Go-cart decision

On Wednesday, Dec. 15, the Warwick Township supervisors will render their decision on a proposed go-cart track near the Newport Road-Furnace Hills Pike intersection.

The plan, presented by High Sports, Inc. for a conditional use approval, has been opposed by nearby residents since supervisors first began holding its public hearings earlier this year.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m., and will be held in the auditorium of the Warwick Middle School.

Rt. 772 reroute is possible

STEPHEN SEEBER

Record Express Staff

LITITZ — Traffic relief for a congested borough would be welcome news for most who travel through town, but what if such relief arrives at the expense of a neighboring municipality?

That's just what will be decided in the coming months as the Lancaster County Transportation Coordination Committee begins a study on the Route 72 corridor.

What does Rt. 72, the backbone of Manheim Borough, have to do with Lititz?

Traffic is no longer as simple as one road. Like a raging river, it involves tributary streets and interconnecting travelways.

One such tributary is Route 772, a busy state road that joins this borough and Manheim. It brings a whopping 8,128 vehicles into downtown Lititz each day from West Orange Street.

Traffic problems here have always loomed large over the list of local agenda items, which is why borough business manager Sue Ann Barry has been representing Lititz during a series of Rt. 72 corridor meetings that began last summer.

She, along with Warwick Township manager Dan Zimmerman and several other municipal managers, have been working with the county to map out possible road improvements throughout the northern tier. For Lititz, that means Rt. 772.

While local residents rarely think of Route 72 log jams in Manheim when they're stuck in traffic in this borough, the network of roads is completely interrelated.

"(We are) very impacted by Rt. 72," Barry said, confirming that the meetings have generated talk about rerouting Rt. 772.

Now the county is ready to receive engineering bids for a feasibility study. Traffic relief in Lititz could be a reality in the near future.

"It may happen within a year," (See Route 772, Page 20)

Fire Chief Kline will step down

Served 13 years at Brunnerville

RICHARD REITZ

Record Express Editor

BRUNNERVILLE — Kenneth Kline steps down as Brunnerville Fire Chief later this month, pleased that the cooperative spirit today is better than at any time during the 27 years he has been a firefighter.

Kline served as fire chief for 13 years. He will remain an active member of the department, but said the time was right to step down as fire chief.

"We have good, qualified people to move up into the position, and I felt they needed to have that opportunity," he said.

Warwick Township supervisors felt that for the past several years Brunnerville has had a good, qualified person leading the fire department. They invited Kline to their Dec. 1 meeting to recognize him for his years of service, presenting him with an attractive and well-deserved plaque.

"I knew something was coming up," Kline later said of the presentation. "But I thought that maybe it was going to be a certificate. I was overwhelmed with the plaque."

Kline said the success of a good fire chief depends upon the volunteers that serve with the department.

"You cannot have a good fire department with just a fire chief. You need good people, people who can discuss things. Yes, we may sometimes have differing viewpoints, but we always discuss it and work it out."

Kline said one of the biggest changes he has seen over the past 27 years has been an unfortunate increase in vehicle accidents. "In the early years we didn't run many at all.

WHS PLANS AN 'ENCHANTING' SHOW — This weekend, Warwick High School auditorium will spring to life with the sounds of the holiday season as the music department presents an elegant performance entitled "The Enchantment of Christmas," featuring the Concert Choir, Chamber Singers, High School Orchestra, and the eight-member Production Company, as they take the audience on a holiday trip that culminates with a stop in medieval Paris. Pictured above, Kyle Busey (left) and Kristen Pfeiffer (right) perform a dance number with the rest of the company in front of the medieval setting. ## Elizabeth adopts $619,110 budget

Record Express Staff

BRICKERVILLE — Elizabeth Township's 2000 budget is official. Supervisors voted unanimously on Monday to adopt the $619,110 plan which once again emphasizes road maintenance.

Road projects under consideration include paving along Hickory Drive, Mayberry Drive, Sleepy Hollow Road and Hershey Road. About a dozen roads could be in line for oil and chipping, bids will soon be gathered for the construction of a new salt and storage shed, and a possible work on the Elser Hill Road bridge.

The proposed budget has been on display for the past month, but there were no requests from township residents to see it. It's availability to the public was advertised in the Nov. 18 edition of the Record Express.

In other township business:

• Daniel Groff — An update on the Groff property, 1651 Furnace Hills Pike, was given Monday. All zoning issues have been address, but the status of several drums filled with unknown substances must still be solved.

Groff committed suicide on March 29 after a standoff with state police at his property, which was in the process of being cleaned up through a court order.

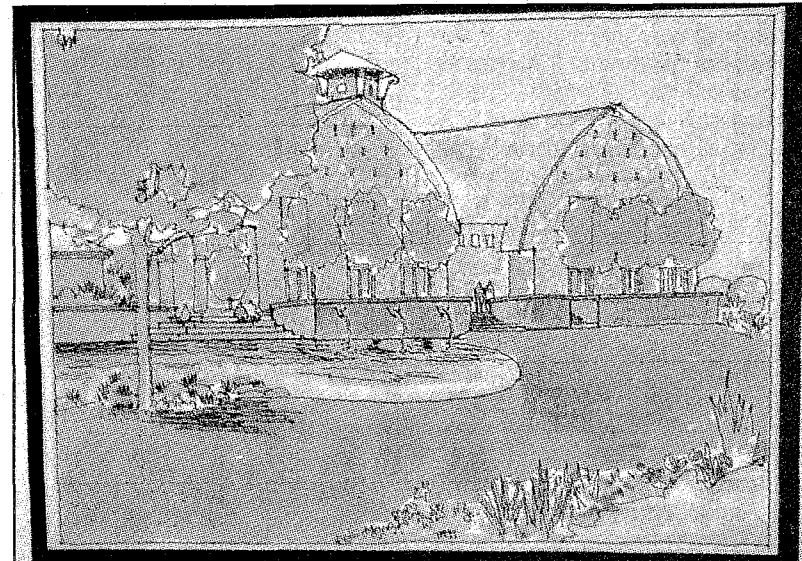

• Year 2000 — It was announced that the Brickerville Fire Company building will be manned as Dec. 31 changes over to Jan. 1. This is a precautionary measure for any potential Y2K problems. Glenn Martin, township road superintendent, will also be on call in case of any emergencies.

• Christmas trees — The township will recycle Christmas trees this year. There will be a fenced-off area with identification signs across from the municipal building, which will show residents where they can drop off their trees.

Regular recycling has been set for Jan. 8.

• Generator — The township is in the process of receiving quotes for a generator in the price range of (See Elizabeth, Page 20)

A sketch design of the watch repair training facility planned for the Wynfield Industrial Center located just north of Lititz on Route 501.

Warwick welcomes watch repair firm

RICHARD REITZ

Record Express Editor

WARWICK TWP. — Construction of a large watch repair and training facility just north of Lititz is expected to begin early next year. But even when the 42,000 square-foot building is finished, it is likely that most passers-by will be unaware of what it is they are passing.

On Dec. 1, Warwick Township supervisors approved a final land development plan from HPR Lititz for the barn-like structure, which would be constructed near the entrance to the Wynfield Business Center along the southwest side of Wynfield Drive, near Route 501.

Township Manager Daniel Zimmerman said this will be the largest facility in the Wynfield Business Center.

Jim Wenger, a planner from Derek and Edson, outlined the unusual plan for this industrial project. He said the exterior of the building will resemble a barn, complete with a silo, to blend with the agricultural surroundings of the facility.

The building will be anything but a barn, however, as it will employ at least 90 full-time staff, with additional people there for repair training.

"It's going to make a nice entrance into Lititz, definitely," Wenger said.

The watches repaired at the facility are brought by jewelers, not individual customers, so daily traffic should be minimal, Wenger said.

Christmas crowd sings aloud

STEPHEN SEEBER

Record Express Staff

LITITZ — Warm weather spells find people second guessing the season, but on Dec. 3 the air was unmistakably Christmas.

The moving voices of the Warwick Concert Choir, tales of yuletide legends from the mayor, the Moravian Trombone Choir, community caroling by candlelight, Christening the holiday tree in the park and introductions by Bill Dussinger could just as easily make an 85-degree day in Hawaii feel like Christmas — the tradition is that powerful.

With the help of the new train station as stage and backdrop, the above ensemble kicked off the annual Hometown Christmas in Lititz with the flair of a Norman Rockwell painting. The only element missing was the snow, which is considered a blessing by many.

Lititz Mayor Russell Pettyjohn finds the fellowship to be the strong point of the program.

"I think the crowd itself makes Hometown Christmas so special," he said. "Coming together as a community, that's always a unique thing as far as I'm concerned."

The event was co-sponsored by the Lititz Springs Park and the Lititz Retailers Association with the following program:

A prelude by the trombone choir, Dussinger welcomes everyone to the park, a Christmas prayer by Lititz Moravian's Rev. Dorothy Burcaw, the Christmas message by Mayor Pettyjohn, the lighting of tree with the help of the state champion WHS girls field hockey team, a perfor-

"If I choose cremation, will there still be a funeral?"

With cremation, there doesn't have to be as much difference from a traditional funeral as you might think.

Whether you're preplanning your own funeral or making the decisions for someone in your family, you can still choose any of the options associated with a traditional funeral. For instance, many families have an open-casket viewing at the funeral home before cremation takes place.

A commemorative service, with either the body or ashes present, can also be conducted so that friends and family can pay tribute to their loved one's life and can share their feelings and memories. In this way, the funeral enriches their lives by helping them look away from what has been lost and cherish what has been gained.

If you have any questions about funeral arrangements, please feel free to give us a call.

Our Viewpoint

On rerouting Route 772

We greet with cautious optimism the news of a rerouting of Route 772 traffic away from Lititz.

The concept of making Newport Road the primary road for east-west traffic through this area — traffic that currently uses Orange Street when entering or leaving the borough — is worth examining. It would place that traffic outside the center of town, which is the area of heaviest congestion along Route 501.

But without significant road changes, we wonder how much of an impact this road configuration would have on regular commuters. Both routes are currently available to motorists, yet they favor travelling along Route 772. This habit may be hard for many to break.

Also, this will not eliminate the traffic — it just transplants it, and may create more difficult situations in some areas while improving others.

Having said that, we believe this is a concept worth reviewing. Warwick Township and Lititz Borough have been successful in creating alternative routes for local traffic so far, and a plan like this, combined with those north-south roads that take traffic off of Route 501, might make the situation a little bit better.

Until the day when a new, separate highway is constructed between Lititz and Manheim to eliminate non-local traffic, then plans like this are exactly what we need to evaluate if we are going to make the best of our traffic situation.

Letters to the Editor

Some thoughts on joint planning

Editor, Record Express,

On Nov. 18 I went to the Borough Office and read the comprehensive report on Warwick Twp. and Lititz plans.

Ninety-five percent of the book relates to Warwick Twp. I came across only three areas where Lititz would be involved.

Item #1. Study for three years to be completed by the year 2003. Study to be done by each police department on the feasibility of one joint department.

I am very much opposed to this insofar as with same amount of personnel, Warwick covers more than three times the area. Also, Lititz Police Dept. is covered by Civil Service and Warwick is not.

I have also opposed bigness for good reason. I worked in the bureaucratic system. While it was small it was the best bureau in the state, bar none. When the Federal Government jumped in and gave us money and mandates, the departments efficiency dropped 50 percent. You see what the conglomerates are doing with the mergers they are doing. Who suffers? The workers and consumers. Warner Lambert is talking merger now. How many employees will be laid off?

If a study is done on this it should be conducted by laymen with input from police departments.

Item #2. Recreation and Park: The report indicates that the two governing bodies study the feasibility of building a new park.

Lititz already has parks and recreational area. To wit: Lititz Springs Park, the park at 2nd and Spruce Streets, the basketball park on New Street, tennis courts, swimming pool, and the recreation center.

All of the above were started by Lititz and the entire school district is allowed to use them.

Initially the Rec Center was started when Mr. Spatch donated his warehouse next to the park to Lititz. When Mr. Brobst donated $25,000 for a new center, all of the people in the school district were invited to use it.

When the Lititz Springs pool was built, a $5 a year charge was added to the $25 family membership fee for Warwick Twp. and Elizabethtown Twp. Prior to my asking for the dissolution of the pool committee it was voted to allow Warwick and Elizabethtown Twp. at the same fee as Lititz.

I was coaching midget and midget midget baseball for five years and no distinction was made as to what area the children lived in. As far as I counted Lititz has six fields for midget baseball, probably more.

My point is: Lititz established these facilities and programs alone and opened them up to our neighbors. We sincerely wish to cooperate with both Elizabethtown and Warwick Twp. as we have done in the past, but I believe we should each keep our own identities.

Item #3. Jointure of Lititz and Warwick Twp. Zoning Boards. No good? Why? We are mixing apples and oranges. Lititz is an urban type of community while Warwick Twp. is rural. Each demands different approaches in planning and implementation. Lititz has used up most of their land, I heard; and this may be a rumor, that developers are planning for 500 more homes in Warwick Twp. I don't know if the sewage plant will hold this capacity without enlarging our present system. A moratorium on building may be needed. Another approach in the township is to charge an impact fee for developers. See Manheim Twp. They used this to control growth.

I went to Borough Council meeting on Nov. 29 and voiced these oppositions to them. I asked them how they felt and they stated that there would be a meeting at the Middle School on Wednesday, Dec. 8 at 7 p.m. I told them they evaded my questions and they said that they were in favor of the report.

The President of Council asked me where I got my information and I advised him that I spent three hours in Borough Hall going through it. If I were to add up all the projected costs and consultant fees in the document it would go into the millions of dollars.

I asked each member of council, one was missing, if they read the report, and to my chagrin not one of them read it. I pleaded with them to take it home and while it is dull reading it is vital to know what they are voting on.

I firmly believe that too much business is done behind closed doors and in executive session. I have attended five scheduled council meetings in the past six months and never once was the budget worked on. I believe there is "something rotten in the state of Denmark" when secrecy is involved. This is in violation of the Sunshine Laws of the Commonwealth of Pa.

Please do not use us pawns to further your political careers.

We want less government, not more. Let us learn to be fiscally prudent.

Grateful for support during fire

Editor, Record Express,

To the brave men of the Lititz Fire Company and their many helpers:

The experience of watching your office garage and breezeway get gutted by fire is an incredible emotionally wrenching experience.

We are most grateful that the home sustained only minor damages along with heavy smoke infiltration. We are even more thankful that no one was hurt.

Watching brave firemen and other volunteers unselfishly working for your benefit is truly a blessing that there are no words to adequately describe.

From the bottom of your hearts, we thank you all.

