, he called 911 on his cordless phone while knocking on doors to alert third floor occupants. Another third floor tenant, Ed Fox, alerted second floor residents.

Oettel, Assistant Chief Edward Hartman and Hartman's wife Teresa responded to the two-alarm fire at 11:20 p.m.

Upon arrival, Hartman and Lititz Police Officer Joel Hartz entered the structure above Nino's Pizza in search of the source of the blaze.

According to Oettel, Hershey told Hartman and Hartz that the fire could be coming from the Hess apartment, and that he thought someone was inside. As Hartman and Hartz were leaving the building to advise Oettel of the situation, Hartman heard a noise and saw Hess at the doorway.

Hartz and Hartman pulled him to the steps, and Hartman used a fireman's carry to get the unconscious victim outside. Teresa Hartman, a registered nurse, began emergency care at the scene. He was taken to Lancaster General Hospital, treated and released.

Firefighters had the blaze under control within 30 minutes, according to Oettel, but remained on scene for about three hours.

The cause of the fire was originally thought to be from an electrical receptacle where a microwave oven was plugged in. After reassessing burn patterns on Monday, Oettel said that the cause remains sketchy, but that it seems more likely to have been a result of something being cooked in the microwave itself.

Hess' apartment sustained smoke and water damage, but emergency personnel managed to contain fire damage to the kitchen. Total damage was estimated at $20,000 and Com-

Amish family escapes fire, but farmhouse destroyed

RICHARD REITZ

Record Express Editor

Fire destroyed an Amish farmer's home in Brunnerville on Oct. 25, causing an estimated $50,000 damage.

Brunnerville Fire Chief Ken Kline said the fire broke out at about 11:56 p.m. last Wednesday when a wood wall too close to a wood stove caught fire at the home of Sam Stoltzfus Jr., 1140 Brunnerville Road.

Kline said Stoltzfus first heard the fire and alerted his family to leave the house. He then went to a neighbor's house to use a phone to call firefighters, and when he returned the fire had progressed.

The fire was fueled by propane and other fuel located in the washhouse, which caught fire and caused the blaze to "really take off," Kline said.

More than 100 firefighters battled the blaze, finally bringing it under control at about 1:24 a.m.

Kline said they were able to save about $30,000 in property from the blaze, and the next day the Stoltzfus' razed the house and have begun to rebuild the property.

No one was hurt in the fire, although Kline said one firefighter was taken from the scene and treated for exhaustion.

Brunnerville Fire Co. was assisted by fire companies from Lititz, Rothsville, Brickerville, Neffsville, Penryn, Durlach-Mt. Airy, Manheim, and Warwick Ambulance.

The house was owned by Samuel Stoltzfus Sr. and occupied by his son, Samuel Stoltzfus Jr. and his wife Naomi and their children, Emma, Verna Mae, Lyda Ann, Mervin and Sadie May.

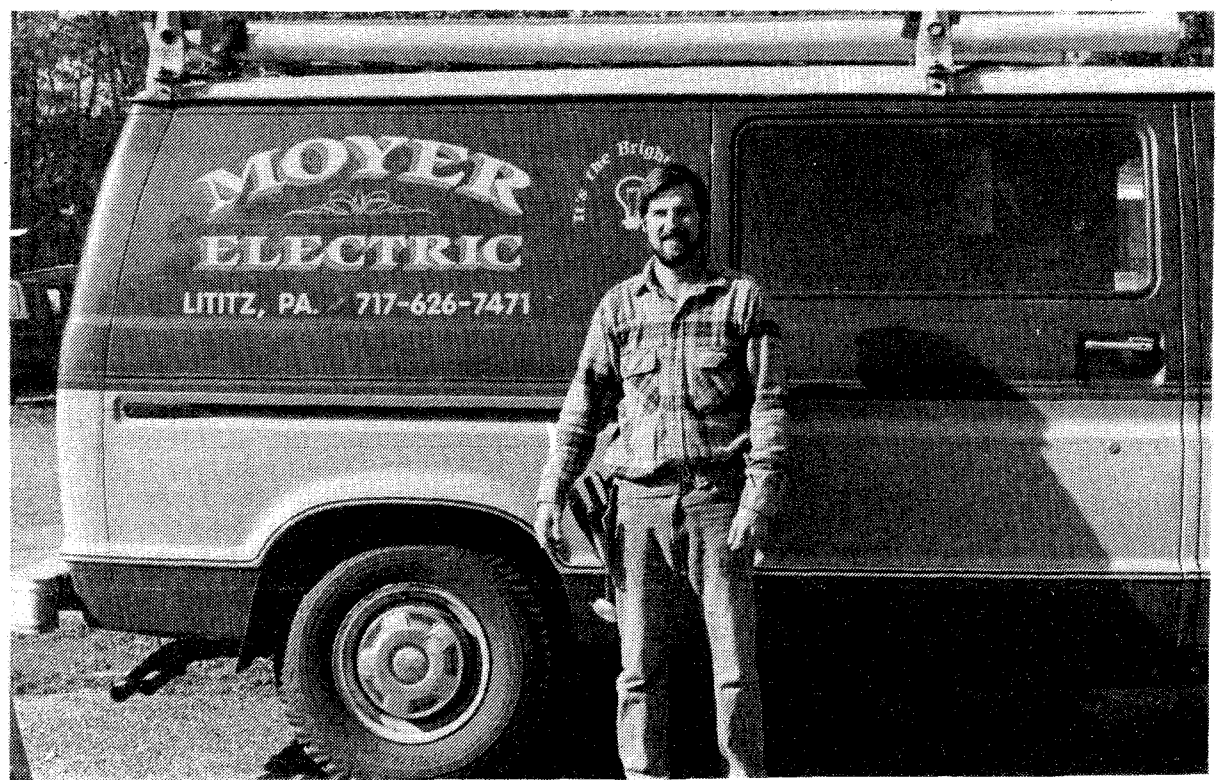

Brunnerville Road was closed during the incident, but since it occurred late at night, Kline said there were no problems with traffic.

Serving You Is Our Business

Cliff Moyer inherited the Moyer Electric business from his father Ken, who operated it before retiring in 1994.

Moyer Electric focuses on residential jobs

When it comes to doing electrical work, no job is too small for Moyer Electric.

In fact, the smaller residential jobs are mostly what owners Cliff and Deb Moyer do in the business.

They install ceiling fans, add receptacles, do new wiring in remodeling projects and new homes, outside lighting, and service upgrades.

The business handles some commercial maintenance, but that's only a small percentage of the work. "Our main focus is residential," Cliff said. "Anything residential, we do just about anything."

Added Deb: "There's a big gap in that where big companies don't want to do the smaller jobs, that's where we come in."

Partners in the business, Cliff does the hands-on work and Deb handles all the billing and bookkeeping.

They are currently offering a new thermostat deal, a wall unit known as "Lin-Stat," which can be installed for $45. The nice feature about this thermostat is that it's much more precise than others. There's only a margin of 3 degrees difference from where the customer has it set at to what the actual room temperature is.

Cliff and Deb inherited the business from Cliff's father Ken Moyer, who operated the business for 15 years before retiring in 1994.

The business had been located in Manheim, but when Cliff and Deb took over, they moved it to Lititz. They currently operate out of their home on Skylark Road.

The bulk of their customers are in Manheim and Lititz, having added a lot more in the Lititz area since relocating the business.

"You can see the swing because of the location of the business," Cliff said.

The goal of Moyer Electric is to provide their customers with quick service and to do a quality job. A lot of their work is repeat business, Cliff said.

"We try to offer good prices and quality work," he said. "If there's something which isn't right, we want the customer to be satisfied, that's the bottom line."

As a way of trying to stay in contact with people, the Moyers send out survey cards to new customers and they're in the process of putting out a newsletter.

"We try to be more personal with the customers, instead of just being a business," Cliff said. "We try to stay in close contact with our customers."

To contact Moyer Electric, call 626-7471.

As the crowd of about 200 packed into the station, they took a shot at several games of chance, tried their luck in a raffle, and witnessed the crowning of this year's Halloween Queen — Carla Roberts.

Carla, daughter of Jesse and Peggy Roberts, 8 Wade Drive, Lititz, was crowned by last year's queen, Rachel Millard, after answering questions prepared by the judges.

Each contestant was asked: Who would you like to have dinner with, living or dead, and what would you say? They were then each asked a question relating to their career interests.

Other contestants were Angie Franck, Carol Marks, Kara Shenk, Lindsay Texter, and Kelly Zug.

After all of the costumed marchers came inside, the best costumes were judged.

First place winner for best dressed was Hillary Shimp, followed by Jenny Cameron in second place.

Most comical was Nicholas Bock, with young Alexis Vidal placing second.

Most original costume was Meredith Bock, followed by second place to Jacqueline Schropshier. Ugliest costume was awarded to Larry Gassert.

In the small float category, first place went to Mel Harnly and his grandchildren, followed by a dinosaur float with Gaptiaelle Dooty and Dana and Jordan Zwally in second place, and the Wingert All-Star Team, with David Andrew and Ben Wingert and Mariwyn Light place third.

Large float top honors went to Lititz Cub Scout Pack 44, Den 3, followed by the Owl Hill Learning Center in second place, and Thoroughbred Development's Ma and Pa Kettle float finished third.

The parade was sponsored by the Rothsville Fire Company, the Rothsville Fire Company's Ladies Auxiliary, the Rothsville Fire Company Ambulance Corp., and the Warwick Township Lions Club.

