Hempfield School To Meet The Wide

Hempfield High School, founded in 1906, has undergone many changes throughout the years of its long existence.

The first school was a two-story building that housed the elementary and high school students in eight rooms. Acting principal at the time was H.E. Fenstermacher, and who also taught the secondary education in the school. Enrollment was 35 students for a two-year course of study, but many enrolled in other schools upon completion at Hempfield.

Education changed to a three-year course of study in 1910. In 1922, the teaching staff grew to two people, and by 1926 a four-year course of study was developed to serve a student enrollment of 70, while 2 more individuals were added to the teaching staff.

The completion of a one-story building that contained 15 classrooms and a gymnasium-auditorium came in 1937, due to a major expansion program in the East Hempfield Township School District. Grades seven through twelve were housed here, and the previous high school was converted to an elementary school.

By 1951, eight additional rooms had been added, including a home economics and industrial arts area. Previous enrollment jumped from 239 to 349 before the joining of East Hempfield Township, West Hempfield Township, and the District Grows Community Needs

Mountville Borough School Districts. Near the close of the 1954-1955 term enrollment in grades seven through twelve was 585. The growth in student population required a need for bigger facilities. So, in September 1955, the deficiency was met with a new junior-senior high school building.

The building contained 37 classrooms, an auditorium that seated approximately 950, and a modern cafeteria. This building is now used by the students in grades nine and ten as the Franklin House.

Enrollment continued to grow and a new wing was added to the current high school in 1961, which doubled the capacity. Thirty-three classrooms, a cafeteria, and a physical education gymnasium were added. This is the current Buchanan House Section. By the 1967-1968 term, the seventh and eighth grade were moved to the modern Centerville Junior High.

In 1975, a third addition to the present high school included a new library, large group rooms, resource rooms, and a gymnasium that held 2,000 people.

The original school of 1906 has since been demolished and the high school of 1937 belongs to the Intermediate Unit 13.

These photos were included in the open house program when the current Franklin House was dedicated in 1955.
Hempfield High School is located in Landisville, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. The Hempfield School District, which adjoins the city of Lancaster, includes large residential areas, but continues to have fertile, well-kept farms. Hempfield High School serves a relatively large community of approximately 26,000 citizens living in a forty square mile area. The citizenry resides in East Hempfield and West Hempfield Townships, and the Boroughs of East Petersburg and Mountville, all of which comprise the Hempfield School District.
Be it the empty LG's or the final magazine assembly, some memories of Hempfield will linger with us.
Strike Stops Start Of Fall School Term

In May, 1984, Hempfield School District teachers were presented a new three-year contract. By mid-summer this contract had not been approved. Along with other items, the issue of morale was addressed.

The morale problem was only a spark that set off the fire. Negotiations fell through many times. On the eve before the new school year would begin, the Hempfield Education Association announced the first strike in Hemfield's history.

Although teachers manned the picket lines early in the morning, students were sent to school on schedule. The freshmen and sophomores were sent to the auditorium, and juniors and seniors were sent to the Buchanan gym to await word from the administration as to whether students would be dismissed. Students were sent home a few hours after arriving.

Fortunately the strike was resolved within two days. Students began the new school year the following Monday. The strike will be remembered by students, teachers and administration alike.
New Principals Named

The Hempfield School Board unanimously promoted assistant high school principal Douglas L. Minnich to the principal's office Tuesday, November 13, 1984.

Minnich, who has been a Hempfield administrator since 1972, assumed his new post Wednesday, November 14, 1984, replacing former principal Richard C. Harclerode, who resigned from the district. The board also named math teacher and former football coach Robert L. Wildasin assistant principal for Franklin House, and named Ronald R. Caulwell, the previous assistant principal for Franklin House, as assistant principal for Buchanan House, replacing Minnich.

Minnich was an assistant principal at Warwick High School and a biology and physical science teacher at Warwick before joining Hempfield in 1972.

Caulwell was as English teacher at Hempfield before becoming an assistant principal and athletic director at Columbia High School. He rejoined Hempfield as an assistant high school principal in 1977.

Wildasin joined Hempfield in 1973 as a mathematics teacher. The former football coach also has teaching and coaching experience in the Amityville, N.Y., School District and the Littlestown and Millersburg school districts in Pennsylvania.

Roof Repairs Finally End

Over the last two years, it was a common sight to see many dangling ladders around the building. Many of us had the pleasure of listening to the noisy construction, but now may be relieved since the operation is completed. The question that remains is, "Is the roof really fixed now, or will the two-year project continue?". At least our noses are getting a break.
The 1984 Homecoming season began with the annual pep rally held Friday, October 11.

The traditional "spirit stick" was awarded to the seniors. The "Baby Contest" winners were as follows: Holly Alsedek, cutest; Mike Lippold, ugliest; Keith Rineer, funniest; and Chip Porter, sexiest.

A roaring crowd chose James Benson to be the 1984 "Junior Sir."

On Friday night, the bonfire blazed away and psyched everyone for the upcoming game against Wilson. The Mighty Knights defeated Wilson in a sound 28 to 6 victory.

The theme for the float competition was Walt Disney Characters. The juniors took first place for their creation of Huey, Luey, and Duey. The seniors built a rendition of Mickey Mouse. The sophomore's choice was Dumbo, while the freshmen's decision was Winnie the Pooh.

Joyce Weaver received the title of 1984 Homecoming Queen. Her escort was Gray Wirth. Other members of the court included Sue Feyock and her escort Mark Lewidki, Sue Betrone and escort Chuck Kuntz, Vegee Sardi and escort Brad Baker, Steph Drager and escort Ric Horst, and Kris Jensen and escort Tony Fatta. Sanna Tuppurainen served as the honorary princess. Frederick Langels, and Inigo Gallas-tegui Alcoz were her escorts.

Festivities were concluded with a very successful homecoming dance, which was sponsored by the senior class steering committee.

Then And Now:

Both
New Beginnings

For most of us, our senior year began as the summer of 1984. After a challenging junior year, many of us earned money from summer jobs in order to start a college savings. And for some vacations consisted of a week at your favorite beach with family or friends. Summer activities were wide and varied. The memories of the 1984 summer fun, whether they included going out almost every night for ice cream, or spending a day at the amusement park, will always be with us.

In the fall, our senior year at Hempfield started off with a strike. Although we did have fun times at football games, school dances, and class trips, we faced many challenges and difficult situations which tested our determination to succeed. The year went by quickly, and now it is over. Our high school career is forever finished.

When we started, we had dreams, hopes, and aspirations. Now we have these cherished memories, and new challenges to meet in the years to come.

As we look back on all these memories, this 1985 Epilogue serves as a record of the past year. As we reflect on the things included here, we see that then, and now, are both new beginnings.
Seniors Close Out Careers

The class of 1985 had an exciting final year. The first big event of the year for the seniors was Homecoming. Activities of Homecoming started October 11 with a pep rally, where the seniors followed tradition by winning the Spirit Stick. In the Homecoming football game on October 13, the Hempfield Black Knights defeated Wilson with a score of 28-6.

In halftime ceremonies, Joyce Weaver was crowned by last year’s queen Denise Keyser. The weekend concluded with the traditional Homecoming dance which was a great success for the senior class.

The class trip took the seniors to New York City on November 21. A day of sightseeing in the Big Apple proved to be an exciting way to start Thanksgiving vacation.

The class officers for the class of 1985 were: President, Gray Wirth; Vice-President, Chuck Kuntz; Secretary, Joyce Weaver; Treasurer, Michelle Harmon; and Historian, Vegee Sardi. The advisors for the class were Mr. James Madara and Miss Carol Troxell.

The memories of their senior year as well as those of their underclassmen days will always be remembered and cherished by the members of the Class of '85.

Theme Shows Reality

"Then and Now" is an idea created to reflect upon our childhood days until our last remaining moments as Seniors here at Hempfield.

Many of us met during our elementary school days, and later a unity formed the class of '85 at Centerville Junior High. As we made new friends at our new school, a gradual change was beginning upon our personalities. We were stuck somewhere in between the stages of barbie dolls and make-up, and football and girls. Junior High was an approach to entering high school, and in the direction toward maturity.