Also, to the many family, friends and neighbors who supported us through this with comfort, warm coats, phone calls, food, lodging and prayers, we thank you so much. There is no way that you can understand how much it means if you haven't had such an experience, and we hope that you never do.

Thank you all and God bless you.

Love 'em or hate 'em, they are part of our vocabulary

The year 1999 has certainly made an impact on our collective vocabulary.

From local events to national phenomena, words and phrases were thrust upon us; some we liked, and some whether we liked it or not. We debated a few of these in the office on Tuesday, as Steve and I threw possibilities at one another. The following are the indisputable ones... or, at least, the ones that I thought were indisputable. They are in no particular order.

Pokemon. What it is: A force of nature. Though it seems targeted at an age group ranging from 5-12, all things Pokemon have become a cultural phenomenon, with video games, stuffed animals, highly sought-after trading cards, and a movie. The premise is beyond us older folks, but kids love them, and that's good enough for me. What it really is: The "pogs" of 1999.

"Is that Your Final Answer?" What it is: Regis Philbin's phrase of final repentance before telling a contestant on "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire?" whether or not they ruined their hopes of big money. It's not just the words, its the way he tosses them at you, making you rethink what you thought moments before was absolutely indisputable. What it really is: Arguably, the catch-phrase of 1999.

Zeus and Duke. What they are: Our two K-9 patrol dogs in Lititz and Warwick. They are big, friendly, but when it's showtime, they mean business. They have proven in a few short months that they are "top dogs" at what they do. What they really are: Trouble for anyone hiding drugs, and hope for lost children. A great addition to our local police force.

Latin' La Vida Loca. What it is: The Ricky Martin song that has turned America on to Latin pop music. From the moment he swiveled his hips on the Grammys, he has been the dream guy of many women, and the object of scorn by their husband's. The many "clever" headlines that this phrase has inspired indicates its cultural impact this year. What it really is: Livin' La Vida 15 Minutes of Fame.

Chalupa. What it is: In a word, "tasty." Taco Bell's new entree is inexpensive and actually quite good for fast food. But it's those never ending commercials where the chihuahua tells everyone to "Drop the Chalupa" that sticks to your brain like hot sauce on a gordita. What it really is: A good reason for a Taco Bell franchise to set up shop somewhere near Lititz.

Sunnyside Peninsula. What it is: The rallying cry for proponents and opponents of the new Barnes Hall juvenile correction facility in Lancaster. It became the hot button issue in the Lancaster County commissioner campaign last fall. Sure, that area has been around for awhile, but who around here knew much about it before the fervor? What it really is: Judging from the election results, it is soon to be the site of a new and larger juvenile detention center.

Sound Abatement/Decibel Levels. What it is: Actually just samples of what we talked about this year, thanks to the proposed go-cart track north of Lititz at the High Sports facility. It became a year-long battle to determine if go-carts make too much noise for the nearby residents, and what steps could be taken to reduce its impact. What it really means: Sleepless nights for a few supervisors, who will render their final decision on the plan at their Dec. 15 meeting at Warwick Middle School.

Blair Witch. What it is: The subject of the most famous and profitable $30,000 movie ever made. We wondered if its legend was real, and if those three filmmakers were just actors, or if they really disappeared in the Maryland woodlands. We were happier if we didn't know for sure. What it really is: Hope for independent filmmakers on shoe-string budgets worldwide.

Jar Jar Binks. What it is: One of the most annoying characters to ever appear in the movies, and this computer-generated being happens to appear in one of the most successful films of all time, "Star Wars, Episode One: The Phantom Menace." Actually, he wouldn't have been so bad if he wasn't in the movie so much. What it really means: Actors fearing they might be replaced by technology can breathe a sigh of relief... for a few more years, anyway.

American Home Products. What it is: The company that is merging with our own Warner Lambert to create a new and larger pharmaceutical firm. Name changes for the firm that Elmer Bobst brought here in the late 1950s are not new, and in an era of corporate takeovers this could be one of the good ones (it was for the stockholders.) What it really means: Hopefully, many more jobs for the Lititz plant.

Lititz 2000. What it is: Y2K was too easy for this list, and that is a phrase we will be laughing about in future years. But the Lititz 2000 celebration is giving a local "twist" to the Millennium celebration. What it really means: Lititz may have found a tradition to carry into the next century. This year's celebration will tell us if it's possible.

Warriors are about pride, not race

Editor, Record Express,

Warwick Warriors have always been thought of as strong and brave, a prideful spirit, and a willingness to succeed. Never have I associated the name "Warriors" as being racist or a put down to the Native Americans. If everyone keeps changing the meaning of the English language into racial slurs, politically correct forms, and offending forms of speech, we will soon not even have the English language left.

For instance, would you have the Washington Redskins football team change their name, because it means "people with red skin," or what about those Indian pennies you sometimes receive with the Indian face on them. Will they, too, be offensive?

When celebrating Thanksgiving, shall we put away all of our decorations because they have Indians dressed in buckskins carrying pumpkins? Will this, too, be offensive to you? Read any history book and you will find that the Indians had a part in establishing our land and our history. You can look in any farmer's field and you find Indian heads, broken tips off arrows, all that have been buried deep in the earth only a reminder that the Indians were here. This is part of our town's history. This was part of the Indians homeland. Dressing up as a mascot as an Indian is celebrating their life. They were prideful, strong, and smart people.

The Indians had to fight for food, be able to be skilled with a bow and arrow, and a never-ending will to succeed. I can not speak for everyone, but I am proud to be a graduate of Warwick. We, too, have that spirit of pride. The athletes have it every time they are in a game, a spirit of never giving up, fighting within you to succeed.

I am proud to be known as an alumni of the Warwick Warriors and not as the Warwick Pretzels or any other name in which you might think of.

Teen dance omission disappointing

Editor, Record Express,

It was with great disappointment that I read the schedule of events for the Millennium Celebration in Lititz. In a town that seems to be busting with new families why is it that the Senior activities always prevail. No dance for the teens but The Moonlighters for Grandma and Grandpa.

Don't misunderstand, I am at the threshold of senior citizenship. But I think it is more important to provide our youth with a safe and fun activity than our seniors who aren't likely to get into a great deal of trouble if there's nothing to entertain them.

I was looking forward to spending the evening in Lititz but with all due respect to our mayor, I think a speech at 11:30 on New Year's Eve will break my party mood.

Our shelves are currently well-stocked, and this will enable us to generously help and support families in need.

Please remember that the Community Chest is here to support anyone who resides in the Warwick School District, during a time of need.

Thanks for quality work to repair damage when deer entered home

Editor, Record Express,

Far too often we experience shoddy service and dissatisfaction with the quality of work we have done for us.

On Oct. 30th my husband and I were awakened to a crashing of glass and the destruction of our living room and kitchen.

As the destruction continued we knew the crashing of glass was inside the house.

With fear, we investigated the noise and found a buck deer in our living room, in Lititz Borough.

After the deer left through the bottom window, we were left with much destruction, broken glass and much blood.

After taking pictures and a video of the damage, we called Compleat Restorations within 15 minutes our call was returned. A cleaning crew arrived within one hour. After two hours of hard work, the windows were boarded up. The carpet and glass and all the blood was cleaned up.

By Thanksgiving, our home was back to normal. A sincere thank you to all of the employees of Compleat Restorations and also a thank you to our insurance agent of State Farm, Mark Hough, for giving above and beyond the call of duty.

LITITZ — The Warwick High School music department is going Medieval for its upcoming elaborate holiday concert, with two special performances scheduled this weekend.

Dressed in traditional Medieval period costumes, the Concert Choir, Chamber Singers, the High School Orchestra, and the Production Company will herald in the holiday season with "The Enchantment of Christmas" on Saturday, Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m., and on Sunday, Dec. 12 at 3 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The festive concert will include performances by more than 200 talented students. The High School Orchestra is under the direction of Ann Ahlers, and student teachers Will Newcomer and Ben McClure.

The Concert Choir, Chamber Singers and the Production Company are directed by Debra Kline-Smith.

Concert Choir will open the program with several traditional tunes, including "Carol of the Bells," "For Unto Us a Child is Born," "Lo, How Rose E're Blooming," and "O Holy Night."

The 52-member orchestra will then continue the program with five pieces, including "The Sleigh Ride" by Mozart, and one selection performed by strings only. The final piece is "Farandole," also known as "The March of the Three Kings."

Following a brief intermission, the 28-member Chamber Singers and the eight-member Production Company will take the audience on a journey to a castle village outside Paris, France.

In this setting, they will perform several numbers by J. Martin, including "A Call to Christmas," "Prepare," and "Could This Be the Day?" The soloists for this segment will be Joel Bischoff, Keely McGeehan, Chris Moyer and April Winebarger.

The ensemble will then travel to the castle gate, set in a winter's snow-fall, where the Chamber Singers will perform several other numbers, including "Carols of the Manger," "Awake Sing Gloria" by J. Martin, and "By Candlelight" by R. Elaine Schram.

The journey concludes inside the castle, ready to celebrate the festive holiday season in Medieval style, complete with lavish costumes and beautiful scenery from that era. As is the tradition, the Concert Choir and the Orchestra will unite for a grand finale, inviting Warwick alumni to the stage to join in singing Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

Piano accompanists for the concert are Jason Vignas (head), Kirsten Himeisen, Jonathan LeFever, Chris Moyer, Keith Reifsnnyder and Susan Risser.

A tea will be held in the dining commons following the shows. There is no charge, but donations are accepted.

BECK STUDENTS EXPERIENCE SCIENCE — In an on-going effort to encourage and promote an interest in science, math and technology, the sixth grade faculty of John Beck Elementary School recently invited the Lancaster-Lebanon Science and Technology Alliance to visit the school with their "What in the World?" program. The program brings local volunteers from various technical fields in close contact with students, providing them with an opportunity to hear about numerous careers and fields of study. Here Edward Cooper, electrical engineer and professor at Penn State University, York Campus, shows Justin Martin how electricity is generated. Through career-awareness activities such as this, the faculty and volunteers hope to improve the perception of science, math and technology fields and to have a lasting effect on the futures of their students.

KARI RADVANSKY

Record Express Staff
LITITZ — On the eve of the Pearl Harbor attack anniversary, sixth graders at Lititz Elementary had the honor of listening to a World War II veteran and army general speak about that war.

During the Dec. 1 assembly in the school library, students learning about World War II gained more knowledge from a man who experienced it first hand.

Major General Nicholas P. Kafkalas, recipient of the Distinguished Service Medal, Silver Star and Purple Heart, first enlisted with the army on March 6, 1939 as a private from the small town of Monessen, Pa.

Kafkalas presented a variety of information by touching base on many things such as fighting on many fronts or describing the convoy system used to prevent U.S. ships from being sunk by German submarines.

The major general passed around many of his badges, photos and newspapers from the 1940's for the students to inspect. He allowed a question and answer session where he clearly and honestly answered the numerous questions in a way that was not too graphic for the students.

"Just remember, the people that fought during World War II were just average people like all of you," Kafkalas said. He said that although everyone is an individual with individual interests, people must come together as one to get the job done and serve their country.

The school librarian, Pat Sensenig, arranged the assembly with the help of Brigadier General John L. Patten, of Middletown. After 30 years in the army, including two tours in Vietnam and service in Korea, Patten retired. He is currently Deputy Adjutant General for Veterans Affairs in Pennsylvania.

Patten also spoke to the students about how men like Major General Kafkalas fought and died, so we could have the many rights and freedoms that we often take for granted today.

While learning about World War II, the students also viewed a movie about Anne Frank's life in a concentration camp and will be required to write a report on the war.

Gantz, Bamberger named Nov. Students of Month

MANHEIM — Manheim Central High School recently announced its selection of two seniors as Student of the Month for November.

Susanne Bamberger, 18, daughter of Jim and Karen Bamberger, 551 Hi View Drive, Lititz, was named Student of the Month by Manheim Woman's Club. Susanne plays keyboard and bells for the Manheim Central Marching Band, and has played flute in past years.

An honor roll student, she is also a member of National Honor Society. She is also the editor in chief of the school literary magazine, and is involved with yearbook, Model UN, MAA Softball, piano and art lessons.

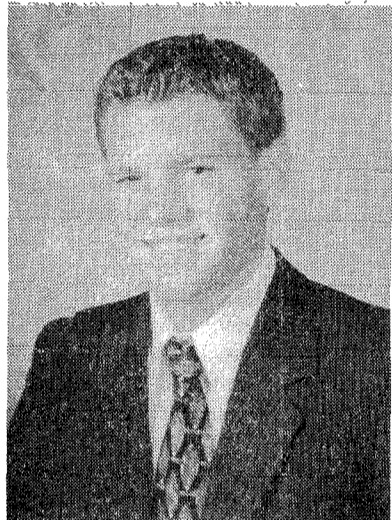

Susanne is a volunteer at Lancaster General Hospital. Her future plans include attending college to major in art.

J. David Gantz, 18, son of John and Judy Gantz, 30 E. Gramby St., Manheim, was named November Student of the Month by the Manheim Rotary Club. He is a member of the soccer team and has participated in swimming and track at Manheim Central. During his freshman year he was named Rookie of the Year of the soccer team, and received the Coaches Award on the swimming team.

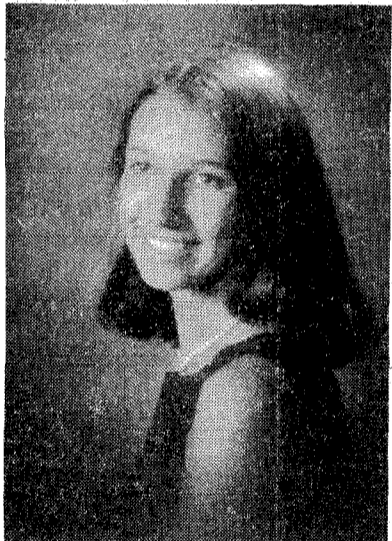

He has been an honor roll student throughout his high school career. David attends St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lancaster, and is a hospitality member at church. He is also a member of the Lanco Unite Rage soccer team, and worked for two years at the Manheim Community Pool.

His other interests include mountain biking, hiking, camping and canoeing. After graduation, David plans to attend college.

33 Years of Sports Memories

Whether we like to admit it or not, sports influences everyone's lives. We learn about teamwork and about competition. We learn how to win with grace and lose with dignity. We even learn how to live with great embarrassment. The World of Sports has certainly been an influence in my 33 years on this earth.

Sports allow us to leave the "real" world and its pressures and escape to a land where, for even "One Shining Moment," we too can be superstars. We brag at work to our co-workers about how great we were "back in the day." Comments like "these kids today couldn't hold their against our team of '81" or "if it wouldn't have been for my injury I would have played in the minors" are heard throughout the break rooms of America's industry.