Med Center

Hickes and Byers, physical therapists; Dr. John T. Gotwalt, dentist; Rothsville Diagnostic Imaging Center; Industrial Health Options; Jill Mallios, Massage for Wellness; Barbara Crouse-Moore, MS family therapist; John Weigel, MS clinical psychologist; Ann Watson, registered dietician; and Dr. Barbara Busco, psychologist.

Other health care professionals will use the facility on a part-time basis, including May/Grant Associates, obstetrics and gynecology; Lancaster Digestive Disease Consultants; and Dr. Barry Zadeh, cardiothoracic surgery.

There is still one more office available on the second floor, Weida said, and they are looking into brining urology, surgery and orthopedics to the center.

Weida hopes the facility will make health care more convenient, and as a result, more preventative.

Preventative medicine is the primary focus of the Rothsville Medical Center. "We like to try and pick things up early," he said. "That is the future of medicine, helping to keep people healthy" and catching a problem before it starts or progresses.

Although there has been some banging and moving around caused by the construction this summer, Weida said it never caused any major inconveniences, and they didn't have to close a single day during that time.

The building has been expanded by 19,300 square feet, and has allowed for an enlargement of the waiting room, reception area, and addition of a conference room that will be available for use by community support groups, Weida said.

Health Fair

Preventative medicine is the focus of the Health Fair, and a week of specialized seminars will be held, culminating with the community-wide Grand Opening Health Fair on Sunday, Nov. 12 from 1-5 p.m.

The day's events include a comedic view to healthcare by guest speaker Mary McBride, author of "Take This Book and Call Me in the Morning" and a former comedy writer for Phyllis Diller and Joan Rivers.

McBride will discuss "Humor — A Healing Strategy" at 2 p.m.

Throughout the day there will be free health screenings including glaucoma, hemocults/cholesterol, body fat analysis, blood pressure and genetic emphysema blood testing. All screening is free, but anyone interested in the genetic emphysema test should call 627-5130 to pre-register.

Weida said the Health Fair has been well attended in the past, but hopes for an even larger crowd, possibly 2,000 people, this year with the open house and additional health care professionals involved.

Election

1990-93, a member of the Lancaster Airport Authority, and a board member of the Community Service of Organized Labor.

•Herr, 59, from Holtwood, is a Libertarian and investor. His previous experience includes volunteer work and investment locally and internationally.

•Kauffman, 44, 50 Tannery Road, Reinholds, is a Republican and currently a Lancaster County Commissioner.

In addition to serving as commissioner vice chairman since 1992, he is also a member of the Reinholds Lions Club, a former West Cocalico Township Planning Commissioner, and a former member of the West Cocalico Township Zoning Hearing Board.

•Nice, 41, 421 N. Mary St., Lancaster, is a Democrat and a legislative aide for State Rep. Michael Sturla. Previous experience includes administrative coordinator for State Treasurer Catherine Baker Knoll in 1990, Boy's Club/Girl's Club board of directors since 1994, and advisory board member for the Lancaster Shelter for Abused Women.

•Thibault, 47, 1012 Wheatland Ave., Lancaster Township, is a Republican and has served as Lancaster County treasurer since 1988.

His other experience includes serving as a member of Rick Santorum for Senate County Committee, chairman of the Sacred Heart Church Lenten Appeal, and county coordinator for the Bill Scranton gubernatorial campaign in 1986.

Another contested countywide race is for judge on the Lancaster County Court of Common Pleas. On the ballot are: Louis J. Farina, 52, of Lancaster, incumbent; and Michael A. Georgelis, 56, of Landisville, judge.

The following county offices are uncontested on Tuesday's ballot: Clerk of Courts — Diana L. Thompson, 55, of Lancaster, incumbent; Coroner — Barry D. Walp of Lancaster, incumbent; District Attorney — Joseph Madenspacher, 49, of Lancaster, incumbent; Prothonotary — Robert H. Getz Jr., 57, of Denver; Register of Wills — C. Thomas Walker, 53, of Lititz, incumbent; Sheriff — Philip E. Bomberger III, 58, of Lancaster; and Treasurer — Greg Sald, 43, of Lancaster.

State Judges

In the race for justice of the supreme court, voters will choose two judges from a field of four. They are: Sandra Schultz Newman, 57, of Gladwyne, Republican; Michael J. Barrasse, 39, of Moosic, Republican; John L. Musmanno, 53, of Pittsburgh, Democrat; and Russell M. Nigro, 49, of Philadelphia.

Two candidates are running for judge of the superior court. They are: Mike Eakin, 46, of Mechanicsburg, Republican; and Jon Pushinsky, 41, of Pittsburgh, Democrat.

Two candidates are running for judge of Commonwealth Court. They are: Robert Graci, 43, of Camp Hill, Republican; and Jim Flaherty, 64, of Pittsburgh, Democrat.

Warwick School Board

There are five candidates on the ballot for Warwick School Board and five openings: Wallace Hofferth, 212 E. Second Ave., incumbent; William Flickinger, 17 Longenecker Road, incumbent; Cathryn Ketterman, 722 Buckwood Lane; Warren Newberry, 444 Springfield Court; Cynthia Scibal, 470 Snavely Mill Road; and Larry Gemmell, 413 Woodcrest Ave.

All will appear on the Republican ballot and Newberry, who cross-filed, will appear on the Democratic ballot as well.

Municipal Races

Most of the municipal races locally are uncontested.

Three candidates are vying for three positions on Lititz Borough Council, all Republicans. They are: Ruth Fry-McKennon, 507 E. Main St., incumbent, first ward; G. Kevin Zartman, 371 N. Broad St., incumbent, second ward; and Dennis Stuckey, 216 Oxford Drive, incumbent, third ward.

In Warwick Township, only one candidate is on the ballot for supervisor — Crawford Kauffman, 150 Brian Hill Road.

In Elizabeth Township, Rodney May, 200 Hershey Road, is the only candidate for supervisor. Also running in uncontested races are Scott

Kopp, 199 Joyce Drive, for a six-year auditor term; and Deryl Hurst, 366 Evans Road, for a two-year auditor term.

Game News

He started oil painting in 1971 and slowly worked toward making a career out of it — amounting to a 20-year struggle.

"I graduated from Warwick in 1969 and decided that I didn't want art to slip by," Leed said.

For 17 years he satisfied his creative yearning by painting "on the side" while working at Long and Bomberger's hardware store in Lititz. He started specializing in wildlife around 1977.

"I decided that a lot of people could paint buildings and barns better than I could, but that I could probably do a better bird," he said.

According to Leed, hunters provide a large part of his clientele, and in Pennsylvania, "that's a pretty good market," he added.

Still, Leed attests that the road to success in wildlife art is sometimes "for the birds," remembering times when he wasn't sure where the next paycheck was coming from...or if it was coming at all.

"Wildlife art seems to appeal to the common man, unfortunately the common man doesn't have a lot of money," he said.

His luck changed in 1991 when his print of rose-breasted cockatoos made the cover of Bird World magazine.

"It was exciting, after all Bird World was a national magazine," Leed said.

Although he did not get paid for his cockatoos, a confidence in his ability to make a living at painting animals was born.

In 1992 he took second place in a neo-tropical songbird competition in New Hampshire, which had entries from all over the United States.

The following year, his "Winter

Stephen Leed

Birds" painting quickly became one of the most popular prints the Game Commission ever ran with, as it sold out in three months. Based Leed's popularity, the Game Commission hired him to do a series of Pennsylvania birds for all four seasons. His work in progress, "Spring Birds," will be available from the Game Commission in May of 1996.

Now, when Leed is not busy winning wildlife contests, he can be spotted at local art shows.

"Gray Checked Parakeets" placed third at this year's Lititz Outdoor Art Show, which he attends every summer.

He also participates in the Middle Creek Wildlife Art Show during the first weekend of August, and the Blue Marsh Wildlife Art Show at the Berks County 4-H Center on Oct. 21 and 22.

In the past five years, Leed has found that he can make a living doing what he loves.

"One customer at Long and Bomberger told me I'd be back in six months, and that was almost five years ago," Leed said. "Art has been a part of my life since I was a kid, so it might as well stay that way."

Leed's peregrine falcons can be seen on the cover of November's 1995 Pennsylvania Game News. Prints will be available in time for Christmas at Kowerski Art Gallery on North Broad Street in Lititz.

Auto Auction

Jim Henke, Retew Associates, said that currently the majority of the two properties is zoned agricultural. He said that 13 1/2 acres of the Risser property are zoned highway commercial.

According to Township Solicitor Bill Crosswell, in 1994 the auction petitioned that the properties be zoned highway commercial. He said that the township did not want to do that.

"We were trying to come up with a way to help the Auto Auction and protect the land use in the township," said Crosswell. According to Crosswell, it was for that reason that a proposal was made to come up with new zoning, limited commercial.

Crosswell said that under limited commercial zoning, the auction would have a few uses as a matter of right. Any other use would have to be approved as a conditional use, which would need separate hearings.

Robert Youtz, who lives near the auction, opposed the plan to expand. Youtz said that he thinks that the township needs to preserve the existing farmland.

"Once it's gone, it's gone," said Youtz. "What's more important, the auction or the farms? If we don't have the farms, we don't have food."

Martin Nolt and his son Dale both agreed that there is too much traffic in the area already. Martin wanted to know if there was any restriction on the number of cars the auction can accumulate.

"I'm not against the auction, but when will they be big enough?"

According to Supervisor President Daryl Lefever, the auction's plan would reduce the traffic.