Finally we reached the moment we've been waiting for—entering high school! Once again we were the youngest of the school, but somehow we managed to find our ways through the long, endless halls. We even survived the tormentation from the upperclassmen, which seemed to never end. Our sophomore and junior years were our "middle-of-the-road" days. Here we observed how the older crowd acted and how foolish we were as freshmen. Therefore, the decisions we made would lead into the futures we were planning ahead. Now we have basically molded the paths we will be facing, whether college, marriage, or the working world, to live in for the near future.

As a class together, we have experience the joys and sorrows of our teenage lives, and memories will remain in our hearts of the happiness we shared together.
Ted Bloom and Chuck Kuntz think it's better in the Bahamas.

Members Raise Funds

The class of '85 has raised money for their treasury over the past few years to use for the prom and the class trips.

The annual magazine campaign has been a major contribution to the class treasury, ever since ninth grade. In tenth grade, a new company the school supported was Colonial Peddler. The items were small and inexpensive that may have been used as stocking-stuffers for Christmas presents.

The most fun and money making was the sponsoring of school dances. The class averaged approximately two or three a year, and could earn up to five-hundred dollars in one night.

Our first Fun Night was in ninth grade. Even though these were not big social gatherings, many people that went had an active and “fun” time.

Hoagie sales usually were organized during the spring of the year also to add more money to the treasury. The agony of early mornings, or late nights, usually were common to prepare the subs. Working during these tiresome hours, many became restless, silly, and “creative”, which made hoagie sales even more worthwhile.

Floats Build Spirit

Homecoming is the start of a new school year which brings about the annual fall festivities. Usually first on the agenda is the preparation and construction of floats.

To recollect memories of Homecoming, it is easy to begin with October 1981. Only being in the high school a few weeks, the class of 1985 made themselves rather popular with their enthusiasm and creativity. Our Captain Crunch float tied with the senior class for first place! Usually it is rare for a freshmen float to capture the title, but we disproved the odds!

As sophomores, the theme was cartoon characters, and Porky Pig represented our class. Sue Betrone, Gretchen Comley, Missy Grove, and Marie Laube added their own touch to the float as they rode with Porky around the track. During our junior year, Snoopy and the Red Baron was chosen as the class candidate. To add a little creativity, Woodstock was movable (but during the procession, he nearly fell off!) and a “mock” football player was inside the doghouse kicking to get out. “Put 'em in the doghouse” had potential but was defeated by the class of 1984. As senior, and “old pro’s” at building floats, we designed Mickey Mouse as our last class float. Unfortunately, the class of 1986 won, but the fun and excitement we all shared will remain as memories.

Simon says pull your ear.

Sports Offer Tests

As we entered the "wide world of sports" in our freshman year, we may not have realized the dedication and determination we would be facing. The strenuous practices after school, the exciting games, the roaring crowds, and the bus rides made sports as we will remember them a few years from now.

Beginning as freshman strengthened our ability, attitude, and drive for successful varsity squads. Also during this time experience, knowledge, and perfection was building up for the varsity teams we have had this year.

Our class working together as one has prospered and made Hempfield proud. The football, soccer, field hockey, swimming, gymnastics, and all other sports have been successful and rewarding over the years, and many joyous moments will be treasured.

Senior Scrapbook

The Scrapbook is a creation by the class Historian to be shown at the class reunions in the future. These photos are snapshots taken since our freshman year. Officers who have held the position are: Maria Vakios, grade 9; Judy Bush, grade 10; and Vegee Sardi, grades 11 and 12. Time, creativity, and involvement in class functions are necessary for completion of the Scrapbook. In the near future, paging through the album and seeing familiar faces may be enjoyable; here is a sample of what you might see.

The Scrapbook, along with the Epilogue, will provide lingering memories for many when we all reminisce about our high school days at Hempfield.

Early in the morning, on November 21, 1984, 250 senior students and teacher chaperones departed to take a little bite out of the Big Apple. The five buses pulled into the World Trade Center at 10:30. After traveling up 107 floors, the students had a fantastic view of the big city. The class was then given time to wander about the many stores and restaurants in the building. The students then made their way to Radio City Music Hall. The Christmas Show was very extraordinary and everyone left with that special holiday feeling.

Next, was the U.N. Building, toured in small groups. The class was very interested in the sights and explanations of the guide. The group then went to Mama Leone’s for a traditional Italian dinner. They dined in the wine cellar and were entertained by an accordion player. The seniors climbed on the buses and they pulled away at 7:30 for the long trip back to Lancaster.

Art Department Shines

The Hempfield High School Art Department presented an exhibition at Millersville University during the end of November and the entire month of December. This exhibit presented the work of twenty-four Hempfield students in Breidenstine Hall on the University campus.

A reception was held on the first night of the presentation for the artists and their parents, to allow a special viewing of the forty-two works presented in the display.

Kris Jensen designed the poster for the display, which was advertised throughout the county, and open to the public.

This year’s Lancaster County student Art Calendar, sponsored by Commonwealth National Bank, saw many winners from Hempfield. The theme was “Lancaster County—Land of Heritage.”

Second runner up was senior, Michelle Harmon, for her drawing “Postlewait’s Tavern: Courthouse of 1852”. First runner-up was Tod Miller, a 1984 graduate, for his drawing “Transportation”. Honorable mentions were given to seniors, Philip Kousoubis for his drawing, “Amish Boy”, Kristen Jensen, for her drawing “Bridge over Lititz Creek” and Charles Fry, for his drawing, “Getting Around Lancaster County.” The awards were presented at Wickey’s Restaurant.

Seventeen Hempfield students were commended for their performance on the PSATs last year. These students placed in the top five percent of over one million participants. The students were: Mark Ames, Jim Brian, Dave Fisher, Mike Gallucci, Jim Hahn, Ron Haines, Steph Kepner, Phil Kousoubiris, Rob Lewis, Tim Nolt, Brad Pedrow, Erick Perkins, Derek Puff, Jim Sheridan, Brad Sittler, Beth Weidman, and Barb Young.

Five of these students were later named as finalists, and continued in the competition for the scholarships.
The Epilogue staff is an extra-curricular activity for which most of the work is completed during individual study halls, after school, or at home. The staff requires commitment, dedication, responsibility, and most of all enthusiasm and team work! With this in mind, the staff may produce a creative, organized and unique book.

The staff was divided into separate duties and responsibilities. Designers included: Ronda Miller, Wendy Grubb, Carolyn Odell, and Melissa Sayers. Writers and Researchers were: Kim Varnish, Lynda Welkowitz, Rachel Shinsky, Beth Lauzon, Lisa Caldwell, Kim Frederick, Cindy Rohrback, Lynette Charles, Supatra Sritulanondha, Barb Young, and Lisa Lindberg. Photographers were: Jean McNulty, Megan Meley, Kirk Altmanshofer, Paul Allison and Grant Keener. Mike Meley helped with the artwork. Lisa Cox was assistant index editor and Kris Heisey and Jenny Grindell were responsible for Advertising and Circulation, respectively.

In November, the staff received the Keystone Award from the Pennsylvania School Press Association for the 1984 Epilogue. This is the highest recognition given for yearbooks in the state.

The 1985 Epilogue staff was advised by John Bradley. The Editor-in-Chief was Vegee Sardi. She was assisted by five other editors of the staff: Deb Kreider, Managing; Kim Zimmerman, Layout; Deb Himelwright, photography; Michelle Stover, Copy; Kelly Theis, Index; and by Maria Vakios, Business Manager.

Student Newspaper
Flash
Informs, Entertains

The 1984-85 Flash staff, which consisted of editors, reporters, columnists, photographers, and artists, worked together to make the newspaper better than ever. Besides new staff, the paper was expanded and a new type of print was utilized.

Advising the staff was Harold Sachwald, along with Editors-in-Chief Mike Gallucci and Steph Kepner.

Editor positions were held by the following students: Kim Heidig, News; Michelle Gregoire, and Courtney Matthews, Features; Sara May, Lynda Welkowitz, and Steve Greenbaum, Sports; Kris Faulkner, and Brad Sitler, Photography; Charles Fry, and Phil Kousoubris, Graphics; and Sue Betrone, Finance.

Other new ideas introduced were student-placed classified ads and personals, and an expanded photo section.

The staff helped to produce an outstanding, informative, entertaining paper.

Society Honors Students

National Honor Society is an organization that honors deserving students who excel in scholarship, leadership, character, and service. To qualify, a student must have a 3.0 grade average. Although many students qualify, only ten percent of the junior class can be inducted. After submitting an application, a teacher committee thoroughly reviews it and then it may be given to the faculty for a final vote. Those accepted are honored by a special ceremony and banquet.