We owe great we were "back in the day." Comments like "these kids today couldn't hold their against our team of '81" or "if it wouldn't have been for my injury I would have played in the minors" are heard throughout the break rooms of America's industry.

We all have our dreams and our memories of how sports influenced our lives when growing up. With 1999 running down, the print, radio and television media has been bombarding the news and airwaves with the "team of the century," the "players of the century," and the "best game of the century."

In keeping with this recurring theme, here are my top five lists in various categories. I hope that some of these lists will bring back fond memories for you the reader as well. I certainly had fun reminiscing.

My top five most embarrassing moments while playing sports: 5. Hitting a baseball through my parents' bathroom window; 4. Getting cut from the 7th grade basketball team; 3. Stealing second base while playing for the Warwick Yankees junior-midget team — the bases were loaded; 2. Getting hit in the head with a foul ball off the bat of the Phillies' Greg Gross and being knocked out; 1. Going to the bathroom in my pants while batting in a little league baseball game.

My top five events that I wish I could have seen in person: 5. Jack Nicklaus' 1986 Masters victory; 4. Doug Flutie's "Hail Mary" pass to Donald Phelan in the Orange Bowl to beat the Univ. of Miami in 1984; 3. Villanova's stunning win over Georgetown in the 1985 NCAA basketball championship game and (See Column, Page 11)

Girls' Basketball Eagles soar past WHS girls in finals

LITITZ — If a good test is what the Lady Warrior basketball team wanted from its season-opening Tip-Off Tourney last weekend, then they weren't disappointed.

Playing in Saturday night's finals against a Blue Mountain team which reached the State Triple-A quarterfinals last year, the Warwick girls fell behind 34-25 at halftime, closed to within four, 34-30, in the third quarter, before eventually losing 64-43 to the Eagles.

The Lady Warriors (1-1) had been hoping to build off of their 48-38 semi-final win over Lower Dauphin on Friday and win their second straight Tip-Off Tournament championship, but they just weren't sharp against a quick Blue Mountain squad which lost only one player from last year's State quarterfinalist.

"We just weren't good enough tonight," Warwick Head Coach Troy May said. "We had a little bit of a let-down. We weren't prepared to play mentally and physically. We weren't getting into things quickly again. Give Blue Mountain credit because they did a nice job defensively."

"I said (to the players), 'We need to get better. This is just a loss, it doesn't count in our Section or anything like that.' Blue Mountain is excellent, I mean, they're a real nice team."

The Eagles (2-0), who opened with a 61-54 win over Kennard-Dale on Friday, were led by the tandem of Erin McIntyre and Steph Frey, who dropped in a combined four treys and scored 28 and 10 points, respectively.

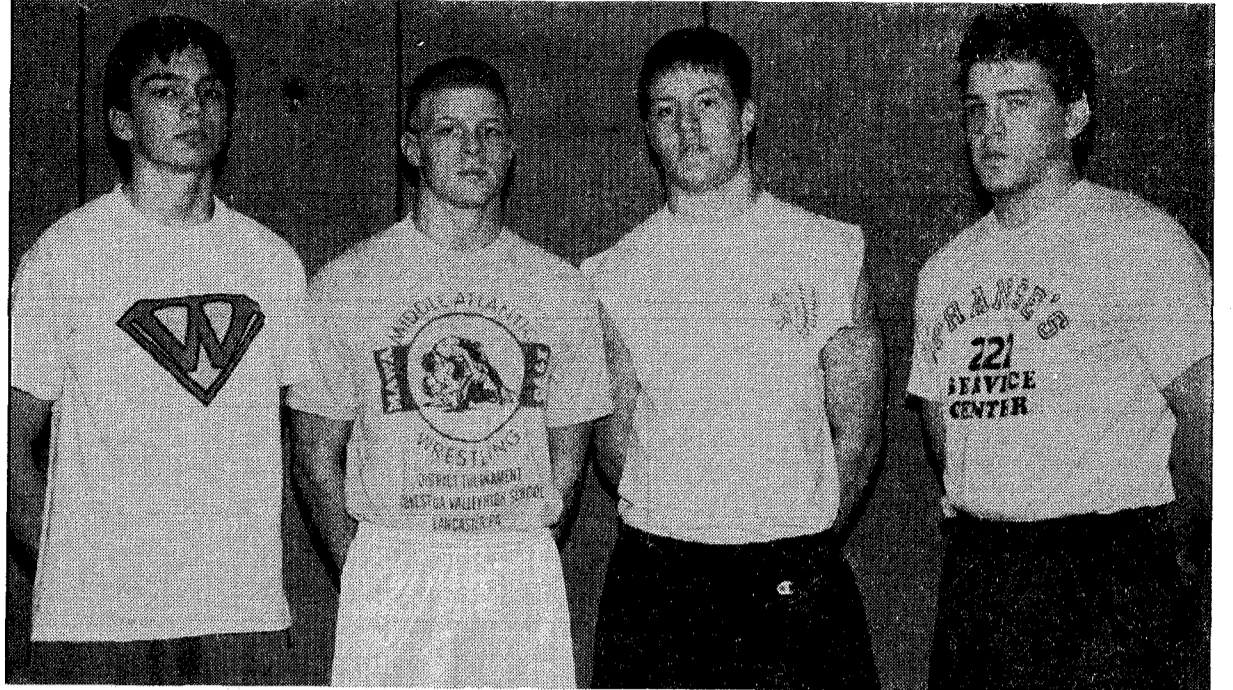

Allison Runk paced the Lady Warriors with 10 points.

Trailing by nine at halftime and not playing well in the first two quarters, Warwick got some hope early in the third with a mini 5-0 run, cutting the Eagles' lead to 34-30. Runk hit a short jumper, Shannon White (six points) buried a deuce, and Allison Goodhart (six points) converted one of two free throws.

But it was all Blue Mountain after that, as the Eagles finished the third on a 17-0 run and all but sealed the win with a 51-30 cushion heading to the final stanza.

"The difference between us and them right now," May said, "is when we got within four, we couldn't go over that hump, and good teams like Blue Mountain saw, 'Hey, they're coming in closer, let's pick it up a pace,' and they did. That's a team that can go into overdrive."

Warwick's place-finishers at the Top Hat Tournament in Williamsport last weekend were (l-r) Dave Beard, Ben Witmer, Josh Witmer, and Austin Phillips.

WILLIAMSPORT — Warwick Wrestling Coach Jerry McDonald has looked forward to taking his team to the Top Hat Tournament for the past couple of years because he knows his matmen will get good competition and benefit later from the experience.

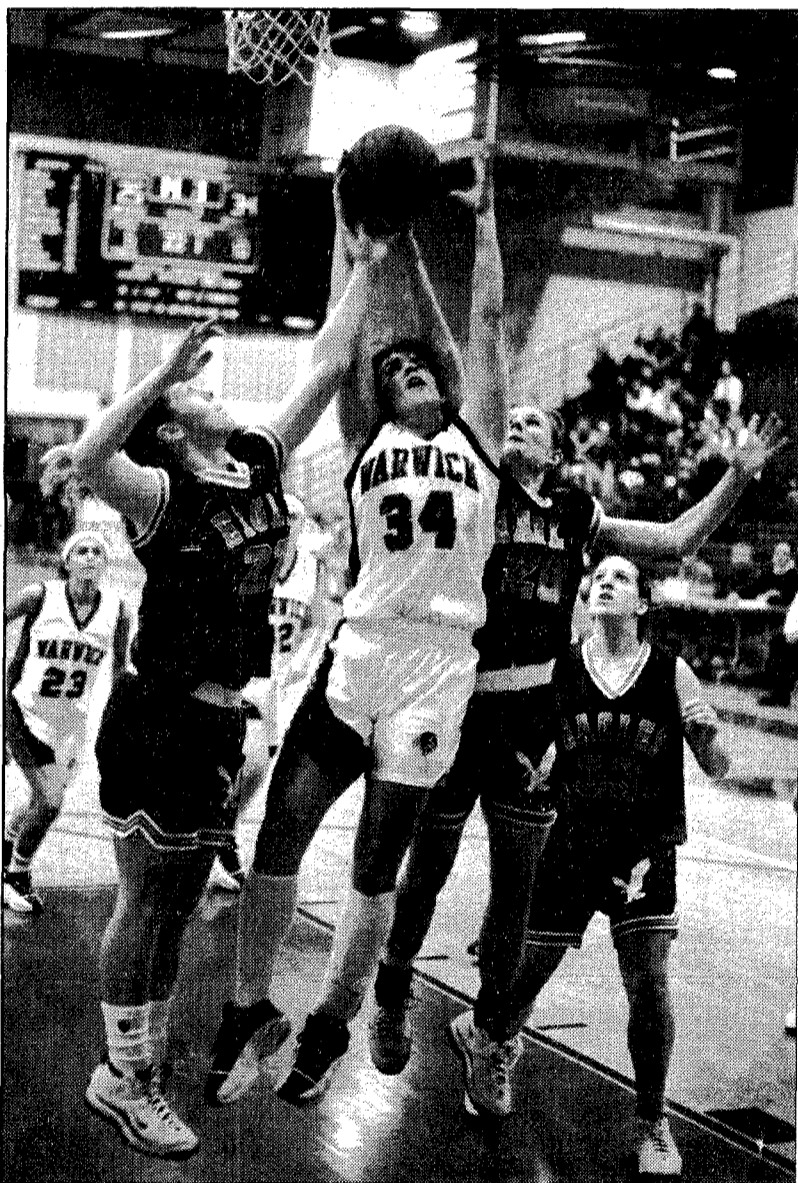

Last Friday and Saturday in Williamsport, the Warriors faced the usual array of solid opponents at that toumey and came away with four place-finishers while finishing seventh overall out of 16 teams.

Not bad for a team with five sophomores and one freshman in the lineup.

In an interview on Monday, McDonald was tickled to see his young squad finish in the top half of the field, and not many points separating them from the fifth and sixth-place teams.

Boys' Basketball

Warriors notch first win with 78-42 win over ELCO

BRUCE MORGAN

Record Express Staff

MYERSTOWN — The fire in Warwick's boys' basketball team began to emerge in the second half of its game with Susquenita last Saturday night.

It continued in a big way on Tuesday, and ELCO just happened to be the one to get burned.

With a significant advantage in rebounds and a sizzling shooting performance, including 8-for-12 beyond the three-point arc, the Warriors earned their first win of the season Tuesday with a 78-42 non-league win over the Raiders in Myerstown.

The victory improved Warwick's record to 1-2 on the year.

"We just came out and blew the doors down," Warrior Head Coach Ryan Landis said. "I don't know, I'm still a little speechless."

"I think it was a combination of playing a young team on an off night and we were really hungry for a win. We were a better team than what we showed over the weekend."

The Warriors came up empty last weekend in the Lower Dauphin Tip-Off Tournament, dropping a 52-46 decision to the host Falcons on Friday and then falling to Susquenita 66-62 on Saturday. But Landis was encouraged to see his players rally from a 20-point deficit at halftime against Susquenita and get as close as three points in the second half.

"We just kinda scrambled all over the place, and when you're down, you don't have much to lose so you just go after them," Landis remarked.

On Tuesday, the Warriors went right after ELCO at the opening tip and never looked back. They built a 33-15 cushion at halftime and then put it away in the third quarter. The Raiders scored the first basket of the period, but then the WHS boys put together a 27-8 run, and that was the game.

"They were so geared up and focused," Landis said. "They weren't Saturday night, but they were clearly ready to go tonight. Hopefully we can continue in that direction."

Senior center Ian Daecher led all Warwick scorers with 20 points, while dishing out six assists and pulling down 13 boards. For the game, the Warriors had an incredible 39-13 advantage in rebounds.

Warwick forward Kevin Silva (12) battles a pair of Lower Dauphin players for the ball underneath the basket last Friday.

Senior guard Jamie Peifer added 15 points, including three treys, and five assists, and senior forward Kevin Silva chipped in with 14 points.

One of the things which Landis was happy to see was that Peifer and backcourt mate Brandon Chivinski combined for 10 assists and just three turnovers in the game.

"If we can get that from our guards, that's pretty good," Landis said. Looking back at its last six quarters, Warwick has outscored its opponents 115-65 in that time.

"There's potential," Landis said. "We can shoot the basketball this year. If we can get our defense to where I'd like to get it, where I think we were last year, it could be interesting."

Warwick field hockey players (l-r) Kristin Harris, Katie Gerfen, and Kelly Wood were recently named Mid-East Regional All-Americans. Gerfen and Wood then went on to receive STX/National Field Hockey Coaches Association All-American honors.

Gerfen, Wood named All-Americans Join Harris on Mid-East Regional squad

BRUCE MORGAN

Record Express Staff

LITITZ — Having helped lead Warwick's field hockey team to the State Triple-A championship about three weeks ago, senior Katie Gerfen and sophomore Kelly Wood were selected this week as STX/National Field Hockey Coaches Association All-Americans.

Gerfen earned first-team honors for the second year in a row, to go along with second-team recognition she received in '97, and Wood received second-team accolades for the first time.

Both Gerfen and Wood, along with junior Kristin Harris, were also named Mid-East Regional All-Americans.

Asked for his reaction when he learned of the news, Warwick Head Coach Bob Derr said, "Just excited, and at the same time a little disappointed, because I was hoping Kristin Harris would've stepped in there too. But I was excited for Katie and Kelly."

Derr has to be a member of the NFHCA in order to nominate his players for All-American status, and then the girls have to get recommendations from other coaches as well. From there, players' statistics are forwarded to committee members, who then watch the girls play in the National Field Hockey Festival over Thanksgiving as part of making their decisions.

Warwick's honorees were humble about their achievements.

"I'm pretty much shocked, I didn't really think about it," Wood said.

Gerfen, too, was surprised, even after winning All-American honors the previous two years. This is also the third year that she was selected a Mid-East Regional All-American.

"You never expect anything," she commented. "You have to go out every game and every season working hard, giving your full effort."

Both Wood and Gerfen would have liked to have shared the honors with their entire team.

"We couldn't have gotten here without our team," Gerfen said. "I'm kinda sad how everyone on the team couldn't be elected to have this honor."

Jessica Rose, a 1999 WHS grad, also previously earned All-American honors for the Lady Warriors, being named to the second team in 1997 and the first team in 1998, while also earning Mid-East Regional All-American recognition both years.

Plus, Erica Widder, 1996 WHS grad, was named a Player to Watch in 1995, and Michelle Marks, a 1999 WHS grad, was named a Mid-East Regional All-American in 1998.