"Traffic would be reduced because of the elimination of trips and fewer number of vehicles travelling from the satellite areas," said Lefever.

Another resident, John Mitchell, said that although the auction does a fine job, he wishes that there was a curfew on the noise level.

"I wish they had a loading curfew," he said. "I don't appreciate hearing flats hitting the pavement at 2 a.m."

A final decision will be made Thursday, Nov. 2 at a public meeting. Hess is hoping that the amendments are approved.

Boys can still join Scouts

Hundreds of boys joined Scouting at local School Night for Scouting programs in September. Specifically aimed at boys in first through fifth grade, the fall membership recruitment program continues to attract families who respect Scouting values and methods for developing youth.

Those who missed orientation and registration programs in September can still get involved by contacting the Cubmaster of any pack in the Warwick school district.

In Brickerville, call Elaine Swords at 627-0861 to join Pack 322 which meets at the Brickerville Fire Hall.

Families living in Brunnerville can call Barry Todd at 626-1314 or Dave Murphy at 626-0241 to join Pack 156 which meets at Brunner-ville Fire Hall.

Rothsville residents call Ray Bowman at 626-8906 to join Pack 27 which meets at Salem United Methodist Church.

Families living in Lititz have a choice of packs available to them. To join Pack 154 which meets at Salem Lutheran Church of Kissel Hill, call Kevin Geissinger at 665-7934. To join the new pack being organized at Lititz United Methodist Church on Market Street, call Dave Obetz at 626-2630.

Families interested in starting a pack at St. James RC Church on Woodcrest Avenue or reorganizing Pack 42 at the Moravian Church may call Bruce Coleman at 859-5802. Pack 44 at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church is not accepting new members at the present time.

Boys in first grade may join Tiger Cubs, B.S.A. Those in second and third grade may join Cub Scouts.

Travelogue to take journey on Alaskan adventure road

On Saturday, Nov. 4, the Rotary Club of Lititz will present its second program of the Travel and Adventure Film Series at the Warwick High School Auditorium, West Orange Street, Lititz, at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The afternoon travelogue will be preceded by entertainment provided by the AARP Chapter 530 Chorus. Season and general admission tickets will be available at the door.

In 1941 a Japanese attack on Alaska seemed imminent. The Canadian and American Governments felt compelled to build an emergency highway to Alaska in the summer of 1942. Rare film footage from that year allows us to witness that struggle ripping out a ribbon of road from some of the wildest forests on the North American continent.

We join men and machines as they bulldoze and grade the earth to create a 1,500 mile highway in eight months, due to the urgency of World War II happenings in Europe and Pearl Harbor. The film includes the voice of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The highway opened to the public in 1949, saw its share of strange sights in the 1950's. We share in the nostalgia of those early civilian adventures, an early hunting expedition with packhorses, campfires and exquisite vistas, washed out sections and delays, and unique and humorous methods to protect the ever shifting roadbed.

Now paved and much straighter, the Alcan Highway still provides adventure to those seeking the northern wilderness of Western Canada and Alaska.

Starting at Mile Zero and Dawson Creek, we begin our journey meeting some of the highway neighbors, loggers, stone sheep, shy porcupine, water fowl and fox, amid ever changing scenes and seasons. We stop to observe the miracle of a gigantic log house being erected in one day.

Crossing the border, the wonders of Alaska too, open to us along the highway. Life here in the mountains and valleys includes the romping baby sheep showing their joy of new life on the hillsides, mating antics of rival male ducks and buffalo.

The journey ends at milepost 1,500 in Fairbanks. We visit one of the state's most modern cities.

Lititz students to perform in LMTA recital

On Sunday, Nov. 12, at 3 p.m., Lancaster Music Teachers Association will present a diverse program at Wersi Keyboard Systems, 1720 Hempstead Road, Lancaster. It will feature clarinet and piano students from Lancaster city and county and Chester county. Students from Manheim include Jeremy Yoder, Jonathan Yoder, Tyanna Snyder, Adam Martin, Julie Tiff, piano; and from Lititz include Michael Miller, Angessa Hughmanick and Christalena Hughmanick, piano. Carolyn Zahner Englert will be performing the "Rondo" from the "Clarinet Concerto in A Major, K. 622" by Mozart. Other teachers represented are Jonathan T. Brown, Lancaster; Betty Feruzza, Lancaster; Loine Bert, Mountville; and Sandy Burkholder, Ephrata.

The recital is free and open to the public. Come and enjoy some of the finest students in the area.

For more information, contact Linda Krick at 738-1910.

LCC offers defense clinic

The Lititz Community Center will offer a self-defense clinic on Monday, Nov. 13 at 8 p.m.

The clinic will be conducted by Kerry Good and Joel Hartz of the Lititz Borough Police. They will be addressing such issues as how to prevent an attack, safety techniques and what to do in the event of an attack.

This is a great opportunity for people of all ages to learn how to protect themselves. Men and women are encouraged to attend.

The cost of the program will be $20 for members and $30 for non-members. For more information call Robin at 626-5096.

Sandy Mortimer

The adventure road to Alaska is both a monument to the men who built it in such a short time span, and to those who travel it today.

Sandy Mortimer, as a flight attendant and consultant for American Airlines, has traveled extensively. Since 1983 she has been a full-time copywriter and producer for television and radio productions, as well as numerous film, video, and audio/visual programs. Sandy's work is filled with human interest and drama.

Artists join Gypsy Hill

Gypsy Hill Gallery is pleased to announce two new additions to the group of 60 fine artists and craftspeople: Michael La Marche, sculptor; and Marcia Egan, a paper artist, both from Enola.

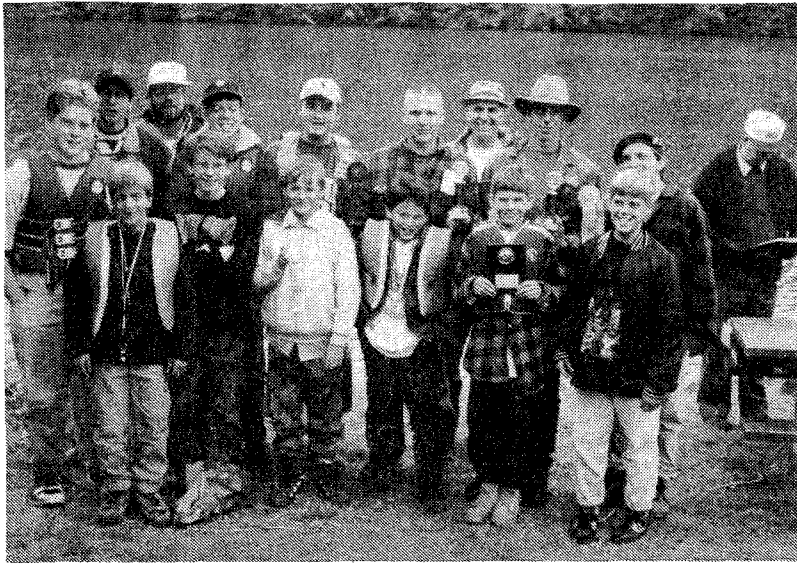

La Marche has been sculpting for nine years and enjoys doing people the most.

In addition, his wizards are mysterious and magical while his other pieces all tell a story.

Egan has been doing some highly detailed scissor-cutting over the years and has recently become intrigued by small shadow-box miniatures. She creates each design element out of tiny pieces of paper with the largest scene being no bigger than two inches by two inches.

La Marche and Egan's work, as well as that of 60 other fine artists and craftspeople, is available at Gypsy Hill Gallery, located at 49 N. Broad St. (across from Wilbur Chocolate Co.), in Lititz. The gallery is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

For more information, please call the gallery at 626-8141.

Boy Scouts in Lititz Troop 89 took home several awards at Speedwell Forge during Canoe Rally Day on Sept. 23.

Troop 89 win canoeing awards

Boy Scouts in Lititz Troop 89 enjoyed a day at Speedwell Forge during Canoe Rally Day on Sept. 23, with several of the boys matching their skills in competitions, learning about canoeing, and winning awards.

In the two-mile marathon, first place went to the Troop's team of Bob Bowersox and Clint Furlow. The pair also took second place in the 500 meter sprint.

In canoe orienteering, Troop 89 captured first place with the team of Bowersox and Shawn Miller, followed in third place by Chad Eichfeld and Joe Gura.

Trophies and plaques were awarded for the top three times in each event.

Instructors were Scoutmaster Bob Lowe, and assistants Dennis Palm and Jim Bowersox.

Hay, that looks like fun!

For many years, neighbors and friends have enjoyed a relaxing and fun hayride at John Burkholder's farm along Green Acre Road in Lititz. Burkholder has made it an annual tradition at this time of year to hitch the wagon to his tractor and give young and old alike a ride. This photo shows some of the riders in October getting ready for a journey with Burkholder (pictured fifth from the right), and everyone who participated thank the farmer for his hospitality and years of providing this fun treat to the community.

Manheim Halloween parade draws mix of frightening and fun figures

STEPHEN SEEBER
Record Express Staff

The streets of Manheim trembled with vibes of horror last Thursday night as the ghastliest of characters emerged from the woodwork for the borough's annual Halloween parade.

Fortunately, a supporting cast of friendly and familiar characters set a comfortable equilibrium between the fright and fun.

The autumn classic, hosted by the Manheim Fire Company, once again managed to provide safe entertainment during a holiday notorious for "tricks" as well as "treats."