The advisor of this organization is Andrew Amway.

Council Represents All High School Classes

The Student Council is a club that gives the student body an opportunity to discuss ideas and programs with the administration. Representatives are elected from each class.

To begin the year, the Student Council held a hoagie sale. Later they sponsored the Christmas movie, an In-School Variety Show, and also a successful All-School Variety Show.

The Student Council was governed by Steve Herr, President; Kathy Kniss, vice-president; Jane Freeman, secretary; and Sue Butz, treasurer. The advisors were Marvin Cochran and John Deaner.

Langels Explores County

Fred Langels was a foreign exchange student from Stockholm, Sweden. He resided with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Graham, in Mountville for the year. Fred was on the Soccer team and in Ski Club at Hempfield. His other hobbies and activities include: Karate, skiing, sailing, and any kind of sport to stay active.

He made sure he had the opportunity to explore Lancaster and beyond if at all possible. He enjoyed his Saturday nights either at Ric's Place, a movie, or just socializing with his friends.

To compare this lifestyle in America to Sweden Fred said he will remember graduation, the prom, senior week, and most of all his family and friends when he looks back on his memories he has had during his visit.

Fred was asked what he liked and disliked about his stay. He replied: “I liked many things, but most of all the opportunity to stay here for a year.” He did regret not being able to drive here as he could in Sweden, because he had to rely on his host family, and friends. Fred concluded that Hempfield was a fine school, and he was grateful for the people who made his visit possible and enjoyable.

“Spanish Schools Differ”

Inigo Gallastegui Alcoz was a foreign exchange student here at Hempfield from Spain. He resided with Mr. and Mrs. Martin Curtis in Lancaster for the year. Inigo was on the soccer team and the swim team. He also participated on the track team.

Inigo also participated in the Science Fair Club here at school. His other hobbies and activities include: sailing, wind surfing, and building and designing sailboards. Inigo was a member in a Church Youth Group here in Lancaster.

To compare his lifestyle here in America, then Spain, Inigo said the schools in Spain are much different than here. “In Spain we have a morning break and school last until six o’clock in the evening.” Also the students in America take school more seriously than the students in Spain.” Inigo will remember his friends, and customs he enjoyed most here in America.

Inigo was asked his likes and he replied, “I like the way of living here because it’s new for me. I dislike it because there’s much more work for me to do.” After returning home, Inigo will attend a college and study the field of Aerospace Engineering.

Inigo concluded that, “the way of life was different but it was nice and I enjoyed my stay here in America.”
Sanna Tuppurainen was a foreign exchange student from Helsinki, Finland. She resided with Mr. and Mrs. Fay in East Petersburg for the year. Sanna participated in Hempfield Singers and the Performing Arts Club here at school. Her other hobbies include: fencing, reading, and music.

Sanna found that homework amazingly took up much of her time. We asked Sanna what part of moving to America made her feel most uncomfortable and she replied, “Moving from the wild city life to the country-style life of Lancaster.” was a big adjustment for her.

Sanna enjoyed living with a big family since she is an only child back home.

Sanna enjoyed all the free activities given here where as in Finland there are not as many. She said, she will remember the people, the class trip, and visiting Centerville for a French cooking demonstration.

When returning home, Sanna hopes to finish two years of high school and then attend a university to study languages. Sanna said, “I want to see, feel, experience, learn, and do as many things as possible.” Sanna concluded she enjoyed her stay here and wishes to take back all her experiences learned by the Americans.
VoTech Expands Course Choices

Vo-Tech, a very large part of many schools across the country, is designed to help students prepare for a future career.

The many different courses included areas in art, electronics, food, computers, and many other valuable courses.

Hempfield High School students attend either Willow Street or Mt. Joy Vo-Tech for three hours in the morning or afternoon.

VICA (Vocational Industrial Clubs of America) was a club for students who attended Vocational school. It helped students understand the free enterprise system. VICA encouraged competitive activities among club members. The club also recognized students who achieved special accomplishments. The club followed set guidelines, but were aloud to set special goals for the club.

Student Musicians Perform In London

While some of us enjoyed our Christmas vacations visiting friends and relatives, a group of students toured London, England for a seven-day adventure. The group was composed of student-musicians, mostly from Hempfield, who formed an orchestra and took their music to the British people.

In London, the students divided their time among touring, eating, their music, and a minimum of sleep. Some of the most interesting tours were Westminster Abbey, the shopping and theater districts around Piccadilly Circus, the city of London proper, and Stratford-on-Avon.

The students presented two concerts while in London, and attended two professional musical performances.

During the trip they learned a great deal about the English people. As one student summarized, "We experienced different transportation, clothing, language, and foods, but we still had time to eat at McDonald's. It was a lot of fun."
VICA Program Shows Skills To Public

In addition to presenting practical trade training and vocational guidance, the Vo Tech schools also offer a variety of practical presentations to help promote vocational technical education to the public. This year, with the cooperation of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA), the schools presented a display at the Park City Mall.

This display included material and students from all three vo-tech schools, Mount Joy, Willow Street, and Brownstown. Both morning and afternoon group presented in the presentations, which were designed to further the understanding of the public for the programs and objectives of the schools.

Hempfield was well-represented at the demonstrations, and students from Hempfield hold positions in VICA. Junior Trent Myers is the current president, and senior Donna Eck is secretary, as well as secretary of the state organization.

Chess Nuts
Win Often

The Chess team with a record of 13-1, has been the League Champions for the past two consecutive years. This year has been the best ever for the team, according to advisor Mark Gambler.

The first five board players were Eric Perkins, Boris Verkohsky, Jim Wescott, Brad Pedrow, and Dave Fisher. Perkins had a very good year, and was in the top five in the county.

Chess team members excell in the competition by practicing mostly at home, and at team practice twice a week through the season. A single match lasts approximately 2 hours; therefore, each player has a limited amount of time to defeat his opponent.
Nursery School Offers Variety

Hempfield High School offered students the chance to prepare for a future career by participating in teaching or helping out with the Nursery School.

Nursery School met Monday thru Thursday in room 18. Friday was a free day used to prepare the lesson for the following week. The basic schedule was: 2nd period; free play, 3rd period, snack and lesson, 4th period; Art or other activity.

The nursery school was run by Mrs. Huff, 3 student teachers; Deb Himelwright, Terry Smith, and Michelle Groff, and student helpers including Steph Young, Becky Bracken, Doug Roy, and many others.

Most of the children attending nursery school were 3 or 4 years old. There were approximately 20 children a semester attending the school.

As expected, the seniors toppled the juniors with a score of 26 to 8 in the annual Powder Puff game.

The seniors received the opening kickoff. Following a steady drive, senior Chris Fisher scored the first touchdown, and handed off to Claudia Roth for the two point conversion. The juniors then decided to take control. The seniors fumble in their own end zone was recovered by the juniors, and Kelly Krcider received the handoff from Angie Styer and tied the game at 8-8.

Fisher, the big weapon for the senior squad, scored the next three touchdowns, which made the final score 26 to 8. All other attempts at extra points failed.

Outstanding offensive players commended by the coaches included Fisher, Roth, Rachelle Mace, and Kathy Shortlidge. Defensive players who did a good job holding back the juniors, were Marie Laube, Dennette Cogley, Kerry Deshong, and Lynn Shellenberger.

The junior quarterbacks were Styer and Cheryl Amey. Other offensive players included Deb Jacobson, Deb Garber, Kelly Kreider, and Jane Freeman. The stalwarts on defense were Karen McKinney, Michelle Spangler, Wendy Grubb, and Sue Bryson.

Serving as referees for the game were faculty members Ray Oberholtzer, Mike Savukas, and Jeff Fasnacht. Mark Wagaman and Jack Merrifield coached the seniors, while Bob Wildasin, Pat Kautter, and Kent Gardner served as junior coaches.
A talented cast successfully performed another dramatic reading for the second consecutive year, under the direction of Mr. Joel Mumma. "An Evening with O. Henry" presented a series of O. Henry's stories, pertaining to the early 1900's. The production was held in the Hackman Auditorium on February 22 and 23.