The Thursday Evening Quarterback

It's a three-person race in the Thursday Evening Quarterback.

Jim Grimsley got the guests one game closer to front-runner Vito Randazzo with a week-best 6-3 record in last week's games. Now, with only three weeks left, there are only two games separating Randazzo (80-46), Don Campbell (79-47), and the guests (78-48).

Lititz's Blake Bender correctly named Conestoga Valley as the answer to last week's trivia question and was selected as this week's guest.

The Record Express thanks Dick Null, who also correctly responded to the question.

Anyone who correctly answers a weekly trivia question will have their name placed in a drawing. If they're chosen, they will receive a free large pizza, in addition to being the next week's guest.

Call the Record at 626-2191 if you know the answer.

Lions Clubs present annual football awards

LITITZ — Three Lancaster-Lebanon League football players were honored this past Thursday, Dec. 2 at the General Sutter Inn as local Lions presented the annual Outstanding Football Player Awards.

Winners are selected by a vote of the L-L League coaches. The awards are jointly sponsored by the Lititz Lions Club, the Elizabethtown Lions Club, and the Columbia Lions Club. Master of Ceremonies for the presentations was Pat Principe of WGAL Sports.

Jaren Hayes of Cedar Crest High School received the the Section One award, presented by the Lititz Lions Club in memory of former Warwick Coach Bernie Rider. Following remarks by Cedar Crest Coach Gene Fuhrman, the trophy was presented by Lititz Lions President Sanford Leaman.

Jeff Smoker of Manheim Central High School received the Section Two award, presented by the Elizabethtown Lions in memory of Bill Frantz, former coach at E-town High School. Jeff, also a recipient in 1998, was introduced by his coach, Mike Williams, and the trophy was presented by Mrs. Hannah Frantz Bradley, widow of coach Bill Frantz.

Ryan Strickler of Columbia High School received the Section Three award, presented by the Columbia Lions in honor of Jake Yohe. After introductions by Ryan's coach, Mike Burke, the trophy was presented by Mr. Yohe, former coach at Columbia and Hempfield High Schools.

In their brief remarks, all three coaches were adamant in their praise of the winners, both as athletes on the field and as individuals off the field.

These awards date back to 1969 when first presented to outstanding high school football players from the Lancaster County League by the Lititz and E-town Lions.

Over the years, as the league has changed and reorganized, there have also been changes in the presentations of these awards. One thing that has always remained is the purpose of the awards, which is to recognize significant achievement on the playing field.

Local Lions are proud to continue this tradition and to honor those who have distinguished themselves as outstanding football players in the central Pennsylvania region.

Football Wrapup

Warwick makes strides in '99

BRUCE MORGAN

Record Express Staff

LITITZ — If you looked at Warwick's football team in August and then again in November, you would have seen two different squads.

Entering the '99 campaign with an underclassmen-dominated lineup, Warwick showed substantial improvement at season's end. Opposing teams and coaches noticed it as they looked at game films to prepare to play the Warriors.

When things were all said and done, Warwick fell just short of the .500 mark, but did better its '98 record (2-8), finishing 4-6 overall and 3-4 in Section One.

"I was (pleased) at times, and at times I got a little impatient because I wanted us to improve faster," Warwick Head Coach Mark Snyder said last week. "But we did improve and that's why I was pleased. I felt we showed gradual improvement throughout the season, some weeks it was slower than others and that's when I'd get impatient because I wanted us to get better faster so we could be competitive during the meat of our schedule, which came in the second half of the schedule."

The top three teams in Section One — Cedar Crest, Governor Mifflin, and Hempfield — were among the Warriors' final four games. Warwick lost 34-0 to Hempfield in Week Seven, but bounced back with one of its best efforts of the year against Cedar Crest, the eventual Section champ. They were trailing only 21-14 early in the third before suffering a 41-20 loss.

"I think we were at some crossroads a couple of times during the season and the kids handled it well, the coaching staff handled it well, and we stayed together," Snyder said.

That unity paid off in the next-to-last game of the season, when the Warriors earned an impressive 26-7 victory over McCaskey in Lancaster. Asked if their win over the Red Tomatoes was their best game of the year, Snyder said, "I think so. It was probably the best talent that we beat. (McCaskey) came together as a team occasionally, but they didn't really come together as a team week after week after week, but it was the best talent that we beat."

Warwick opened the year on a positive note, shutting out arch-rival Ephrata 20-0 to reclaim the George Male Trophy for the second time in three years.

But then they faced two of the top teams in Section Two this year in Elizabethtown and Manheim Central. Though they dropped both games, by scores of 20-7 and 25-0 respectively, the Warriors played a strong game against the Barons, and in fact held Jeff Smoker and Co. to their fewest points in a game this season until last weekend's State loss to Strath Haven.

The Warriors eventually fell to 1-3 on the season following a 20-6 setback to Reading, but they returned to the .500 mark with back-to-back victories over Manheim Twp. (20-9) and Penn Manor (21-20).

"When you look at it overall, even when we were 1-3, I wanted the kids to feel like they were winners, because they were doing things the right way, they were working hard, they were pretty disciplined, and they were showing improvement," Snyder remarked.

"And I didn't want to be too tough on them because I wanted them to feel like winners and I think we got that message across, because had they been dragged down and put down at that point, Township and Penn Manor were both good enough to beat us if we hadn't gone into those games with the right attitude."

As a result of injuries and the fact that Warwick had only seven seniors, there were a lot of underclassmen who got valuable playing time this fall. At the team's banquet on Nov. 21, the Warriors presented varsity letters to five seniors, 10 juniors, and five sophomores.

"We had a lot of underclassmen earn letters this year, more than at any time that I can remember," Snyder said. A couple of those, junior running back/linebacker Zach Williams (knee) and junior guard/defensive tackle Jason Vignas (shoulder), are undergoing off-season surgeries, but both are expected to be ready to go next year.

Snyder was pleased with the development of not only his underclassmen, but his seniors as well.

"The seniors got better too," Snyder said. "Those kids working to get better were good role models for the younger kids."

The 2000 season will find Warwick moving down to Section Two and Wilson going up to Section One.

The Warriors will have a lot of talent returning, but Snyder said the key will be getting the kids in the weight room and doing conditioning work during the months between now and August. He and his coaching staff were encouraged when 36 of their athletes showed up in the weight room on the first night of workouts last week.

"I think the key now is to convince these kids that from now until the first practice in August is critical to the development of next year's team," Snyder said. "We need to get stronger. I don't think we need to get any tougher, because the toughness is there. We have good kids, we have tough kids, we just have to get stronger so those good kids, those tough kids don't get pushed around as much. Then I think we can get at playing at another level."

Moving back to Section Two, where they last played in 1993, should present a good challenge for Warwick. Snyder figured out that in crossover games with Section One teams during the past five years, Section Two has a record close to 29-21.

Warriors earn four all-star berths on Section 1 first team

BRUCE MORGAN

Record Express Staff

MT. GRETTA — Warwick's football team had a lot to be proud of when the Lancaster-Lebanon League's Section all-star teams were announced last Wednesday, Dec. 1 at the league's coaches' banquet at the Timbers Restaurant in Mt. Gretna.

The Warriors, who went 3-4 in Section play and 4-6 overall this season, claimed four spots on Section One's first-team, two each on offense and defense.

Senior Ian Daecher was named both to the first-team offense and defense, at tight end and defensive end, respectively.

WHS senior Dan Zimmerman made the first-team offense at guard and junior Kevin Pfautz received first-team honors as an interior lineman on defense.

The Warriors also had four second-team selections, including junior Zack Williams (running back) and Pfautz (tackle) on offense, along with Zimmerman (interior line) and junior Kyle Pickel (linebacker) on defense.

Plus, junior Donnie Stoltz (quarterback) and senior Zach Rowe (center/linebacker) received Honorable Mention.

"I think the kids who deserved to be recognized got recognized from Warwick, and that doesn't always happen," Warwick Head Coach Mark Snyder said. "There might've been one or two who I thought deserved some recognition that didn't get any, but that always happens too. And they're young kids and they'll have a chance next year."

Snyder telephoned his players as soon as he returned from the banquet Wednesday to give them the good news.

"They were excited," Snyder said of his players. "They should be, they have a lot to be proud of. They played well."

Cedar Crest had the most players earn Section One first-team honors, with eight. Reading followed with five, and then Warwick and Hempfield each had four.

As the community center continues to investigate the possibility of expanding our facility, I want to remind everyone of an important study that is going to take place in the year 2000. LCC will work in cooperation with the Lititz Borough, Warwick Township, Elizabeth Township, and Warwick School District, undergoing a Regional Comprehensive Recreation, Park and Open Space Plan. Using this information that comes out of this important study, we will be able to make decisions about our expansion that integrate the needs of our community.

The Warriors' 20-point deficit at halftime, 43-23, was just too big for them to overcome, as their second-half comeback fell short in the Lower Dauphin Tip-Off Tournament consolation game. Warwick outscored Susquenita 39-23 after the break.

Ian Daecher scored 27 points, grabbed 12 rebounds, and had six steals, and Jamie Peifer added a pair of "threes" and 21 total points to lead Warwick in the loss.

"We weren't ready to play," Landis said. "If we learn something from it, then I guess it's not that bad. If Saturday prevents us from coming out flat in a Section game, then it was worth it."

nailed a 'three' with 2:29 left in the third. But Lower Dauphin scored the final six points of the period, and then went ahead thanks to a 10-3 run at the start the fourth.

The Warriors got as close as three points, 46-43, on Peifer's trey with 1:48 to go, but the Falcons held on.

Peifer and Kevin Silva each finished with 11 points and Brandon Chivinski had 10 to lead Warwick in the loss. Lower Dauphin was paced by Paul Knackstedt, Jason Posey, and Brandon Dick, with 15, 12, and 10 points, respectively.

Girls' Hoops

(Continued from Page 8) While the Warwick girls had a size advantage over the Eagles, May didn't believe they capitalized on it as much as they could have.

"Our guards weren't looking for the post players quite as much as we needed to," he said. "In the beginning of the game, we didn't shoot very well from the foul line. What was happening was, they were in foul trouble, we'd get to the post and we'd go for the shot and if we missed it, we'd get fouled, but we weren't hitting the (free throw).

"So then it was maybe a 1-for-2 or 3 deal, and at the end, that kinda catches up to you."

For the game, the WHS girls were 19-for-31 from the line (61 percent), and Blue Mountain was 14-for-19 (74 percent).

McIntyre threw down 18 of her game-high 28 in the opening half, including 11 in the first quarter when the Eagles took an 18-14 lead. Meg Abele's 'three' and Runk's four points helped keep Warwick close.

Blue Mountain opened its lead to double-digits early in the second, 28-18, then Warwick got two free throws by Goodhart, a bucket by Megan Griffith, and a trey by Ashlea Becker to make the score 30-25.

But the Lady Warriors went scoreless over the final 2:00 of the half,

But Witmer came back to win his next four, defeating Whitehall's Brian Bauder (3-1), Titusville's Justin Kressey (fall, 4:23), Schuylkill Valley's Brooks Miller (6-4), and Cumberland Valley's Ben Stum (4-4, 2-0 OT).

"(Josh) has improved so much from last year," McDonald said. "I mean, I think he was 4-7 last year on varsity and here he goes up there and took third place in a 16-team tournament. So he did real well."

At 125, Beard (3-2) advanced to the semi-finals with wins over Penn Cambria's Randy Bucynski (fall, 1:49) and Mif's Brandon White, making a third-period escape stand up for a 5-4 decision. But he edged Line Mountain's Fred Eisenbaugh 2-1 in his final match to take fifth place.

"(Austin)'s a small heavyweight, he weighs 200 pounds, so we're really pleased with his performance," McDonald said.

Local girl sings in 'Holiday Spectacular'

LANCASTER — The holiday will be even more spectacular than usual thanks to a young vocalist from Lititz.

Christen Sakamoto, a talented nine-year-old who has performed at five different area theatres in her young career, is one of seven solo vocalists in "Holiday Spectacular" at the American Music Theatre this month. The show opened Nov. 13 and will run through Dec. 30.

While Christen is the only child in the show — other than two girls who share her role as alternates — she feels comfortable working along side taller, older people. She sings "Let There Be Peace On Earth" during the second half of the production.

In addition to being a part of the last three Christmas shows at American Music Theatre, she has also landed paying roles in musicals at Slight & Sound, Ephrata Act and Fulton Opera House.

Christen is the daughter of Craig and Ronnie Sakamoto, who reside at 17 Maple St. in Lititz. Her older brother Stephen is also an experienced performer.

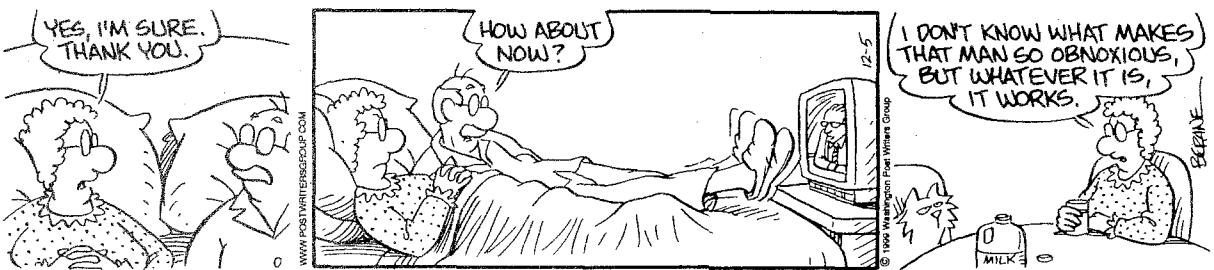

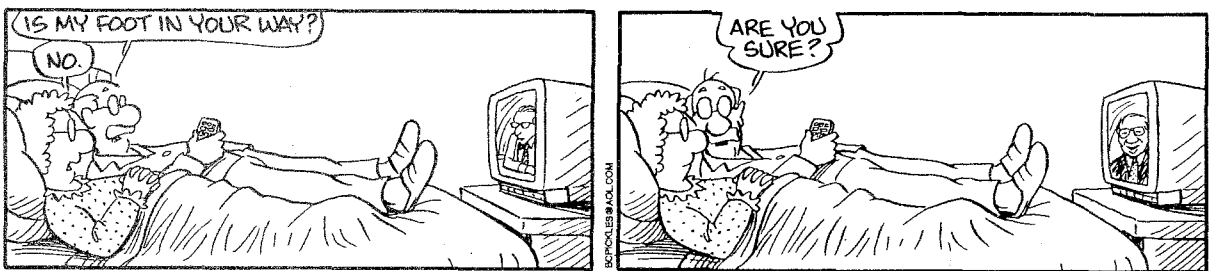

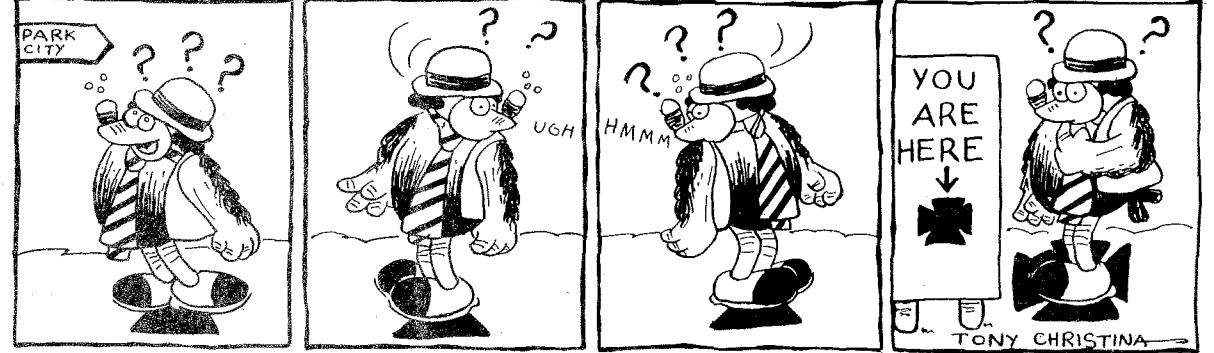

American Music Theatre is located at 2425 Lincoln Highway East and show times are Tuesdays

Garbage truck hits parked car

WARWICK TWP. — A garbage truck driver was cited on Dec. 2 when he backed into a parked vehicle along Hiawatha Drive.