Behind a convoy of fire trucks and emergency vehicles, costumed locals ranging from ghouls to the Grim Reaper and Power Rangers to Pocahontas filed down the roadway as the rest of the community lined sidewalks for a glimpse of the masked marchers.

Organizers divided the parade into five groups:

- Division one consisted of young baton groups and youth marchers ages one through five.

- Division two featured school-age children six to 12.

- Division three was made up of adult marchers (ages 13 and up) and small floats, including small wagons and carts.

- In division four, small groups of three to five people took to the streets.

- Group five comprised packs of six or more people, large floats, bicycles and horses.

Brandon and Breann Shearer managed to milk their cuteness, cruising along Main Street in two-seater wagon dressed as twin domestic bovines.

Josh Pinkerton, 11, showed that he could use his noggin by posing as a decapitated man with enough stamina to carry his own head. He credited his father David with the costume's design.

With a nip of social commentary, Abby and Rebecca Sauder strolled together as the old man and woman married for 85 years. They both claimed to have been happy for three of those years.

Other notable costumes included Tyler Nelson, 6, as the flag-toting Union soldier; and T.J. and Emily Ahnert, age 6 and 4 respectively, were the wide-smiling midget Amish barn buddies.

The evening's span of creative costumes fueled plenty of laughter and wowing from another happy Halloween crowd in the borough.

Accompanying the night walkers were fire engines and ambulances from Manheim and Mastersonville, as well as the Manheim Central Junior and Senior High School bands.

Paraders toured Main to Stiegel Street, on to Charlotte, north to Gramby Street, and then back to the firehouse.

Afterward, fire company volunteers held a cake walk and peanut scramble. Parade organizer Joe Smith said that a list of contest winners from the event was unavailable.

Photos by Stephen Seeber

Brandon (front) and his sister Breann demonstrate that cows aren't dummies, why walk when you can use udder transportation? The dairy duo rolled down Main Street Manheim during last week's Halloween parade in the comforts of their wagon.

Three Boro Council seats sought in Nov. 7 election

Three seats on Manheim's Borough Council are up for grabs, one in the first ward and two in the second, but five candidates are vying to fill the positions.

One-term incumbent Republican Jerry L. Stehman, 75 N. Fulton St., will face off with Democrat William Stahler, 179 Hart St., on Election Day, Nov. 7.

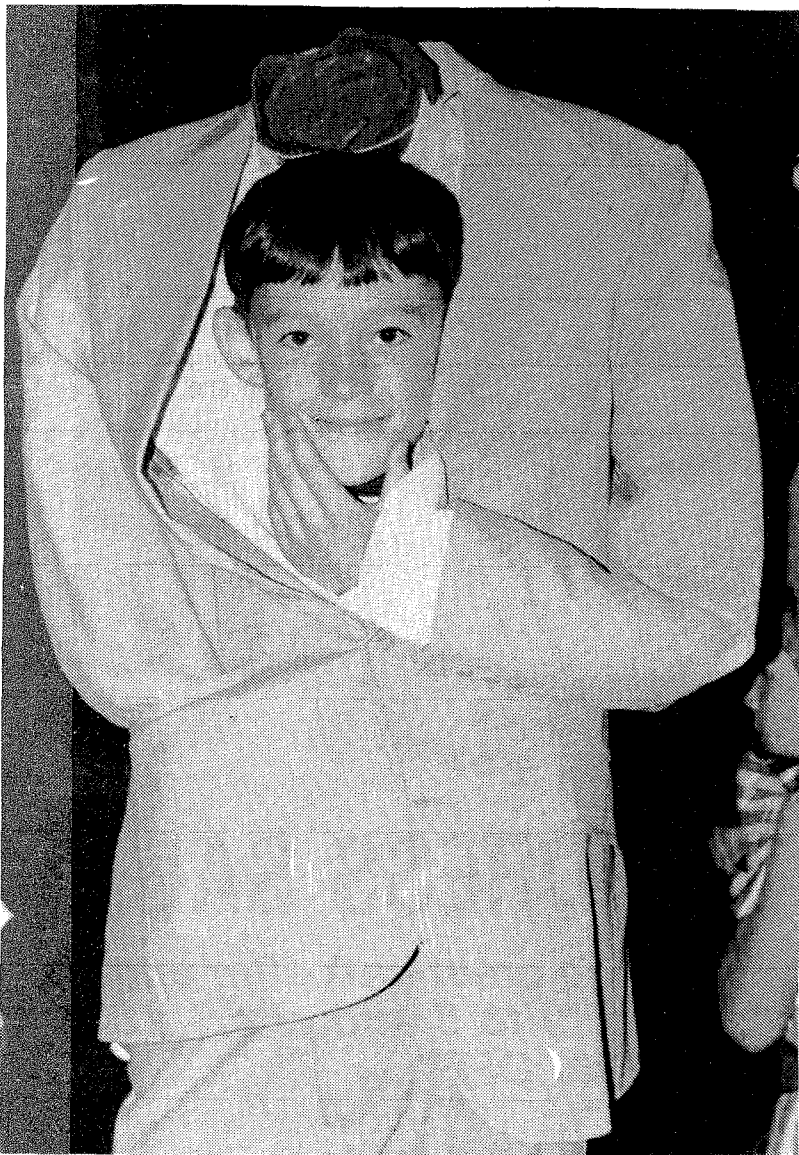

Meanwhile, second precinct Republican incumbent and current Council president Thomas M. Showers, of 46 S. Penn St., seeks a second four-year term in one of two openings. Republican Matthew E. Parido, 63 Crescent Drive, and Democrat Teresa M. Eshleman, 43 Crescent Drive, are also seeking a second ward seat. Republican Clarence R. Roth, was defeated in the May primary race.

Women hold celebration of children

Women throughout the Manheim area will gather at the Brethren in Christ Church, North Penryn Road, on Saturday, Nov. 4, for the annual observance of World Community Day, sponsored by Church Women United of Manheim.

The service at 8 a.m. will be followed by a light breakfast. The theme, "Preserving the Fruits of God's Labor," is a celebration of children. The speaker will be Violet Geib who was recently honored as teacher of the year.

For breakfast reservations call Eva Mae Bentzel at 665-2934.

Josh Pinkerton, 11, of Manheim, literally heads on down the road during last Thursday's Fire Company Halloween parade.

Penryn Breakfast Buffet

Saturday, Nov. 4 is the date of the next breakfast buffet which is sponsored by the Penryn Fire Company Auxiliary members.

The breakfast is held at the Old Penryn Fire Hall, which is located on Newport Road in the village of Penryn. Breakfast hours are 6 to 11 a.m.

There is ample, easy parking. To enter the building please use the lower level of the fire hall. If you have a problem with steps, please use the Newport Road street entrance.

The breakfast cost is $4, and for a minimal cost you can enjoy an old-fashioned, country-style farm breakfast. Eat yourself full of the good foods prepared by auxiliary members and leave the dirty dishes and clean-up to auxiliary members. Direct questions to the president of the auxiliary, Elida Rhodes.

With the holidays rapidly approaching, consider giving a gift certificate to a friend or loved one so they may enjoy a breakfast. The certificate will be honored year around. To do so, contact the treasurer, Dorothy Galebach.

If you need a hall for an upcoming activity, contact either Richard or Lorraine Wike of Penryn for fire hall rental details.

Penryn Holiday Bazaar

Penryn Jerusalem UCC is holding a Holiday Bazaar on Saturday, Nov. 18 in the church fellowship hall (lower level of building). Hours are 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. Lunch will be served starting 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

The menu includes individual corn pies, sandwiches and soup. For browsing and buying you will see plants, crafts, baked goods, rummage and Santa's Workshop.

June Kopp is the bazaar coordinator, and the church is located at 1620 Newport Road.

of Pennsylvania, is subject to approval by bank regulatory authorities and Gloucester County Bankshares shareholders and should close during the second quarter of 1996.

"This merger continues Fulton Financial Corp.'s well-established philosophy of moving into high-growth areas and buying high-performance banks with good asset quality," Fulton said.

Fulton added that the Gloucester merger would not dilute Fulton Financial's earnings per share.

"We're excited about our affiliation with Fulton Financial because it allows The Bank of Gloucester County to keep its autonomy and remain the leading locally-run bank in the market," said Knob. "Yet at the same time, with Fulton Financial behind us, we'll now be able to offer to our customers the products, services and lending capabilities of a large regional bank."

Thompson BankWatch recently recognized the safety and soundness of Fulton Financial and its banks with an "A/B" rating, ranking the company among the three highest-rated commercial bank holding companies in Pennsylvania.

The corporation's $1.6 billion Lancaster-based flagship, Fulton Bank, was ranked in the July, 1995 issue of the American Bankers Association "Banking Journal" as the 17th best in the country in terms of its five-year average return on assets (ROA) of 1.53, a key industry measurement of a bank's profitability.

Fulton Bank was also named the "best bank in Pennsylvania" in the June, 1995 issue of "Money" magazine.

Once the merger is completed, Fulton Financial will have assets of approximately $3.5 billion and operate 109 banking offices in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and New Jersey through nine affiliates.

Manheim students discover theatre

The students in grades kindergarten through third at H.C. Burgard Elementary had a special day of their own while the intermediate students were at the Pennsylvania Renaissance Fair on Oct. 6.

The entire day centered around live theater.

In the morning, all of the students were enchanted by a Lancaster Opera Company presentation, excerpts from "Hansel and Gretel." The students were involved in a variety of sessions hosted by individuals and groups. The students had the opportunity to create a puppet of their own to take home with them at the end of the day.