The cast members were: Margie Corbin, Anne Hindman, Carolyn Odell, Amy Reece, Mike Schmitt, Michelle Seydaze, Katie Shenk, Andy Smith, Teri Stutz, Paul Stockman, Sanna Tuppurainen, and Ellen Zaledonis. The dramatic reading, "An Evening with O. Henry", was a huge success and provided educational information for anyone who viewed the production. The cast members did an excellent job putting feeling into the reading and the production was well liked by the audience.
Dancers Move To The Beat

The dance club, advised by Pat Kautter, was a very popular club this year. Tryouts were held at the beginning of the year and limited the club to seventy-five members. Every club period, members met in the Buchanan Gym in their dance clothes or loose-fitting sweats to develop their own routines or to be taught combinations, a series of about thirty-two steps, by Mrs. Kautter. The dances are “highly stylized and complicated” and at a “level generally beyond high school,” according to Mrs. Kautter.

Performances were held on May 2 and 3 for the public, and on May 5 for a school assembly. Dancers also had to try out for solos and group numbers in the performance. Individual and group routines included a variety of styles such modern, ballet, breakdancing, and jazz, and got the program off to an energetic start. Soloists were Beth Sorrentino, Nanette Paquin and Stephanie Bauder, Kelly Kreider and Brenda Houck, Carin Kroll and Jenny Mann, and Nikki Kaplan and Nikki Efthy-Miades. Also, Wendy Peters, “The Egyptian Breakers,” Cyndi Bauder, and James Benson, Jay Bond, Tim Fawber, and Chris Heucksteadt performed solos. The solos included some swing, chorus line, American moves, and jazz. In the numbers from “Terms of Endearment,” Lisa Gunzenhauser, Carin Kroll, Stacy Richards, Heidi Hansen, Cindy Shenk, and Steph Williams were soloists while Jenny Mann portrayed the spirit of dance.

The second portion of the program was devoted to “CATS.” The dancers dressed as cats and went into the audience to show their feline skills.
Jenny Levin is a good example of what a typical dancer looked like for the production "Cats".

KEY CLUB
The Key Club, advised by John Graham and Ray Oberholtzer, is one of many state and national organizations which is involved in charitable, community and social services. Membership is limited to forty members, ten of which must be sophomores approved by the administration. This year’s Key Club was involved in a great variety of activities including the Special Olympics, a Christmas drive for the local needy, a bowl-a-thon for Spina-Bifda and helping with therapeutic horseback riding for mentally retarded children. The club also provided two awards for graduation, and participated in many inner club activities.
Dave Dvorachak served as President while Steve Groff served as Vice-President, Jim Brian as Treasurer, and Brad Klein as Secretary.

STUDENT AIDE
The Student Aide Club consisted of thirty-two who performed a number of duties. During the month of August the members got together and provided a tour of the high school for incoming freshmen, and new students. As school started the Student Aide became devoted to tutoring fellow students in numerous subjects, and to giving new Hempfield students a tour of the building. In October the Student Aide club met with the three foreign exchange students and the students from Cambodia. They had lunch together and then attended the Hempfield-Lancaster Catholic football game. During the Spring the group held a fundraising project, and donated the money to a local charity.
Leading in the club were Meg Jenkins; Mancy Maher; Kris Ramsey; Michelle Stover; and Chris Vath.
Mr. Bair, the clubs advisor, had this to say about the group, "I am appreciative of the time people put in. There are no screaming fans to acknowledge their efforts."

BIBLE CLUB
The Bible Club was open to any interested student in grades 9 through 12. Members spent club time reading from the Bible, singing, and seeing films and slides. The Bible Club was involved in a few outside activities throughout the school year and they also welcomed some outside speakers. Serving as advisor for the Bible Club was Michael Wise.

Clubs . . .

WRESTLING CLUB
The Wrestling Club, under the leadership of wrestling coach Bruce Schreiter, was formed to let interested students learn the proper rules, techniques, and to practice new wrestling moves. The club was open to all wrestlers in grades 9-12.

IMC ASSISTANCE CLUB
The IMC Assistance club was a new club formed for this year. Club members Michelle McDivitt, Beth Younger, and Shabnam Poona helped students return books, and collect fines. They also decorated the bulletin board, and the entire IMC. Thanks to these dedicated people, the IMC stayed well organized. The club advisor was Mrs. Getz

PLANT CLUB
The Plant Club was open to anyone with an interest in plants and crafts of all types using natural materials. It was designed to let members develop a sense of belonging to the environment instead of a plastic world. Club period was spent on viewing demonstrations or working on a specific craft. Throughout the year the club presented displays at the arts and crafts shows in the spring and the Town and Country Garden Club Flower Show. Mary Dietrich served as advisor, along with Lisa Cox as President, Lynette Charles and Jenny Grindle as Vice President, and Lisa Hackash as Secretary. The club was sponsored by the Town and Country Garden Club of Lancaster.

NATIONAL PARKS CLUB
The National Parks Club was open to anyone who had an interest in the preservation or the conservation of flora and fauna. Discussion of educational materials, movies and slides, received from specific national parks was the topic during club period. This topic also included various items such as the rules and regulations of the National Parks Service, effects of environmental conditions in parks and the effort to support issues for the improvement of parks. In addition to the discussion during club period, the members also held a sub sale. The club was advised by Robert Jacobs.

Clubs . . .

WAR GAMES CLUB
The War Games club involved over fifty students this year. Members were responsible for bringing in their own games to the club, to compete on the battlefields of all sorts of game boards. The students learned many tactics and strategies from battling each other on the boards. The student leaders of the club were: John Styles, president; and Jim Sheridan, vice-president. Mark Gambler served as the club's advisor.

PERFORMING ARTS
This year Performing Arts club actively participated in the dramas and improvisations.
 Officers were Andy Smith, president; Adrianne Romano, vice-president-secretary; and Rob Carson, treasurer.
The club met after school on Fridays and planned an assembly for the student body.
All in all, a successful year was had by all those who participated.
The club advisor for the Performing Arts club was Cheryl Miller.

THEATER ARTS
Students involved in the Theater Arts club had much experience with behind-the-scenes activities. They were responsible for the technical work during the plays, variety shows, and musicals. Members had the opportunity to operate lights, stage, and sound equipment.
Directing the club was Steve Martin who served as a stage manager. Other assistance was offered by Jeff Keiser and Jay Sorrentino.
The club advisor was Ken Barber.

STUDENT HISTORIANS
The Student Historians, which is a club chartered by the state association, was open to all students who paid the initial registration fee, up to a limit of fifty students.
The Hempfield organization is the Red Rose chapter of the Pennsylvania Federation of Student Historians. This organization exists to promote an interest in history and historical research among high school students.
Member of this club had the option of attending two conventions this year. In the fall, members attended the Tri-State Convention in New York City.

BELOW: Student aide members relax a moment outside the school during the new student picnic.
This gathering included students from Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey, working to develop a better understanding about neighboring chapters.

In the spring, the Lancaster chapter sponsored the state convention.

Club officers were John Nickey, president; Bill Oakley, vice president; Bob Herr, secretary; Pete Mullen, treasurer; and Kelly Theis, historian. Elaine Savukas was the advisor.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club was designed to give serious players a chance to increase their skills. The activity period gave the novice players a chance to improve their games, while it also gave the chess team time to meet and practice. During the club periods, the sixty members competed against each other in a game of chess in order to enrich their perception of it. Mark Gambler served as advisor of the chess club.

APBA

During club period, members of the APBA club played the APBA board game, which was originally made in Lancaster County. The game itself is a dice game which is played in the same way as you would play a real baseball game. The player is the manager of the team, and how he rolls the dice has an effect on how well the team does. Students who have played the game in previous years play there 7-inning games, while rookies play two 7-inning games each club period. One week they play current season teams and the next week they play one of the oldtimers such as the 1950 Phillies or the 1927 Yankees. Members are required to pay a two dollar entrance fee to help purchase new team cards.

SKETCH CLUB

The Sketch Club was open to anyone who had an interest in sketching and was willing to work on individual projects during club period. It provided members with an opportunity to sketch with others who share the same interest. Club period was spent trying to comprehend the different styles of sketching and developing new techniques and skills in sketching. The club had a total of eighteen members during the first semester and was advised by Mary Fairbanks.

COMPUTER CLUB
The computer club served as a valuable opportunity for students to improve their programming skills. The club was open only to students with prior computer experience. The members of this club had access to the micro-computers and had a chance to work on their own individual programs. James Grant and Susan Meiley served as advisors for the club.