Warwick Township police said at 10:38 a.m., Mark T. Jacobs, 42, of Akron was driving a 1980 Mack garbage truck for Good's Disposal Service along Lehey Forest Drive when he started to back into Hiawatha Drive. He told police he saw the parked 1990 Pontiac Bonneville, but thought he had enough room to maneuver.

The side step gate of the truck struck the driver's side of the Bonneville, owned by L. William Schotta of the first block of Hiawatha Drive, causing moderate damage to the car and light damage to the truck. No one was hurt, and the Bonneville was towed from the scene. Jacobs was cited for a backing violation.

Garbage truck flips in Penn

PENN TWP. — A garbage truck flipped over and the driver escaped injury while travelling along Sanctuary Road on Nov. 24.

Penn Township police said at 1:47 p.m., Daniel Thome of Lebanon was driving a garbage truck, owned by Lebanon Valley Disposal in Schaeferstown, along the 1800 block of Sanctuary Road when it rolled over while negotiating an S-turn.

Thome was not hurt, but he was cited by police for a speeding violation and for commercial rollover.

DUI charged

PENN TWP. — An East Petersburg woman was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol after she was involved in a vehicle accident on Nov. 30.

Penn Township police were called to the scene of an accident near Cain's Lanes at 5:30 p.m., and while there observed that Patty Ward of East Petersburg was under the influence of alcohol, and failed a field sobriety test.

She was taken to Ephrata Community Hospital, where a blood alcohol test determined she was under the influence, and was arrested for DUI.

MANHEIM — A Manheim man was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol after he was stopped by police on Dec. 4.

Police said they stopped Robert E. Greiner Jr., 38, of the 200 block of South Charlotte Street, after he was observed driving erratically along the 100 block of South Charlotte Street to the second block of West Dover Street at 2:48 a.m. He was arrested and charged with DUI.

Zeus helping in drug searches in Warwick

WARWICK TWP. — Since Zeus officially joined the Warwick Township police department in October, the value of the K-9 law enforcer has been quite visible.

He has been quite active lately, helping his partner, Ofc. Gary Garrison locate marijuana on two suspects, and crack cocaine on another.

On Nov. 26 at 12:30 a.m., Zeus was brought to the Sheetz parking lot to assist another officer in the inspection of a vehicle. Police said Zeus "indicated a positive alert" during the inspection, and police eventually found marijuana seeds in the vehicle. The drugs were destroyed by police.

On the same evening at 1:58 a.m., Garrison stopped a vehicle, where he detected the odor of alcohol coming from the driver. While speaking with the driver, he noticed a marijuana seed in the vehicle. Zeus was called into action, and again had a positive reaction, scratching the passenger side door of the vehicle. A small amount of marijuana was discovered, and drug paraphernalia was found in the truck, where alcohol was discovered. The marijuana was wet, as the driver told police he attempted to swallow it when they were stopped.

On Dec. 5, Zeus and Ofc. Garrison were requested to assist Ephrata Township police in tracking a suspect who fled from an officer near the Green Dragon market.

The search for the motorist was unsuccessful, but during an inspection of the vehicle, Zeus scanned three packs of cigarettes, and had a positive alert on the third pack. In that pack, officers discovered a plastic bag containing rock cocaine. A crack pipe was also found.

During the investigation, Zeus fell about eight feet from a bridge. He was not hurt in the fall.

Zeus also assisted at the scene of a man threatening to kill himself in Ephrata Borough on Nov. 23. State Police and the CERT team were at the scene to bring it under control. Zeus's job was to bark outside the residence to entice the man to leave. The man was eventually removed from the house with only minor injuries.

According to the report, the CERT team "was impressed how calm and quiet Zeus was during the whole incident."

Garrison has also been very pleased with the work that Zeus has done so far for the township.

Dog owner is charged with animal cruelty

WARWICK TWP. — A local man was charged with cruelty to animals after police found three dogs living in unsanitary conditions, including one with serious medical problems.

Warwick Township police said at the residence of Randall S. Becker, 39, of the 500 block of Furnace Hills Pike, they found carpets soaked in urine and fecal matter around the residence.

Two of the younger dogs appeared to be in good health, according to police, but one dog, a 13-year-old West Holland Terrier, was found with almost no fur and tumor growths on its legs and toes.

Becker told police the animals had not been to a veterinarian in awhile, and that they did not have current dog licenses. The older dog, "Peppy," was taken to Lititz Veterinary Clinic, where he had been last seen in January 1993. The dog was diagnosed with Cushings disease, and was suffering from a skin disease, dental disease and inner ear infections and tumors, according to police. The dog began taking antibiotics and was given current shots.

Police issued Becker several citations for cruelty to animals and unlicensed dogs.

Man charged with assault

Introducing A High-Tech Revolutionary Machine That Can Improve Your Health...

MYOVISION IS HERE

Myovision is a state of the art machine that was designed by NASA to monitor electrical activity of the muscles of the spine and also detect spinal heat from inflammation along your spine. Why is this so important? Because this allows us at Stoner Chiropractic to gather the best available data about the condition of your nerve system and spine.

Before...

After...

Subluxations (or "pinched nerves") of your spine irritate the function of your body. The Central Nervous System is housed in your spine, when a vertebra is out of position your nervous system is pinched -- that is what irritates your body functions. Inflammation and muscle tension result from subluxation, and this is what Myovision detects. Having this test done will focus on the origins of your health problems.

We at Stoner Chiropractic invite you to get a complimentary exam of your spine with the Myovision. This exam is painless and takes about 5 minutes to perform... (It's free, it's important; it's your health).

Jane Craig

28 South Broad Street

This Georgian House, the residence of Jane and the late Dennis Craig, was built in 1852 as inscribed in the plaster on the third floor. It is a center hall brick home with an open staircase on the third floor. It originally had four fireplaces, two of which exist today. The interior woodwork is very fine and an interesting feature is the wooden paneled shutters that fold into the window frame. The primitive painting of the Moravian Church Square, located above the fireplace mantel, was painted by Dennis. The corner cupboard in the dining room is circa 1750 and filled with a collection of early blown glass. The tall case clock in the living room is from Glasgow, N.Y., circa 1790-1810. The dining room table and Queen Anne armchair were made by Arle Hackman, as was the tea table and pie crust table in the living room. In the library/den is a secretary desk circa 1790-1810. The Craigs also have a fine collection of oriental rugs. This home is being decorated by Mrs. Craig.

Dennis Craig's painting of Moravian Square hangs above the fireplace mantle, which is decorated for the holidays.

Holiday ornament

designed by Arlene France

Arlene France displays the holiday ornament, which features one of three angels she designed for the Lititz Woman's Club series.

Arlene France, a member of the Lititz Woman's Club for the past 20 years, may not have her home on display in this year's tour... but her involvement is significant, and will be felt over the next three years.

Arlene designed three angels that will be featured on special ornaments over the next three years. The first one is now available for $8 each at several downtown retailers, and at the homes participating in the tour this Saturday.

"It's neat to see your work come into a different medium," Arlene said. Her black-and-white sketches were the designs etched into the glass ornaments by Susquehanna Glass. The ornaments are limited to 400.

The sketches were actually part of a Christmas card she created last year. When the club was seeking ideas for ornaments this year, she told them "If you need some angels, I've gone some!" Arlene, who has been part of the tour of homes before and an organizer since its early years, said it was fun showing about 400 people her historic Main Street home, showing them its unique qualities and the ways she decorated for the holidays.

Her advice to this year's homeowners: "Just be patient, and be prepared to answer a million questions," Arlene said.

Teddy Bear Day raises $1,500 for Ronald McDonald House

LITITZ — At the Nov. 4 meeting of the Lititz Women of Today, a check was presented to Todd Laysner, house manager of the Ronald McDonald House in Hershey.

The $1,500 check was raised at this year's Teddy Bear Day. Teddy Bear Day has been a very successful project over the years, with proceeds donated to the Lititz Library for children's books, Make-a-Wish Foundation, Children's Arthritis Foundation, and the Lititz Power Connection.

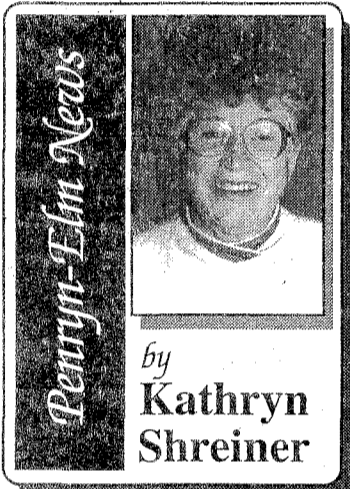

The organization was pleased to be able to help out the Ronald McDonald House this year. Todd Laysner told the club this "home away from home" helps families with seriously ill children cope because they are long-term illness and at the house, they can relax just a little.

The house runs at most times to 90 percent capacity, and there are a lot of families in need here. They are doing some work on the house at this time, so the money raised was gratefully accepted.

LITITZ — Everyone is invited to Trinity E.C. Church's annual Sunday School Children's Christmas Program this Sunday, Dec. 12, at 7 p.m. The theme for this year's musical drama will be "The Not So Silent Night."

The church is located at the corner of Cedar and Orange streets in Lititz.

983 animals sold at living gift fair

STEPHEN SEEBER

Record Express Staff
LITITZ — Some people came to purchase crafts while others were there to buy water buffalos. Together, they helped make this Christmas season one of the best for

Heifer Project International. The 12th Annual Living Gift Fair at Lititz Church of the Brethren, a localized effort to stop global hunger through the purchase of farmable animals and trees, surpassed last year's total by almost $2,000. And with last minute checks still coming in, the figures continue to rise. Dan Fitzkee, a local organizer since the fair's origin, reported that $19,800 was collected during the Nov. 27 event. Last year's fair netted just under $18,000.

"We were very pleased," Fitzkee said, attributing success to the long-standing reputation of Heifer Project International. He also said that many contributors are attracted to the "passing on the gift" aspect, in which recipients of the gift animals are required to pass the animals' offspring on to another needy family. It's truly the gift that keeps on giving. The animal-by-animal sale breakdown is as follows:

• 14 water buffalo were sold at a price of $250 each.

Moravian traditions have remained strong in the Lititz community for 250 years. One that has been shelved for many years is that of the Christmas Putz. With the help of the church's anniversary committee, these intricate creches make a comeback on Dec. 12. Everyone is invited to enjoy one of the annual events that helped define life in early Lititz. This photo, taken by Carl Shuman, is a view through the bay window toward the Moravian Church. A Moravian star is reflecting in the window at the home of Blanche DePerrot.

LITITZ — The cherished Moravian tradition of Putzing through the community has been set for Sunday, Dec. 12, 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The Putz, which is often translated as a Christmas garden and is similar to a creche or nativity scene, immigrated to Pennsylvania with Moravians from regions in Czechoslovakia many generations ago.

According to Dale Shelley, co-chairman of the church's 250th anniversary celebration, the Putz began as a simple manger scene that gradually grew to include complex scenery, moss-covered hills, lakes, houses and beasts of the forest. Many have become family heirlooms.

"Putzing was a tradition during the early years in Lititz," Shelley said. The tradition eventually faded out of practice and this anniversary year marks the revival of an important piece of Moravian history.

"In my lifetime, I don't remember ever going Putzing," Shelley said. He, and many others, hope that the tradition can be reestablished.

Locations of the Dec. 12 Putz displays are as follows:
• Moravian Church Square — in the windows of the sanctuary, windows of the archives building, and the basement of fellowship hall.

Lititz Historical Foundation, 145 E. Main St.

The home of Arlene France, 116 E. Main St.

The home of David and Peggy Jones, 66 E. Main St.

This leisurely tour is set up so that people can view the unique nativities in any order and at their own pace. Each location will be marked and brochures will be available at each stop. There will also be light refreshments served in Fellowship Hall.

The Putz tour is the last planned Moravian event for 1999 as the church heads into its 251st year, so be sure to share in the celebration of history and faith during this extra special Christmas season.

"This has been a fantastic year," Shelley said as the final event nears. "We tried to do everything we could to make it memorable. The committee was absolutely phenomenal. They worked extremely hard."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE
IT'S OK TO COMPROMISE, IF...
December 12, 1999

Background Scripture: Matthew 4:2-17. Devotional Reading: Luke 4:14-21.

This is a practical era we live in. We can rationalize almost any kind of behavior. The soldiers who participated in the Holocaust were "only following orders." The business executive who authorized dishonesty and deceit believes he or she had "the best interests of the company" at heart. People justify harmful deeds saying that "you have to go along to get along."

I was amazed in the aftermath of the Columbine High School tragedy in Littleton, Colorado how people debated the answer of the young girl (and I'm sorry I can't recall her name) who refused to deny that she believed in God and was shot and killed as a result.