The day concluded with an exciting, live performance by Co-motion. This company is comprised of two women who create theater by using thoughts and suggestions from the audience.

Students could pack a lunch or purchase the school lunch on that day. There were no special requirements as to attire for the day; however, the students were to dress comfortably and casually. They were participating in movement activities and were using a variety of things (glue, marker, paint) to create the puppets.

Co-motion created live theater on-the-spot for audiences using the ideas and suggestions from them.

Terri Mastrobuono is a talented mime and shared her skill with the students. She performed in the afternoon as a part of Co-motion.

Craig Davis from Lititz's First Stage Theatre improvises with H.C. Burgard students during the school's Live Theatre Day Oct. 6.

Manheim Boro's potter tradition remembered

From left, Manheim Red Rose Lioness Pat Houck, Janet Bigler and Katharine Olson of the Manheim Historical Society, and Lioness Janet Rathman take part in the recent presentation of the 1994 redware bowl (#300/300) and the 1995 redware chamberstick (#300/300). The Lioness Club presented the items, which are second and third in a series of five pieces, to the historical society. The pieces were produced in commemoration of Manheim's early potters.

Area historians tune in for music box program

The Manheim Historical Society will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Nov. 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the Manheim Historical Railroad Station, 210 S. Charlotte St.

This program will be on "A Collection of Music Boxes" by Janet B. Bigler and Katherine Olson.

This collection began in 1950 when Bigler received her first music box from Olson while recovering from a car accident. The combined interest in music boxes continued over the years. Most recently, with the death of Olson's sister, the collection has increased with a count of 25 to 30 boxes of all different models.

Bigler was born and raised in East Petersburg, moved to Manheim in 1956 and retired from Binkley and Ober Inc. She also has been vice president of the Manheim Historical Society for several years, and will be the speaker.

The public is invited to come and hear the history of music boxes, see the many models and hear the music. A social time will follow the program. There is ample parking.

True addresses Capitol rally of Breast Cancer Coalition

Rep. Katie True (R-Lancaster) addressed a rally at the state Capitol as part of the first annual Keystone Breast Cancer Conference on Oct. 17. True joined First Lady Michele Ridge and Speaker of the House Matthew J. Ryan in support of the conference.

Emphasizing the importance of cancer research, True noted the recent introduction of her bill to provide a cancer research check-off on state tax forms.

"I received overwhelming bipartisan support of House members for this legislation to create a new state income tax check-off," said True.

"The check-off will allow Pennsylvanians to contribute any amount desired to breast and cervical cancer research."

She said House Bill 2082, which has the support of House leadership, will allow donations for breast cancer research to be deducted from the tax refunds of those who so desire.

True called upon participants supporting the Keystone Breast Cancer Conference and the Pennsylvania Breast Cancer Coalition to support her legislation.

"We need to join forces and support research of this devastating disease for all those women who lost the fight and for all those fighting the battle right now," she said. "Breast cancer strikes one in eight women and is the number one killer of women my age. That's the bad news. The good news is that when breast cancer is detected early, it is 90 percent curable."

"I am blessed with a large and loving family. It is for my husband, Peter, and our six sons and the women they married and someday will marry that I join the fight against breast cancer. It is for other relatives and friends, those who have never had it, but someday may get it; some who have had it and beat it; and, sadly, some who lost the battle," said True.

"I fight for the women who suffered mental anguish and physical pain when they lost their breasts, for the women who endured major surgical procedures, chemotherapy and radiology, and the women who are victims of this dreaded disease."

Umberger is from Cricket's School of Performing Arts, a local group which provides dance instruction for children.

Cory Wanamaker, art teacher, had older students create some sets for the afternoon production of Co-motion.

Jean Witner, kindergarten teacher, demonstrated how make-up plays an important role in character development.

Sara Mangus, vocal music teacher, provided students with insight into how musical scores aid in live theater.

Everyone at H.C. Burgard Elementary had a great day.

Manheim post brings Old Glory to wastewater plant

On Sept. 29, the Manheim VFW and Ladies Auxiliary Post 5956 presented a 4'x6' US flag to the Manheim Wastewater Treatment Facility.

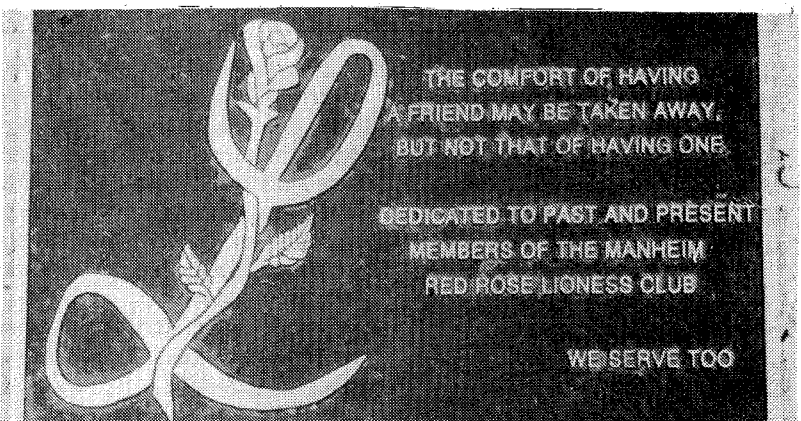

The presentation was made by Anna Mary Peters, president and Americanism chairman; assisted by Cyrus R. Peters, judge advocate and Americanism chairman; Ruth Gutshall, assistant conductress; Catherine Beers, sr. vice president and community activities chairman; and Louise Gerhart, patriotic instructor.

Accepting the flag for the facility were Wastewater Superintendent, Barry A. Bracken, Leroy Auranndt, Wastewater Operator and Manheim Borough Manager, James Williams.

This flag was given under the Americanism program of the National, Department of Pa., District 9 and Lancaster County Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary.

Lioness Club plaque honors past and present members

The Manheim Red Rose Lioness Club has placed a brass plaque at the foot of a tree at Manheim Central School District's Baron which reads, "The comfort of having a friend may be taken away, but not that of having one. Dedicated to past and present members of the Manheim Red Rose Lioness Club. We serve, too." Participating committee members were Chairman Pat Houck, Utha Webb and Josie Lewis.

Renters Need Insurance, Too!

Just because you don't own your own home, doesn't mean you can't suffer a loss of your personal property due to fire, vandalism or theft.

Yet unfortunately, many apartment dwellers don't realize until it's too late, that they need similar protection to a homeowner's plan.

Perhaps they also don't realize how inexpensive renter's insurance actually is.

Man slightly hurt in crash

A Millersville man suffered minor injuries in an accident at the intersection of West Newport Road and Lexington Road on Oct. 20 at about 4:50 p.m.

Warwick Township police said Andrew A. Mazzur, 34, of Millersville was traveling northwest along West Newport Road and approaching the intersection of Lexington Road, while Jasper N. Clinton, 81, of the 1300 block of Furnace Hill Pike, Lititz, was stopped while travelling east on Lexington Road.

Police said Clinton began crossing the intersection just as Mazzur approached, and both were unable to avoid a collision. Clinton struck Mazzur on the left side, causing Mazzur's vehicle to strike an embankment and flip, rolling over on his roof before coming to a rest.

Mazzur was treated for minor injuries to his arm at the scene. Clinton was not hurt.

Mazzur's 1985 Plymouth suffered severe damage and had to be towed from the scene. Clinton's 1981 Chevrolet Citation suffered moderate damage and was driven from the scene.

Clinton was cited by Warwick police for a stop sign violation.

Mailbox damage reported again in Warwick Twp.

Three Warwick Township residents reported damage to their mailboxes on Oct. 21.

Police said Gary Meckley, 100 block of Sierra Drive, Carl Brandt, 700 block of Snyder Hill Road, and Kenneth Mikolic, first block of Farm Lane, reported that sometime that night their mailboxes were damaged.

Meckley's mailbox door and flag were damaged, as well as an outdoor light fixture and three light bulbs. Damage is estimated at $50.

Brandt's mailbox was struck by an unknown object, causing $25 in damage. Mikolic's mailbox sustained $20 in damage.

Anyone with information concerning these incidents should call Warwick police at 626-8882.

BB damage in Twp. reported

A window was damaged by a BB pellet along the 900 block of Lincoln Road recently.

Warwick Township police said Richard Shay, 59, reported that sometime over the past several days someone shot a window in the front of his house with a BB gun. The pellet went through the storm window screen and broke the interior window as well.

Damage is estimated at $125.

Anyone with information concerning the damaged windows should call Warwick police at 626-8882.

Police Log

Lititz boro reports two recent traffic accidents

Oct. 18: Police said a tractor trailer operated by Michael Grim, 37, of Vignia, collided with a vehicle operated by Ken Borchers, 72, of Lititz, at the intersection of South Broad and Sixth Street around 10:20 a.m.

Several Warwick thefts reported

Several thefts in Warwick Township have been reported to police recently.

•Ginger Gardner, 27, of the 2100 block of Main Street, reported on Oct. 11 that her Kenmore washer and dryer were stolen from her boyfriend's residence along the 800 block of Disston View Drive within the past few weeks.

An investigation is continuing. •Kirk Hornberger, 41, of the 2100 block of Main Street, reported that between 10:30-12:30 a.m. on Oct. 12, someone removed two Centennial 165 60R15 tires from the front of his residence. They were sitting in the front yard with a for sale sign on them at the time.

The tires have an estimated value of $70.