WEIGHTLIFTING
The Weightlifting Club was open to any student who wanted to learn weightlifting techniques and improve body tone. Kent Gardner, the club’s advisor, instructed the members on proper weightlifting skills. Time was spent working out on the different variety of weights, used to strengthen different parts of the body.

TRIVIAL PURSUIT
The Trivial Pursuit Club was a new club entry this year. The club was open to students in grades nine and ten.
During club period Trivial Pursuit club members tested their knowledge, playing the popular question and answer game. The trivial Pursuit club was under the supervision of Cynthia Minnich.

BIOLOGY CLUB
The Biology Club, advised by Robert Hertzler, gave its members a chance to learn more about the sciences through speakers, films, and out of school activities. Club members were required to pay a five dollar fee, and participate in a fund raising activity to help lower the cost of trips and activities. Some of these activities included hiking, fossil hunting, skiing, and the annual rafting trip. The St. Joseph emergency medicine team also paid a visit to the club.
Jarl Ferko served as president of the club along with Melanie Sanders as vice president and Sue McNicholas as secretary-treasurer.

VOLLEYBALL CLUB
The Volleyball Club, a new club this year held during the second semester, was designed for those individuals who were interested in playing power volleyball. To become a member, students needed to know the basic skills of volleyball such as: the two hand set, bump, serve, and spike. Club period was spent setting up co-ed teams as well as all-male and all-female teams, each of which had eight players. After a brief warm-up period, each team played two games. Advised by Mary Fairbanks, the club also helped some of its members polish their skills in preparation for the spring volleyball extracurricular program.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB
The Photography Club was open to all interested students in grades 9-12. Time was spent on photography techniques, film developing and printing, how to use lighting properly, and what type of film...

to use. All of the students were allowed to use the school's equipment. The photography club was advised by Robert Brubaker.

DANCE CLUB
The Dance Club was open to all boys and girls in 9th through 12th grade. Members of the club learned choreographed routines and were eventually given the chance to choreograph their own dances. The Dance Club focused on areas in jazz, tap, mime, and ballet. Pat Kautter served as advisor of the club.

ORGANIZATIONS
Musical Organizations Earn Top Marks

Hempfield's music department under the direction of supervisor Richard Kline, had a wide variety of programs for students to participate in this year. Students gifted in the music area performed in large groups and as soloists as well.

Some were majorettes, while others chose to be in the flag or rifle squads. The Marching Band, directed by William Powers, and the Band Front, directed by Jay Miller, played an important part in keeping Hempfield spirits high. They performed at sports events, assemblies, and parades.

Bill Powers also directed the Senior Band and the Intermediate Band. Gary Luckenbill directed the Jazz Band. Students were admitted to the Hempfield Singers by successful audition only. They perform in churches during the holiday season and attended numerous other events. Other choral groups open were the Chorale and Singing Ladies, all under the direction of Richard Kline.

Another popular group, the Orchestra, was directed by David Leithman, who also conducted the Senior Strings.

All in all, Hempfield's music program had a large following, and presented many quality performances.

Brass Ensemble

The Brass Ensemble was open to anyone with a background in brass playing. Members spent the club periods rehearsing music for performances and improving their instrumental ability, such as making a good brass sound, breathing and tuning. This year they performed for special church services including the twenty-fifth anniversary service of the Holy Spirit Luthern Church. Advisors for the ensemble were William Powers and Jay Miller.

Percussion Ensemble

The Percussion Ensemble, advised by Gary Luckinbill, was open to anyone with a musical background who wanted to play percussion or improve on already learned techniques. During club period, the members rehearsed music written for percussion instruments, and discussed more appropriate playing areas such as mallets or different techniques. The club also gave percussion members in the band a chance to practice their music, in addition to the practice they receive in band.

Musicians Show “Business”

The Tony Award winning musical, “How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying”, was performed at Hempfield this year and proved to be an enormous success. With the help of producer Richard Kline, the cast of nearly ninety Hempfield Singer’s members and a thirty member pit orchestra combined their efforts to perform a well appraised musical.

The stage is set at the World Wide Wichtet Company. J.P. Finch, the hero of the story, climbs the business ladder of success from the mailroom, to Junior Executive, to Chairman of the Board, with the help of a book entitled “How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying”. Rosemary a secretary at the World Wide Wichtet Company, falls in love with Finch at first sight and after many attempts to get his attention, she eventually wins his hand in marriage. Throughout the story, Finch uses his scheming ideas to manipulate his way up in the company. He also manages to get on the good side of J.B. Biggley, the president of the company. Bud Frump, the boss’s eager nephew, becomes Finch’s rival in the competition for promotions, but Finch always ends up on top.

Senior Michelle Harmon and Junior Lane Schonour starred as Rosemary and Finch. Other cast members included: Andy Garner, Paul Stockman, Jeff Swartz, Beth Sorrentino, Craig Boyle, Kristine Sherick, Katrina Miller, Eric Perkins, and Lynda Welkowitz.

Throughout the show songs such as “How to Succeed”, “The Company Way”, “Grand Old Ivy”, “Secretary is not a Toy”, “Paris Original”, and “Brotherhood of Man” were performed by the cast of singers and dancers.

Susan Feyock and Steve Herr assisted Mr. Kline in the music and production of the musical. Barbara Bouder served as the director of dramatics and dance. She was assisted by Deb Shaub And Deidre Landskroner. Linda Bucher helped with the set design and was assisted by Chris Vath. Also helping were Ken Barber, Robert Hinkle, and Harold Sachwald.

This year's Girl's Field Hockey Team won the section championship to finish off an impressive season with a record of 9-1-2. They completed a vigorous training session under the direction of coach Sharon Sweger and senior co-captains, Kim Heim and Michelle Yanefski. Senior players for the year included Kris Faulkner, Missy Grove, Jennie Miller, Lori Peters, and Rebecca Wiedenecht. Outstanding Juniors consisted of Laurie Fucchio, Sue Hahn, Sandy Hoshalland Tracy Schwandt.

The section championship was played against Penn Manor and Rebecca Wiedenecht scored both of the 2 goals that led the team to a 2-1 victory. Another tough game was played against Lancaster Mennonite in which one goal brought the team to victory with a 1-0 score.

The JV team, coached by Kathy Mummaw, ended the season with a 7-1-2 record, while the freshman team, under coach Rita Beck, ended with only 1 tie and 1 loss for the season.

Hempfield football had an outstanding season this year. Not just Varsity, not just J.V. and Varsity, but the Varsity, J.V. and Freshman squads all had very good, winning seasons. The Varsity squad under the leadership of coaches Jack Yohe and Richard Kautter had a league record of 6-1-0, and a 9-2-1 record overall. The Varsity team started their season with a smashing 46-0 shutout over a traditionally tough Columbia team. This win set the pace for the rest of the season. With the exception of a heartbreaking 3-14 loss to McCaskey, Hempfield was undefeated in regular season play. Because of the Varsity team's outstanding record, the team earned a spot in the District III playoffs. The first playoff game was against Lower Dauphin High School. Despite windy and cold conditions, the Black Knights managed a 7-0 victory.

This win entitled the Knights to play Cumberland Valley High School on November 23, for the District Championship. The Knights put forth an excellent effort, but it was not quite enough, the Knights lost 9-21. The J.V. team also had an outstanding year, finishing their season with an 8-1-1 record. The season began with an exciting 24-6 win over Columbia. The J.V. teams only loss came at the hands of a powerful Wilson team.

The Freshman squad also had an impressive season, finishing with a commendable 5-1-2 record. The team started their season with a 12-0 shutout over Columbia. Hempfield can be proud of its fine football teams. They will long be remembered as some of the best to go through Hempfield.

Coach Yohe summed the season up best when he said “We started out with the goal of being the best we could be, and looking at the results 9-2-1, and District III winners. I think it can truthfully be said that the 1984 football team reached their goal.”

The Boy's Cross Country team, coached by Bill Bowers and Mike Wise, completed the season with a 17-2 overall score. The team places fourth at League run at Lebanon Valley. John Guerts proved to be the best runner for the team, placing near the top in practically every meet. At the District Three Meet, held in Milton Hershey, Guerts finished 9th, which qualified him for states. He then placed 27th at the state meet held at Lehigh University.

Top runners for the team were Rob Fisher, Mike Gallucci, Rocky Haertter, Coogie Kegal, John Guerts, Claude Yoder, Norman Sheesley, and Rich Blandy.

Hempfield's soccer teams retained their winning tradition once again with an excellent record.