I believe that compromise is important in our society, particularly when we are talking of means, but not when we speak of goals. I have no problem with the debate between how best to help the poor and homeless. Some say the welfare program is essential; others believe that welfare makes the problem worse. But, if we are against helping the poor and needy because we believe they bring it upon themselves, then I cannot compromise on that because Jesus didn't. So long as we pursue moral goals, we may disagree on the means and compromise for the sake of the goal.

probably still be alive today." Lots of people would buy that. Would you?

Jesus faced the same kind of dilemma. He believed he was called of God for a messianic task. So, to prepare for his mission, he went out into the desert where he fasted for 40 days and nights. Why did he do that? One reason was that the people of Israel had wandered in the wilderness for 40 years before they entered the Promised Land. He felt a need to share in the desert experience. Secondly, fasting in a deserted place was a time-honored means of purification and renewal. Freed of things, the spirit can emerge into the consciousness.

Are You Sure?
Just as the people of Israel were tested in the wilderness, so was Jesus. The Israelites' first test concerned hunger and God fed them in the wilderness with manna. So, the tempter comes to Jesus in the wilderness and says, "If you are the Son of God, command these stones to become loaves of bread" (4:3). Note how the tempter plays on Jesus' ego and certainty: "If you are the Son of God..." Jesus' response is an echo of Deuteronomy 8:3, "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God" (4:4).

The second test is also a taunt to prove that he really is whom he believes he is: taking him to the high pinnacle of the temple, he challenges him: "If you are the Son of God, throw yourself down." But Jesus replied with another allusion to Deuteronomy, this time 6:16: "You shall not tempt the Lord your God" (4:7).

The third temptation is perhaps the most insidious of all: taking him to a high mountain and showing Jesus all the kingdoms of the world, the tempter says, "All these I will give you if you fall down and worship me" (4:9). And Jesus replies with another Deuteronomy quotation: "You shall worship the Lord your God and him only shall you serve" (4:10).

It's OK to compromise when what you gain in the compromise does not run contrary to your loyalty to God and His kingdom.

Pack 142 scouts bake to raise $500 for Duke

Photos by Stephen Seeber

Pack 142 Cubmaster Nancy Sweigart hands over the $500 check to Lititz police officer Ken Lockhart. The money was raised by scouts during an annual cake bake auction, and all the proceeds benefit the local K-9 law enforcement unit.

LITITZ — Every October, Cub Scout Pack 142 holds a "Fellers Cake Bake" to raise money for a community service project. Choosing this year's beneficiary was easy for the boys — the recently-formed K-9 unit of the borough police force.

Partnered with adult helpers, the boys created Halloween theme cakes which were auctioned off by David Yerger, professional auctioneer. A total of $500 was raised and a few of the 30 cakes made fetched over $40.

Galen Kane's large pumpkin cake won the judges choice award and went for a cool $40 while Zachary Kendig's "Scream Face," dubbed the most original of the lot, took the top bid at $42.

All of the money raised was given to Lititz's K-9 unit, which consists of officer Ken Lockhart and his talented German Shepherd "Duke," during a presentation ceremony on Nov. 23 at St. James Catholic Church, Pack 142's sponsor congregation.

Cathy Chapis, one of the scout leaders, said that it was a fun service project for everyone involved.

"The boys and their families knew why we were raising the money," she said. "We heard that the program was funded by donations and we wanted to help. After all, scouting is service to the community and we found a fun way to do that."

Officer Lockhart and Duke seemed extremely thankful for the pack's efforts, as $500 should buy Duke lots of kibble, and the dynamic duo entertained plenty of questions about how they work together as a team.

Duke has already put his skills to work since arriving here a few weeks ago, helping to capture some local teens who were using marijuana and assisting on a tracking case in Ephrata.

Also during the pack's regular meeting on Nov. 23, scouts were given their new badges:

- Bobcat Badge — David Stoner, Dalton Sweigart, Colton Peloquin, Adam Chapis, Brendan Southam, Sammy Roman, Thomas Korzon, Dylan Griffe, Michael Fitz, Mathew Frey, Christopher Hickey, Justin Culp, Joey Groff, Shawn Irwin, Drew Foutz and Taylor Shaak.
- Bear Badge — Joshua Peloquin.
- Webelos Pins — John Copertino, Donny LeVasseur, Justin More, Stephen Wilson, Drake Gorman, Chavis Eckenrod, Paul Sullivan, Phillip Williams, Adam Shaver and Devon Clymer.

Numerous boys were awarded sports belt loops and pins for their athletic endeavors, as well as the summertime pack award.

Pack 142 has 45 members (scouts) and 22 dedicated adult leaders. Call Cathy Chapis at 626-6313 with any questions regarding the scout program at St. James.

Officer Ken Lockhart and Duke share tales of training and adventure with the curious scouts of Pack 142 at St. James Catholic Church on Nov. 23.

Gift Fair

- 10 llama went for $150 each.
- Three heifers, the most expensive animal on the list, were sold at $500 each.
- 12 sheep at $120 a piece.
- 12 goats at $120 each.
- 21 swarms of honeybees for $30 per swarm.
- 10 bundles of trees priced at $60 per bundle.
- Eight pigs, $120 each.
- 68 flocks of poultry ($20/flock).

- 17 trios of rabbits for $60 per trio.
- 808 fish, $1 for each.

A donation of $5,000 buys an entire arc, and although no one was able to throw down five grand, the giving was there in force.

"Quite a number of people bought entire animals," said Don Fitzkee, Dan's son and publicity chairman for the event. "The morning was fast and fierce. From 9:30 to 11:30, gifts of several hundred dollars each were coming in. From what I can tell, this is the best year we've ever had."

Donors do not have to buy an entire animal to contribute as shares of animals are also for sale. The emphasis is not on how much is given, but simply giving.

The first local gift fair was held at Elizabethtown College in 1987. Approximately $5,000 was raised then, which means the fundraiser has grown by percent in 12 years.

Dear Neighbors,

I am pleased to share some thoughts with you who may not be familiar with me personally, or with our Funeral Home family. In 1947, my father, Charles F. Snyder, opened our first funeral home at 414 East King Street in Lancaster. In 1975, I was honored to join him in his business, and privileged to acquire his interest in the business in 1988.

An opportunity to purchase our second funeral facility in the community of Millersville was realized one year later, in 1989.

Over the past 50 years, we have built a strong reputation for quality and caring service in the communities we serve. Our strict attention to detail means the best possible service to the families we serve.

I am pleased to announce our newest location, the Charles F. Snyder, Jr. Funeral Home & Chapel, Inc., 3110 Lititz Pike, opening in January, 2000.

This is something I have always wanted to do—to provide a full service facility north of Lancaster to better serve this section of our community. Our facility features a 200-seat pewed chapel with the capability of expanding to comfortably accommodate 400 people. We also have two viewing parlors, a new-style selection room, cremation center, and resource room to provide many options for families to choose from. We also offer a video screen for use during funerals or memorial services, a lounge for coffee and refreshments, and a children's playroom. Our parking lot is the largest of any funeral facility in Lancaster County.

Making housing more affordable

Farmers First Bank joins Ephrata effort

CAROL STARK

Special to the Record

EPHRATA — Five families moved into new homes located in a renovated factory building, one week after a ceremony commemorated the opening of the Old Market Apartments.

A ribbon cutting and open house ceremony was held on Nov. 8 at the new housing unit, located at 10 W. Locust St. in Ephrata.

The factory was once the home of Hesteco, which ceased operations in 1991. Located in the middle of town, the warehouse sat empty since then.

Knowing that empty buildings promote decay, CAP (Community Action Program) came up with an idea — refurbish the building and make housing for working families with an eligible income. CAP was looking after the Elder House on Church Street when the county gave the American Legion the home, which has now become the Veterans Place.

Now looking for another prospect, CAP began looking for another property to fill the housing needs for families of eligible income.

"This property was perfect," said Tom Eisemann, director of housing development. "It looked like a natural and we are proud to be part of bringing an old abandoned building back to life."

Today, 11 apartments, eight with two-bedrooms, have taken the place of that abandoned factory. It will now house folks with kids who are paying more than 30 percent of their income for housing.

"It is a proven fact that when there are money problems in the home, it causes problems in stability of the family," Eisemann said. "This type of housing helps start families out with a firm foundation."

Special features of the building are the heating elements. In this particular building, Eisemann said that instead of heating with a heat pump, they use ground-source heating. By running special piping down three feet below ground level, where the earth temperature remains at 54 degrees, they can bring cheap and affordable heating to the tenants. Six wells run close to 300 feet in depth and capture the earth's warmth or coolness.

"This method makes economical heating and air conditioning as in both cases you start at 54 degrees," Eisemann said. "We then super-insulated the building."

Partners in the project include the Lititz-based Farmers First Bank and Ephrata National Bank. Bill Belden, president of Farmers First, was among those in attendance at the ribbon-cutting ceremony.

"We were very pleased to finance the building with establishments like Farmers First and Ephrata National Bank," Eisemann said. "They followed us through the long process and were there with us the entire time. With our diverse board with representation of the poor, municipalities, private businesses, special tax credits were given for the project. These tax credits partnered the banking institutions allowing us not to go out of the area for financing. We were able to make this a total community affair keeping our banking needs within the community."

Other project partners include the Redevelopment Authority of the County of Lancaster, Lancaster Housing Opportunity Partnership, Pennsylvania Housing Finance Agency, Federal Home Loan Bank, and Community Action Program of Lancaster County, Developer and Managing General Partners.

Avoid Problems Caused by Poor Computing Habits

Dr. Donald V. Wagner

Protect yourself with healthy computing habits whether you are at home or in the office.

• Check your monitor height. The center of the screen should be positioned at or slightly above eye level. This will reduce strain on the neck and upper back. You should be at least 18 inches away from the screen to avoid excessive eyestrain.

• The keyboard. If you are doing a lot of typing it would be wise to invest in an ergonomic keyboard. The keyboard should be positioned so that your forearms are horizontal, and your wrists and palms should be in the air, with only your fingers hitting the keys.

• The right chair. A good chair will allow you to sit up straight while providing lower back support. While sitting your shoulders should be centered directly over your hips with your head directly over your shoulders. Your legs should be at a 90-degree angle with your feet flat on the floor.

• Rest. Don't sit in front of the computer for hours at a time without a break. Get up from your chair for a few minutes to stretch. There are software programs that will remind you

• Don't work in the dark. Lighting should be bright enough for you to comfortably read a book. The light should be positioned to reduce screen glare.

Make changes to your computer station before symptoms start appearing. It is much easier to prevent problems such as carpal tunnel syndrome than it is to fix them.

It's your future...be there healthy.

New shop specializes in preserving memories

KARI RADVANSKY

Record Express Staff

LITITZ — A new store catering to the avid scrapbook lover, or anyone wishing to preserve priceless photos and memories, has opened at the Brickerville House Courtyard Shops.

"Scrapping" has become a popular hobby all over the United States, as people realize how important it is to properly preserve and document their memories. Scrapbooks offer a way to display photos in a creative and original way for future generations.

Owner Barbara Rogers took her knowledge of the hobby and opened Sharecroppers Corner, a store with the largest variety of scrapbook supplies in Lancaster County.

Barbara has been "scrappin'" for several years. Her husband Wayne supports her love of the hobby and encouraged her to open the Brickerville store. The couple recently moved to Lititz from New Jersey.

Not only does her store have over 400 patterns of background paper, nearly 100 rolls of stickers, die cuts, memory albums, organizers and tote bags, idea magazines and more, but Sharecroppers Corner also offers classes for the novice as well as advanced classes.

For an hourly fee, customers can also come in any time during regular business hours and work on their albums while using the store's many supplies.

Sharecroppers Corner is located in the Brickerville House Shops at the corner of Rts. 322 and 501 and is open from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and Fridays until 8 p.m. Any questions can be answered by calling 625-4455.

LANCASTER — Kim J. Jones of Lititz has recently been hired as marketing manager for Murray Insurance Associates.

He attended St. Francis College in Loretto and is currently a member of the Capital Area Agents' Association.

In his capacity as marketing manager, Jones will act as a liaison between Murray's clients and the insurance companies Murray represents. Murray Insurance Associates, located at 39 N. Duke St. in Lancaster, was founded in 1930 and has grown to become a leading Central Pennsylvania independent insurance agency and broker.

Most of the staff would arrive between 7-8 a.m., with trainees arriving around 9 a.m. during business hours.

The facility will cover a 4-acre region, and includes 154 parking spaces using a three-tier parking system. Each parking terrace will be separated with stone walls and plants, a design that should make it a little more attractive.

"It won't look like a big sea of asphalt," he said.

There will also be a small decorative pool, with jets of water flowing into it. The site will include aesthetic lighting around the building, and the power lines would be located underground, Wenger said.

For security reasons, Wenger said the company behind the project is not revealing its name, and said their won't be a sign identifying the company outside the completed facility. He described them as a "large, very well-respected company." They are shooting to begin construction in March.

He said they were drawn to the "small town feel" of Lititz, and with Lancaster County's history of watch and clock manufacturing, felt this would be a good location to construct this facility.

As part of the approval, HPR Lititz has placed funds in an escrow account, which will be used to fund a portion of a new traffic signal. Wenger said they paid a percentage of the total cost, based upon what their facility's impact on the Wynfield Drive-Route 501 intersection would be.

"No Job Too Small"... A Perfect Slogan For Home Repairs and Remodeling

Even Santa Claus needs some renovations done on his home sometimes. You need look no further than Santa's Castle in Lititz to see that no job is too small for John Rice Home Repairs and Remodeling.

With it still being early in the winter season, it is time to take stock of all the outside chores that somehow did not get done this summer. It is not too late to do something about them.

Loose shutters, lost roof shingles, siding that was blown off, repairs to fascia or soffit, deck repairs, or cleaning rain gutters are all tasks that can be completed now. Tell Home Repairs your particular problems and John will solve them for you.

It is also not too early to schedule bigger jobs for next spring and summer.

Home Repairs and Remodeling uses top quality materials in order to ensure lasting benefit to you. We take pride in our workmanship and always clean up after the work is completed. If you are hesitant about having work done in your home, we will be glad to provide references.

Minor plumbing repairs, electrical work, replacement of kitchens or bathrooms, the removal of bearing walls to increase room size and living space, or the building of house additions are all handled by this one company. Very few sub-contractors are used. This means the work will progress quickly and you are able to enjoy your "new" house sooner.

It also means that you will come to know your workmen well and know that the workmanship and attitudes are positive, productive, and up to your high standards.

John Rice Home Repairs and Remodeling is available now to help you prepare for winter both outside your home and inside.

If you need time or ideas for a larger project for next year, schedule the job now and take the winter months to plan and consult John in order to make this project perfect for your needs.