•Shortly after midnight on Oct. 13, police received a report that a red Honda "three-wheeler" was taken from a 16-year-old boy while at his residence along the 1300 block of Church Street.

An investigation is continuing. •A 10-speed bicycle was stolen from a 13-year-old Warwick Township boy sometime between Oct. 23-24.

Police received a call at 8:30 a.m. from Thomas T. Donley, first block of Wynwood Place, that his son's bike was stolen while he was visiting a friend along the 600 block of Crosswinds Drive. The bike was parked in front of his friend's house at the time of the theft.

The Murray 10-speed bicycle is black in color and valued at about $50.

Anyone with information concerning these incidents should call Warwick police at 626-8882.

Police reported that Borchers sustained a bump on his head and was checked by Warwick Ambulance before being released.

Police added that further investigation should determine the cause of the accident.

Oct. 19: Police said John P. Lane, 27, of 261 S. Charlotte St., Manheim, was making a left turn off North Broad Street on to Main around 7:35 p.m. when he was struck by a northbound vehicle driven by Phyllis A. Gardner, 57, of Lititz.

Police said moderate damage was sustained to Gardner's vehicle and that it had to be towed from the scene. Neither cause nor fault was announced by the investigating officer.

Woman charged for shoplifting

A New Providence woman has been charged for retail theft after attempting to take craft items from Stauffers of Kissel Hill in Warwick Township on Oct. 9.

Police said shortly after 4 p.m., Kelly Renee Lam, 35, of New Providence, was caught with over $100 worth of items, including a roll of purple velvet ribbon valued at $82.50.

This was Lam's fourth arrest for retail theft in Lancaster County, according to police.

Felony charges for retail theft were filed by police.

Tire slashed

A Rothsville woman's tire was slashed on her vehicle while parked in front of her residence on Oct. 19.

Warwick Township police said Donna Shaffer, 35, of the 2100 block of Main Street, reported three partial punctures in a tire on her 1986 Buick Skyhawk. The incident occurred sometime during the night.

The tire was damaged, but not destroyed, causing $35 in damage.

Anyone with information concerning this incident should call Warwick police at 626-8882.

Twp. accidents reported

Several minor accidents were reported in Warwick Township recently, according to police.

•On Oct. 12 at 11:45 a.m., Barbara Snyder, 200 block of Skylark Road, Lititz, was travelling north on Route 501 while Penny Sue Yeaglin was pulling her International school bus out of a farm driveway facing west to turn south on Route 501.

According to Yeaglin, her seat belt "popped" open, causing her to slide off her seat, holding onto the steering wheel. This caused the bus to continue turning left, back toward the northbound lane, where she struck Snyder's 1994 Chrysler LeBaron in the left rear with the left front of the bus.

No one was hurt and only minor damage was reported on the school bus.

•On Oct. 12 at about 4 p.m., Kelly N. Zug, 18, of the 1200 block of Clay Road, Lititz, was stopped along East Newport Road to make a left turn onto Orchard Road.

Dennis Lee Enck, 29, of the 400 block of North Cedar Street, Lititz, was travelling behind Zug and clearing his window of bugs, according to police, when he saw her vehicle too late and applied the brakes, striking the 1983 Chevrolet, which sustained light damage.

Enck's 1982 Volkswagen Cabriolet suffered moderate damage. He was cited for careless driving.

•On Oct. 19 at 6:35 a.m., James H. Doster, 47, 500 block of South Spruce Street, Lititz, was stopped in the southbound lane of Route 501 at the intersection with Millport Road, with Glenn M. McGinnis, 46, first block of Venture Drive, stopped behind him.

As they waited, a car driven by Richard Huls, 54, 400 block of West Marion Street, approached and struck the rear of McGinnis' car, pushing it into Doster's vehicle. No one was injured in the accident.

•On Oct. 22 at 12:49 p.m., Douglas Lee Bashore, 44, of the 800 block of Scott Lane, Lititz, was travelling east along the 300 block of East Newport Road near Laurie Lane, followed by Werner Mosimann, 40, of the 500 block of Blantz Road, Lititz.

Mosimann said he thought he saw a left turn signal on in Bashore's vehicle and was travelling slowly, so he began to pass the car on the right. Bashore moved his car to the right and impacted with Mosimann, according to police.

Bashore said he was not aware his turn signal was on and had no intentions of turning. No one was hurt in the accident.

Pedestrian hit by truck

A pedestrian accident at Second Avenue and Broad Street was reported by Lititz police on Oct. 25.

Police said Kevin French, 36, of Lititz, suffered injuries to his left wrist and lower back after being struck by a red pickup truck around 5:45 p.m. while crossing the intersection.

French told police that the truck driver stopped to assist and then left. Investigators ask that the truck driver contact the Lititz Police Department at 626-6393 to help complete the accident report.

Tired trespasser found at Wilbur

In response to a burglary not-in-progress call Oct. 21 at Wilbur Chocolate's West Lincoln Avenue distribution plant, Lititz police said Michael Lamar Reitz, 26, of Salunga, was found sleeping in the west end of the warehouse.

Police said Reitz was placed under arrest for criminal trespass at 3:03 a.m. A small amount of marijuana was then found in his front pocket. Reitz was booked and placed in Lancaster County Prison.

Crossing guard is harassed

Lititz police said Della Fox, 26, of 2 E. Orange St., Lititz, was charged for verbally harassing a crossing guard at Second Avenue and Broad Street on Oct. 11. The incident took place around 2:25 p.m.

Cub Scouts in Lititz Pack 44 each created a life-sized scarecrow at their September meeting.

Pack 44 scares up some fun

Take a worn pair of jeans, an old work shirt, a pair of panty hose, bales of straw and lots of energetic young boys and you have the recipe for the September Pack 44 Cub Scout meeting.

Creatively organized by Pack 44 parents Tammy McCarty and Shirley Swartz, the fun filled meeting took place on Saturday, Sept. 30 from 2-4 p.m. in the Lititz Springs Park. Curious visitors were able to watch as the Cub Scouts each made a life-size, decorative scarecrow.

The scouts placed the finishing touches to the scarecrows face and moved on to the business portion of the meeting.

As the boys and their families gathered in the park pavilion, the Webelos Wolverine patrol entertained everyone with a song. The opening flag ceremony was performed by scouts of Den #1.

Assistant Cubmaster George Dochat presented the Summertime awards to: Den #1, Den #3, Den #4, Wolverine Den, and Flaming Arrow Den.

Eighteen boys received individual Summertime Awards for their participation in Pack activities during the summer: Brian Entz, Billy Maney, William Shirk, Brian Bear, Stephen Elmer, Alex Chapis, Stevie Kendig, Patrick Stoner, Josh McClarigan, Jared Miller, Travis Dochat, Matthew Elmer, Tim Souders, Eric Junga, Gordon Johnson, Andrew Eckman, Andy Woodward, and Eric Horne.

Following the awards distribution, the scouts competed in challenge relay races. The meeting ended with a closing by Wolf Den #2.

The next Cub Scout 44 Pack meeting will be held on Oct. 24 at the social hall of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

AARP meeting to feature New Life Assistance Dogs

Tuesday, Nov. 7 • Lititz Senior Center will be visiting the Cocalico Senior Center.

Lunch: Creamed Ham over biscuit, hot Harvard beets, boiled cabbage, brownie or chocolate pudding.

Wednesday, Nov. 8 • 10 a.m., Center rules update; 10:30 a.m., "Fall Critters" with speaker Harry Collins.

Lunch: Roast beef with gravy, carrots, rice pilaf, wheat bread, fresh fruit cup.

Thursday, Nov. 9 • Veterans Day Celebration.

Lunch: Tuna salad sub with lettuce, tomato soup, apricot nectar, saltines, fruited gelatin with fruit cocktail.

Friday, Nov. 10 • Center Closed for Veterans Day.

To reserve a meal, call the center one day in advance. Milk and bread are served with all meals. For more information, call Bertha Ford at 626-2800.

Sabina Hower founded the program "New Life Assistance Dogs" in 1990, and is currently president of this non-profit organization.

The program uses Golden and Labrador Retrievers supplied by quality breeders. Hower and her staff train the dogs. She received her training at the Assistance Dogs Institute in California. She is associated with the Cerebral Palsy Foundation in Lancaster.

The dogs are received from quality breeders. As puppies, they are placed in foster homes under the supervision of a trainer. For the first six months the dogs are taken to stores, shopping malls, and other public places to acclimate them to crowds.

At six months they begin their formal training, learning to respond to more than 80 commands. They learn to open doors, push wheelchairs, handle money at store checkouts, and assist recipients to move from a wheelchair to a bed or another chair.

Before being placed with a recipient, the dog is X-rayed for canine hip dysplasia, and tested for temperament and health.

These dogs really bring a new life to their recipients, not only helping with mobility, but with their companionship and love for their recipient.

Hower will bring one of the dogs to the program to demonstrate their skills. This demonstration should be heart-warming.

Join us at 1:30 p.m., Nov. 9 at Ephrata Manor.

Longaberger associate recognized at convention

Brenda Long of Lititz was recognized as a 1995 National Sales Award winner in the Sales Achiever Club at the annual convention of The Longaberger Company in Columbia, Ohio.

In recognition of annual sales of more than $30,000, Long received a Bee '95 Commemorative ceramic tie-on as well as on stage recognition. Long was recognized as one of only 1,374 Associates nationwide achieving this level of sales.

The four-day convention, known as The Bee, attracted more than 8,000 attendees who attended several training sessions on a variety of topics ranging from available products to selling techniques. The awards ceremonies, like that conducted for Long, are an annual highlight for the convention.