The varsity team began the season on September 4 with a win over E-Town. The team then added two very impressive wins over Solanco (5-0) and Warwick (8-0). These and other wins allowed them to meet Lancaster Mennonite and compete for the top spot in the section, but unfortunately they had to settle for second place. In the second half of the season, Hempfield's varsity team went up against Garden Spot to determine which team would go to Districts. After a long, tough game, Hempfield won the opportunity to be in District playoffs. The team then met Conrad Weiser in the first round of District playoffs, after another long, hard battle they unfortunately lost by one point.

Chuck Kuntz was honored for his tremendous contributions to the team by being chosen for Pennsylvania's All-State team, Ric Horst, Mark Hessinger, and Chuck Kuntz were also chosen for the All-Section team. Honorable mentions went to goalies Mark Ames and Jeff Fritz.

Other contributing seniors on this year's very talented soccer team were Han To, Jim Smith, Derek Puff, Bob Porter, Dave Koons, Todd Loht, Keith Emich, Greg Dubick, and Ted Bloom. Also participating were the two senior exchange students, Fredrik Langels and Inigo Alcoz.

The season ended with the excellent record of 14-2-0 (league) and 17-3-0 (overall). The junior varsity team finished their season with a record of 15-2-1, and the freshman team completed their season with a 9-2-3 overall record.

The Hempfield girls' cross country team, coached by William Bowers and Michael Wise, ended an exciting season with an excellent overall record of 16 wins and no losses. The participated in the All League Run held at Lebanon Valley College and placed 1st overall.

The team competed in the District 3 Championship and once again captured the top spot. At the State meet, held at Lehigh University, the team finished an impressive fifth.

Tracy Groff and Tammy Sheesey were the top runners for the team. Additional members of the team included two juniors, Carolyn Brubaker and Dana Benson; two sophomores, Carolyn Bulgiano and Shari Scruton; two freshman, Vina Ananias and Jenny Troxell.

Concluding the season Mr. Bowers said, "We had a very exciting, successful, satisfying season. Every girl did a superb job. Great attitudes and effort were put forth by all."
Golf Team Sets Records

This year the golf team improved their record in the Lancaster-Lebanon League by starting with a win against Solanco and ending with a record of 6-4, which was better than coach Del Warfel had been expecting.

The team accomplished many things this year. They totaled the best score at Hempfield in three years, a 407, against McCaskey, and sent players, Rich Rohrer and Pete Mullen, to districts.

For the second year in a row, junior Rich Rohrer held the number one position. Randy Kline, a senior held the second position, and junior, Tim Gundlach, held the third position. Pete Mullen and Jay Ridder held the fourth and fifth positions, respectfully.

Warfel felt the success of the team came from “the persistant effort and good attitude” of the whole team. He evaluated the team on their effort and said they were “better golfers overall than last year”. He is looking forward to next year and hopes to do even better.

Tennis Squad Beats McCaskey

The talented 1984 girl's tennis team continued their winning tradition this year, producing a 7-1 league record and a 14-1 overall record. Under the coaching of Rob Bair, the team advanced through the season with a strong squad of underclassmen.

The team had a number of standouts, but no single player dominated the scene. There were many outstanding efforts by juniors - Katrina Miller and Tori Richards, sophomores - Traci Hultzapple, D'Anne Morgan, Allison Puff, and Emily Paxson, and freshmen - Pam Messick and Sharon Lewicki. D'Anne Morgan and Traci Hultzapple were named as the Lancaster - Lebanon League Doubles Champions.

One of the highlights of the season was the girl's victory over McCaskey. This hadn't been achieved since 1973. The squad was undefeated most of the year, losing only to Manheim Township in the final match. Next year's goal will be for the title against Township.

Coach Bair stated that "we were the second best team in the L-L League this year. Our depth on the squad was very beneficial. Having had no seniors on the team, next season looks very promising to us."

Cheerleaders Generate Enthusiasm

Exploding with energy and pride for high school athletics, the Hempfield cheerleaders added much spirit, confidence, and enthusiasm throughout the 1984-85 sports seasons.

Few people realize that the girls spent many hours preparing for games by decorating lockers, making all kinds of signs, backing and promoting school spirit and finally performing and supporting at various events. The new coaches this year were: Mrs. Jane Rhoades, Varsity; Mrs. Judy Sandstrom, Junior Varsity; and Susan Cress, Freshmen.

Knights Shoot For The Title

Hempfield High School’s Varsity Basketball team continued the winning tradition in the 1984-1985 season. Although plagued by numerous injuries, the Black Knights finished the year with a 16-6 record overall.

The season opened on December 7, with a match against Solanco. Mike Steger, with 15 points, led the Knights to a 75-62 victory. The team then suffered a disappointing loss against Cocalico 48-49. One of the very special highlights of the season was a seven game winning streak, starting with a win over Manheim Township (57-42) on January 15. Unfortunately, Township also broke the streak on February 8 (52-59). In the Section Championship Game, Lebanon defeated Hempfield 48-37.

The key players for the 1984-1985 season were; Seniors, Chuck Kuntz, Mike Steger, Gus Forte, and Butch Derr; and Juniors, Mark Hessinger, Wade Shiley, Chris Huecksteadt, and Devin Weaver.

The Black Knight Varsity Wrestling team, "gave their all - they wrestled 100%", said head coach Bruce Schreiter. Lacking strong upper body weights, the wrestlers finished the 1984-1985 season with a 2-8 league record, and 5-11 overall.

The Knights began the season with a 33-28 win over York Vo-Tech. Seniors Jeff Kenzor, and Keith Miller placed 1st, and 2nd, respectively in the Governor Mifflin Christmas Tournament. Jeff Kenzor finished the regular season with an outstanding record of 15 wins, and 1 loss.

Other key players were seniors Brad Klein, and Keith Miller; Junior Larry Ciarrocca; and Sophomore Tim Loht.

Lady Knights Drive For Wins

After a disappointing 1983 season, the rebuilding challenge in girl's basketball fell to new coach Marilyn Evans. Evans took the reins at the beginning of the season, and worked with the squad to improve their skills and teamwork.

The result of the hard work and dedication on behalf of the team members paid off with an improved attitude, better team efforts, and an improved offensive consistency.

Early victories over Cocalico and Donegal sparked the team, but they could not match the power and depth of traditional powerhouses such as Lancaster Catholic and Cedar Crest.

Particularly satisfying was the second half win over Penn Manor, after losing two games to them earlier in the season by a total of only six points. Another exciting accomplishment for the girls was a pair of victories over old nemesis McCaskey.

Senior Rebecca Wiederrecht provided much of the offensive firepower for the team, aided by Chris Fisher, Theresa Wissler, and Sara May. Many other hard-working players contributed to the improvement of the squad, including a group of dedicated underclassmen.

Hempfield’s Mer-Men Swim To Victory

Probably the best team in twenty years, the Hempfield Boys Swim Team had an outstanding season and tied for the Central Penn League Championship along with Wilson and Reading.

Led by senior captains Mark Lewicki and Tim Pontz, the boys won the first three meets of the season which included a win of over 100 points against Manheim Township, the very first win in boys swimming of over 100 points against the Township team. Losing to Reading in a close meet, the boys continued on to a winning streak beating the powerful Wilson team by six points, and ending the season with an overall record of 13-1.

In addition to the winning season, the team also sent nine of its members, John Geurts, Mark Lewicki, Dave Misselhorn, Tim Pontz, John Hughes, Rob Lersch, Tim Garner, Dave Morse, and John Pontz to Districts.

This year’s team literally rewrote Hempfield’s “Big Five” records, which lists the top five Hempfield swimmers in the events. Senior Tim Pontz set a new school record in the 100 free breaking Charles Lersch’s record with a time of 49.03. Pontz also placed in six out of ten of the “Big Five” events. The relay team of John Pontz, Tim Pontz, Mark Lewicki, and Dave Misselhorn placed second in the 200 Medley relay of the “Big Five,” while a slightly different team of John Pontz, Tim Pontz, Dave Misselhorn, and John Hughes placed third in the 200 medly relay.

Coach Andrew Amway complemented the team by saying it was “... the finest boys team I’ve thought we ever had, and it proved correct by the times and records broken.” Amway was assisted by Steve Beck and diving coach Kevin Reinhart.