Thanks to John Rice, Santa has a safe and warm place to stay during his annual visit to Lititz.

This is the time to consider those long-awaited indoor repairs, including painting.

Whether it's the kitchen, bedroom, or the drabby color in the bath — John can help you create the inside face-lift that will amaze your neighbors. New wallpaper and wood trim could also do the trick.

New bright colors help relieve "cabin fever"... and it's a relatively inexpensive cure.

Do not face another winter with doors that fail to close properly, windows that need trimmed, or that old and chipped bathroom vanity.

Now is the excellent time of the year to consider making those longed for major changes such as complete kitchen remodeling or additions in existing space to provide a new dining room or family room. Your seldom used basement could quickly become the entertainment, reading, or office room you have always wanted. If you are short on ideas, Home Repairs and Remodeling has those too.

Whatever your home repair or remodeling needs are, don't delay any longer. You deserve to have that work done well and done now. Give John Rice a call at Home Repairs and Remodeling, 626-4225.

Now, it is in the range of 40 to 50 percent of our calls."

Firefighting equipment has also changed drastically. He said the introduction of a 5-inch diameter hose has made it possible to move much more water than with the smaller 2½-inch hose lines they used to have.

Finding volunteers is more of a challenge than it was 15-20 years ago. But Brunnerville Fire Company is holding its own with volunteers. Kline said over the past year they have welcomed about five new members, two of which are active in the department.

An era of cooperation — between other local departments and between municipal officials — has also improved fire service to the community.

"Warwick Township has been supportive, and cooperation between the township and the fire department has improved over the years," Kline said. He said they officials now meet regularly with the departments, adding that municipal funding has been great.

"From talking to other people in Lancaster County, I find that Warwick is in the forefront of funding its fire services."

An election for fire officers will be held Dec. 27, and when the year 2000 rolls around, Brunnerville Fire Company will be led by a new fire chief.

"It was a great time to be involved," Kline said, reflecting on his years as chief. "With the increased cooperation between the three departments (Brunnerville, Lititz, Rothsville) the atmosphere has never been better."

Not much buck luck for Lititz

KARI RADVANSKY

Record Express Staff

As the second week of deer season draws to a near, area hunters that shot a buck are fewer than expected.

On Nov. 29, approximately 800,000 hunters across Pa. sat in the woods, some longer than others, in search of a trophy buck. According to the game commission's deer management section, the deer herd population across the state was to exceed 1.4 million — the highest in the 100 years of record keeping.

The increased herd is attributed to the mild winter which also helped produce larger bucks. The game commission estimated that the buck harvest could climb as high as 220,000. In 1998 the second largest buck harvest occurred with 181,449 hunters taking a buck.

With such a favorable season predicted, many Lititz area hunters have come home empty handed. Last year the number of bucks shot in Lancaster County increased to 1,410 from 1,344 in 1997. Although there is even a greater number predicted for this year, few area residents knew of anyone that has been lucky so far this season.

The Lititz Sportsman Association's buck competition lists the top five scores of their members based on the Boone and Crocket Club point system. Area residents among the five in the lead include Greg Hodecker of Lititz and Joel Schwendemann of Elizabeth Twp. Brad Fridinger, William Amig and Eric McGallicher are the other top-ranking club members.

Saturday is the last day of buck season. Antlerless deer season is then held Dec. 13-15.

Pick century's greatest moment

LITITZ — Mayor Russell Pettyjohn is looking for a little help on his New Year's Eve address.

As area residents prepare for the festivities of Lititz 2000, the mayor hopes to read a list of the greatest local moments of the past century. To make his millennium speech complete, he would like as many suggestions as possible.

Which event will make it to number one?

The building of the train station? The tearing down of the train station? Warner Lambert's move to Lititz? Local war heroes return? School consolidation? Road paving?

You, the reader, can decide. Just send your votes to: The Lititz Record Express, c/o Stephen Seeber, P.O. Box 366, Lititz, Pa. 17543.

Send in your choices soon, the end of 1999 is near.

Rt. 772

said Barry in regard to how realistic such a reroute may be. "I feel optimistic about it, but everything is going to depend on how Warwick Township feels."

The most likely candidate for an alternate route is Newport Road, which means more traffic in Warwick Township. That's something the township supervisors will have to consider very closely.

Zimmerman said that the township will not be ready to formulate an opinion on such a proposal until the study is done, which could be summer or fall of 2000. In the meantime, they will remain open to any and all ideas regarding traffic improvements to this area.

Newport Road is currently classified as a collector road with heavy traffic. Zimmerman pointed out that the township has spent over a million dollars on improvements to this road since 1994.

The study will also determine just how much of an impact rerouting would have on downtown Lititz traffic.

Most of the traffic complaints here concern tractor trailer trucks, which continue to operate at their present location. The space for the doctors was open and available, and they will be able to use it until they can find a permanent location.

Many clients have been calling the doctor's office to re-schedule their appointments, since the appointment book was destroyed in the Nov. 26 fire that caused an estimated $150,000 damage to the 4 Kissel Hill Road building. Mrs. Berg urges clients who have not done so to call them at 626-4793 to remind them of any scheduled appointments.

She said that the community response to their unfortunate situation has been tremendous, and is a key reason they have been able to get back on their feet so quickly.

"We appreciate everybody's offers of assistance," Mrs. Berg said. "Everyone has gone to great lengths to help us."

are essential to the local industrial economy, but at the same time damage smaller streets and endanger pedestrians. Only four percent of Rt. 772's daily movement includes such truck traffic. But even at four percent, that's 325 big trucks each and every day.

Jay Weaver, a concerned crossing guard at the Orange and Broad street intersection, said "it only takes one" of those 325 trucks to run over a kid who is on the way to school. Weaver is now pushing borough council for improvements at the intersection. On Nov. 30 he informed the local government that there have already been a few close calls.

Nevin Koch, superintendent of the borough works crew, is also in the pro-rerouting camp.

He said that his crew repairs the nasty potholes that are created by truck traffic. Most of the repair work is done by the state, but rerouting the traffic would be a blessing for East Main Street.

Oral presentations from engineering firms vying for the study contract begin Dec. 20. A selection should be made in January.

on the board.

Joe Pfautz II was reappointed to serve a three-year term on the township's zoning hearing board.

Also, the supervisors agreed to keep compensation for zoning hearing board members at its current rate — $40 for the first hearing, $30 for the second.

• 2000 Calendar — The township's municipal meeting calendar will be published as a legal notice in an upcoming issue of the Record Express. Be sure to clip and save this list so no important meetings are missed in the Year 2000.

'Numbers' up

FILMING WRAPS ON TRAVOLTA MOVIE — Hollywood's visit to the mid-state region ended last week, but not before making a significant impression upon some local residents. Amanda Brubaker (left) was one of a few local people who had the opportunity to meet movie star John Travolta when filming of the movie "Numbers" came to Penn Township a few weeks ago. The movie, a comedy directed by Nora Ephron and also stars Lisa Kudrow, is based upon the 1980 Pa. Lottery "666" scandal. The Pennsylvania fill Office estimates that the 13-day shoot generated $2.6 million for the local economy, according to an Associated Press report.

Library treat

Horner participates in training exercise

USS BATAAN — Navy Petty Officer Second Class Myrna L. Horner, a 1977 graduate of Linden Hall School for Girls in Lititz, recently participated in a training exercise while assigned to the amphibious assault ship USS Bataan, home ported in Norfolk, Va.

Horner's ship is part of the USS John F. Kennedy Battle Group, currently half-way through a six-month deployment. The ship participated in Exercise Bright Star '99 with coalition forces from 10 other nations. It was the 11th exercise in a series that began in 1980 and is important to the U.S. and Egyptian military relationship, which anchors the Middle East peace process.

After completing the exercise, Horner's ship visited the city of Marmaris, Turkey, and took excursions to the historic cities of Ephesus and Caunos.

She joined the Navy in November 1980.

Deborah Leach (left) receives $1,000 worth of brand new ACE Hardware tools from Henry Bomberger (right) at Bomberger's Store last Saturday. Leach was the winner of a contest sponsored by McDonald's and ACE Hardware.

You want tools with that?

French fry order includes a nice prize

WARWICK TWP. — Deborah Leach was hungry for some french fries, but her order included some new tools worth $1,000.

Leach, a senior at Penn State University and a resident of Lebanon, was the winner of the recent McDonald's QBC Code Name Contest when she ordered fries at a local McDonald's restaurant and found an "instant winner" game piece on her package.

The tool package is from ACE Hardware, and on Nov. 27, Leach visited Bomberger's Store, 555 Furnace Hills Pike, where she was presented with her prize.

The package contains a variety of top line power and hand tools, tool sets and accessories, including a six-drawer tool cabinet, 23-piece combination wrench set, cordless drill, palm grip sander, plus many other items. Henry Bomberger was on-hand to present the tools to Deborah.

These new items could be ideal Christmas gifts for friends and family, but Deborah is planning to keep them.

"Everyone thinks that I'm going to give them away, but I'm not," she said. "I'm actually pretty handy, and I like to fix things up. This is great!"

Deborah's boyfriend, Matt Reedy of Lititz and members of his family were among those attending the tool presentation.

Bomberger's Store is part of the ACE Hardware Corporation, a dealer-owned cooperative comprised of more than 5,100 retailers in all 50 states and 62 countries.

Rural Youth celebrate 62nd reunion

LEOLA — Remembering the good times — like when 50 members drove to Holloway Beach, one car got lost on the way there, and another caught fire on the way home — members of the Rural Youth of Lancaster County celebrated their 62nd anniversary at a banquet held recently at the Leola Family Restaurant.

The gray hair, trifocals and canes were forgotten as 80 former members of RYLC reminisced about their trips to Niagra Falls, Washington, D.C., Williamsburg, and New York City... once to the World's Fair.

The group was formed 62 years ago for mostly rural, young people, many of whom had graduated from 4-H and FFA activities, but had not become involved in adult farm organizations.

The group would meet monthly, and held activities that included rummage sales, hot dog roasts, swimming parties, roller skating, talent shows, dances and more. They even produced 22 three-act plays and 15 one-act plays over a 14-year period, one time performing before a standing-room only audience at the Millersville State College gymnasium.

At the Sept. 25 reunion, eight past presidents highlighted memories during their terms in office, including Roy Brubaker of Lititz, who served as the RYLC president in 1939. Their memories were refreshed by pulling out issues of the Rural Youth Newzette, the group's official monthly newsletter.

On of the former presidents said that he and 67 other members of the club met their spouse through RYLC.

While social and recreational activities were paramount, planning and participating in many of the Rural Youth activities included group and panel discussions, lectures and debates, which helped develop initiative and leadership abilities.

Among those in attendance was Max Smith, a former county agricultural agent who once spoke to the group, and returned once again as a featured speaker. Smith was one of many agricultural leaders who spoke to the group in those days.

Leo Weaver served as committee chairman to plan the reunion, and Samuel Shenk was the master of ceremonies. The group will host a picnic next September, and another banquet in two years.

Past presidents of the organization include: Jacob Reapsome, 1937; Milton Brubaker, 1938; Roy Brubaker, 1939; Mark Hess, 1940 and 1944; Samuel Shenk and Eugene Fulmer, 1941; Edie Carper, 1942; Richard Lefever, 1943 and 1946; Allen Risser, 1945; Paul Huber, 1947 and 1949; Robert Groff, 1948; John Weicksel, 1950; and Donald Winters 1951 and 1952.

No Tax Era Begins — The only sure things in life, they say, are death and taxes, but in Elizabeth Township it seems the "sure things" aren't quite as definite as they used to be.

By a 2-1 vote Tuesday night, the supervisors voted to eliminate the township's 2 1/2 -mill real estate tax as part of their unanimous approval of the general budget for 1990.

Christmas Trees — The holiday season is barely into full swing, but local Christmas tree farms have already been selling their best trees. Some people bring video cameras and others their kids and dogs to help scan the thousands of trees, which are neatly pruned in nice even rows.

New Beer Labels — Dec. 10-16 is National Drunk and Drugged Driving Awareness Week and the federal government has just approved a special label for all alcoholic beverage containers. Beer, wine, liquor and wine coolers must, as of Nov. 18, all carry the following message:

"Government Warning: (1) According to the Surgeon General, women should not drink alcoholic beverages during pregnancy because of the risk of birth defects. (2) Consumption of alcoholic beverages impairs your ability to drive a car or operate machinery, and may cause health problems."

The new labels are scheduled to arrive soon at Flory Distributing Co., South Broad Street.

School Board Elections — The Warwick School District unanimously reelected Wally Hoffert to his third one-year term as president.

Donald Cromer was the only new board member sworn in at Monday's meeting. He will join the board as a member of the building and property committee, replacing Wilson Smith, who is resigning as chairperson of the committee at the end of the year.

Death Investigation — A 70-year-old local man was found dead on Thursday, Nov. 30, in the middle of Lititz Run in the first block of North Broad Street, police said. An autopsy was scheduled to be performed, but at presstime no information had been released by County Coroner Dr. Barry D. Walp.

Bruce Morgan Arrives — Bruce M. Morgan has joined the Lititz Record Express as a staff writer.

Morgan, 23, a resident of Terre Hill, will write news and feature stories for both the sports and news departments. He recently served as sports editor for Ledger Newspapers.

Morgan, who is single, graduated from Millersville University in 1988 with a degree in English, journalism concentration.

The rest of the local news staff includes David C. Knauss, managing editor; Jennifer L. Kopf, news editor; and Steve Palkovic, sports editor. There are several regional correspondents and columnists, and Robert G. Campbell is the general manager.

LANDMARK DOWNED — The winds during a storm two weeks ago (November 1989) sent the tobacco shed at the Siegrist farm, Pierson Road, across the roadway. Said to be the longest of its kind in the state, the shed has been a familiar sight for years for Warwick Township travelers.

process of being acquired by E.R. Carpenter Co., manufacturers of polyurethane foam.

Creche — Once again the square in Lititz is beautified by the presence of the creche. In these troubled times, filled with unrest, all one has to do is stand and gaze thoughtfully at the manger scene. Perhaps if we listen hard enough, we might once again hear the words "Peace on earth, good will to men."

Gas Station Break-ins — Three Lititz service stations reported burglaries within the past few days.

The Lititz Chevron station, 737 S. Broad St., reported $200 damage to a window. Hollingers Service Station, Front and Cedar streets, reported $6 in cash stolen. And 70 Pa. state inspection stickers were stolen from Steffy's garage, Broad and Marion streets.

This startling development was revealed following a meeting of the local executive board Tuesday which was highlighted by a lively discussion and the resignations of the local treasurer and secretary.

'Squire Reidenbach Dies — After a long life of public service, 'Squire Adam B. Reidenbach died at his home at 4 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, corner of Main and Cedar streets, Lititz. He had been in bed only a week but had been in poor health since September, suffering from the effects of a slight stroke. His age was 83 years, 9 months and 22 days. His life had been one of activity of a public nature.

He taught at Huber's school house north of Lititz, and taught for five terms when Prof. John Beck, hearing of his ability, induced him to become an instructor in the academy. Here the 'Squire taught mathematics and penmanship for twenty years.

Adam B. Reidenbach

He served as a Justice of the Peace for fifty years, probably having a record of the longest service of anyone in the state. He was a deputy coroner over forty-one years.

He served as a pension agent from the time the office was established until it was abolished, and many a paper did he fill out for Civil War veterans and their widows.

Man Burned Was Not from Lititz — It has been learned for a certainty that the charred body of a man burned to death in a box car at Lebanon was not that of Levi Dussinger of Lititz. A report was spread through numerous newspapers that it was thought to be Dussinger who had been in Lebanon in search of work.

The man's father, Jacob Dussinger, a boarder at the Parkview Hotel, had intended going to Lebanon last Saturday to investigate the report, but when he learned how badly the body was burned he realized it would be of no use and did not make the trip. This week he learned through a near relative at Reading that Dussinger was safe, having been seen there.

Levi Dussinger had lived with his family at Kissel Hill and was employed in town, but left here about a year ago and has not been seen here since. It had been reported some months ago that he was working at Reading.

The identity of the man who was burned in the box car remains as much a mystery as ever.

Missionary Addresses St. Paul's — Dr. Amy (Rohrer) Neudoerffer, a missionary on furlough in this country after spending twelve years at Rajahmundry, India, delivered a most interesting address in St. Paul Lutheran Church on Sunday evening.

School Board Organized — The Lititz School Board organized on Wednesday evening of last week by electing J.B. Brubaker, president and J.B. Fassnacht, vice president. The secretary and treasurer will not be elected at this time. The present secretary is E.E. Habecker and the present treasurer is H.C. Seldomridge. The new members of the board are J.B. Brubaker and C.S. Zartman.

Fassnacht has served on the school board for twenty-three consecutive years.

Charlie Rosenberg sells linament in the South

LITITZ (Express, Dec. 11, 1919) — Charles Rosenberg, who was home several days after a trip to the south, left again for Orangeburg, South Carolina, taking with him a big lot of Century Oil. With the big prices paid for cotton the Southerners have pockets filled with money. Charles was cleaned out of goods. While at Columbia, S.C., Mr. Rosenberg called on John Seaber, a son of Henry Seaber, of this place.

Mr. Rosenberg tells a story which he said he actually saw happen. A cotton grower came to a garage and said to the owner, "Mister, I've got so much money I don't know what to do with it."

The auto man suggested that he buy an automobile. "But I done just bought one," replied the cotton grower. "Buy another one," suggested the other man. The suggestion hit the mark and a deal was at once closed up.

Mr. Rosenberg will remain in the south until Christmas.

Charles Rosenberg was a noted local showman who ran a traveling medicine show that traveled across the country in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. It was his recipe for hamburgers that led to the legendary Rosie's Lunchwagon that still draw crowds to downtown Lititz every Saturday during lunchtime for the past 77 years.

Spillman Riggs Coming to Town — Next Thursday evening Spillman Riggs, the humorous lecturer and character delineator, will appear here under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. star course. Prof. Riggs has appeared before a Lititz audience heretofore and left a very good impression, as he can say and do a great deal in a short time in the way of interesting and amusing old and young.

Spillman Riggs is not a deep, philosophical lecturer. He does not take the knotty problems and vivisect them in view of the crowd. He gets down to the common things of life and delivers a homely lecture that is very entertaining. It is really humorous, hearty laughs being brought from the crowd often enough to chase back the tears that start at some of Riggs' pathetic tales. He groups around the subject a medley of anecdotes, illustrations and cleverly put in lessons, that make a jolly lecture.

Time is Frozen — Harry Wertsch, the jeweler located near the railroad station, gave a demonstration of the South Bend watch which attracted great interest on Saturday. The watch was frozen in a block of ice weighing 250 pounds, and was in that position for about six hours, when the warm weather cut short the test.

However, in that time, the time-piece, which was plainly visible through the ice, kept time to the second. Another and longer demonstration will be made when the weather conditions are more favorable.

Foot Crushed on Rail — A most shocking accident befell David Coho, conductor of the local freight train, which occurred at this place about 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. The crew was engaged in making a flying shift at or near the switch about a square above the passenger depot. Mr. Coho was standing on the rear of the tender of the engine and the cars collided, throwing him down, by which a box car passed over his right foot and ankle, crushing it to a pulp. He cried for help and his fellow employees ran to his aid.

Dr. Roebuck was hurriedly summoned and dressed it in the best possible manner. Mr. Coho moaned terribly and seemed to mourn the loss of a limb with wonderful sorrow. He was conscious all through and wished he were dead. He was taken to the hospital in Reading, where amputation was made shortly after his arrival. Mr. Coho is 45 and has been in the employ of the Reading Railway for thirteen years and was very popular.

Resigned as Organist — The trustees of the Moravian church received the resignation of Paul E. Beck as organist, to take effect on January 2d next. The trustees held a meeting Tuesday evening and accepted the resignation. No successor has yet been secured.

Passed Confederate Money — One evening last week a stranger offered a $5 Confederate bill made in Richmond, Va. in 1864 in payment of a 5 cents toll on the Manheim pike. Mrs. Ream, wife of Mr. Ream who keeps the gate, took the bill and gave the man the change in good money.

The man had offered the bill at the other toll gate and also at the hotel at Neffsville. It is possible the party may be apprehended. The loss will probably be borne by the pike company, as Mr. Ream says he can not afford the loss and would shut up shop.

A Good Way to Be Hit — As a rule we don't like to have any one go through our pockets, but on Wednesday morning as we were scratching chalk marks on our bulletin board a passing pedestrian put his hand in our western coat pocket. On looking around we espied A.H. Bomberger, the genial proprietor of the Lititz Grain Elevator, and we took it for granted that this was his way of saying good morning.

When we entered the door later our pocket felt bulky and heavy and on investigation discovered a perfect pear that proved to be as luscious as Niagara grapes and as cool as ice cream. Should we forget to extend our thanks it is but fitting to say that we appreciate the kindness that prompts such deeds.

Wednesday morning had his left hand caught in the dough-breaking machine, crushing three fingers, one of them in particular, very severe. The dough had clogged in the machine where it passes between two iron rollers, the machine being run by steam power, when he reached in to get it started, and was caught.

While in this position he had presence of mind enough to reach over to the right of him, grasp the throttle of the engine and shut it off. Luckily, no bones were broken, but some time will be required until the sufferer will be able to resume work.

Wanted Lots of Bretzels — Arthur Engleberg, a Bostonian, was here last Saturday for the purpose of arranging with Thos. Keller to supply him with from fifty to one hundred barrels of bretzels per month. Mr. Keller told him he was unable to bake so large an amount with his ovens and employes, but arranged to give the gentleman from the Hub some.

He then wanted Mr. Keller to send a man over to Boston to run a bakery for him. Daniel Cohick, an employee of Mr. Keller, was consulted about going east, upon which he had not yet decided when he had his hand hurt, which of course prevents him from going for the present.

He handled his subject remarkably well and gave some practical hints on the cure and treatment of horses. He also spoke severely against the way most of our blacksmiths shoe the horse, and said that most of the diseases among horses arose from improper shoeing.

Blue-Eyed Six' Update — Henry Wise, one of the murderers of Joseph Raber, at Lebanon, was on Tuesday morning sentenced to be hanged. He attempted to deliver a written statement but was stopped by Judge Henderson.

This is the insurance conspiracy and murder case for which Charles Drews and Strichler were hanged

The Lititz Borough Council will review and if appropriate take action on the following ordinance during their regularly scheduled meeting on Tuesday, December 28, 1999, at 7:30 p.m., Lititz Borough Council Chambers, 7 S. Broad Street, Lititz, PA 17543. All interested parties are invited to attend.
BOROUGH OF LITITZ ORDINANCE FIXING THE REAL ESTATE TAX FOR THE BOROUGH OF LITITZ, LANCASTER COUNTY, COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.
The Council of the Borough of Lititz, Lancaster County, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby ordains and enacts as follows:
Section 1: Real Estate Tax Rule: That a tax be and the same is hereby levied on all real estate within the Borough of Lititz subject to taxation for general Borough purposes for the year 2000 as follows:
The rate for general Borough purposes, the sum of 1.125 mills of each dollar of assessed valuation.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Supervisors of the Township of Penn, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, at its regular public meeting on Monday, December 27, 1999, at 7:00 p.m., prevailing time, at the Penn Township Municipal Building, 97 North Penryn Road, Manheim, Pennsylvania, shall consider, and subsequently, at that meeting or at a subsequent public meeting held within 60 days from the date of publication of this legal advertisement, shall consider and subsequently, if appropriate, shall enact an ordinance, the caption of which is as follows:

AN ORDINANCE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PENN, LANCASTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, TO RESTATE AND AMEND THE PENN TOWNSHIP REGULATIONS IMPOSING A TAX ON EARNED INCOME AND NET PROFITS OF INDIVIDUAL RESIDENTS OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PENN.

The proposed ordinance is being enacted in accordance with the Local Tax Enabling Act and provides for an earned income tax at the rate of 1%. This ordinance reenacts and restates the existing earned income tax and is not a tax in addition to the 1% earned income tax presently imposed upon residents. Residents are also advised that the law provides that if at any time two political subdivisions of a political subdivision and a school district impose an earned income tax, then the tax levied by each shall, during the time such duplication of the tax exists, be one half of the allowable rate of tax. As long as the school district continues to levy an earned income tax, the school district and the Township will each receive one half of the 1% earned income tax.

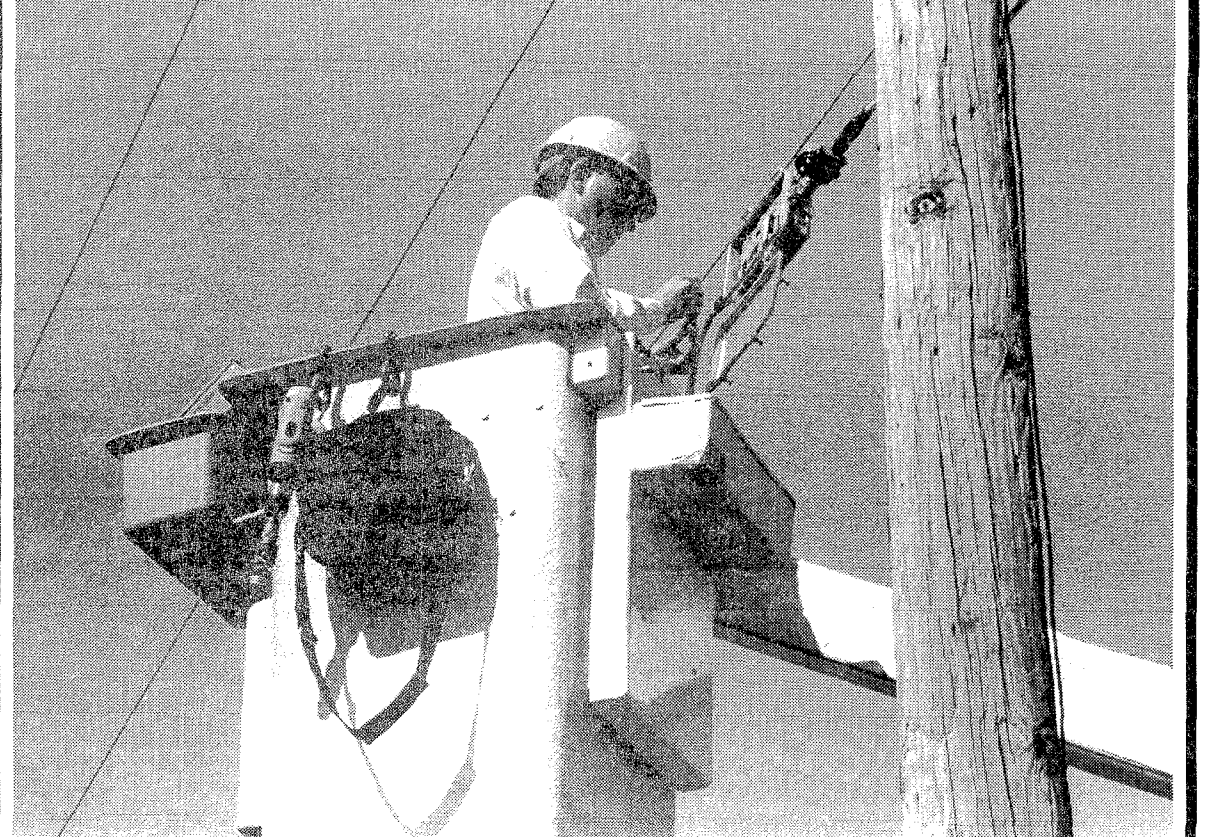

The reason which, in the judgement of the Board of Supervisors necessitates continued imposition of this tax is the need for general revenue. It is estimated that the revenue to be derived from the earned income tax in calendar year 2000 will be approximately the same as that derived in calendar year 1999 which is estimated to be $535,000.00 The tax will continue in force on a calendar year basis without annual reenactment.

The proposed ordinance may be summarized as follows. The proposed ordinance restates and amends the existing earned income tax and consists of Sections 1, Short Title; 2, Definitions; 3, Imposition of Tax; 4, Returns and Payments by Taxpayers; 5, Employers Collection at Source, Commission; 6, Income Tax Officer; 7, Suits for Collection of Tax, Interest and Penalties; Incorporation of all Present and Future Enabling Act Provisions; 8, Deductions, Losses, Exemptions for Persons Under Age 16; 9, Continuity, Nonapplicability, Severability, 10, Repealer, and 11, Effective Date. The proposed ordinance restates and reimposes the present earned income tax, which tax shall be in the maximum amount authorized by the Local Tax Enabling Act. The proposed ordinance provides for a repeal of the existing earned income tax ordinances, provided, however, that if the proposed ordinance is determined to be invalid the existing regulations will continue in full force and effect. A copy of the proposed ordinance may be examined without charge at the offices of this newspaper and at the Penn Township Municipal Building, 97 North Penryn Road, Manheim, Pennsylvania, Mondays, through Fridays from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. A copy of the proposed ordinance may be obtained for the cost of reproduction at the Penn Township Municipal Building during the above hours.