The Longaberger Company was founded in 1972 by Dave Longaberger, who began selling the hand-woven, hardwood maple baskets made by his father and his father's father. Today, the company is run by Longaberger and his two daughters.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Supervisors of the Township of Warwick, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, at its regular public meeting on Wednesday, November 15, 1995, at 7:30 p.m., prevailing time, at the Warwick Township Municipal Building, 315 Clay Road, Lititz, Pennsylvania, shall consider, and subsequently, if appropriate, at that public meeting or at a subsequent public meeting held within 60 days after the date of publication of this advertisement, shall enact an ordinance, the caption of which is as follows:

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE CODE OF ORDINANCES OF THE TOWNSHIP OF WARWICK, LANCASTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, CHAPTER 15 THEREOF, MOTOR VEHICLES AND TRAFFIC, TO IMPOSE, ESTABLISH AND ADOPT SPEED LIMITATIONS, TRAFFIC SIGNALS, STOP INTERSECTIONS, TRUCK TRAFFIC PROHIBITIONS, WEIGHT RESTRICTIONS, PASSING LIMITATIONS, GENERAL REGULATIONS GOVERNING PARKING ON TOWNSHIP ROADS, AND NO PARKING ZONES.

The proposed ordinance may be summarized as follows. Section 1 amends the Code of Ordinances of the Township of Warwick, Chapter 15 thereof, Motor Vehicles and Traffic ("Chapter 15"), Part 2, Traffic Regulations ("Part 2"), Section 201, Speed Limits Established, to impose and revise speed limitations on approximately 50 public streets within the Township. Section 2 amends Chapter 15, Part 2, Section 202, Traffic Signals at Certain Intersections, to ratify and confirm the traffic control signals at the intersection of Furnace Hills Pike and East and West Newport Road, Lititz Pike and Owl Hill Road and Trolley Road, Main Street and Rothsville Road and East Newport Road and Brunnerville Road and Newport Road. Section 3 amends Chapter 15, Part 2, Section 204, Stop Intersections by establishing stop regulations at approximately 60 intersections within the Township. Section 4 amends Chapter 15, Part 2, Section 207, Trucks Prohibited on Certain Streets/Exceptions to prohibit traffic by trucks the entire length of Cardinal Road. Section 5 amends Chapter 15, Part 2, Section 208, Gross Weight Limits Established, to impose maximum gross weight limitations on the Log Cabin Road Covered Bridge and the Erbs Bridge Road Covered Bridge. Section 6 amends Chapter 15, Part 2, to add a new Section 209, No Passing Zones Established, which provides for certain no passing zones on East Newport Road, Millport Road, Route 501, Route 772, Rothsville Road and West Newport Road and provides penalties for violations of this regulation. Section 7 amends Chapter 15, Part 3, Parking Regulations ("Part 3"), Section 302, Vehicles to be Parked within Marked Spaces; Parking Prohibited in Certain Marked Areas, to retitle Section 302 as "Parking Restrictions Generally" and to impose general parking limitations relating to all public streets including a maximum parking limitation of 48 consecutive hours and a parking limitation of not more than one hour or two hours, depending on the time of day and day of week, for commercial vehicles. This Section also prohibits unauthorized parking in handicapped parking zones and prohibits parking in fire lanes. Section 8 amends Chapter 15, Part 3, Section 303, Parking Prohibited at All Times in Certain Locations, to add parking limitations on Buch Mill Road, Hiawatha Drive, Route 501, Route 772, Pine Hill Road and Spur Lane. Section 9 amends Chapter 15, Part 3, Section 305, Penalty for Violation, to provide for the use of parking tickets and penalties for parking violations. Section 10 provides for severability of any invalid provisions from the proposed ordinance, and Section 11 provides for the effective date. A copy of the proposed ordinance is available for public inspection at the offices of this newspaper and at the Warwick Township Municipal Building, 315 Clay Road, Lititz, Pennsylvania, Mondays through Fridays, from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. A copy of the proposed ordinance may be obtained for the cost of reproduction at the Warwick Township Municipal Building during the above hours.

Watson competes in pageant

Jessica Watson, daughter of Jeffrey and Laura-Jean Watson of Kleineltersville, was selected as an entrant in the 1996 Miss Pennsylvania Teen USA Pageant held at the Palace Inn in Monroeville on Sept. 22-24.

Her grandparents, Larry and Evelyn Walker, reside in Lititz. Jessica is homeschooled.

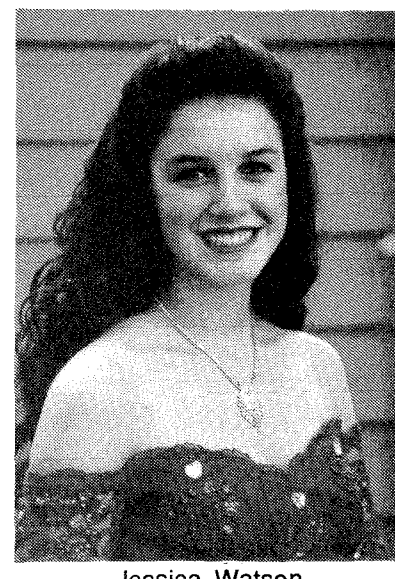

She has performed with Ephrata ACT, in "Christy" at Lancaster Mennonite High School, was Snow White in "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" at the Genesis Theatre in Reading, and she directs the music/drama/sacred dance group "Joyful Noise."

Her activities include leadership team at the Lebanon Valley Youth for Christ, Lebanon County 4-H Board of Directors, being a Teen Leader for the 4-H Busy Bees, assistant teaching at Linda's School of Dance, volunteering at the Historic Schaeffer Farm, activities at Faith Evangelical Free Church in Newmans town, and YF at Iona United Methodist Church.

She is currently making plans for a musical that she will be co-directing in June at the Lebanon Valley Youth for Christ.

Jessica was crowned Miss Pre-Teen Wilkes-Barre 1991, and she was a semi-finalist in the 1995 Miss PA Teen USA Pageant.

Sponsorship from local businesses are what makes it possible for her to compete. Her sponsors included Weaver's Garage, Haw's Auto Sales, Checker's Restaurant, County Line Auto Sales, Creative Camera, Antiques on the Square, Eagle Rental Center, Warwick Tire and Auto center, Kowerski Gallery and Frame Shop, Good to U Auto Sales and Rentals, Rocky Ridge Auto Sales, Mountain Trail Store and Quality Meats, Floor World, Len's Friendly Market, Redding Realty, Heidelberg Lions Club, Art's Garage, Donald Mock TV, and West Side Radiator Works.

Out of the Past

From the files of the Lititz Record Express

10 Years Ago

Nov. 7, 1985

There were no surprises in Tuesday's election, mainly because there were no contests. In Warwick and Elizabeth Township and Lititz Borough there was not one candidate for any office, whether it was constable or supervisor, who faced opposition.

Roy B. Clair, 40 E. Third Ave., was elected mayor of Lititz. Russell L. Pettyjohn, 337 S. Cedar St., and Clyde R. Tshudy, 215 E. Main St., were re-elected to borough council in the third and first wards, respectively.

Jeff C. Siegrist was elected borough council member from the second ward. A resident of 131 Liberty St., Siegrist will replace C. Wendell Hower, who chose not to seek re-election.

In Warwick Township Roy A. Irvin, 537 Hackman Road, and Irel Buckwalter, 1011 Lititz Pike, were shoe-ins for supervisors. For both, it is their second term.

In Elizabeth Township incumbent supervisor Larry R. Wiker, 206-A Blantz Road, was re-elected.

Four school directors were re-elected to the Warwick School Board. Gerald L. Downing, 339 E. Second Ave., and Gaylord E. Poling Jr., 119 N. Cedar St., were re-elected to their second term. Wilson B. Smith, 506 Robin Road, and Ruth Husser, 311 Balmer Road, received the nod for their third terms.

Voter turnout was termed "very poor" and "very slow" by local election workers.

Lititz Zoning Hearing Board denied White, Good and Company permission to convert a house at 330 S. Broad St., located at the corner of South Broad and Second Avenue, into an office building.

The Mount Getna-based agency is looking to relocate to Lititz.

Kirby Erb, a Lititz resident born with cerebral palsy, was recently elected vice president of the Red Rose Courage Club. This is the third time he has held an office in the organization, which is a social organization for all Lancaster County residents with physical handicaps.

Following their May decision, the Lititz Springs Park Board hired a private security agency to provide guards to patrol the park.

"The security is really working," asserted Jim Wynkoop, assistant manager at Farmers First Bank and park board treasurer, who recalled how he would often hear residents complain of being afraid to take their children to the park.

It seemed to have become a mecca for loiterers, "druggies" and general public nuisances.

The Warwick field hockey team remains alive in the District playoffs with a pair of victories last week. They downed Harrisburg Academy three to one, but were forced into extra action to take a tough Holy Name team five to four.

Aline H. Gery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Addison Gery, Clay Road, Lititz, is a member of the Mercersburg Academy varsity field hockey team which will be traveling to England Nov. 23 for a two-week competition with teams from eight British girls' schools in the London area.

Mrs. Robert Gregory, Lititz R1, is beginning her first year as president of the Farm Women of Lancaster County following her election to the post during a recent convention.

Frank J. Bosch has been named manager of Research and Development at Wilbur Chocolate Co. Inc., according to John A. Buzzard, president of the company.

Bosch was born (Francisco Javier) in Cuba. He came to the United States in 1965. He is presently residing in Lititz at 438 Fort Ross Ave. with his wife Mercy and two sons, Javier and Frank Jr..

Warwick Senior High School is seeking the support of the entire community in a project that will bring to the local school a foreign student under the direction of the American Field Service International Scholarship program, it was announced this week.

For this purpose, a letter of invitation has been sent to more than 30 organizations within the school district, inviting their participation at an organizational meeting of a Warwick Chapter — American Field Service.

Building permits issued by the borough during October aggregated $203,200, nearly 10 times the amount issued in October 1964, when permits were valued at $23,203.

After serving with the local post office for fifty-four and a half years, Paul M. Seaber, Front St., has retired from active service. Postmaster Robert Pfautz announced this week.

Seaber entered the postal service June 1, 1901, as a subordinate under his father, Samuel C. Seaber, then serving as postmaster.

Aug. 1, 1922, on the recommendation of Congressman Greist, Seaber was appointed postmaster, which position he held until Oct. 1, 1935, when Mr. Pfautz was named postmaster. He has served as a clerk in the post office since then.

Local veterans of World War I held their first reunion since the hectic days of 1918. They were entertained as guests of the Lititz Rotary Club Tuesday evening.

A total of 45 men who served with the Armed Forces during the European conflict were present and introduced by Dr. Joseph W. Grosh, program chairman.

As introduced, each man gave the outfit with which he served during the war.

A total of only 576 votes were cast in the borough Tuesday in a quiet election.

Burgess Victor Wagner ran high on the Republican party ticket, polling a total of 470 voted in defeating his Democratic opponent, Edgar C. Fearheller, who moved from the borough since the primary election, but whose name remained on the ballot.

Lititz High's victory over Ephrata was the spark which launched an all-day celebration for school children on Monday morning, which ended with a huge bonfire at the borough lot in the evening.

It was reported that Frank Ford saved the lives of six pheasants by keeping his eye on them while reloading his gun.

After trying several times to reload his gun and failing to have it fire, he looked to see what was the matter.

He then realized that he had been trying to load his gun with several packs of Life-Savers candy — and they really were life savers as far as the pheasants were concerned.

Sunday movies were decisively defeated here Tuesday by a five to red masquerade suit who was hand-one vote, the issue bringing out a large vote from both wards. The vote was 248 for and 1,269 against.

The question of opening the theaters on Sundays proved to be a big issue in the election in many places, and people who had not voted here for many years came to the polls to oppose Sunday movies. Lititz maintained its Republican majority.

A trip to a Philadelphia theater cost eight young men of town their top coats Saturday when their locked cars were broken into and robbed.

Even the presence of one of the youths sleeping in a car did not deter the thieves from taking all the coats, except the with which the sleeping youth was covered.

The Community Show opened auspiciously Friday noon and drew by far the largest crowd that ever thronged the streets and show exhibits at Lititz.

Halloween coming at the same time helped to swell the crowd and made it picturesque and noisy.

The atmosphere was treated to flying corn, confetti, paper streamers, and other evidence of bubbling spirits.

The opening to Beck Brothers' fine furniture emporium, at 41-43 S. Broad St., during the time of the show proved to be a success beyond all expectations.

R.M. Spacht has a large work force to remodel the Rudy building, which he purchased.

An addition will be built in the rear for wholesale and second-hand furniture. When finished, it will be one of the finest furniture stores in the county.

Practically the entire population of our pretty town was chewing as never before on Tuesday.

Yes, and to make matters more acute, they were chewing gum.

Fortunately, there were no church services or the attendants would have drowned the minister's words with their continual grinds of mastication. Chewing gum may aid digestion, sweeten the breath, enhance the complexion and perform other wonders, but about the only use we've ever advocated it for was to keep the cool air from reaching the sensitive part of the "holler" tooth.

The cause of all the town's chewing Tuesday was a man attired in a HOPELAND BASEBALL, 1923 — The big bats of the Hopeland Juniors baseball team in 1923 gathered for this postcard. ing out samples of a new brand of gum recently placed on the market.

Two teams collided near the home of Edwin Markly — near Lexington — on Saturday while going in different directions.

The harness of one of the outfits was torn to such an extent that the horse became free. He made a wild dash and landed in the rear of Dillman's store, where he ran into a horse and became so entangled in a vehicle that it was quite a job to free him.

The new 1916 Ford inspired the following:

A little gas, a little oil, a little wire they call a coil.

A piece of tin, a 12-foot board, nailed together makes a Ford. A car for young, a car for old, there is no better car sold.

Though made of wire, hot air and tin, it wears like iron and runs like Sin!

Dr. C.E. Lane, the dentist, returned last Saturday night from a six-week gunning trip way up in the mountains of Nova Scotia.

He made some good "hits," shooting two moose. He had the antlers shipped to New York for mounting, while some of the choice cuts of meat were brought home and shared out among his friends, including the Record man, who feasted on moose steak on Sunday.

The meat is fine and tender, much like beefsteak.

Now that the Democrats were given some encouragement, the adherents hereabouts regret that they don't have the old "Warwick Democrat," a cannon to fire salutes as in years gone by.

This cannon was mounted on wheels and was owned by the Democrats of Warwick Township. When Tilden was elected president in 1877 this cannon boomed for several nights. The gun was also brought into service after the assassination of Abraham Lincoln as a tribute to the martyr. Every Fourth of July and on every Democratic victory the old cannon did its duty.

Upwards of fifteen years ago saw its finish when it was loaded with bricks.

Henry Farmer, of Millport, who about three months ago was married to Sally Buchter of Pine Hill, was arrested on Monday by Constable Hacker.

Farmer was charged by his wife with at times threatening to shoot her, taking his gun with him to his bedroom, and at other times wanting to throw her downstairs in order to break her neck.

He was given a hearing before Squire Reidenbach on Wednesday. Farmer will sell his personal effects at public sale in a few weeks.

Rev. A.M. Sampsel was out gunning on Thursday. He is fond of this kind of sport.

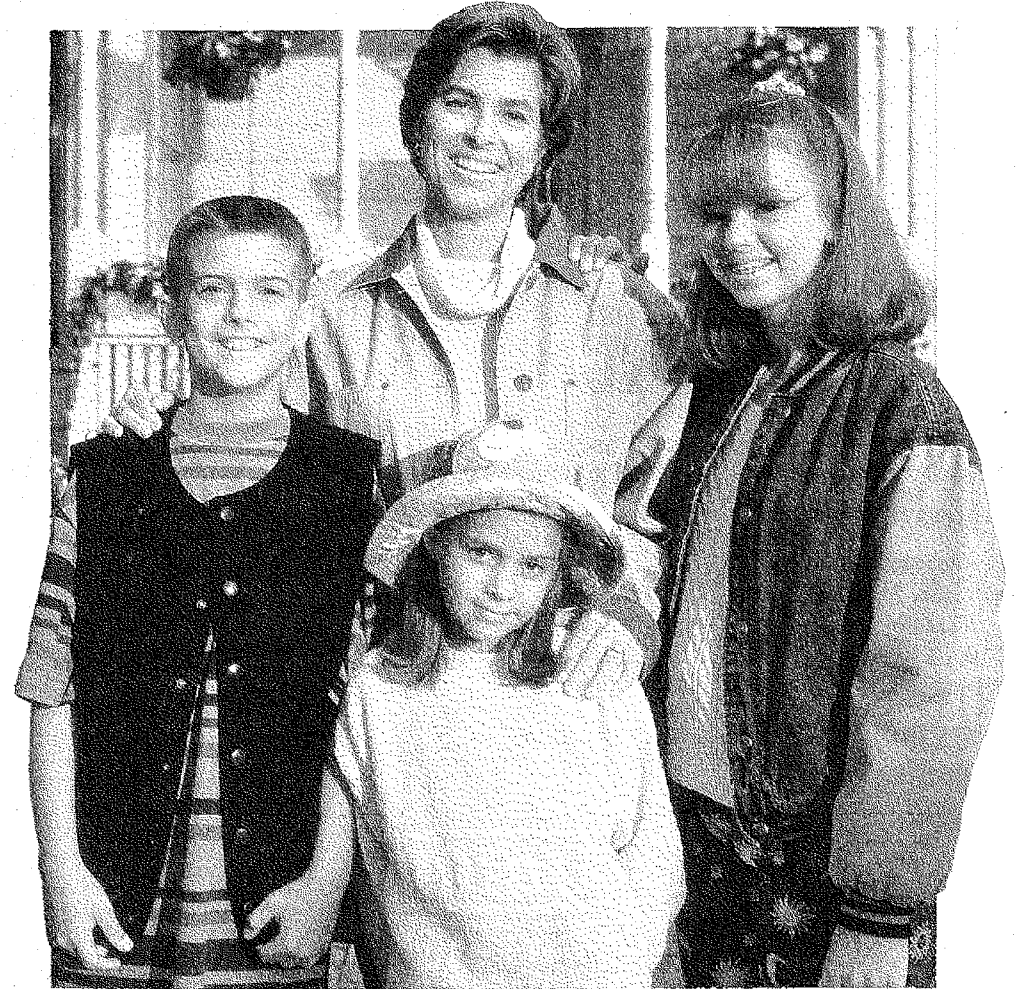

An accident happened to a party driving home from the Warwick House on Wednesday evening.

From what we could learn it seems that they drove against a telephone pole near Rome, and the horse dropped over dead after taking a few more steps. The driver's name was Getz, hailing somewhere from Ephrata.