The Hempfield Girl's Swim team, led by senior captains Sue Feyock, Missy Grove and Dawn Potts, had a successful season achieving a 10-2 record overall, and placing first for the second year in a row at the Abington Heights Relay Carnival. The team sent Missy Grove, Dianne Morse, Michele Butler, Ann Fantazier, Suzanne Miller, Aimee Grove, and Tracy Price to Districts, along with Sharon Lewicki and Cindy Mower as alternates, and divers Kris Robbins, Jill Harris and Wendy Harmon.

Starting the season off with a three-match winning streak against Redlion, Dover, and a 42 point win over Manheim Township, the girls then bowed to a powerful Reading team but recovered quickly and continued on to another far-match winning streak until stopped by Wilson. Their next meet against Coatsville proved to be their biggest win of the year with a score of 123 to 48. The squad then defeated Ephrata and Cedar Crest respectively.

Junior Dianne Morse has an excellent season, setting a new school record in the 200-Free with a time of 1:59.59, and also placed in all but two of the Hempfield "Big Five" events; (top five Hempfield swimmers in the events). The relay of Morse, Aimee Grove, Tracy Price and Ann Fantazier, placed third in the 200 Medley Relay of the "Big Five." Two freshmen also achieved status in the list. Tracy Price placed third in the 100 Butterfly and Aimee Grove fourth in the 100 Breaststroke.

Divers Wendy Harmon, Jill Harris and Kris Robbins also contributed to the team by helping to add points to raise the scores at the meets.

The girls coached by Andrew Amway, his assistant Steve Beck, and diving coach Kevin Reinhart. Amway commented on the season by saying "The girls performed admirably well considering the first ten meets were on the road." Since seven of the seventeen girls on the squad were freshman, he is looking toward building a powerful team for the next few years.

Following in the tradition of the powerful boys' gymnastics teams here at Hempfield, this year's team had another outstanding season. After a successful dual meet season, the team sent numerous members to the district meet and on to states.

In the Christmas tournament, the team captured many first and second place finishes. Senior Tony Fatta swept to a win in the all-around, finishing first in every event in the all-around competition. Jim Myers finished second.

In individual events, Jim Smith won the vault, and Brad Sitler won the horse. The seniors also set the tone in the post-season competition, as Myers won the district all-around title, as well as the individual title in the floor exercise. Smith captured individual crowns in the horse and the rings. The team finished fourth in the State meet standings.

Following this dedicated quartet of seniors is a squad of talented underclassmen who are expected to continue the winning ways next year.

Girls’ Gymnastics Tumble Over Others

Led by a pair of experienced seniors, the girls’ gymnastic team rolled over opponents throughout the season. This experienced group proved to have depth and versatility, key elements to a successful program.

Under new coach Scott Nendza, the team trounced McCaskey to start the season, and ripped through the opposition at the Christmas tournament. Julie Davis captured the individual title in the vault, Anne Marie Muskey won the bars, Maria Vakios took the beam, and Kelly Kreider outscored all opponents in the floor exercise. With Sally Huber third and Michelle Rocco fourth in the all-around championship, the team easily captured the team title.

Late in the season, a disappointing injury to Huber limited her competition in the post-season event, but Rocco, Davis, and Beth Bowman advanced to the state competition in February.

Considering the depth of the team, these results seem to bode no good news for the competition in the coming years.

Seniors Key Track Hopes

Composed of over eighty members from grades 9-12, the boys' track team began practice in early March in pursuit of another championship season.

The team was led by a large group of returning seniors, and bolstered by numerous talented underclassmen. As in the past, the long distance runners and the javelin were consistently high scorers for the team.

Early in the season, coach Jeff Bradley reminded each team member of the individual potential that he had, and challenged them to work together for a common goal, an undefeated season. This would include a victory over McCaskey, one of the most powerful track teams in this area. Defeating McCaskey is always a difficult challenge for the Black Knights.

Other team goals were to win the Ephrata Relays, and to qualify a large number of team members for post-season competition.

Some of the team members began to prepare for this season by competing for the cross country team last fall, and some members competed in winter track on an individual basis.

Bradley was assisted by James Albright and Glenn Shaffer.

Youth Sparks Lady Knights

Under the coaching of William Bowers and Mike and Luann Wise, the Hempfield girls' track team faced another challenging competitive season. Early season predictions named Penn Manor and Manheim Township as the toughest competition, but the Lady Knights fielded a team filled with outstanding individuals.

Led by senior captains Jenny Rakoczy, Sue Feyock, and Sara May, the team was expected to perform with the best teams in the league, according to Bowers, although only two other seniors, Wendy Wagner and Rebecca Wiederrecht returned to the squad from last year, the team was quite strong due to the depth provided by the underclassmen.

A good example of this was sophomore Tammy Sheesley, who was a member of the record-setting 3200 meter relay team as a freshman, and had a superb 1984 cross country season, finishing second in the district meet and seventeenth in the state meet.

This talented corps of juniors, sophomores, and freshmen also points toward a continuing program of excellence for the Lady Knights.
Girls Win With Defense

The Lady Knights used a strong defense to fight for a top spot in the Lancaster-Lebanon Softball League this year. Of the 16 games in the schedule, the toughest opponent promised to be Elizabethtown.

Experience played an important role toward the success of the team, with a large group of returning seniors holding down starting spots. Among them were infielders Kim Zimmerman, Karen Charles, and Chris Fisher, all of whom made contributions to the team effort. Other contributing seniors included outfielders Katie Emery, Kim Heim, Kris Faulkner, and Jill Loshnowsky, and pitcher Lisa Hollinger.

With this kind of experience, and with a large group of enthusiastic underclassmen, coach Jeff Fasnacht predicted a very competitive season. Assisting Fasnacht was Bonnie Blouse.

Once again the Black Knights had an outstanding baseball team. Returning lettermen included Jeff Brown, Butch Derr, Rich Kautter, Brad Leese, Eric Richie, Gray Wirth, and Mark Hessinger, who was the most valuable player on last year’s team.

Looking toward the season, varsity coach Tom Getz predicted that Manheim Township and Penn Manor would be the teams to beat if the Knights hoped to match last year’s accomplishments of 11 wins against only 5 loses. An improved record and advancing again to district competition were early team goals. Much of the success of the program rested with the strength and depth of the pitching staff, and the hard work of the players at their various positions.

Getz was assisted with the program by Jack Merrifield, Ronn Fink, and Bob Richie.
The traditional powers in the Lancaster-Lebanon Tennis League are McCaskey, Manheim Township, and Hempfield; this year was no exception. Following a super year when the team was 15-1 overall, and 7-1 in the league, coach Andrew Amway again named the perennial powers as the teams to beat.

To accomplish this, Amway looked to returning senior lettermen Ted Bloom and Ken Hostetter, along with sophomore Steve Goddard, as the nucleus of the team. Amway also predicted that the freshman class would make a major contribution to the team effort, providing depth and strong inter-team competition.
Coaches Make The Programs Succeed

Most successful athletes will credit a major portion of their success to their coaches. The work done by these dedicated men and women serves as the foundation upon which an individual or team can build a fine season or career. Here at Hempfield we are lucky to have a fine coaching staff, which has directed our sports program to fifteen winning seasons in the last fifteen years, and eight All Sports Trophies for the best combined winning percentage. Pictured are only a representative few of the individuals who have the appreciation of us all.

Juniors Set Sights on '86

The spirited Junior Class continued to raise funds throughout the year, directing most of their efforts to the hosting of the Junior-Senior Prom. Under the leadership of their advisors, officers, and steering committee, this enthusiastic and talented class held numerous fund raising activities and other social events.

Homecoming this year gave the class a great start, as they captured the float competition with their rendition of Walt Disney’s Huey, Duey, and Luey. With class members portraying the characters, the float showed the other classes how the juniors display their talents. The highlight of the year was the prom, held this year at the Treadway Resort Inn in Lancaster. It was a festive occasion, full of fun, good food, and friendship for all of those who attended.

The class was guided by advisors Linda Huff and Lee Gajecki. Class officers were Tracy Schwandt, president; Julie Davis, vice president; Karen McKinney, secretary; Doug Dvorchak, treasurer; and Kim Richards, historian.

Sophomores Work For Prom

The Sophomores at Hempfield during the past school year have experienced a year of growing, adjusting, and maturing, while continuing to develop their record of achievements throughout the school. Many students were involved in the class activities, including a Fun Night in September, a dance, and a fund raiser to prepare for the next prom.

Leading the sophomores were president Josh Fischel, vice president Barry Brooks, treasurer Jill Harris, secretary Tracy Boomer, and historian Ann Stairs. Joel Mumma and Deborah Bendit served as class advisors.

Class Of 88 Starts Strong

The class of 1988 began their high school life with enthusiasm and determination, and proved that they were not “just another class of freshman.”

They began their year with a Fun Night in September which included many entertaining activities and which was quite successful. They followed this up with an attractive homecoming float which featured Winnie the Pooh and the slogan: “Buzz Wilson”

Many more activities followed including the selling of Copes Corn and another fun night in January. All were successful and raised money which entered the class treasury.

The class was lead by Chris Markley, president; Martha Sorrentino, vice-president; Jennifer Levin, secretary; Cindy Baudor, historian, and Drew Dvorchak, treasurer. The class advisors were John Bradley and Jeff Fasnacht.

Listen!

Good listening has always been a part of the reason for success at Sperry New Holland. We respect what farmers have to say, and we design our equipment to meet their needs. Listening to our customers and employees has helped us produce better equipment that is practical in design and dependable in action.

As you leave the classroom, we hope you too will continue to listen . . . and to learn.

We understand how important it is to listen.

Special Recognition

All of us have faced the many challenges of high school with a mixture of abilities, skills, and a certain number of limitations. But with courage, optimism, and determination, we have now become successful graduates of Hempfield High School, a fact which makes most of us very proud.

Within the graduating class of 1985, no one individual better exemplifies this combination of positive characteristics better than Sandy Ritzman. Though diminutive in stature, her good humor, her friendly smile, and her positive attitude have been an inspiration to us all.

Sandy has always been an active participant in school activities, from events at Farmdale Elementary School, through junior high, and here at the high school. And there are also special events to remember such as the surprise sixteenth birthday party held on May 8 in Dr. Kondravy's room.

Our class has been fortunate to have many of its members recognized for outstanding achievements throughout their high school careers. When it comes to outstanding, Sandy Ritzman rates with the best.

President's Message
To the Class of 1985:

We finally made it! We’ve come to the end of our high school career. Some of us will enter the working world, some will go to a trade school or college, and others will join the service, but we’ll all take with us the memories of our years at Hempfield.

Our minds are filled with the fond remembrances of dances, teachers and classes. Our class has experienced a new principal, the first teacher's strike during the “summer of discontent”, along with successful class trips, championship athletic teams, and a newly-revived post-prom.

We are a diverse group of people with different abilities, hopes, and accomplishments, united by our memories of Hempfield.

The time between the taking of our senior pictures and graduation has passed quickly. Our year on top is complete, but we can still look forward to Senior Week and other summer fun.

I would like to congratulate each member of the Class of 1985 on his accomplishments during high school and wish everyone good luck in the future.

Sincerely,
Gray Wirth
Class President

Editor’s Message

High school is the time for many of us to capture memories that will linger with us for the rest of our lives. Here at Hempfield we have gained new friends in school, and by participating in the various school activities.

How could any of us forget our first days here in the high school, the dances, sports events, Homecomings, proms, and other special events. From these functions all of us have memories that will remain in our hearts, and the paging through this yearbook brings them freshly to our minds.

We have faced new challenges and found that working hard at our goals brings success. The yearbook staff is one of the many groups in our school that prepares themselves quite early to prepare a rewarding, interesting, and informative book. Starting last May, we began to plan the efforts which you have before you. Now, the job is completed.

As Editor, I would like to thank the staff for their hard work and cooperation. We had many problems to face, and the staff worked very hard to surmount them. Sometimes it was frustrating, and long hours spent at home or in the office are familiar to those who we determined to make “our” book unique. Now we can be quite proud of “our masterpiece.”

We are all facing long roads ahead of us, and we will be challenging more difficult problems in the near future. I wish all of you success and satisfaction as graduates of Hempfield. And as you fondly page through the pages of our Epilogue, remember the memories that we share.

Best wishes to you all,
Vegee Sardi
Epilogue Editor
The Statue of Liberty celebrated her 98th birthday in 1984, and she began to show her age. The statue was worn from constant pummeling by the wind, salt air and acid rain, and the iron ribbing supporting the copper covering was badly corroded. A two-year restoration began in July 1984. It included a gold-plated torch, and is scheduled to be complete for the centennial birthday.
Michael Jackson conducted his so-called victory tour to more than a dozen cities. The original ticket policy, which required fans to mail in a $120 postal money order for the chance for four tickets, with no guarantee of the purchase, was shelved after much criticism.
Princess Diana gave birth to Prince Harry in late 1984. This added to the royal family, which already included two-year old Prince William, who is in picture here with his parents.
The United States did very well in the summer Olympics, winning 83 gold medals, 61 silver and 30 bronze. Carl Lewis won four gold medals, but disappointed the crowd with his conservative effort in the long jump. Mary Lou Retton won the all-around gold medal and led the gymnastic team to a silver medal; she also won bronze medals in the floor exercise and the uneven bars and took the United States boycott four years ago. The organizing committee in Los Angeles produced a very successful games, and even showed a considerable profit which will be used to finance amateur sports in the U.S.
President Ronald Regan took the oath of office for his second term on January 21, 1985. His wife held the Bible for the ceremony, which had to be moved into the Capitol Rotunda because of the frigid weather. Chief Justice Warren Burger administered the oath of office.

comments about current players, including Payton and Franco Harris, who were pursuing his record.
The Chicago Cubs lost to the Padres in the National League, and the Kansas City Royals were the runners-up in the American League. Pictured here is Detroit star Kirk Gibson, scoring in the deciding fifth game.
The American space shuttle flights continued to mesmerize the country. Here mission specialist Bruce McCandless takes a walk in space, using the manned maneuvering unit as he moves away from the Challenger during an eight-day mission in space.
The Winter Olympics in Yugoslavia saw the U.S. win four gold and four silver medals. Two of the gold medal winners were Scott Hamilton in the men's figure skating and Steve Mahre in the giant slalom skiing event.

Robert Duvall, who starred in the film "Tender Mercies," received the best actor award at the Oscar presentation. From the best picture winner, "Terms of Endearment," Shirley MacLaine won as the best actress.

Venessa Williams was forced to resign her title of Miss America after appearing in Penthouse magazine. She was replaced by Suzette Charles, who later crowned the new Miss America, Sharlene Wells, at the September pageant in Atlantic City.
Colophon

The 1985 Epilogue was produced by the students of Hempfield High School, Landisville, PA, and printed by the Jostens Printing and Publishing Division, State College, PA. The cover was designed by the students, and executed by the art department of the printer. The embossed maroon cover is printed with silver ink, and overlaid with silver foil in specific places. The bindings are sewn, and the endsheets are stainless steel color, and printed with silver on the front sheet only. The book includes eight color pages, and is printed on 80 pound glossy paper. Using black as the basic printing ink, the book employs Times Roman type. Body copy is 10 point, and caption copy is 8 point; headlines are 30, 24, and 14 point except in special instances.

Photography for the book was supplied by Georjean Studios, Lancaster, PA, or was taken by the Epilogue staff. The world events photographs were purchased through the Associated Press from World Wide Photos, New York, NY.

This book was prepared for the students and staff of Hempfield High School, to establish a record of the 1984-1985 school year.

Every attempt has been made to include activities and the students involved, and be as accurate as possible. However, some events were omitted either purposely because of limitations of time and space, or inadvertently. We regret any errors or omissions which might offend our readers. With this in mind, please enjoy your copy of the Epilogue 1985.

Special Thanks

The Epilogue staff would like to express special thanks to the following: Georjean Studios for their help, understanding, and technical skills. The Merchandiser and Don Scanlin for sports assistance and pictures. Josten Representative Andy Santora. Athletic Director Ed McGeehee and the Hempfield coaches. Richard Kline for his help with the music department photography. Robert Hinkle for his photography materials and advice. The faculty and advisors for their appreciated cooperation. Our advisor, John Bradley, for his tremendous loyalty, concern, and patience.
Late this winter, the sophomore class suffered the loss of one of its members. Julia K. Hirneisen died on Tuesday, February 26, 1985, in a tragic accident. Her loss will be greatly felt by her friends, her classmates, and by the entire Hempfield school community.

Look not mournfully into the Past. It comes not back again. Wisely improve the Present. It is thine. Go forth to meet the shadowy Future, without fear, and with a manly heart.

—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow
